No. It's just a rope . . . at the breaking point. But, frankly, it's a good illustration of how a man feels when his nerves are "worn to a frazzle."

The Church has never claimed that religion is a cure for frazzled nerves. But a man's Christian faith does this for him:

It shows him a Purpose in life more important than mere existence. It shows him a Power more effective than his own strength. It shows him a Future more rewarding than selfish gain. And it gives him courage more lasting than the sheer force of his human will.

With these spiritual resources, founded in the certainty that God understands and helps, a man never reaches "the breaking point." For when his human reserve is exhausted . . . he has only begun to tap the vast reservoir of Divine Strength.

THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE CAN SHOW YOU THE WAY!

HOLY BIBLE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Thomas, of near Friendsville, were callers in this village last Saturday.

Mrs. James Allen and daughters spent part of this week visiting relatives near Beaver, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Buckel, of Arlington, Va., spent Sunday with Mr. Buckel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Buckel.

Church Women Meet

The United Lutheran Church Women entertained with a fellowship dinner at the church on October 12. Thirty-eight members and guests were present. Following the dinner Mrs. Marvin Beitzel, president, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Earl Lee, of Oakland, explained the organization known as The United Lutheran Church Women, its purposes, and plan of work. Mrs. Oscar Hetrick was in charge of the worship and study program. "The Woman with an Hour" from the book, "A Certain Woman," was the study topic. It emphasized spiritual worship, growth and service.

Southern Speaks

BY KATHRYN HAUSER

Southern's Highlanders played another good game on Saturday, October 13, with Northern even though they lost by a score of 18 to 21. A big crowd turned out for this game and for the parade which preceded it.

October Edition

The second edition of the Acorn, the school paper, came out on Tuesday. This second paper was quite an improvement over the first as it had six pages and the first one had only two. Everyone was anxiously awaiting the arrival of the Acorn as it announced the results of the class elections and many other important happenings in the school.

Class Elections

Final Sales

Tuesday was the final day of the yearbook sales. This book will feature many attractions and activities of the school. It is a book to treasure all of one's life.

School Closed

There is no school on Thursday and Friday, because of the State Teacher's Convention in Baltimore. All the boys and maybe even some girls will have a chance to go squirrel hunting. School will open again on Monday, October 22.

Individual pictures were taken on Monday and Tuesday. The password this time was "seven." Combs were given to the students and teachers to make themselves "pretty" for the "birdie." Even those who had "crew cuts" took advantage of the combs, if only to scratch their heads.

It is hoped that many will turn out to support our team at the Kingwood game which will be played on Southern's field today. So, come on, Highlanders, let's win this game.

The magazine campaign got off to a good start with an all-school assembly on Tuesday morning. The goal this year is again $3500. With the profit, it is hoped to remove the unsightly logs from around the school drive and replace them with white posts and chains. Proper lighting is also needed for the parking area.

Home School

Lesson for October 21, 1956

NOT many people are born in a school-house. But most people in America move to some school-house before they are two weeks old. Because then they come home from the hospital; and home is the greatest school in the world. Experts tell us that a child learns more before he is six than he ever learns afterward; but at the age of six he is only just starting to school, as the saying is. It's only a saying, because he has been learning every minute since he first blinked at the light, and most of this he learned right at home. Learning is not just what is printed in books. The child learns to understand and to speak his mother-tongue; he learns to walk and run and eat and play. He learns a little about how to get along with other people. Among the most important things he learns are what never gets into a book—prejudices, habits, attitudes, both good and bad.

Dr. Foreman

Learning Religion at Home

If it is true that our relation to God is more important than any other relation of life, then it is true also that the religion learned in the home is more important than anything else learned there. Suppose a child's home-school teaches everything except religion, how much hope is there that religion will become real to him? There are 168 hours in every week. Take out 56 for sleeping (it would really be more for a child) and you have left 112 waking hours. Let us suppose that little Johnnie Doe, Jr., is sent off to Sunday school by Mr. and Mrs. Doe, who take him and fetch him afterwards, but never, no never go to Sunday school or church themselves. That makes one hour of religion per week, 111 hours of no-religion. How much of anything is a child going to learn if he has less than one per cent of his time to put on it? If all the religious homes of America stopped teaching religion, the churches and synagogues would soon fold up.

But Can Religion Be Taught?

At this point someone may catch us up. Can religion be taught? Isn't it "caught, not taught"? Quite so. The genuine spark is kindled only on the invisible altar of God. But in your car engine, the spark does not come to life in an empty chamber. There has to be there the right mixture of gasoline vapor and air. Without that, the sparks shine for a brief instant and go out—and nothing happens. When a gardener plants vegetables, he knows that if the seed is not fertile his work is useless. Everything depends on a germ he did not and cannot create. But that does not give him leave to quit his job. The gardener's job is to prepare the seed-bed in which the living seed will sprout and not die. So the home prepares the seed-bed in which the living seed of God's grace can bring forth a harvest. Speaking without parables, the home can teach a great many things about religion which can't be learned by inspiration or absorption. The Bible is high among these; in the home begins the work of filling the storehouse of the mind with treasures from the Word of God.

"When Your Son Asks You . . ."

The great sixth chapter of Deuteronomy is perhaps one of the most often quoted chapters of the Bible. In it, father and mothers are commanded to be teachers. God knows that rabbis and priests and preachers are never enough. But we find in this chapter also (among many others) this further thought: Children will not always understand all they are taught. They will ask "Why?" So, when (in the words of Deuteronomy) your son asks, What is the meaning of the testimonies and the statutes and the ordinances . . . ?" The father and mother are not to dodge such questions. There is nothing meaningless about true religion; on the contrary, religion discovers life's central meaning. True religion is not a set of "scruples" as an unsympathetic sociologist has put it, —not a collection of senseless "Don'ts." A great phrase in Deuteronomy put a great deal in a few words: true religion, all the commandments of God, everything we ought to believe and be and do, is "for our good always." But father and mother must learn that first before they can teach it.

Here's the secret of this amazing shingle. A stripe of special petroleum resin is factory-applied on the underside of each shingle. THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reproduced in The Republican by permission

Refuted By The Facts

Perhaps there is no outstanding issue of either domestic or foreign policy between the two presidential candidates in this campaign. Perhaps the real issue is whether the people as a whole would rather have Mr. Eisenhower and the men around him running the Government in this critical stage of the world's history than have Mr. Stevenson and the men around him running it.

At any rate, Mr. Stevenson has rendered this question of personality more acute by what are accounted his biggest fumbles since his nomination. The first of these, of course, was his putting himself forth as challenging the President's judgment as a military expert. One would have supposed that anybody as astute as Mr. Stevenson is supposed to be would have hesitated to challenge to the position in this field of the man with the greatest military experience of anyone living and who at the same time has established himself as the leading seeker of world peace. In addition Mr. Eisenhower certainly is in position to know more about our whole military setup, as well as of that of the Russians, than anyone else.

Nevertheless, that is exactly what Mr. Stevenson did. He made a suggestion about ending the draft which seemed to promise that if elected he would do this sooner than Mr. Eisenhower. He also made the suggestion that he would end the hydrogen-bomb tests more speedily—and thus terminate competition between the Russians and ourselves in this matter of creating these destroyers of civilization. Well, on neither of these suggestions did Mr. Stevenson find any support whatever among military experts and practically none among the newspapers now supporting him. True, his close friend and counselor, Mr. Thomas Finletter, made a long, apologetic and rather pathetic defense of these Stevenson appeals. But, able and sincere as Mr. Finletter undoubtedly is, they were entirely unconvincing, and the good Adlai is left in the position of a man who, with no foundation at all, has injected the draft into politics and put forth a hydrogen-bomb proposal without knowing what he was talking about.

In his speech last Tuesday, President Eisenhower made it clear that these proposals by the "opposition" were purely political, entirely impractical and not in accord with the national security. It is typical that Mr. Stevenson has not retracted them. Instead, he has left them lying loose with whatever political appeal there may be to the unthinking among the voters generally. He may have gained votes by such loose oratory—but he has certainly lost considerable respect among those who thought he was above this sort of dangerous demagoguery on so vital a matter. It seems a little worse than his 1952 flop on the Taft-Hartley Act, which he first described as a good law but needing amendment and a few weeks later, under pressure from the labor boss, Mr. Walter Reuther, denounced as a "slave-labor" act which must be repealed. No one yet has made denial of this degrading reversal. Nor has anyone tried to fit it in with the picture of him as a man of integrity and character. The two simply cannot be reconciled.

Another big Stevenson fumble was his allegation that the Eisenhower Administration had "appeased" the late Argentine dictator, Peron, and through Dr. Milton Eisenhower, brother of the President and now President of the Johns Hopkins University, had arranged a huge loan to the then Argentine Government. Of course, the facts completely contradicted these statements. If there was ever any appeasement of Peron it was in the Truman Administration and the loan was made long before Mr. Eisenhower became President. It was a matter with which Dr. Eisenhower was not remotely connected. The real achievement of the President's brother in Argentina was to convince Peron of the wisdom of lifting the censorship he had imposed upon the three big American news services and all American correspondents. Though these facts have been widely printed, they seem to have escaped Mr. Stevenson's attention.

At least, he has made no effort to correct the totally false impression which he promulgated about the record of the Eisenhower Administration. In his frantic effort to get elected Mr. Stevenson has had to talk much more than he did in 1952, and undoubtedly has made a number of statements which he cannot sustain. It does seem, however, that a man who talks so nobly about the "High Road" and the "Truth" would want to do something to clean up such "low-road" untruths as have recently cluttered his path. If, as seems clear, the real issue is between the personalities of the two candidates, Mr. Stevenson is suffering from the comparison. As the President has pointed out, he is not sticking to the facts.

Heads Dramatic Club

Fred Teets took over his responsibility as president of the Dramatics Club at Southern High School, Oakland, October 11, at the weekly club period. Other officers include Dortha Williams, vice president; Patty Winters, secretary; Mary Spencer, treasurer. Doris Lawson was chosen to be publicity manager for the coming play.

Plans are being made to present a three-act play November 20. The club chose "Clementine" to be the play presented. Clementine is a tom-boy who, at sixteen, would rather play football than go on dates. The way the author presents Clementine as a girl and as a football player proves to be a comical situation.

Seniors at Southern High School, at Oakland, took the General Aptitude Test Battery on October 10, 11, and 12. Mr. Ernest Spoerlein, guidance counselor, stated, "Seniors who want to take the test may, and it is advisable that they do so."

Personnel from the Employment Office gave the test which was followed by individual interviews.

Mr. Spoerlein also said that most of the larger companies are requiring applicants to take the G. A. T. B. before they are accepted, if they haven't already had it in high school.

Performance-proved in a history-making test on the ALCAN Highway to Alaska

The Alcan Highway is the road where trucks grow old before their time. The road where gravel endlessly sledgehammers the life out of trucks. Where a fog of superfine dust chokes engines, and vicious ruts subject chassis to months of wear in a few hundred miles.

Six new '57 Chevrolet trucks, heavily loaded with cargo, roared north from Dawson Creek, B.C., through 1,520 miles of mountains and mire, rain and hail to Fairbanks, Alaska. Running around the clock, they made this tortuous trip—normally a 72-hour run—in less than 45 hours. As a special test during the run, two of the trucks went the entire distance without once having their engines stopped!

Come in and see how well these new Alcan champs measure up to your job.

The Petition states that the Petitioners constitute the State Roads Commission of Maryland and are charged with the construction and maintenance of highways and bridges in the State of Maryland.

That they have determined it to be necessary and proper to acquire for the purposes referred to in said petition, and in connection with the construction and maintenance of the highway system of the State, certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Seventh Election District of Garrett County, consisting of 700 square feet, more or less, lying between the lines marked "Right of Way Line" as shown on Plat No. 16903, which is being taken in fee simple.

TOGETHER with the buildings and improvements thereon and the rights, alleys, ways, waters, roads, privileges, appurtenances and advantages to the same belonging or in anywise appertaining, together with any right, title and interest of the defendants in and to the existing bed of U. S. That the defendants, Florence C. Newman and Harvey E. Newman, her husband, are non-residents of the State of Maryland, residing in Salisbury, Pennsylvania.

THE REPUBLICAN

Pratt Library XX

VOLUME 80. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., OCTOBER 25, 1956. PER COPY, 8c. NUMBER 35.

The Record . . . . . .

No amount of campaign distortion by the opposition can erase from the voter's mind the magnificent Eisenhower Republican record of the past four years. In brief, here is some of that record.

He has brought this nation peace with honor abroad, unprecedented prosperity at home; put an end to Korean slaughter, prevented another war in Formosan straits and proved to the world at Geneva this country's dedication to lasting world peace, based upon a position of strength.

He has bolstered the free world against Communism; has given real hope for an abundant future with his Atoms for Peace plan; he has restored honesty and integrity in government, dignity to the Presidential office and reversed a 20-year trend toward centralization of power in Washington.

He raised the vice-presidency to a position of vital importance; more people are working at higher wages than ever before; unemployment is at an all-time low. This is the most widely shared prosperity in our nation's history. The budget has been balanced. He has set the farmer firmly on the road to recovery in a plan to reduce the crushing price-depressing surpluses. He has set up the soil bank program to cut surpluses and increase farm income.

His administration has created the Small Business Administration and special cabinet committee on small business which have made significant strides toward increasing small business' share in our prosperity.

He has restored friendly relations between the White House and the Congress. He is keeping in mind Abraham Lincoln's philosophy that "the legitimate object of government is to do for a community of people whatever they need to have done, but cannot do, at all, or cannot so well do for themselves in their separate and individual capacities. In all that the people can individually do as well for themselves, government ought not to interfere."

On the basis of this great record, the American voter will return President Eisenhower to the White House, and send with him strong working Republican majorities in both Houses of Congress. With that in mind the people of Maryland should also re-elect John Marshall Butler to the U. S. Senate and DeWitt S. Hyde to Congress. They have been excellent representatives for the state.

Official Figures Of Registration Are Made Known

Official figures on the registration of voters was released this week by the Board of Supervisors of Elections and shows little change in the proportion of Republican and Democrat voters.

In the twenty-seven voting precincts in the county there are 6,328 registered Republican voters, 3,646 registered Democrat voters, 46 registered with other affiliations, for a total of 10,020 voters in the entire county. The statistics also showed 5,474 male voters compared to 4,546 female voters.

The total vote is 191 less than was listed in April, prior to the primary, but a number of names were eliminated this week from the registration books because persons had not exercised their right to vote in the past five years.

All such registered voters who were in this category, were sent notices telling them of the intentions of the registration officers. This was done at revision day. Persons who had died were also stricken from the books at this time. As a result Republicans lost 94 and Democrats lost 103.

Percentage-wise over sixty-three percent of the voters are Republican, while a little less than 37 percent are Democrats, almost a two to one margin for the G.O.P. This ratio has held in spite of attempts by Democratic precinct workers to persuade people to change their affiliation from Republican to Democrat.

Gains in total numbers were noted in eleven voting precincts while one remained the same. There were losses in fifteen.

Only in four precincts do Democrats outnumber Republicans. These are in 2-2, Friendsville; 5-2, Accident; 9, Johnsons; and 13-2, Vindex. Biggest difference in registration is at Sang Run where the Republicans have almost a five to one majority. It is four to one at Jennings favoring Republicans, almost three to one at Bittinger and 7-1, Oakland; and over three to one at Crellin.

The complete registration figures by polling places is published in this week's issue.

Two Under Bond

Two persons, William Lewis and Robert Nair, are being held in the county jail in default of bond on charges of larceny and breaking and entering. The two were arrested during the week and given a preliminary hearing before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer, at which time they were held for action of the Grand Jury. Both were placed under $1,000 bond.

The two young men are charged with the theft of a tool box owned by Joe Ashby, valued at $300, and are also charged with breaking and entering the Sereno beer tavern and taking a quantity of merchandise.

Construction Work On Two Schools Progressing Nicely

Good fall weather has enabled the contractors, Hardesty and Shirer, to proceed rapidly with the early construction of the two elementary schools. The foundation for the new Oakland Elementary school has been completed, and seven courses of brick have been placed. Grading was begun on the Route 40 site last week, and the contractors have started to pour the foundation, hoping to complete this phase next week and begin brick work, if weather permits.

The Oakland school will consist of eleven classrooms, library, office, health room, storage rooms and all purpose room with seating capacity of 425. The Route 40 school will consist of seven classrooms, library, office, health room, storage rooms and all purpose room with seating capacity of 300. The Oakland school will house children in grades 4, 5 and 6 while the Route 40 school will contain the first eight grades for all children in the Johnson, Finzel and Avilton areas.

The contract for the two buildings excluding architects' fees, lawn seeding and a disposal system for the Oakland building was $525,000. The buildings will be paid for through additional incentive fund money for school construction to be provided by the State.

Paper Ballot Use Is Termed Legal

Attorney General C. Ferdinand Sybert gave a hesitant opinion on Monday that Garrett County voters may legally use paper ballots instead of machines on Tuesday, November 6.

Garrett will be the only one of 23 Maryland counties which won't comply with a 1955 law that made use of machines mandatory by this general election except "in the event of emergency or other unusual circumstances."

The Garrett County election supervisors and county commissioners have been unable to agree thus far on the type of machine to purchase.

Governor McKeldin asked the attorney general if continued use of paper ballots would be legal. Sybert replied it was "not wholly without doubt" and that he didn't consider the Garrett situation an emergency.

The "right to franchise is so important," he continued, that "we would hesitate to take the position which would have the effect of disfranchising voters of the entire county of our state.

"It is perfectly apparent that protection must be accorded the right of the citizen to express his choice by ballot and that every reasonable effort should be made to so construe the statutes as to avoid penalizing the voter."

Sybert recommended that the 1957 General Assembly consider an amendment to the election law to make sure the machines will be available in the future.

Hallowe'en Carnival Set

The Kitzmiller Fire company Ladies' Auxiliary will hold its annual Hallowe'en carnival Tuesday evening, October 30, at the Community building, it was announced.

There will be a grab bag, guess cake, and other games and amusements. Refreshments will be sold.

A parade will form at the fire hall at 6 o'clock and will move through the streets of the town. Judging will take place in the Community building where prizes will be given. Admission to the building will be five cents. An electric fry pan will be given away.

A census survey showed some 11,500,000 persons in U.S. held more than one job in 1955.

Construction Of Ski Slope Begins

Promotion Council Sponsors Winter Sports Program

Construction on the Marsh Hill ski slope got under way this week by the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council. This is a concerted effort to formulate a program of recreational activities for the Garrett County area which will last the year around.

The Promotion Council is making an initial investment of about $4,000 on the project. It is constructing a warming hut, sanitary facilities, parking facilities and erecting a 1,000-foot rope tow.

Workmen are engaged this week in removing stones and brush, fences and other obstructions from the site which is located on property owned by Webster Brenneman, near the site of the Garrett County summer playhouse. The ski slope is located on the northeast slope of Marsh Hill which has a vertical rise of 400 feet. The total length of the slope is about 2,000 feet but Helmuth Heise, president of the Promotion Council, said they would limit the tow to 1,000 feet this year on account of limited funds. He said an additional outlay of $10,000 or more would have been required to make a tow for the entire length of the slope. The drift width of the slope is some 500 feet which is calculated to give plenty of room for all ski-ers.

Heise said the work should be completed within three or four weeks.

The addition of the ski slope will add one more attraction to the area in an effort to bring more and more people here at all seasons of the year. The possibilities of ice fishing, skating and other winter sports are being investigated. The lake area also is being used as an autumn vacation spot where all the summer advantages are still in effect except swimming.

Homecoming Plans Are Completed At Northern High

Homecoming festivities at Northern High school on Saturday, October 27, have been completed. The event will start with a parade at 10:30 which will go to Grantsville, Friendsville and Accident.

A football game with Beall "B" team will feature the afternoon. The game will begin at 1:30. The coronation of "Miss Football 1956" will take place at halftime with the queen being crowned by Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools.

Elected by the football squad the queen will be Kathleen Rush, senior commercial student, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Rush. Her escort will be Eddie Rush, senior and co-captain of Northern Huskies, a son of Mr. and Mrs. DeLeon Rush. Attendant and escort will be Louise Coddington and Roy Rexrode.

The Homecoming dance on Saturday evening will honor the Northern Huskies and their queen, and will be held in the school gymnasium. Dress will be informal, with music by the Diplomats, of Oakland.

All alumni have been invited to attend the game and dance.

Persons unable to register October 25, should call the high school no later than Tuesday, October 30, it was stated.

Smith Contrasts Qualities In Top Political Leaders

Almost 300 Fill Cafeteria Last Night For Republican Rally

The great contrast between the present leaders of the Republican party and those of the Democratic party was outlined in detail last night at an enthusiastic Republican rally, as George Smith, a public relations expert from Washington urged the re-election of President Eisenhower and Vice-President Nixon.

Mr. Smith, in a searching political talk, pointed out Eisenhower's outstanding ability in leadership, party principles and performance. He dwelt at length on Mr. Eisenhower's achievements during his last three and one-half years in office and stressed his outstanding military leadership, how he has maintained the peace, unified the nation and continued to be a world leader.

He cited his deep religious convictions, his essential honesty and sincerity, and what he had accomplished in restoring integrity and dignity to the White House.

The meeting at Southern High School, attended by almost 300 Republican supporters in the county, lacked the usual order of mudslinging. U.S. Senator Glenn Beall, in brief remarks, did read some quotations about what Democrats had said about themselves. He quoted a few phrases about what Stevenson had said about Kefauver, what Kefauver had said about Stevenson, and what Truman had said about both Kefauver and Stevenson, the Democratic candidates.

Mr. Smith, in explaining the Democratic candidacies, declared the opposition apparently would do "anything for a vote," and cited instances where they had promised benefits to practically every specialized group while at the same time promising big reductions in taxes. He cited particularly the foolishness of Stevenson's demand for abolishing the H-bomb tests and the ending of the draft.

In his opening remarks he pointed out what opportunities Garrett County had as one of the pilot

Girl Drowns As Car Plunges In Deep Creek

Three Other Occupants Seriously Injured In Early Morning Mishap

Miss Neva Louise Bowers, 16, junior student at Southern High school, and president of her class, was drowned early Sunday morning when the car in which she was riding plunged into Deep Creek Lake after striking the south end of the bridge.

Three other occupants, seriously injured in the wreck managed to free themselves from the wreck and get to shore before the automobile sank in about twelve feet of water. Miss Bowers, however, was pinned in the front seat and Pvt. Carol Eston Broadwater, driver of the automobile, was unable to extricate her.

Admitted to Garrett County Memorial hospital at Oakland were Broadwater, 19, of Deer Park, on a week-end pass from Fort Dix, N. J.; Caroline Long, 14, of McHenry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Long; and Linda Dunithan, 16, of near Oakland, daughter of Mrs. Lonnie Long.

The three injured persons were reported in "good" condition. Broadwater sustained a possible fractured larynx and other injuries, while Miss Long sustained head injuries and multiple cuts and bruises. Miss Dunithan suffered a compound fracture of her left wrist and multiple cuts and bruises.

State Police said Broadwater was driving north on U.S. 219 when he apparently lost control of the car and failed to make a curve at the south end of the bridge, striking the bridge and plunging into the lake. Trooper Robert Henline, who investigated, said there were skid marks on the road at least 300 foot along the highway before the car struck the bridge. The Buick automobile was a total wreck.

Dr. Thomas Lusby, assistant county medical examiner, said Miss Bowers died of drowning. She also had fractures of both legs, severe lacerations of the neck and chin, a deep cut over the right eye, and a severe eye injury. She was born April 2, 1940.

Henline said the accident occurred at about 12:30 a. m.

S. R. Pagenhardt, state's attorney, said that Broadwater would be charged with manslaughter by automobile.

Miss Bowers, besides being president of the Junior class, was vice-president of the Future Homemakers of America. She was taking a stenographic course at high school where she took part in a number of activities. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Bowers, of Swanton.

Besides her parents, she is survived by a brother, Ronald, at home; her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Shreve, Gormania, W. Va.; and her paternal grandmother, Mrs. James Bowers, of near Deer Park.

She was a member of Mt. Bethel United Brethren church near Swanton where funeral services were conducted on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. Byron Blair, pastor, assisted by Rev. Don Jackson, officiating. Interment was in hte Deer Park cemetery.

Garrison Finish Brings Victory To Kingwood High

Take 16 To 14 Game From Southern In Closing Minutes

The Kingwood High school Staggs staged a garrison finish to come from behind to defeat Southern High school's football team 16 to 14 last Thursday afternoon on the Southern gridiron.

The Highlanders, conceded to be playing their best game of the year, registered a safety and two touchdowns in the first half to lead 14 to 0 at intermission.

The Staggs scored a safety, two touchdowns and two extra points to nose out the Highlanders in the final minutes.

After kicking off to Kingwood, Southern pushed their opponents back to their 38 yard line where they were forced to punt. Southern made a first down on the next three plays. After failing to gain, Mason punted to Kingwood's ten-yard line. After pushing Kingwood back nine more yards Bill Murphy tackled a Kingwood player in the end zone for a safety and Southern's first two points.

Early in the second quarter Southern forced Kingwood to surrender the ball on the Kingwood 28 as the result of a blocked kick. Two plays gave the Highlanders a first down on the five and three plays later Bill Deckman powered his way two yards through center for six points. Deckman's placement was low.

Late in the same quarter Don DeWitt gave Southern another scoring opportunity by recovering a Kingwood fumble of a Southern punt on the 45-yard line. Six plays later DeWitt threw a pass to Don Mason, who ran thirty yards for the last six pointer for Southern. Deckman again kicked low.

Kingwood took command in the third quarter, making four first downs before being forced to give up the ball on downs on the Highlander 6-yard line. A five yard penalty put the ball on the one and before Southern could find running room, Don DeWitt was tackled in the end zone for a safety.

The Staggs connected on a pass play of 25 yards shortly after, putting the ball on the Highlander 5-yard line. Lewis went over center for the first Kingwood touchdown. Paige made the extra point by plunging through center.

Southern put on another drive late in the quarter, moving the ball to the Kingwood 34-yard marker where the attack stalled.

The Staggs then put on a story book finish, reeling off 25 yards and two first downs in four plays. With one and one-half minutes to play Paige heaved a long pass over the head of the Southern safety man to Evenson who caught it on the dead run over his shoulder and raced the remaining distance for the Kingwood victory. Lewis ran the extra point to make the final score 16 to 14.

Saturday afternoon the Highlanders will play Keyser High school at 1:30 o'clock on the Southern gridiron. Keyser has had 12 consecutive victories in the Potomac Valley conference and is leading the tri-state area this year with a record of seven wins and no defeats. They are contenders for the West Virginia class A championship.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Garrett County Voter:

You are faced with the decision of whether or not you shall consent to the sale of liquor being legalized in Garrett County when you vote on the Dispensary Law Referendum in November. Are you familiar with the wording of this law? If approved, it would authorize a Liquor Control Board to set up sub-dispensaries at other locations in the county as well as a Dispensary in Oakland. This could be a grocery store in your town.

Should you decide to leave this portion of your ballot blank, you will have the same responsibility as though you had voted in favor of the Dispensary Law.

The Garrett County League of Christian Voters has been organized to oppose approval of this Dispensary System because the sale of liquor is both morally and religiously wrong. Let us look at some of the facts concerning liquor and alcohol:

(1) Alcohol is a narcotic—the only narcotic that can be bought without a license or a prescription from a doctor.

(2) You may say that liquor is already being illegally sold in our county or is purchased outside the county, so why not legalize it here? So long as the sale of liquor is branded illegal instead of sanctioned as socially acceptable, its sale will be somewhat restrained. In 1934, just after the repeal of the 18th Amendment, average alcoholic beverage consumption in the U. S. was 10 gallons per capita as compared to 19 gallons per person in 1953.

(3) The State of Massachusetts made an investigation and discovered that for every $1.00 revenue income from the sale of beverage alcohol, the taxpayers paid $4.82 to take care of known liquor-caused court costs, jail costs, hospitalization, and welfare work.

(4) Leading doctors now agree that alcohol has no beneficial role in the treatment of disease—chronic alcoholism is responsible for the fourth highest death toll among diseases in the U. S.

(5) Statistics show that beverage alcohol is the direct cause of: 20% to 50% of all divorces; 37% of present poverty; 28% of all crime; 25% of current insanity; 47% of child misery; 25% to 40% of all fatal auto accidents.

(6) In 1953, citizens of the U. S. spent $9.9 billion for alcoholic beverages, but only $5.1 billion for elementary and high school education.

After reading over these statements don't you agree with us that Garrett County will be a more pleasant and safer place to live if it never has a liquor dispensary? Won't you help us by marking your ballot "Against Dispensary Law" on November 6, 1956? May God bless you.

Very truly yours,
The Garrett County League

To the Garrett Citizens for Legal Control
Sirs:

What do you want to control? Is it our appetite for booze by putting it closer to us? Or would that increase the temptation? Is that why you want it convenient in so many places? Are you thus trying to trap the weaklings and enrich the dealers?

Yes, you will hire a manager of good (?) character at $5,000.00 per year and 6 dispensary keepers at about another $5,000.00 each, plus $1,000 each for storage and sales space, making a total cost of $41,000. Then add to that $15,000 for capitalizing the business which will make a new total of $56,000.00 to start with.

While you are at it why not sponsor a law legalizing prostitution providing some one of your number of good character (?) to hold the traffic under control? It would make a fine companion to your liquor control law. You know these two traffics do make fine companions. Neither can attain its full capacity without the other.

Do you have in mind honorable and reputable men willing to tackle these positions of control? Or are you making plans for these important jobs among your own small number, all to men of good character. What an impossibility. And to think that our County Commissioners would have to be in an over-all charge of the whole wicked business.

I doubt if we could influence one single man of good character to be a candidate for Commissioner. People would look upon him immediately with suspicion.

Tax outlay for all the afore mentioned expenses are only a beginning. Think of the money that would be spent in those dispensaries all for degrading and debauching our citizens. Think how many of our people would become patrons of these legal places because they are convenient and alluring. Think of the increased number of impoverished homes, the ill clad and poorly nourished number of mothers and children. Think of our youth who would be degraded and damned! Think of the increased number of traffic fatalities and other casualties! Think of the increased law violations. Think of the increased cost of law enforcement which is always so staggering. All these ills for the false supposition that taxes may be reduced. You must think that we voters are dummies and morons. We can figure too and have the facts to back us up. We Do Not Believe your propaganda. If you think so, you sure have a poor opinion of our intelligence.

Oh yes! You citizens for control sure do want to control us citizens and march us along under the banner of King Alcohol. Shame on you.

To the Editor:

I look forward each week to receiving your newspaper. I read it from beginning to end and often wonder why there aren't more letters to the editor.

A few weeks ago I noticed in particular a letter written by Mrs. Barbara VanSickle concerning the stretch of road from the Blaine Friend farm across Dave Savage Hill.

The description B. V. gave of that road would be a very mild description. That road is merely a trail for horses to walk over and even then it may be ruled unfit for good horses to travel. The Dave Savage Hill is extremely dangerous!

Have you ever seen the new school building—the Northern High School? I had the great pleasure of being there one time. Now the point is, if Garrett County can afford to build such a lush school, why cant' there be enough money around to fix this little stretch of road and hill to insure the children's safety while riding to and from this lovely school.

Anyone who has traveled this road will surely agree something should be done immediately about that hill and road over which the children must ride the school bus every day.

It is true I am not living in this vicinity, but we do travel over this road and section of the county many times each year and I am very much aware of these terrible road conditions.

Sincerely,
Mrs. J. J. Williams

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON

President of Harding College

A candidate for Governor in a Southern state recently won the nomination of his party—and virtually certain election—with a vote that was considerably less than half of the total of legal voters in the state. And the number of legal voters was less than half of the total of eligible voters. So the Government will serve as the choice of a comparatively small percentage of the state's citizenry.

If his political principles and acts do not please the non-voting 75 per cent of the citizenry, they will not be entitled to complain. By not voting they forfeited (1) the right of the ballot, (2) the right to self-government, and (3) the right to complain about government they don't like. This situation is typical of the apathy of a big percentage of the American citizenry. In the nation as a whole and counting all political elections—local, state and national—an average of only about 20 per cent of the voters vote regularly.

Millions of citizens do not vote because they feel that their individual vote would be insignificant in the total, would not change the outcome—so why bother! This attitude continues to be widespread in spite of the dramatic instances of close votes in recent years. The 1952 presidential vote in Kentucky was: 495,729 for Stevenson; 495,029 for Eisenhower. Just 700 votes decided Kentucky's choice for President. The 1952 presidential vote in Tennessee was 446,147 for Eisenhower, 443,710 for Stevenson. Just 2,437 votes decided the issue. That's less than one single vote for each voting precinct in Tennessee.

Back in the 1840's in Dekalb County, Indiana, there lived a grain miller. He started to his mill on election day to grind his grain. On the way he met some friends who persuaded him to go to the polls instead. The records show that the candidate to the state legislature won by one vote—and the miller had voted for him. That legislator cast the deciding vote that sent Edward Allen Hannegan to the U. S. Senate. The question of statehood for Texas came up for a vote while Hannegan was acting as president pro tem. The vote was tied. Hannegan cast the deciding ballot in favor of admitting Texas to the Union.

You couldn't convince that Indiana miller that his vote was insignificant; nor could you convince the people of Texas that it was. Your vote or mine has the potential power to shape the future course of a nation, or even of civilization itself. We are approaching a critical national election. Great fundamental issues are at stake. Every citizen should study the candidates and the issue and vote on the basis of what's best for the long range welfare of our Republic.

DEMOCRATS . . .
"It is true what they say about Georgie"

GOVERNOR WM. PRESTON LANE, JR. (DEM.)
(In Full Page Ad in "SUN", Sept. 10, 1950)
"Mahoney sent one of his gumshoe investigators down to the Eastern Shore Hospital and had him take some phoney pictures. One showed a man drinking out of a tin cup. But what he didn't show you was that the picture was cut so as not to show the dispenser of paper cups less than a foot away!
"Another picture showed what they said were flies all over a ham. There were no flies there; the picture had been retouched. And, what do you think the little black specks were? CLOVES!"

REPRESENTATIVE LANSDALE G. SASSCER (DEM.)
(Baltimore Sun, May 3, 1952)
"I think it is time that Mr. Mahoney's tactics be exposed for what they are—a complete fraud and a hoax. In the first place, he has hired professional performers to dramatize events which never happened, just to delude television audiences. These actors tell a story about housing in St. Mary's County, using photographs taken at Great Mills, and telling the public they were taken at Lexington Park."
(Baltimore Sun, May 5, 1952)
Sasscer said that the pattern of Mahoney's campaign had been "vilification, innuendoes and statements uttered without any regard for truth, accuracy or fairness . . ."

E. BROOKE LEE (DEMOCRAT)
(Baltimore SUN, June 22, 1954)
Lee said, "The advertising boys always built up Mahoney as a fighting man. Some 500,000 Maryland men managed to get into World Wars I and II. Mahoney was old enough for the first and young enough for the second and also rich enough to serve without hardship in the second. Yet Fighting George did not connect with either World War. He just took no notice of either. Now the publicity boys have a veterans committee working for this phony Mahoney."

DR. "CURLEY" BYRD (DEM.)
(Baltimore SUN, June 17, 1954)
(Baltimore SUN, June 23, 1956)
Dr. Byrd accused Mahoney of using "misrepresentation" and "political trickery" with the race question. He said that Mahoney is "preaching the doctrine" to Negroes in Baltimore that he (Dr. Byrd) is prejudiced against the Negro race. He added that Mahoney supporters mailed out literature to five rural counties, purporting to show that he (Dr. Byrd) is "working too strongly for Negroes".
(Baltimore Sun, June 25, 1954)
Dr. Byrd added that it is impossible in a fight with Mr. Mahoney to "discuss the real problems of Maryland's state government because he and his advisors seem convinced that his best chance—perhaps his only one—is to indulge in mud-slinging and smears and downright misrepresentation."

MAYOR THOMAS D'ALESANDRO (Democrat)
(Baltimore SUN, May 1, 1952)
Mayor D'Alesandro told members of the Young Men's Bohemian Democratic Club that George P. Mahoney is a "party wrecker". He said that Mahoney "is trying to wreck the Democratic Party." He accused Mahoney of trying to smear Representative Sasscer. He said that Mahoney had padded the Office of Price Administration "with four of his relatives", and was using it for political purposes.

BALTIMORE "SUN" (Editorial, April 29, 1956)
". . . But in all of these years of persistent politicking he (Mr. Mahoney) has failed to offer a single valid reason why he should represent this State in the United States Senate, or any indication that he has the capacity to cope with the fateful issues which that body must deal with. Such comments as he has made from time to time on public questions have carried no conviction, nor even given the impression that he knows what he is talking about."

BALTIMORE "SUN" EDITORIAL (August 23, 1956)
"Mr. Mahoney, so far as the public record is concerned, is devoid of political principles and in no way equal to the demands of the position of Senator."

BUT--Maryland points with pride to Sen. Butler's Record
"John Marshall Butler has been consistently attentive to his duties as a Senator of the United States, and constantly aware of his obligations to the State of Maryland and its citizens. While well-versed in the broad fields of national and international affairs, he never has lost sight of the opportunities to advance the proper interests of Maryland. As a member of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, he is in an advantageous position to give the best possible representation to this maritime State. He has used this advantage wisely and effectively.
In the interests of our great harbor facilities, the future of Friendship International Airport, our overland commerce by rail and highway, the general economy of this rapidly growing State and the prosperity of all its citizens, the people of Maryland will serve themselves best by re-electing Senator John Marshall Butler.
Governor Theodore R. McKeldin

Plans Complete For Hallowe'en Parade

Plans were practically completed this week for the Hallowe'en celebration sponsored by the Mt. City Band of Oakland. It will be conducted next Thursday evening, November 1, with a parade scheduled at 7:15 o'clock.

I. R. Rudy, Jr., president of the band, pointed out that those participating in the parade would make the usual tour of the main streets of Oakland and would circle the main streets twice, the same as in previous years. This is done to assist the work of the judges. Judging is done on the first trip and the prizes awarded on the second round.

The band also is sponsoring a dance, to be held on Saturday night, November 3, at the National Guard armory. Admission is $3 per couple and the Mid-Knighters will furnish the music.

Scott Sisler, formerly of this county, now employed as a carpenter at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company in Cumberland, was found not guilty of a charge of non-support and desertion at a hearing last Saturday before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer.

Charges had been brought by Mabel Lewis who claimed Sisler was her husband. The Magistrate determined there was no marriage certificate and that Sisler was not married to the informant, as far as the records disclosed.

He dismissed the charge.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our father and husband, Grover C. King, who passed away four years ago, October 29, 1952.

I have lost my soul companion,
A life linked with my own,
And day by day I miss him more
As I walk through life alone.
I often sit and think of you
And speak of how you died;
To think you could not say goodbye
Before you closed your eyes.

SERVICE

A mother must have caused the word "service" to be in our vocabularies. Unselfishly, she works to guide her children in the paths of safety and soundness of mind and body. For minor health problems, she is the home doctor ... yet, when she senses real trouble, she wisely puts her children in the care of the family doctor. He, too, serves unselfishly. And once he prescribes for an ailment, our own service is instantly ready to meet a family's need. We are dedicated to serve you with the same trust that a child places in his mother, the same trust that a mother places in her family doctor.

World Community Day Set Nov. 2

Plans for a World Community day were formulated at a meeting of the local council of United Church Women, held last Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Paul B. Naylor, president.

The day will be observed in St. Mark's Lutheran church, Oakland, on Friday afternoon, November 2, at 2:30 o'clock. Merritt Feather will be guest speaker and his topic will be "Our Rights as Human Beings." The theme of the program is "For the Sake of My Brethren, my Kinsmen."

Gifts for World Community Day are of two kinds, it was explained—money and clothing. The money offering will help the physically handicapped in the Far East, provide medicine for small hospitals in southeast Asia, help young refugees in camps in Europe and meet other needs.

It was pointed out that serviceable clothing continues to be needed for refugees and for victims of this year's serious floods. Also needed are yardage of denim and sheeting for refugee mothers to make into clothing for their husbands and children.

Mrs. William H. Bell and Mrs. Mae Artis, Mt. Lake Park, are in charge of "Parcels for Peace," a part of the program and it was stated that poundage money was needed to cover minimum costs of handling and distribution.

Ladies of the host church plan to serve tea immediately following the business session with Mrs. Naylor presiding. Mrs. Glenn Eagle, program chairman, will have charge of the worship service.

All church women of the various denominations in the Oakland area are invited to the meeting.

John Rollman Is Ordained at Special Service Oct. 19th

John F. Rollman was ordained to the sacred order of Deacons of the Protestant Episcopal church in a special ceremony in St. Matthew's church in Oakland last Friday evening. Officiating at the services was the Rt. Rev. Noble C. Powell D.D., bishop of the Diocese of Maryland, and he was assisted by other rectors.

The service began with an organ prelude followed by a procession by the choir, visiting clergy, epistler and gospeler, presenter and ordinand, chaplain to the Bishop, and the Bishop.

The sermon to the congregation was by the Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, of Mt. Savage. Following this the ordinand and presenter proceeded to the altar rail for the presentation. After appropriate ceremonies the Bishop performed the laying on of hands which gives the ordinand the authority to execute the office of Deacon and delivered him a New Testament, giving him authority to read the gospel and to preach. He was then vested with the garb of deacon by a stole placed over his left shoulder and down under his right arm. After an additional year Mr. Rollman will be ordained to the order of Priests.

There was a service of Holy Communion. A reception was given in honor of the new deacon following the service by the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Matthew's.

Visiting clergy included besides the Rev. Schwind, the Rev. Woodrow W. Wilson, St. James, Westernport; Robert Wheeler, St. John's, Hagerstown; David Street III, Cumberland; Maunsell H. Richardson, Cumberland; Victor Ross, Mt. Airy; James Fenhagen, Brunswick. Rev. John J. Atwell is rector of the local church.

It was the first time that a Garrett Countian had ever been ordained into the Episcopal ministry. Rollman is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Rollman, of Deer Park.

Aptitude Tests Are Given to Seniors

General Aptitude Tests were administered to seniors at Southern and Northern High schools during October by Charles L. Briner, manager of the local office of the Department of Employment Security, assisted by Mrs. Mary Browning, interviewer.

These occupational tests are standardized objective measures which measure potential ability to learn a job. The General Aptitude Test Battery, used with other information about an applicant, is helpful in pointing out the applicant's potentialities for success in a wide range of occupational fields. As a result of the testing and counseling program sponsored by the Department of Employment Security, 55 of the 1956 graduating classes were placed in lucrative employment. Several local business establishments have found these tests helpful in selecting prospective employees.

counties throughout the nation in the rural development program that had been inaugurated.

He asserted the main difference in the philosophy of the two parties was that the Democrats wanted more power centered in Washington whereas the Republicans wanted to begin with the individual and the community.

Hyde Talks Also

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, candidate for re-election as Congressman from the Sixth Congressional District, told the audience that "despite the false and misleading propaganda being spread by his opposition he voted for improvements in social security in both the 83rd and 84th Congresses, voted for increased unemployment compensation, for pay raises for postal and federal workers and voted for a $7.5 billion dollar tax cut, half of which went directly to the individual taxpayers.

He said that his opponent never bothered to check the facts that are on record in Congress. Mr. Hyde continued "He told you that your Congressman and Senators are responsible for failure to include in the proposed interstate system that portion of route 40, from Hancock to Washington, Pa." He should know, Hyde said, that specific highways are not mentioned in the Federal Highway Act of 1956—were never a part of the measure. "The law establishing the Interstate Highway System makes the selection of its links an administrative decision to be made by the Bureau of Roads and state highway officials. The decision with regard to this portion of route 40 was made years ago under a Democratic administration. Your senators and I are now working with the proper officials to correct the mistakes of previous Democratic administrations."

He also told his audience of his work in getting approval of the Little Youghiogheny watershed project and the Friendsville flood control project.

Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty, president of the Republican Women's club, opened the program. Lewis R. Jones served as master of ceremonies and introduced a number of guests. The cafeteria was filled with representatives from all over the county. The turkey dinner was served by members of the Home Economics department. The dinner was held in honor of President Eisenhower's recent birthday anniversary, and was planned by the Republican Women.

A large birthday cake was baked by Mrs. Carrie Shaffer, which was cut and served to the guests.

An Angel Sings

Before this campaign ends, and though other matters press for expression, it does seem that more publicity than it has had should be given the marvelous and moving introduction with which that gifted Democratic Senator from West Virginia, the Honorable Matthew M. Neely, presented Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt when she recently spoke at Clarksburg, W. Va., in behalf of the Messrs. Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver.

This was printed in full by the Clarksburg Exponent—a really discerning newspaper, with an eye for the good, the true and the beautiful—but nowhere else. As a model of restraint, good taste, reason, coherence and understatement it fits perfectly into the character of the campaign which these heroic gentlemen are making for election. It ought to stimulate their following, particularly among the Negroes, with whom Mrs. Roosevelt is credited with paramount influence. The Senator spoke as follows:

—o—

"Mr. Toastmaster, Ladies and Gentlemen: In all the wild seraphic fire of Jewish prophets, in all that Greek and Roman orators have ever said and bards have ever sung there is not, to my knowledge, a single, adequate biography, description or eulogy of the most famous woman who is graciously honoring us with her presence and generously blessing us with her service tonight. But by long range anticipation the celebrated John Milton reports Adam as saying in praise of Mother Eve the most nearly appropriate words ever spoken of our illustrious visitor. They are as follows:

—o—

"When I approach
Her loveliness,
So absolute she seems,
And in her self complete,
So well to know
Her own, that what she wills to do,
Or say,
Seems wisest, virtuousest,
Discreetest, best—
All higher knowledge
In her presence falls
Degraded, Wisdom,
In discourse with her,
Loses, discountenanced,
And like folly shows;
Authority and reason on her wait,
As one intended first,
Not after made
Occasionally; and,
To consummate all,
Greatness of mind,
And nobleness there seat,
Build in her loveliest,
And create an awe
About her,
As a guard angelic placed."

—o—

The Senator then proceeded in prose to say:

"In Philadelphia, in 1936, in seconding the nomination of an immortal for the second of his record-breaking four terms as President of the United States, I said: 'As long as the rights, the aspirations and the hopes of the common people live, admiration, love and praise for President Franklin Roosevelt and Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt will never die.' After the fight of 20 momentous years that firm belief is confidently repeated and it is supplemented, subject to slight change, with Shelley's imperishable lines:

"Till the future dares
Forget the past,
The service and the fame of these two shall be,
An echo and a light unto eternity."

"The recollection of our great pleasure in what we are about to hear will be . . .

"The rainbow to our storms of life,
The evening beam that smiles the clouds away
And tints tomorrow with prophetic ray."

"Ladies and gentlemen, The Queen of the hearts of the world—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt."

—o—

It will be agreed that this angelic tribute is Senator Neely at his best. If it seems to some of Mrs. Roosevelt's friends to do her less than "simple justice," certainly it has set a mark for oratorical grease not easy to excel. Even the oleaginous Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota has not approached it in this campaign.

The bride was attended by her two sisters, Miss Jeanne Pollock, acting as maid of honor, and Miss Nancy Pollock, as her bridesmaid. Attendants wore yellow silk organdy waltz length dresses with matching hats. They carried bouquets of various shades of yellow baby mums and ivy.

Following the ceremony a luncheon reception was held for the immediate families.

Following a wedding trip to the Pocono mountains the couple will reside at 424 S. 20th street in Reading, Pa.

Fire Groups Meet With Civil Defense

Some thirty persons attended the meeting of all fire company representatives with the Civil Defense organization at the Accident fire hall last Sunday.

The main object, according to Fred Tichnell, county Civil Defense chairman, was to help organize the fire services of the county in conjunction with the civil defense unit so that each working organization might be improved. Both groups are attempting to obtain materials that are needed to make both units top working groups. Some of this material may be obtained through matching funds of Civil Defense.

One of the major items discussed concerned the possibility of obtaining two-way radio communication. Tichnell said all fire companies with the exception of two which were not represented, agreed that the communication system would be a great thing for the county. Floyd Harper, Cumberland, representing Bendix Radio company, discussed uses and needs of radio communication and also demonstrated two units. George Comp, of Deer Park, was elected coordinator for the fire companies with the civil defense agency. He will meet with Tichnell and an official from Pikesville within the next week to complete the organization of the county's fire services.

Citizens Organize Group Favoring "Better Schools"

At the invitation of Willard L. Hawkins, Superintendent of Schools and members of the Garrett County Board of Education, about forty citizens from all parts of the county met in the Southern High school library last Thursday for the purpose of organizing a "Citizens for Better Schools" group.

It was pointed out that the purpose of such a group would be:

To become better informed about school board policies, procedures, and practices; to study the school curriculum; to become aware of basic school needs and problems, such as shortage of qualified teachers, inadequate buildings, etc.; to study how the school tax dollar is raised and spent; to work closely with P.-T. A. organizations; to help evaluate pupil growth and progress; to help evaluate the effectiveness of the school program as a whole and make constructive recommendations to the school board for improvements.

The group decided that no interested parent should be excluded from membership and that people in every occupational walk of life should be represented. A sub-committee will meet in the near future to prepare the programs for the year. The next meeting will deal with the school curriculum, and will be held around the middle of November.

To Show Motion Picture

The motion picture in color and sound, entitled "The Street," will be shown in St. Paul's Methodist church on Friday evening, October 26, at 8 o'clock. It is sponsored by the Garrett County League of Christian Voters. The public is invited.

LET'S GO TO CHURCH TOGETHER

The good thing about this is that Dan and Betty and those other youngsters too are here, in Church, because they want to be!

No one made them come. No one told them that they had to. No one threatened punishment if they didn't.

Though outside it is a bright sunny day and the woods and fields and streams beckon, they are here, in God's house, at prayer.

They'd like the country and the world to know that despite all this alarming "juvenile delinquency" there are good teen-agers too.

There are teen-agers who have been instructed in the Christian way of life, and who have discovered what the Church can mean to them.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Psalm 23.
Devotional Reading: Ezekiel 34:11-16.

The Paths of God

Lesson for October 28, 1956

WITH a poem, the best thing to do is not to listen to a professor analyzing it. This may be of some help if the poem is an obscure one. But where the words are simple, you don't need a professor. What you need to do is to listen to someone read it who knows how to read and who loves poetry, or to read it aloud to yourself, for poetry is not intended for the eye but for the ear. Let the poem itself speak to you. If it is not too long, let it literally become a part of you. That is to say, commit it to memory, file it in your little grey cells so that you will always be able to find it. Millions of people have done just this with what is perhaps the most widely loved poem in the world, the 23rd Psalm.

Dr. Foreman

God the Shepherd

No commentary can improve on it, and this column does not pretend to do anything but set down a foot-note or two to an inspired masterpiece. The first footnote is on this picture of God as a Shepherd. One thing this brings out is the vast difference between God and ourselves. The shepherd can get along by himself; the sheep cannot. The sheep knows only what is just a few feet in front of him. He has a poor memory and very poor judgment. The Shepherd has to think ahead all the time. There are notions of religion that speak of God as the "man upstairs" and similar familiar expressions. There are notions about God that put him down on a sort of buddy-buddy basis with ourselves. How silly! Some people even think that if they just pray hard enough, that is, if they want something enough and keep nagging God long enough, he is bound to see it their way and let them have what they ask.

God Cares for Me

It has been found that one good way to read this Psalm is to read it aloud, emphasizing the personal pronouns. The Lord is my Shepherd; I shall not want . . . I shall fear no evil, for Thou are with me . . . Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me . . . Religion has to be in the first person singular or it isn't real. You can go all your life knowing this Shepherd Psalm by heart, and thinking what a lovely picture this is, of God the Shepherd of his people. But then one day you make the psalm your own, not in mind only but in heart—the Lord is MY Shepherd!—and then it simply comes alive. It helps, too, to remember the difference between a shepherd in David's time (and still, in that country) and a sheep-herder today. A farmer, in Kentucky for instance, who raises sheep just has them in a big pasture well fenced in. He has to keep his eye on them, all right, but then he can go to town or do other things. In a big green pasture a sheep can't do itself too much damage. But in Palestine, with no big green pasture, only little narrow strips of green along creek beds in rocky ravines, with jackals and other animals always on the prowl on the wild unfenced hillsides, the shepherd simply has to be there protecting and guiding each sheep personally or they will be ruined. So God the Shepherd cares for me, individually, he protects me, fights for me, he does not intend that I should be lost.

The Paths of God

Some kinds of religion, even some kinds of the Christian religion, think of God as living in some sublime heaven, watching man as he toils along his low and winding trail. The picture in this beloved Psalm is quite different. The Shepherd travels with his sheep, from one pasture to another. When one stream or water hole dries up, the Shepherd knows where another is, and leads the flock there. So the Bible reveals to us a God who, hard as this may be to believe, actually shares our afflictions, is close beside us at every step. So the paths the flock of God follow are his paths, not because he laid them out but because they are the paths where he goes. They are not easy. The peace of God is not freedom from danger. The paths of God go by cliffs where falling rocks threaten; they lead to springs and streams that will die in summer's heat, they descend among the shadows of death, they are within sight of God's enemies and ours. But since they are God's paths, we walk secure, knowing His choice is always best.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

We're Rich

Whee, we're rich! I never thought I'd live to see the day, but two publications, one national and one local, have the proof.

The U.S. News and World Report this week shows us that Americans are rich beyond anything the world had seen since Adam and Eve were told to go to work. True, we're deeper in debt than we've ever been but with interest and high taxes we still have more money to spend than ever before.

Well do I remember the buzzing that was caused on a campus when the student editor brazenly stated in an editorial that he expected to earn $5,000 ten years after graduation. A high figure to be shooting at, most students thought, but half the people of America earn that today, according to U.S. News.

The dollar isn't worth as much but still we're practically wallowing in luxuries. We've got the goods—cars, radios, sweepers, electricity, washing machines and TV. Three families out of four have at least one TV set.

So much for goods and the national scene.

—o—

Here in Garrett

I was just as surprised to find that "poor old Garrett County" (notice it's in quotes which means it isn't my phrase) is rich too. This information and shocking news came to me through Southern High's "The Acorn." Not so much in "goods" as the amount of money high school students spend.

An article titled "All We Chillun Got Shoes" was as clever a piece for selling advertising as I've ever seen. That was the intent of the survey taken in senior high school among 500 students. All survey sheets that appeared unreasonable were discarded leaving 326 valid ones.

This survey showed that 251 students spend $10,000 a year on clothing or almost $400 a year. The average students buy four pairs of shoes yearly. (Now I have more sympathy when our daughter complains that she has nothing to wear and adds, "You ought to see the kids.")

A weekly average of $1.08 is spent on pop, ice cream, etc., and while "The Acorn" didn't list it I'm sure that included chewing gum. An average of $2.18 monthly is spent on cosmetics and "fuzz removers."

It goes on and on. We knew the baby business had an important part to play in keeping business booming but we never figured on what the teen-age crowd is doing to help it.

What will be the outcome of our youth having so much of this world's goods? Will they be able to take a leaner day?

Through it all they may be able to take it better than any previous generation. They may have had their "fling" with goods and their inner urges may drive them toward the feel of accomplishment, the need for expressing ideas and developing talents and growing in grace.

If such could be the case we'd be so happy that all our "Chillun got shoes," and money to jingle in their pockets.

New and Improved

I am beginning to be suspicious of everything I buy that has on the carton in bold electrified letters "new and improved." It seems the improvements are in reverse. Tooth past thinner, soaps less sudsy, softness less soft, instants les intant.

It gives one a pleasant sense of security to look at a box of Mothers Oats and see the same mother that was on the box years ago and note a sense of pride in their "old fashioned" cereal.

Advice on Building

'Tis said that every family has to build three houses in order to get what it really wants.

Since we felt we'd do well to even have one we tried to study family situations in each phase of growth. We read and figured and listened to advice of others. But nowhere did we hear an inkling of the importance of installing a private telephone line in the daughter's bedroom.

IN MEMORIAM

Goehringer—In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather, Clemens C., who passed away one year ago, October 27, 1955.

Dad was tired and weary,
Weary from toil and pain;
Put aside his glasses,
He'll not need them again.
Into Heaven's mansions he entered,
Never to sigh or weep,
After long years of life's struggles,
Dad has fallen asleep.
You bade none a last farewell,
You said goodbye to none.
Your dear heart just ceased to beat,
And suddenly you were gone.
At the time, when life could be sweeter,
And you could have lived your best,
The gates of Heaven opened, and
You entered into eternal rest.

Loving Daughter, Sons and Families.

Don't Be Fooled !

Facts and Figures Prove that DRY Communities are SAFER Communities...

FATAL FIGURES: TEXAS HIGHWAY DEATHS, 1951-54

Wet City	Deaths	Dry City	Deaths
Amarillo	43	Lubbock	23
Odessa	21	Abilene	11
Longview	19	Marshall	8
Temple	18	Plainview	7
Midland	14	Texarkana	5
Harlingen	15	Denton	4
McAllen	13	McKinney	5
Total	143	Total	63

The Public Safety Department figures indicate 37 percent of Texas highway fatalities for 1954 involved a drinking driver. Alcohol obviously played a major role in the deaths of the 80 more people killed in the seven wet Texas cities than in the seven dry Texas cities for the four-year period, 1951-54. The cities above are of comparable size. The overall population total of each column is nearly identical.

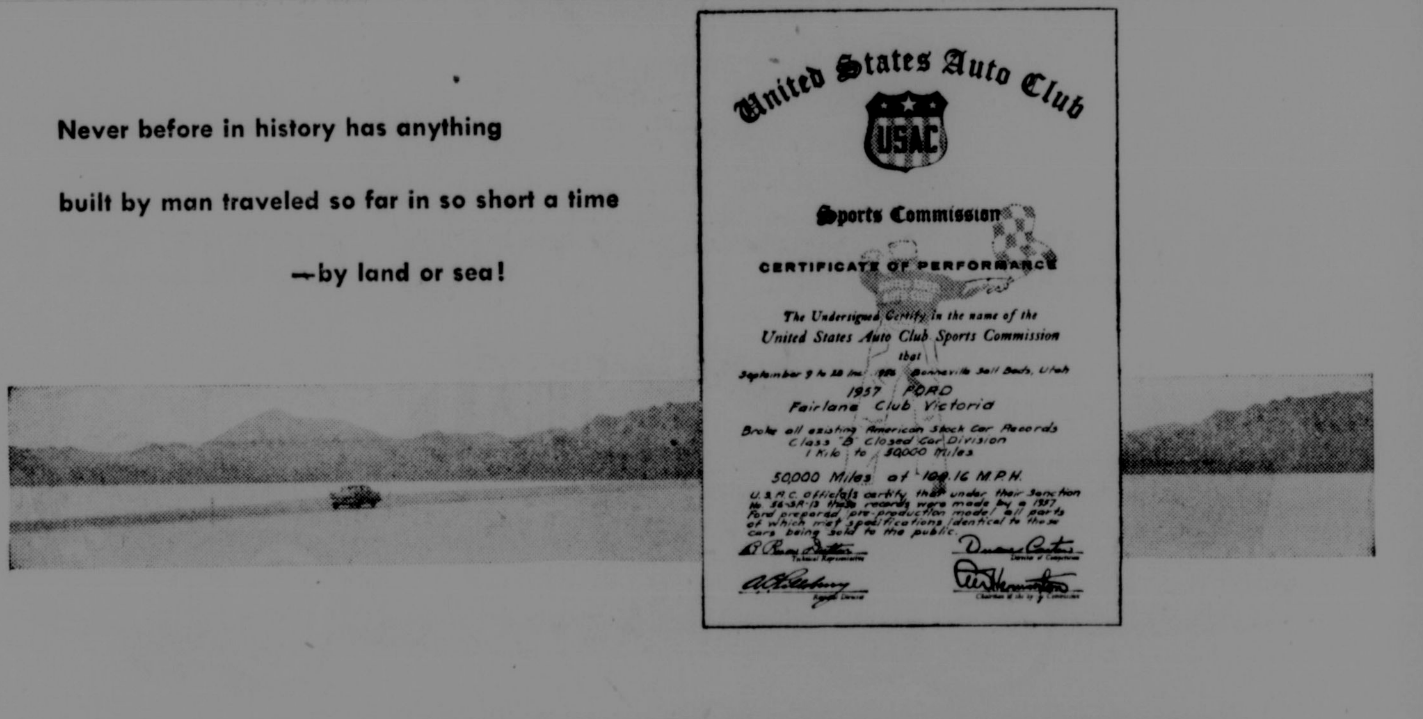
How Significant Are 80 Lives? What Value Have 80 Human Beings?

Don't be fooled! Any tax money received from the sale of alcoholic beverages in this county would be more than offset by the additional revenue needed to try to enforce the liquor laws. And that doesn't take into consideration the lesser amount that would be spent on food for the drinkers' families. Don't be fooled! All that glitters is not "Net." For every dollar of beer and liquor tax received the State of Massachusetts spent nearly $3 for known and measurable costs. It would be the same in Garrett County.

VOTE AGAINST THE DISPENSARY LAW

This advertisement sponsored and paid for by the Garrett County League of Christian Voters.

Never before in history has anything built by man traveled so far in so short a time —by land or sea!



An announcement of decisive importance to anyone about to buy a new automobile

The most exhaustive endurance test ever given an automobile has just been completed by two stock '57 Fords—identical in every respect with cars now being offered by Ford Dealers.

Under the supervision of the United States Auto Club and the Federation Internationale de Automobile, each of these two '57 Fords traveled 50,000 miles in less than 20 days. Ford No. 1 averaged 108.16 mph for the entire run . . . Ford No. 2, over 107 mph. These averages include time for all pit stops.

In all, the '57 Ford smashed 458 national and international records.

This test was run on the Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah . . . it was the longest left turn in history.

A car, like a man, is known by its deeds, not words.

That is why, we at Ford, despite our confidence in our '57 cars, let their deeds of accomplishment speak for themselves.

Therefore, we engaged an independent engineering organization to test our '57 cars more thoroughly than any other cars have ever been tested before—in this country or abroad.

We provided them with '57 Fords—cars identical with those now offered by Ford Dealers. The rest we left up to them.

Here is what they did:

Here, twelve of the world's greatest drivers took over.

In relays they drove these cars night and day for a distance greater than twice around the world . . . a distance equal to 5 years of normal driving.

Not in all history has a man-built machine traveled so far in so short a time—by land or sea!

But this was not a test of speed—but of endurance of the "Inner Ford." A trial to test the measure of Thunderbird Y-block V-8 power without qualification of any kind. A test of running gear—of brakes, of materials in body and chassis. Of steering and roadability, yes, and comfort, too!

A test, indeed, such as no other cars have ever undergone, let alone successfully concluded.

Surely they have told you, in decisive terms, that they are worth more when you buy . . . and when you sell!

Your Ford Dealer will gladly place at your disposal the new kind of Ford that means a new kind of value for your car-buying dollar—the greatest the world has ever seen.

Trick or Treat?

"Trick or treat" is part of the fun on Halloween. But there's nothing funny about it when it's played with your taxes.

For instance, certain groups in this country would have you believe that federal government electricity is a "treat" for everyone. But it's no treat for you—it's a trick. The government taxes you more so that customers of federal power systems can get their electricity for less.

First, your taxes go to build the government power plants that serve these people. Then, because they don't pay taxes in their electric bills as you do (about 23 cents out of each dollar spent for electricity), you are taxed further to make up the difference.

This trick of taxing you to subsidize electric service for customers of federal government power systems is one of the little-known facts about "public power." And it's a far cry from normal American standards of fair play.

Scott Henckel, Rfd. Addison, Pennsylvania, Plaintiff
Vs.
Elsie Henckel, Farmington, Pennsylvania, Defendant.
No. 4686 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree for divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the plaintiff for the defendant.

The bill states:

That on the 6th day of October, 1945, he was married to the defendant, Elsie Henckel, at Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, by a duly ordained minister; that he resided with the said defendant until on or about the 31st day of May, 1951, at which time the said Elsie Henckel deserted your orator while they were residing in Fayette County, Pennsylvania; that although the conduct of your orator towards his said wife has always been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said Elsie Henckel without just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted him, and has declared her intention to live with him no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for more than eighteen months, is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties are beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that no children were born of said marriage; that your orator is a resident of Garrett County, Maryland, and has resided in the State of Maryland more than two years prior to the filing of this bill of complaint, but the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and her last known address was Farmington, Pennsylvania.

It is thereupon this 19th day of October, 1956, ordered by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, that the plaintiff, by having a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 23rd day of November, 1956, give notice to the non-resident defendant warning her to be and appear in this Court, either in person or by solicitor, on or before the 8th day of December, 1956, to show cause, if any she has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Keyser Tornado Tops Southern

P. V. C. Leaders Score Three Touchdowns In First Half To Clinch Victory

Keyser High schools Golden Tornado roared briefly three times in the first half of the football game Saturday against Southern, then subsided into a gentle breeze during the remainder of the contest but it was enough to create an 18 to 0 victory.

Three sudden scoring thrusts produced Keyser's 18 points and their 13th straight victory over a scrappy Highlander team which refused to be over-awed by the only undefeated school in the area.

Southern held the Tornado on even terms until late in the first quarter when Keyser took over on the 22-yard line. Five plays later, aided by runs of 30 and 42 yards by Burgess and Dennis, they scored the first six-pointer. Dennis went eight yards through center to climax the drive.

Keyser got a break midway in the second quarter when a short Southern punt went out of bounds near the center of the field. Again Keyser made the most of its opportunity, driving over the goal line in four plays. The drive was featured by runs of 9 and 24 yards by Burgess and Dennis, climaxed by a 20-yard touchdown run by Burgess.

Late in the half Dennis gave Keyser its last scoring opportunity by intercepting a Southern aerial on the Highlander 39. On the third play Maine hit Spotts in the end zone with a pass for the final six points.

Most of the final half was played between the thirty-yard lines with neither team being able to get a sustained drive rolling. Late in the third quarter Southern drove into Keyser territory only to have the drive stall when Keyser intercepted a pass. On the last play of the quarter Keyser again intercepted on the Southern 30 but lost the ball on downs when Southern held on its 12-yard line.

Late in the final quarter Southern marched into Keyser territory but failed to make a first down by inches.

Contribution!

This week The Republican received a sum of money as a charge for publishing a half-page advertisement, signed by the Garrett Citizens for Legal Control. The proceeds have been credited to the use of the Garrett County League of Christian Voters, to be used as they so direct.

Since this is the only newspaper in the county we have certain obligations to perform to both sides of a controversy, no matter what our personal views might be in the case. For that reason we are publishing the advertisement of the Citizens for Legal Control, but we want no part of the money derived from it.

We are opposed to the establishment of any liquor dispensary in the county and urge the voters to vote AGAINST the proposed dispensary law.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

When people become careless or neglectful of the privilege of voting for the governmental principles and the candidates of their choice they are creating a danger to the very existence of this basic freedom.

A Czechoslovakian refugee wrote a letter to the Christian Science Monitor which said in part: "You can't take freedom for granted. We Czechs learned that too late. We did not realize that with so many citizens who are indifferent, a small, well-organized minority can turn the tables and seize power.

"The average citizen of Czechoslovakia in January of 1948 felt that his country was free—free in the full meaning of the word as understood in the Western democracies. They knew, of course, that the Communists held many key positions in the government—but 'wasn't a new election coming up in March?' They'd soon put an end to that! So what happened at the polls? There the voters were confronted with lists of these 'coalition' candidates (Communists), and their choice was limited to voting for or against them.

"As one of the voters in Prague that day, who was not blinded by Communist bluffs, I went to the polling booth, determined to cast a white ballot (NO) to the government coalition. Like millions of others, I did not do as I had planned, and I returned home an hour later, discouraged, miserable and ashamed—having cast another vote for the hated dictatorship.

"My reason for doing so was fear—fear of what consequences voicing my disapproval might have on me, on my friends and relatives. For the Communists were so determined to make the election a demonstration of their own superiority—they stopped at nothing to accomplish this aim. Slogans in the building where the election took place made this fact only too clear: ONLY A TRAITOR WILL VOTE AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT. WE WILL KNOW HOW TO DEAL WITH THE ENEMIES OF THE PEOPLE.

"What can happen in one nation can be repeated in another, and those who today do not heed the democratic slogan, VOTE AS YOU LIKE, BUT VOTE, may be subjected to ones which they like much less."

Plain Rubbish . . .

20 to 50 percent of all divorces, 37 percent of our present poverty, 28 percent of all our crimes, 25 percent of our insanity, 47 percent of child misery, and 25 to 40 percent of all automobile accidents can be attributed to excessive use and abuse of alcohol.

We can't measure in taxes or savings the violent deaths that result from drunken driving.

The number of alcoholics in the United States and Canada is on the increase. Alcoholism is a growing problem in every area. Drunkenness in Sweden increased 125 percent when liquor curbs were lifted in that country.

Eliminate all the moral reasons for opposing legalized sale of liquor and we still have the problem of saddling the administration of the law, should it actually pass, in the hands of the County Commissioners. The question would always be a political football for our commissioner candidates, and that is not good.

There are many people proud to reside in an area where liquor cannot be purchased legally. We have many summer visitors who are glad of the opportunity to vacation in a spot where liquor cannot be legally obtained.

The trouble with the argument that there is nothing wrong in using liquor in moderation, is that usually when it is easily obtained, there eventually is no moderation. The increase in the number of alcoholics is proof enough of this assertion.

In the final analysis there are no real economic benefits from the legal sale of liquor, and the dispensary law should be defeated at the polls next Tuesday. We earnestly recommend that the citizens of this county vote AGAINST the dispensary law. You'll be able to sleep better at nights, if you do.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir:

Our "champion" of liquor control is at it again. He believes more industry would come to Garrett if we only had dispensaries. We believe factory owners would rather build where liquor was not available.

He talks about lack of progress, business, etc. I grant that there would be more business for criminal lawyers, constables, sheriffs, justices of the peace, judges, police, traffic officers, juries and law enforcement in general. But it would have to be paid for by the hard earned money of the taxpayers. Hospital doctors and undertakers likewise would have a boom in business. There would be a boom in crime, immorality and careless living, with the stamp of public opinion.

Just who are these citizens for control. I sympathize with Mr. Smith who must be the goat. A goat makes a poor leader. He is to be pitied. We don't envy him his role. Those who wish most to control others are incapable of controlling themselves.

They speak of a downgrade in industry. This is only in mining and in the timber business, for good reasons. Our mines had to close down because of operation expenses, labor demands for higher pay, making it uneconomical to operate. The timber business slowed down because the forests have become unproductive, with good timber exhausted. A dispensary in every town would not help either the mining interests or those of timber but it would render the workers less efficient, less responsible, less dependable.

They speak of lowering taxes. This never has happened in wet areas. Taxes have always increased. So has drunkenness, degradation and despair.

They appeal to the level headed citizen. So do I. And now they fear of losing their beer traffic too. If they did we could drink more milk, a perfect food, and create a greater demand for our legitimate farmers' product. This would be sane and profitable.

The citizens, I feel sure, will vote for a sober society, for happy homes and humanity. Vote against the dispensary law.

Dick Bodgin

Dear Sir:

I would like, thru the columns of your paper, to make an appeal to all voters, but especially to the farmers of our county, to go to the polls and vote on next Tuesday. I appeal especially to "fellow farmers" because of the fact that we, as a class, sometimes have extra Fall work on hand and hesitate to take time off to vote, but, considering the importance of this election, I feel that every voter should make a special effort to do so.

Nationally, our good President deserves our support, and locally, the Garrett County League of Christian Voters should have it.

Knowing full well the evil effects of the use of liquor, particularly in respect to the ever increasing number of deaths on our highways, one fourth of which, according to statistics, are caused by the drinking of intoxicating liquor, deaths for which no amount of tax money can compensate, I feel sure that each voter will think twice before casting his ballot for any measure that will permit the wide-spread sale of liquor in our county, which would consequently encourage a more widespread use of it.

Therefore I urge every voter to go to the polls and vote, conscientiously, remembering, "The life we save, may depend on our vote."

French Classes Are Active at Northern

The second year French class at Northern High is active this year. In addition to regular classroom procedures such as reading, translating, speaking French, conjugating verbs, vocabulary studies and grammar work, some activities are going on to add meaning to the course.

To make the study of a foreign language meaningful to the students it was considered desirable to understand the habits, the customs, the traditions, religious beliefs and the people of the country since their lives, personalties and behavior are known to make a contribution to their language. The Northern students are making use of available resources to add to their knowledge of the cultural background of the French people.

One day recently, the class enjoyed a planned visit from little Mademoiselle Marie Noelle Doulet, a native French girl, now living in America. In an interview with the teacher, Miss Kathryn Speicher, she spoke of French customs, schools, churches and religious celebrations. Conversation with the teacher was carried on in both English and French with the class finding it easy to follow both speakers. Marie presented the class with several recordings of French songs.

Miss Speicher said the students enjoyed Marie's quick response to the question, "Which country do you like better, France or America?" for immediately she replied, "Both."

Agent Leader Speaks At Achievement Day

Miss Evelyn Scott, assistant home demonstration agent leader, Extension service, was the principal speaker at the Achievement Day program of the Homemaker clubs, held last Wednesday, October 24, in the Methodist assembly room in Oakland. About 125 attended.

Miss Scott stressed the fact that agriculture and home economics work was for all the people of the county, aimed at helping "people to help themselves." She pointed out the leadership programs in Homemaker clubs that has been developed where training is given to project chairmen.

Mrs. Ralph Buckel, county council president, presided at the morning session and Mrs. Russell Klotz, county council vice-president, presided during the afternoon.

Mrs. Ray Rohrer, district 1 director of the state council, reported on her trip to Texas to the National Council of Homemakers' Council. She brought a copy of the prize winning national song which the group tried under direction of Mrs. Clayton Speicher, county music chairman.

Guests included, besides Mrs. Rohrer, of Hagerstown, Miss Katherine Close and co-worker, of Frostburg; Miss Edith Brock, Oakland.

Mrs. Francis Spoerlein, Accident club, was elected president, and Mrs. Floyd Durst, Mars Hill club, was elected treasurer.

The 1957 Achievement day will be held at Hoyes, it was announced.

To All Voters!

Fellow Americans, Ladies and Gentlemen All Over America:

I am talking to you as Americans—Republicans, Independents and good-thinking Democrats—regardless of race, creed or nationality. This is a very important Election coming up November 6th and we should pick as our Standard Bearer a man who is best qualified to lead us through these uncertain times that face this great Nation of ours.

Until a few weeks ago, President Eisenhower was considered by all Americans to be a great Leader, a great American and a great President; but some of his opponents are trying desperately to crucify him. In the past several years, they have tried in vain to get him to head their ticket on several occasions but failed. Being a military man all his life and getting tired of war, he decided to head the Republican ticket and work for peace throughout the world. He is one of the most honest, sincere men this Country affords today who knows more about foreign policy than all of those who criticize him.

Where were we when he was elected President four years ago? Bogged down in a war in Korea or should I have said, Mr. Truman's Police Action who did not have the respect to ask Congress for a Declaration of War because he was afraid he would have been refused. That act cost the American taxpayers billions of dollars plus several billion left for our children, and their children, to pay; and the sad part of the story is about one hundred fifty seven thousand casualties. One, or more, of them may have been your son or brother or some relative or friend who failed to get back home by no fault of his own, or left a cripple the rest of his life.

That same man who failed so miserably during his stay in the White House is out stumping the Country trying to defeat a man whom he tried desperately to get to head his own ticket. Just what kind of a man would you call that anyway? He said to the great General at one time in Europe, complimenting him for a job well done and saying without any asking, "there is nothing I would not do for you, even help you be President of the United States." Well, he deserved to be President; and was elected by a great majority without the help of Mr. Truman. He was not in the same Party and Mr. Truman did not like that, and now he is called everything but a nice man. I guess you have to consider the source from whom it came as he has a habit, you know, of calling some people nice names or punching them in the nose when they fail to agree with him.

Now, what have we had in this campaign, the great cry of doom and gloom from his opponents who would like to take his place when, without war, we have the greatest prosperity the Country has ever known. No boys dying on battlefields anywhere and that is great news! Something his predecessors failed to achieve was prosperity without war and that is the reason they don't like our great President. He is too honest for them! We must make our decisions on past records as to whom would be the best leader, not promises which have misled so many people in the past. Let's have facts and performances, rather than just words; in my opinion, Dwight D. Eisenhower is that man. He has brought into being more of his promises than most any other man in office today.

He is a great man and a great leader! In his campaign pledge in 1952, he said, "I will go to Korea," and he kept his promise; he brought about an Armistice and stopped the Korean War. He promised to cut taxes and he did just that; he promised to balance the budget. He has balanced the budget and made a start toward reducing this terrible debt that hangs over all our heads which is something of which to be justly proud.

You could write a book on the accomplishments of this great man who has just performed miracles, and what makes your blood boil, is for some people to claim there is only one party for the working man. Let's take a look at the records, of which there are many, but I will call your attention to just a few. First, the tax picture—since Income Tax came into being back in 1913, there has been collected by the Internal Revenue Department, including 1955, in round figures approximately 560 billion dollars which is beyond the average person's imagination. Still we owe approximately 50% of that exorbitant sum or between 270 and 280 billion on paper, left for the next generation to worry about. Don't you think the little fellow is going to help pay for these sad misakes of the past, including the Joe Smiths whom they appeal to so often and whom they claim to love so much? Let's go further. There have been 15 Income Tax increases since 1913 and 14 of them came under the Democrat Administrations and just 1 under the Republicans; and on the reduction side, just 3 out of 10 under Democrats. Under Eisenhower, just one change in taxes—the greatest, single reduction in history! Now, who has given the Joe Smiths the best break in taxes?

Now, look under the Eisenhower team and see how labor has prospered and how the Joe Smiths have benefited. First, the employment is at an all time high as we have more people working than at any other period in our times plus the highest wages and less strikes ever, due to honest collective bargaining between employers and employees without government interference. It is most apparent that the party who claims to have done the most for labor are the ones that dig deep into the little man's pocket and hope they never reach the bottom. For with the Eisenhower team, they have come up with a tax cut and also, a balanced budget all in one package which is something to be proud of indeed.

What we could expect from his opponent scares me because if he kept, or intended to keep, any of his promises, he would stop the draft and stop testing of the H-Bomb which in my mind would be an open invitation for the Russians to move in. We have been caught napping in previous instances; let's not let that happen again. I hope you have not forgotten Pearl Harbor and Mr. Truman's Police Action in Korea. Had we been strong, these wars would have never been. God forbid our young boys to be called back into World War III as we realize the weapons we have today could wipe out civilization completely. President Eisenhower is the best man we have to cope with world conditions and he deserves the support of every American.

Now, how about the Small Business that Mr. Stevenson talks so much about and what is wrong with Small Business? I am one of those small businessmen and happen to be a 12-yr. member of the Small Businessmen's Organization in Washington, D. C., and I will say to you, the only thing I see wrong with small business is the terrible mess that the Eisenhower team inherited in Washington and he has made much progress in cleaning it up. This terrible tax that we are paying can't be blamed on the Eisenhower Administration as it was already there, and will be with us for years to come as the interest on this terrible debt is quite a sum of money within itself. President Eisenhower played no part in putting it here. It belongs to Mr. Stevenson's own party; they are the sole owners, which I am sure they cannot deny. We have had one tax reduction and we will get more as soon as the President feels it is to the best interest of all our people. Still Mr. Stevenson claims he will build a new world, but that is just so much political bunk coming from a desperate man in the last days of his campaign.

To my Maryland Friends! We need the Eisenhower team back and a Republican House and Senate. Go all out for Butler for Senator and Hyde for Congress as they are both Eisenhower men and we need many more just like them. They need your support; be sure to vote and see that your friends and neighbors vote. If we all do our part, Victory is certain. Will see you at the polls. Thanks, kindly.

Your friend and neighbor,

High 38-7, Terra Alta High 26-7, Southern High 21-18, Berlin 13-7, and Beall High Jayvees 12-0. In the contests the Huskies have piled up 117 points to 70 for this opposition.

Man Is Given Prison Sentence

The first man, E. R. Wilson, was sentenced to two one-year terms in the House of Correction.

Testimony at Friday's hearing disclosed Wilson and Martin drove a loaded tractor-trailer from the lot and ditched it along the McCoole road. Martin then returned to the lot and drove a tractor part of a rig from there which was also ditched.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON

President of Harding College

Nikolai Khokhlov is a former officer of the Russian secret police. While stationed in Communist East Germany, he was assigned to direct the assassination of a Russian in Frankfurt (West Germany) who was mobilizing aid for an anti-Communist underground movement behind the Iron Curtain. Khokhlov went to the Russian and exposed the plot. Then he himself sought asylum with American authorities in West Germany. A scheme to get his wife and child out of Russia, simultaneously with his escape, failed and he now assumes they are dead or in prison in Russia.

Since his arrival in American Khokhlov has given Congressional Committees valuable information. He is confident that the anti-Communist underground in Russia will one day lead a revolt and overthrow the whole Red apparatus.

"The American people," he said in his most recent testimony, "should come to understand that Communism is an immoral system, a system which deprives you of your decency, of your right to be an individual, and which will exploit you drastically in order to achieve its own ends. Besides you must believe and understand that the Russian people don't want Communism, that the Russian people are moral and very religious despite all the oppression of the Soviet system, and that they are the first victims of Communism.

"As soon as you understand this, you will realize why the Russian people cannot support the Soviet system, but must fight it. And all they need from you in this fight is your confidence and your spiritual support. You are in a unique position. You have at your disposal extremely powerful technical means for broadcasting and printing. You have other technical means. If you bring your faith and trust in the Russian people directly to them, it would help tremendously.

"I am not sure whether this next point fits here, but perhaps it does. The early Christians did not follow Christ because He presented them with facts and figures that He would emerge victorious. They followed Him because they believed it to be their duty. Today it would be difficult to present facts and figures to prove that the Soviet regime can soon be overthrown by the force of the Russian peoples themselves. But we know that it is our duty to try. You see, nobody will be able to destroy humanity if all the peoples of the world will help one another spiritually.

"This is why you should believe in the possibility of a third way of meeting Communism—overthrow of the Soviet system by the enslaved peoples themselves." Khokhlov rejected the two methods of resisting Communism: (1) atomic war, or (2) peaceful co-existence. His full testimony may be obtained from the U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. Ask for Part 8, Testimony of Nikolai Khokhlov.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

In continuing our current series on prayer in general, and the Lord's Prayer in particular, I will discuss this week the first statement of the Lord's Prayer: "Our Father, who art in Heaven, Hallowed be Thy Name. . ." The explanation of Martin Luther, in "The Smaller Catechism," is a classic for the introduction to the Lord's Prayer. He says, "God would thereby, with this little introduction, tenderly urge us to believe that He is our true Father, and that we are His true children, so that we may ask Him confidently, with all assurance, as dear children ask their dear father." The confidence of a three-year-old in the ability of the father to answer all questions, solve all problems is what God requires of us in the introduction to the Lord's Prayer, "Our Father, Who art in Heaven. . ." Christ has instructed us in another place that "Unless you become as little children, you shall not enter into the Kingdom of heaven." This also applies here in reference to prayer. When we acknowledge that God is in His heaven, and that we are His children, then nothing else really matters, and everything else will cease to be a real problem, at least one for which there is no answer; for all of us who rely on God as children of three years rely on their parents have found the answer to all of the problems of life. A man who prays in this fashion is well on his way into the Kingdom of heaven. The man who avoids this type of prayer has lost out on the most important fact of his life—that it really is a gift of God, intended for God's purposes, all of its needs supplied by God's love.

As for the phrase, "Hallowed be Thy Name. . ." We who are Christian realize that the holiness of God's Name does not depend on whether or not we admit it is Holy. On the contrary, we realize that for most people it is not a holy name but a misunderstood idea, often profaned, often misused. But in this prayer, we ask that it will be made Holy in our lives as well.

There are two basic things that we must avoid when we are Christian; two basic needs that can be answered when we pray this prayer sincerely. The first is the misuse of God's name by words. The most common misuse is in taking His name in vain, a sin the situation where a man, by his own clumsiness and stupidity, stumbles up a set of stairs, then invokes the wrath of God on those stairs. By word of mouth we can also misuse the name of God when we preach a doctrine which is false, or express an opinion which is not in harmony with Christian convictions. So we must ever study to prove ourselves acquainted with the Word of God and His will, so that each word of our mouth is in His praise, and not to His dishonor.

An even more serious misuse of God's name is in the lives of Christians who act as if they have never heard of the will of God, and His love. You all know how serious it is when a son disgraces a family name by some outrageous misdeed, and how disappointed and disturbed families are when their children misbehave, because they are afraid for their good reputation. The same basic principle applies to the lives of people who say they are Christian, and then refuse to act like it. They bring disgrace to the name of the congregation to which they belong, and more important, they bring disgrace to the Name of Christ, Whose name they bear as Christians.

And so, as we pray this prayer, we should always keep in mind that they are not merely words that we say, but they must be taken seriously. We pray, realizing first of all that God is our almighty Father with far more understanding than any earthly father can have, and secondly we pray that God's name will continue to be hallowed, both in our words and in our deeds.

Four Escape Injury In Plane Wreck

Four men, three of them from this county, enroute to a Maryland Travel Council meeting in Frederick last Thursday, escaped injury when the plane in which they were riding crashed on landing at the Frederick airport.

The pilot and owner of the plane, C. H. "Skeeter" Bowman, of Deep Creek Lake, set the craft down on the runway when a crosswind caused it to topple, breaking the landing gear, right wing and propeller.

The craft was traveling about 40 miles an hour when it started to skid. No one was hurt. The plane was loaded on a truck and returned to Deep Creek Lake.

In the four-place Stinson were J. L. Towler, of Cumberland; Bowman, Helmath Heise, of Deep Creek Lake, and Howard Naylor, of Oakland.

They attended a meeting of the executive board of the Maryland Travel Council in Frederick and then returned home by bus.

As a result of the meetings, subcommittees were formed and plans to provide for certain Health and Safety needs of the schools were worked out.

The committee has been organized again for the present year so as to work closely with:

1. The school lunch program in seeing that the needy are provided for.
2. The County Health Department—clinical work, health exams, hearing and sight tests, communicable diseases.
3. Service clubs providing glasses for needy.
4. All local P.-T.A. health and safety programs.
5. Clothing projects for needy children.
6. Staff member of Board of Education in checking safety hazards around buildings and playgrounds.
7. Bus drivers for safe transportation of children.
8. County Commissioners and Roads Department in the elimination of road hazards for school bus transportation.

The Health and Safety Committee is comprised of approximately sixty school patrons representing all sections of the county. Four meetings during the year are planned.

A Message from Clinton W. Englander,
"Your Pharmacist"

Diabetes (Diabetes Mellitus) is a condition which develops when the body cannit make full use of all the foods we eat, such as sugars and starches. The pancreas does not secrete enough insulin to turn these foods into energy or to store them for future use. These foods increase the blood sugar until the sugar passes through the kidneys into the urine. Too much sugar in the blood and urine is a sign of diabetes.

If there is a past history of diabetes in the family, an overweight condition increases the tendency to acquire the disease.

Diabetes can be controlled by diet, exercise and insulin, if needed.

November 11-17 this year is Diabetes Week, when you and all the other members of your family should be checked for signs of diabetes. You can obtain from us some inexpensive diabetes testing material which will determine if sugar is present in the urine. If the test reveals signs of sugar, a visit to your physician for further diagnosis is advised.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

Signs of the Times

Snow fences are being installed this week which can mean only one thing. Soon it will be a-snowin' and a-blowin'.

Which means that quilting frames will be coming from storage, hooked rug patterns will be traced on burlap, and the wood pile leaning against the shed will start diminishing.

Some of us lacking skill of finger will turn to the cook book for creative expression and find ourselves getting fatter and fatter, which is the worst thing I can see about winter.

—o—

The Lift of a Bouquet

The old quip about "for the want of a nail the shoe was lost. . ." went into reverse at our house which goes to show how little things affect our lives and schedules.

A friend gave me a winter bouquet—a gorgeous arrangement of bitter sweet and yew, in an antique bowl. Even as it sat on the floor I could see that it would perk up the living room.

Since it was sure to be the attention-getter I thought I'd better clean and polish the chest on which it was to set. That done, and looking better, I thought I'd do the chairs sitting closest to the chest since I had the cloth and polish right in my hands.

After their sprucing the other chairs looked worse than before so I just went right ahead and did them too. And they all looked nice. So nice that I moved on to the tables and the desk and the cupboard. My, but they did look nice!

Then I felt so good about having the furniture clean I decided to do upholstery while I was at it, and wash a slip cover. That looked pretty good so I decided while I was at it I'd polish the brass. That made the hearth look dingy so I decided to scour the marble.

Gee, I thought, I'm almost into housecleaning. Since I've gone this far I'll just do the blinds and windows. I hadn't thought the knickknacks and lamps were dirty—but it won't take long and they'll be clean.

Before I knew it, fall house cleaning was done in the living area and no one could have been more surprised than I—all for the want of a clean surface for a bouquet. The nicest thing about it, it was fun every rub of the way.

By Their Treat Ye Shall Know Them

Mercy, how we show our real selves to the children who come to our doors in costumes. Those little fellows all decked out as goblins, witches and scarecrows can see so much more behind their masks than we would ever believe.

They know the generous people, those who are conservative, those unprepared, those who frighten easily and those who are downright tight.

They know when people like children in general and when they like children in particular. What we wouldn't learn about ourselves if we were a mouse on a school bus.

Somehow they don't seem to mind if the treat is small as long as it is in the spirit of warmth and fun. What better way can children and grown-ups get to know the other than in the spirit of fun?

—o—

Let Freedom Ring

A young minister preached a sermon to a group of young men and women entitled "A Bold Step in Faith," that has provided me with meat for much thought. His age was so near that of his group that he could speak out about their indifferences and fears.

For instance, according to surveys, three out of five who are eligible to vote for the first time do not plan to do so.

In a conversation he had had with the dean of one of our top universities he learned that the school had done away with the requirement of writing theses before graduation. These papers had become so dull that they were hardly worth reading, let alone filing. They were void of new and fresh thinking which is one purpose of higher education. This milk-toast type of thesis has grown out of fear.

Students are in that period of life when one is apt to "spout off" with crazy notions so to speak, or to put it differently, to think and question for oneself. Students are afraid to write what they think, if the thinking is new for fear investigating committees will look up their theses and charge them with thinking "unAmerican."

Let's hope we'll always remember that thinking freely is American.

Meeting Is Postponed

The special meeting of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, called for last Friday evening to discuss the possibility of furnishing water to residents who are outside the corporate limits of town, was postponed.

The question will come up at the regular meeting of the council set for next Monday evening, November 5.

The council in September had passed a resolution declaring that no further extensions of utilities would be made beyond the corporate limits except in case of public institutions financed and supported by public funds and taxes or industrial installations.

Early Records Of Aurora Parish Will Be Available To Public Soon

Community and family records dating back to 1772 will soon be available for the first time to historians and genealogists interested in the very early history of Preston County, W. Va., it was announced by the Rev. George C. Weirick, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Aurora, W. Va.

After more than two years of work on the part of Karl K. Gower, of Washington, D. C., the complete records of the Aurora Lutheran Parish have been translated and transcribed, and are to be published as "The Aurora Documents," the only existing history of the Aurora community since its inception. Included are complete lists of births, baptisms, communions, deaths, marriages, church memberships and other area records pertaining to the Parish, which originally was composed of both Reformed and Lutheran denominations, and which was established in 1787 by the Rev. John Stough. The published records will cover the years from 1787 to 1906.

The work is expected to be particularly valuable, since many of the official county records were destroyed in the Kingwood court house fire of 1869. These records have never before been available to the general public, and the originals, in German and mixed German, are now part of the historical section of the University of West Virginia at Morgantown.

Mr. Gower said he hoped the publication of this book would spur a new hunt on the part of Preston County citizens to locate historical documents and family records, and they in turn would become part of additional research he is planning on this section.

Karl K. Gower

A part time genealogist and student at George Washington University, Washington, D. C., Mr. Gower is a descendant of some of the original settlers of the Aurora community, and his interest in this work stems from that fact. He is a member of the West Virginia Historical Society, the Maryland Historical Society, the Masonic Lodge and is a native of Ridgeley, W. Va.

In the translation, the exact spelling of family and given names has been preserved, which should prove of great value to those interested in tracing ancestry, he said.

The book will be available from St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Aurora, when published. It is now being produced by The Sincell Printing Co., Oakland, Md., printers to the Synod of West Virginia, The United Lutheran Church in America.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

Why I shall vote for President Eisenhower's re-election:

On November 6th, all of us will have the privilege of chosing our leaders for the next four years. These are very important choices, and will affect our daily lives in many ways.

I shall cast my vote for Dwight D. Eisenhower for President for many reasons. First of all, I believe he is the best qualified, the most capable man we can vote for. His four years of leadership have shown him to be a leader of great stature, vision and ability. World-wide problems of great importance have been met and handled well by him.

Never before in our history have so many people enjoyed so many of the good things of life, and had peace at the same time. Actual figures show more people gainfully employed than at any period in our history and with wages at a higher level. Strikes and labor troubles have also been fewer than in any administration for many years.

He has brought into the government of our nation integrity, dignity and honesty and made great strides toward eliminating government waste.

It is all too true that the farmers of the nation have been caught in a price squeeze, which prevents them from enjoying the great prosperity of the rest of the nation. Any one who understands the facts knows that this condition was a long time coming, and has been due in great measure to the many unsound agricultural policies in the past. It is my own honest opinion that his plans for future policies are sound and will once again raise the level of the farmer's income.

Even if our financial difficulties were even worse than they are, I for one, should still vote for him, for he is the one with the broad outlook, the world-wide vision, the seeing and caring for all people everywhere. We who are farmers must be careful lest we take the too narrow view and miss the larger perspective.

Believing his policies are sound, his methods right there are yet other reasons why I shall vote for him.

The man himself is the other very important reason. It is my firm belief that President Eisenhower is a man of great faith. The kind of faith in God, and in his fellow-man that gives him humility, yet endows him with courage to do the right. How we need that faith and good-will in a world grown too cynical and suspicious! It is a heart-warming thing to see his love and concern for his family and for those around him. These things are just as important to my way of thinking as the other great concerns to which he must necessarily give his attention.

These are just a few of my reasons. I am convinced that he is the statesman of the century, and that if elected, he will lead us forward into the paths of peace and good-will.

Welfare Expense In September $24,605.

A slight decrease was noted in County Welfare expenditure for September with 689 persons receiving $24,605.89 through the Garrett County Welfare Board. Figures were released by Thomas J. S. Waxter, director of the State Department of Public Welfare. The total did not include costs of administration. Previous to this month there had been three decreases in three months.

The report showed the total was two less than the number receiving assistance during September, but that the total amount was $418.73 more than the total for the previous month.

Largest percentage of the total expenditure for September went to Dependent children where 337 children in 110 families received $9,451.24, an average of $85.92 per family. There were three new applications with one case being added and four cases cancelled.

Two hundred persons received $9,064.07 under Old Age Assistance category, an average of $41.39. There were six new applications, three cases added and two cancelled.

Five blind persons received $279.75. Ninety-six persons listed as permanently and totally disabled received $4,270.22, an average of $44.48. There was one new application here with four cases being cancelled.

Fourteen persons listed under general public assistance received $670.61, an average of $47.90. There were two new applications here with one case being added and one cancelled. Eighteen children were listed under foster home care and they received $870, an average of $48.33.

Throughout the state the expenditures for September amounted to $1,727,919, compared to $1,735,883 for August and $1,638,343 for September a year ago.

FOR U.S. SENATE

Authority Wm. P. Webb, Treas.

Moving Together Toward a Common Goal

With the fowl of the air it is instinct! God has provided many of His simplest creatures with an inate sense of harmony, and of purpose.

But with man it is an ideal . . . still far from realization! Nations and individuals have usually sought their own ends, and little less than attack by a common enemy has ever brought them to united action.

Today, the challenge for harmony and brotherhood is stronger than ever. We know now that the very existence of civilization depends upon a peaceful world.

Our greatest hope is the Church, which throughout the ages, has unceasingly taught the need for moving together toward a common goal. And only the Church has pointed the Way toward that goal.

Join forces with the multitudes in every land who seek the highest goals. Worship with them the only Prince of Peace. And, believing with all Christians in the might of Right, work toward our God-promised destiny.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Suffering for Us

Lesson for November 4, 1956

IN THE days when a running man could overtake a carriage that was in no hurry, a Christian man named Philip was led to run up close to a very handsome carriage—they called it a chariot—in which sat a man reading aloud to himself. Something about the way he was reading made Philip, now jogging along beside the carriage, ask the rider a question. For the man was reading aloud from a book which is no doubt owned by every reader of this column, a book which to this very day outsells all others, every month of every year: the Bible. Philip didn't ask the man where he got the book, or what he thought of it, much less what the book was. Philip asked, "Do you understand what you are reading?" The distinguished stranger admitted he did not. But he was so eager to find out that he invited this unknown pedestrian to ride with him. He was reading a chapter from Isaiah, the very same one that is our lesson scripture this week. It is all about "my servant," that is, God's servant. But who is this servant? The prophet himself, or somebody else? Could Philip please explain?

Dr. Foreman

A Prophet Sees Christ

The book is 25 centuries old, the story of Philip about 19 centuries ago; but that chapter is still a favorite with Christians. The Church today gives essentially the same answer Philip gave: this is a prophecy about Jesus. Even those Christians who doubt whether the prophet originally set out to describe the historic Jesus of Nazareth agree that the picture fits Jesus remarkably well. Most of the Christian church says not only that, but Jesus is the only person the description does fit remarkably well. It is a fair question: Would the first Christians, such as Philip, have thought this to be a prophecy of Christ if Jesus had never thought so himself? Are we to say that Jesus was less bright than his followers? The beauty and power of this great chapter from Isaiah do not come from accuracy in details; it is pretty difficult to make all the details match exactly the facts of Jesus' life. Nevertheless this chapter is more than beautiful in language and thought; it is powerful in giving us, in a few sentences, the central spirit and underlying intention of Jesus' life. It is this: What he endured and suffered, in life and in death, he suffered and endured not for himself alone but for others, for us.

Levels of Suffering

Suffering can be undergone on different levels, as it were. At lowest level there is mere pain, the kind known by animals. The beast does not think about it, animals around him do not; he simply suffers. At the next level there is pain suffered and resented, by human beings. Above this is pain which is suffered bravely, even defiantly, by a stoic ("I am the captain of my soul"). Above this again is pain which is borne with resignation not because it is necessary, but because God wills it. On a still higher level is suffering which is offered to God as a sacrifice—all the sufferer may have to give. As high as this, if not higher, is suffering which is undergone for the sake of others, as a mother for her child. The suffering of Christ, the church believes, is on a plane even higher than all these, though it is like some that have been mentioned. For his sufferings were for men and women everywhere, always.

"He Poured Out His Soul"

The tragedy of Jesus, taken as a human tragedy alone, is saddening. "To what purpose was all this waste?"—we ask Judas' old question as the alabaster box pours forth its treasure. If we remember that this was not only a man but God, undergoing this tragic darkness shot with "lightning of his pain," we can understand a little better (but dimly, for the opaqueness of our selfish minds) what the suffering of Jesus meant and means. It was for us; he bore our griefs and carried our sorrows; he made himself an offering for sin. You remember the girl who said to her older sister: "Oh, sometimes I wish I could take all the miseries of the world and put them on my shoulders!"

And the older sister said, "Didn't you know Jesus did that, long ago?"

A Statement By St. Paul's Methodist Church

The Methodist Church by action of its General Conference has spoken as follows:

> "Our church reasserts its long-established conviction that intoxicating liquor cannot be legalized without sin. The Church of Jesus Christ from its very nature stands at variance with the liquor traffic. For it to be silent in its opposition would be to be disloyal in its function."

In accordance with the above and declaring our own conviction, we, the members of the Official Board of St. Paul's Methodist Church, Oakland, Md., meeting in special session, October 28, 1956, do voice and declare our unalterable opposition to legalizing the sale of whiskey in Garrett County and call upon our members and urge the voters of our county to vote against the dispensary law.

Supervisors' Notice of General Election

Office of

Oakland, Md., October 27, 1956

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, to the Judges and Clerks of Election of Garrett County, Maryland, and to all the qualified voters of said County, that in accordance with the provisions of Article 33 of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1924 Edition) and the supplements thereto, an election will be held in the several Election Districts and Precincts of said Garrett County, at the usual places of holding elections, at the places named herein, the polls to be opened at the hour of 7:00 o'clock A. M., and closed at the hour of 7:00 o'clock P. M., when the ballots shall be publicly counted, on for the purpose of balloting for:

TUESDAY, the 6th Day of November, 1956

Electors for President and Vice-President of the United States;

One person for United States Senator from the State of Maryland;

One person for Representative in the Eighty-fifth Congress of the United States from the Sixth Congressional District of Maryland;

One person for judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit of Maryland;

For the Constitutional Amendment, against the Constitutional Amendment, said proposed Amendments to the Constitution of the State of Maryland, being known and designated as follows:

(1) Constitutional Amendment.

A constitutional amendment which proposes that Councils of Counties having a charter form of government, instead of sitting not more than one month in a year for the enacting of legislation, shall have the right to sit not more than 45 days, which need not be consecutive, and legislation may be enacted during those designated days.

(2) Constitutional Amendment.

A constitutional amendment which proposes to change the present method of introduction of bills in the General Assembly. The present law contemplates that during the last 10 days of the session bills may originate in either House only with approval of two-thirds of the members. The proposed change would limit the introduction of bills, under the same voting rules, during the last 10 calendar days of even-numbered year 30-day sessions and the last 20 calendar days of odd-numbered year 90-day sessions.

(3) Constitutional Amendment.

A constitutional amendment which proposes to change the Constitution's method of confirming or rejecting gubernatorial appointments made while the Senate is recessed, from the present system of submitting such recess appointments to the Senate within thirty days after the next meeting of the Legislature to a system whereby the recess appointments are submitted to the Senate for adoption or rejection on the first day of the next regular meeting of the Senate.

(4) Constitutional Amendment.

A constitutional amendment which proposes to change budget procedure which now provides for the Governor to submit the budget to the General Assembly within twenty days after it convenes in odd-numbered years, for a ninety-day session, but allows a newly elected Governor thirty days for such budget submission. The amendment, if approved, would remove the exception for newly elected Governors and cause the twenty-day provision for odd-numbered years to apply to all Governors.

(5) Constitutional Amendment.

An Act to propose amendments to or repeal of certain sections of the Constitution of Maryland, being certain sections relating to the following titles: "Elective Franchise"; "Executive Department"; "Judiciary Department"; "Attorney General and State's Attorney"; "Sundry Officers"; "Public Works"; "Amendments to the Constitution"; "Quadrennial Elections"; "Militia and Military Affairs"; "Labor and Agriculture"; removing from the State Constitution certain obsolete, out-moded or incorrect material.

(6) Constitutional Amendment.

A constitutional amendment which proposes to enlarge the right of the General Assembly to permit absentee voting by allowing ill or disabled persons confined to a hospital or confined to bed whether in or out of their ward or election district to vote by absentee ballot. Presently only ill or disabled persons out of their ward or election district at election time may vote by absentee ballot, allowing some ill or disabled persons to vote while barring others.

(7) Constitutional Amendment.

A constitutional amendment which proposed to change the Constitution as to its present system of paying Orphans' Court Judges only for days such Judges are actually in session to a system of compensation as may be regulated by law.

For the Referendums, against the Referendums, said referendums pertaining to Garrett County, being known and designated as follows:

(1) Referendum.

AN ACT to add Section 5 to Article 94 of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1951 Edition), to follow immediately after Section 4 thereof, title "TIME—STANDARD," authorizing Daylight Saving Time in Garrett County, a variation from Standard Time to Daylight Saving Time from two o'clock A. M. on the last Sunday in April until two o'clock A. M. on the last Sunday in September of each year, and to provide for the submission of said act to the voters of Garrett County for adoption or rejection.

(2) Referendum.

AN ACT to repeal and re-enact, with amendments, Sections 150 (c), 150 (e) and 159 of Article 2B of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1951 Edition and 1954 Supplement) title "Alcoholic Beverages," subtitle "County Dispensaries"; and to add Section 150 (h) (1½), 152 (a-1), 154 (h-1) and 156 (a-2) thereof, for the purpose of extending the provisions of the so-called County Dispensary law to Garrett County and relating generally to the sale and distribution of alcoholic beverages by a County dispensary in Garrett County, contingent upon its approval at a referendum of the voters of Garrett County.

FALLOUT CLOUD from the first H-bomb blast, towering 25 miles high, begins to drift off to the left after nuclear device, rated in millions of tons of TNT, was touched off in mid-Pacific in November 1952. If the cloud could have been magnified, it would have looked much like the inset, with microscopic radioactive particles clinging to larger earth particles which were blown skyward by the blast. From tests such as this, the Federal Civil Defense Administration learns the basic facts about fallout necessary to plan future defenses against it. (U. S. Air Force Photo)

Letters to the Editor

State of Desperation

Dear Sir:

Adlai Stevenson has repeatedly stated that if he is elected on Nov. 6th that his first undertaking would be to discontinue the H-bomb tests in this country. Thus by doing so, he would interfere with the Scientific Research of the most vital weapon of our defenses. Any school boy knows that in order that our Scientists can develop this weapon, they must make the necessary tests.

Mr. Stevenson was not satisfied with just bringing the H-Bomb into his Smear Campaign, which should not have been a political issue at all, but he also states that he will discontinue the draft.

There are certainly only two reasons for Stevenson to make such daring statements. The first reason being, that he is totally unacquainted with the facts regarding these H-Bomb tests. The other reason is that he is desperately appealing for votes, by trying to throw a scare into the people. But I honestly believe that there are very few good Americans who are willing to vote for a man who is willing to gamble with the defenses of our Great Country for his own personal gain. But I feel quite sure that if Premier Bulganin and Mr. Khrushchev had the great opportunity to vote at the Nov. 6th election, that they would vote for Mr. Stevenson. It is a fact that Premier Bulganin has already indicated in his letter to President Eisenhower that this is the case. There is certainly no doubt in the minds of the voters whom Russia would like to see as President of the United States.

Every American knows quite well that President Eisenhower has made every effort possible to get Russia to cooperate with the rest of the other Free Nations of the world to reduce armaments. Did not President Eisenhower offer to Russia and all other Nations, an Open Sky Inspection? Did Russia show any signs of good faith regarding this offer? No.

I feel most of the American people are very well enlightened as to just how much Russia is willing to reduce her armaments and how far she is willing to go along with the other Free Nations for a lasting peace.

I don't think many of our people have forgotten the meeting of the Big Four, which was held some years ago at Yalta. At this historic meeting, another one of our Democratic Presidents was taken in by Joe—I don't mean Joe Smith—I mean "Good Old Joe." And if we recall after that meeting of many promises and agreements, Russia started her Conquest of gobbling up all of the smaller nations in her grasp. We were very generous in allowing Russia to enter Germany as one of our Allies. And what did good old Joe do to us? He closed the corridor that leads into West Germany—thus causing our Government to use the Air Lift which cost this country untold millions and many American lives.

Who was it that stopped Harry Truman's political action in Korea, and brought back many thousands of our young men? It was our Great President Eisenhower.

I am not a politician—but I am an American and an ex-serviceman and if this article will in a very small way contribute to the defeat of Adlai Stevenson, I will feel that I have at least accomplished something toward the Security of our Younger Generation and many generations to come.

To Friends and Neighbors
of Garrett County:

What price life? Which one of us were we to be told that unless we took immediate steps to erase a physical handicap we only had a 40% chance for life would not rush to a doctor for help?

Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, of the University of Illinois, who has carefully analyzed statistics from National Safety Council and surveys in many large cities, states that approximately 40% of all traffic fatalities was caused by alcoholic beverage. Not many people you say? We all look back on World War II with horror at the maimed and killed, but do you realize that in 1952 casualties due to drinking drivers were 559,200 compared to the total casualties in World War II which were 556,126.

We never know where this tragedy will strike. Can you honestly vote liquor into the county with a clear conscience after hearing these statistics? Remember it may be your family.

(1) CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

(3) CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

A constitutional amendment which proposes to change the Constitution's method of confirming or rejecting gubernatorial appointments made while the Senate is recessed, from the present system of submitting such recess appointments to the Senate within thirty days after the next meeting of the Legislature to a system whereby the recess appointments are submitted to the Senate for adoption or rejection on the first day of the next regular meeting of the Senate.

AGAINST CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

(4) CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

A constitutional amendment which proposes to change budget procedure which now provides for the Governor to submit the budget to the General Assembly within twenty days after it convenes in odd-numbered years, for a ninety-day session, but allows a newly elected Governor thirty days for such budget submission. The amendment, if approved, would remove the exception for newly elected Governors and cause the twenty-day provision for odd-numbered years to apply to all Governors.

The American Way

MAN VERSUS MAN

(By Maurice R. Franks, President of the Notional Labor-Management Foundation and Editor of its official publication, PARTNERS.)

This country of ours was founded by men—men great and proud and strong—but their effort was dedicated to Man, with a great and proud will of his own and an abiding will to be free.

They won him to their cause, and he gave them of his strength, and their cause prevailed—because their cause was his.

And when it was won, he was free. And they left him so. They built into the new society his freedom and erected many safeguards. They did not betray him by designing the new nation for themselves. They made him their mirror and their guidepost. They knew that his dignity was their continuing strength; that his integrity was their highest worth to themselves; that his vigor was their highway to accomplishment—and that their accomplishment must be forever his.

The men who gave birth to the United States of America had something like this in mind when they threw off the shackles of tyranny—and later when they spelled out in words their victory and blue-printed their hopes for its future in a Constitution that was dedicated to the Man in their midst and that stood forth as a document unique in the annals of history.

This was the beginning and the continuing rise of America. Men, always men, comprised her; but it was Man who gave her her character, her irresistible appeal and her prowess.

And with the unfolding of the years, this was the character and appeal of all our most successful institutions and all our most dynamic organizations.

Majorities led but minorities were respected and protected. Men in their numbers marched forward but Man was their goal and their conscience.

The rise of the labor movement on these shores followed this pattern—precisely in every detail. Its men called upon Man and he came—proudly one of many but forever knowing his name. The cause was his and they knew it. They drew upon his strength and returned it to him many fold. The pioneer organizers of labor did not command him; they gave themselves to him. In his name they wore their shoe leather thin; and when there were shoes he was shod.

The pioneer union leaders were not a remote hierarchy; they stood with Man's sweat on their brows. They stood with their food on his plate. Sometimes they stopped, bleeding his blood. They were his shield and defender, and he was one of their fraternity—because it was with them he wanted to be.

And when, in full pride in himself, he felt like standing apart he stood there, and no ropes of the law were about him. He was Man, and there were neither men nor laws to drag him out of himself—or put an end to his job! But he was also the man who did not stand apart forever. In his own good time he came and was one of them—and enhanced their strength and his own.

The labor movement grew and developed as did America and all her worthwhile institutions. It knew as she did that in union there is strength. It also knew that the only positive lasting strength is Man.

Today a new chapter, it seems, is being written—men will say for better, Man will say for worse. For no longer are these twin expressions of humanity as well integrated as they were in a former day.

And this is the danger we must watch out for—and, if necessary tear today's sheets from our typewriters, and get back to the story America herself first started out to tell. The black words of coercion—of mobs and machines and man markets—those are the words that are leading our story astray and causing us to forget how free men build a nation.

Compulsory unionism is an expression of mob rule as dangerous as it is alien to America. Dark peril lurks for each one of us in today's march of compulsory unionism—in this new, outlandish contest of "Men Versus Man."

Protection for a

LIFETIME!

Don't you wish there was a serum . . . one that could protect your child for a lifetime? Until science comes up with such a serum, the best protection you can give him is a good education in health and safety.

In his school he gets instruction in nutrition and growth, in body functioning, in cleanliness, in the importance of medical and dental examinations. He learns and practices safe living in shop classes, in first aid courses, on the school bus, through physical education and recreation programs. But more than that, his teachers know that safe and healthful living includes mental and emotional well being . . . attitudes and habits that protect for a lifetime.

Schools have changed since you were young? You bet they have. Why not visit them and see how much?

Silver Emblems Awarded To Cove F. F. A. Chapter

Cove Chapter F. F. A. of Northern High School was presented with a Silver Emblem award at the recent National F. F. A. Conference in Kansas City.

Superior Achievement

The Silver Emblem is a plaque given to the boys for a superior achievement in the following fields:

Supervised farming or project program with a reported net profit of $9,000, cooperation in developing and financing the school farm, aiding in grading and seeding the school lawn, cooperation with the State Forest Department in stand improvement and tree planting on school property, and cooperation with the Inland Game and Fish Commission on game rearing and feeding projects.

Community Service—The boys cooperated with other State organizations to "Keep Maryland Beautiful" and the "Safety Campaign."

Leadership—Training for boys in leadership conference.

Earnings and savings—Encouraging thrift among members.

F. F. A. Meetings—Using official equipment and ceremony and using parliamentary procedure.

Scholarship—Encourages boys to continue and graduate from high school and to show the importance of good grades. Four F. F. A. members were in the National Honor Society.

Recreation—Encourages boys to participate in wholesome recreation.

The National F. F. A. Chapter contest, conducted annually by the organization, is designed to encourage and reward chapter effort, stimulate group action among members, and to encourage improvement in the local chapter programs of work. Both the interest shown and the actual accomplishments over a period of years give ample evidence of the effectiveness of this event. The Chapter contest has been a valuable aid in stimulating both individual and cooperative effort and in crystallizing chapter programs of work into a series of worthwhile undertakings.

Each chapter in the contest had been selected locally as one of two from the State to be entered in national competition.

National Convention

Eddie Rush and Roy Rexrode attended the National F. F. A. Convention held at Kansas City, from October 15 to 19. They were chosen because of their positions as officers of the Cove Chapter, Future Farmers of America. They traveled with forty boys from other parts of the State of Maryland. Cost of their transportation was paid by the State F. F. A. Association.

Explanation Given on Amendments To Be Voted on Tuesday

The Baltimore Sun on Tuesday morning gave some editorial explanation on the seven constitutional amendments and also some advice on how to vote on them.

These seven questions will appear on the ballot next Tuesday and many voters do not seem to be aware of their significance. The Sun is in favor of six amendments and is opposed to one.

Here are the explanations and recommendations of The Sun:

Question No. 1. The county council of a county operating under home rule (Montgomery is the only one that does so far) is required under the constitution to sit for a session of no more than one month of consecutive days per year. The proposed change would permit a county council to sit for a maximum of 45 days per year and allow the days to be spread out over the year. The proposal would give such a county a flexibility entirely consistent with the home rule principal. On question No. 1—vote FOR.

Question No. 2. Without the approval of two thirds of the membership no bill may be introduced at either a long or a short session of the state legislature, during the last ten days of the session. It is proposed to retain the ten-day limit at short sessions but extend the limit to twenty days at the long sessions. The idea is to help prevent a last minute pile-up of legislation. On question No. 2—vote FOR.

Question No. 3. Many state officials are appointed by the governor subject to confirmation by the Senate. At present, in case of a recess appointment, the governor is not required to seek confirmation until 30 days after the opening of the next long (or 90-day) session of the Legislature. It is proposed to require that the governor submit such requests for confirmation on the first day of the next legislative session following an interim appointment. The effect would be to promote the prompt and orderly transaction of the Senate's business. On question No. 3—vote FOR.

Question No. 4. At present an incoming governor is required to submit his first budget within 30 days of the opening of the Legislature. This proposal would require him to submit it within twenty days. The purpose is the proper one of increasing the length of time for legislative consideration. On question No. 4—vote FOR.

Question No. 5. The purpose of this proposal is to clean house, that is, to rid the constitution of "certain obsolete, outmoded and incorrect material." Nothing of substance would be changed: the sole object is to improve the constitution's clarity. On question No. 5—vote FOR.

Question No. 6. A proposal to extend the absentee voting law to permit ill or disabled registered voters to vote by absentee ballots whether they are confined within or without their own ward or election district. On question No. 6—vote FOR.

Question No. 7. This one the Sun opposes. Leaders of the bench and bar have long favored the abolition of the Orphans' Courts, which serve no purpose that cannot be better served by transferring their business to the regular circuit courts. At present the Orphans' Court judges are paid on a per diem basis. This proposal would permit the legislature to fix by law the compensation of these judges without reference to actual days served. The inevitable result would be to increase pay of Orphans' Court judges, thus making these political plums more desirable than ever and thus increasing the resistance of the politicians to the abolition of these courts. On question No. 7—vote AGAINST.

Garrett County voters, of course, still have the right to agree or disagree with the recommendations of The Sun. This information is supplied so that the voters may have a clearer picture of the proposed amendments.

ATTENTION! GARRETT COUNTY VOTERS!!

Dear Garrett County Voter:

We are faced with an important, far reaching decision, one that will be decided on Nov. 6 at the polls. The issue is, will we permit the sale of whisky in our county through dispensaries or keep our county a safe, clean place in which to live.

The "Garrett County Citizens for Legal Control" state that while Garrett County has barely held its own in business and population other counties have forged ahead. This may be true but the reason is not because we do not have the legal sale of whisky but rather because of the lack of industries in this area which other counties do have.

They also state that the question is not "wet" or "dry" but legal or illegal sale of liquor. We would like to ask how they are going to control the sale of liquor afterwards if they cannot control it now.

They claim to have the interest of the county at heart but in reality the only interest they have at heart is their own bank account. They promise lower taxes, but the same promise was made when beer was legalized. But when were the taxes lowered? They were never lowered, and they will not be if the sale of whisky is legalized.

In a neighboring wet county in the month of September there were 38 arrests for drunkenness. In our county during the same month there were no arrests for drunkenness. Who pays for the court costs of prosecuting those arrested for drunkenness? It has to come from the taxpayers' pockets. What good would $100,000.00 do in new revenue if, as in Massachusetts, $4.82 is spent for every $1.00 revenue to prosecute known liquor-caused crimes?

Do you know that the establishment of dispensaries would be in the hands of the County Commissioners? That there would be no limit to the number which might be established? Do you realize what this could mean?

Would you substitute Garrett County, the Beauty Spot of Maryland, for Garrett County, the booze spot of the Free State? Is the promise of whisky the thing we desire to hold before those who come to our county for recreation and to enjoy the facilities that make our county attractive to tourists and visitors? Think it over.

When you do, we feel sure that you will mark your ballot

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission.

Desperation

Of course long shots sometimes win and the 1948 election of Mr. Truman is one not soon to be forgotten. Nevertheless it is the expected that nearly always happens in politics and certainly the current odds of 4 to 1, daily published in New York newspapers, are not encouraging to Mr. Stevenson or to Mr. Paul Butler, Mr. Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., and others of his more ardent aides and advisers.

Probably these account for the desperation of the Stevenson campaign in the last few weeks. Desperation certainly is the only word that adequately describes it. Ever since his renomination in early August, Mr. Stevenson has almost frantically sought an effective issue against Mr. Eisenhower—and has failed to find one. Primarily, they (Mr. Stevenson and his friends) have tried to convince the people that the President is for the rich and powerful and they are for the "little fellow" the poor, the weak, the worker, the farmer. This has been the technique of demagogues for literally centuries. Sometimes it has worked—here and in other countries. This time, although quite the falsest of all the charges made against the Administration, it is the only one the Stevenson strategists have consistently clung to and with which they have made some impression.

Nothing else has. The "health" issue has shriveled against the robust and vigorous appearance and performance of Mr. Eisenhower. The charge that he has delegated the running of the Government to his aides dropped of its own weight. The tirades of Senator Kefauver and Chairman Paul Butler seem singularly ineffectual and disgracefully low grade. Finally, Mr. Stevenson, himself, has injected into politics things that there is almost unanimous agreement should be kept out of politics—to wit, our foreign policy. His suggestion that if elected he could be depended upon to abolish the military draft more quickly than the President was a brazen and reckless attempt to get votes regardless of the national security about which he pretends to be so deeply concerned. From his standpoint the reaction to this was not favorable but it was distinctly better than the reaction to his advocacy of ending the hydrogen bomb tests without the essential stipulations the President had previously made when he proposed the same thing.

Up to date at any rate this seems to be the good Adlai's prize blunder. For one thing, the weight of scientific, military and popular opinion seemed distinctly adverse to the idea. For another some of Mr. Stevenson's chief supporters with whom he obviously did not consult (particularly Mr. Truman) failed to support him. For another, his running mate, Senator Kefauver, went even further than Mr. Stevenson in criticism of his country's foreign policy at a critical period in our foreign relations and with a dangerous potential enemy clearly apparent.

Then came the note of Premier Bulganin, indorsing the Stevenson hydrogen proposal and, in effect, indorsing Stevenson. This threw Mr. Stevenson, temporarily at least, into a state of painful confusion. His first reaction was to assail Mr. Eisenhower's prompt and firm reply to Bulganin as "unfortunate." His not too bright running mate called it "peevish." Hardly had he thus labeled it than Mr. Stevenson changed his mind and declared that he thoroughly agreed with the President's reply, thus leaving the unhappy coonskin candidate out on a limb.

Despite his Madison Square Garden speech a few days ago, what the ultimate position of Mr. Stevenson on the bomb tests and the draft will be no one now can tell—not even his closest associates. He disagreed with some of his top advisers before he took his stand. He has disagreed with Mr. Truman after he made his first announcement and since. He disagrees with distinguished Democrat, B. M. Baruch. He has disagreed with himself and in the judgment of most objective observers has damaged his election prospects, enhanced those of the President and put the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket in an unpleasant as well as unprofitable position.

Considering the great popularity of the President and the appeal of the Republican party's slogan—"Peace, Prosperity, Progress," it is not surprising that Mr. Stevenson has found the going pretty tough. But this hardly excuses the length to which the Stevenson-Kefauver campaign has gone in deliberate misrepresentation, distortion of the facts and cheap sneers at ex-President Herbert Hoover by the candidate himself. "Anything to win" seems to be the Democratic spirit of this campaign. Perhaps, desperation and the 4 to 1 odds excuse it. Or perhaps, it is the pressure of Mr. Walter Reuther, without whose AFL-CIO support, it is conceded Mr. Stevenson would not have a chance. Neither is a pleasant thought.

WANTED ALIVE

Dear Driver:

You don't know my impetuous young daughter Carol who is just six years old and is starting her first year of school this term. You haven't been privileged to see how she can turn suddenly from eager enthusiasm to solemn unconcern to youthful wisdom. No, you couldn't know her or love her as I do—that's why it seems strange that I will soon have to trust her very life to you.

Yes, to you—because in a short while she will march off to school regularly. She'll be crossing streets, playing along the way and around the school. I hoped I was preparing her when I threw in some free advice about the safe way to do these things—in answering her questions about all the wonders of the first grade. But this is pretty new to her and she may make mistakes. Carol isn't irresponsible, yet she is not responsible. For her, the crushing dangers of traffic are not real. I can tell her, but it would be like describing the Giant in the story of Jack and the Beanstalk.

But you know, and you can watch out for her. You can watch for her as she plays on the way home from school and you could use caution when you see her ready to cross the street. You can be ready to stop if she should dash out from behind a parked car or follow a rolling ball into your path. If you remember how dear she is to me, you will drive slowly through every school zone.

Since you have been granted the privilege to drive, I have to assume that you will do these things. But will you? Will you drive carefully wherever there are children, not only because it is your legal responsibility, but because you care as much as I do that the frightening roar of traffic death—of the Giant—never becomes real for a little girl who has so much ahead of her to learn?

Sincerely yours,
FATHER

P.S. Yes, this is my daughter—but it could be yours. And if you are a driver, Carol could be any child you meet, boy or girl. Whatever you and your family choose to imagine further, remember these facts: It's "back-to-school" time, and if you drive, it's time to start permanent use of the utmost caution wherever there are children.

What's in store for your Children?
asks JOHN R. FOLEY
DEMOCRATIC Candidate for Congress

"There is no real prosperity," says John Foley, "as long as the very existence of the family farmer and small businessman is threatened . . . as long as people must fear poverty in old age, in the event of disability, or if they should lose their job. There is no real peace as long as the shadow of the H-bomb darkens our future and imperils life on our planet and generations yet unborn." John Foley seeks to represent you in Congress to help make life safer and more satisfying for you and your children. "This is no time for complacency," he says.

"We must think ahead... to make sure all Americans share equally in the burdens as well as the blessings of this new age," says Foley. He strongly favors increasing consumer purchasing power "so people can buy the abundance our farmers and our industry produce." The Republican view is to favor big business only, in the belief that these favors will "trickle down" to the people. Foley is shown at right discussing the needs of Maryland's Sixth District with Estes Kefauver and Adlai Stevenson.

"There's a big job to be done . . . we desperately need more schools, better roads, action to protect our water supply and keep Maryland green," says Foley. A war veteran, lawyer and Judge of the Orphan's Court, Foley, 38, and his wife Lucille have four children. "We can't afford to just let things slide with Nixon, Butler and Hyde," he says. "Your Congressman must work and work hard to build a better future. If we don't, we fail our children."

THE AMERICAN WAY

THE REAL "GIVEAWAYS"

(By George Peck, Chairman of the Laymen's National Committee, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Weeks.)

This columnist is getting a bit weary at the constant prating of the "put-the-government-in-business" proponents. They sing the same song over and over again, a song that lacks melody and the lyric of which is neither poetry nor common sense. It is number zero on the "Hit Parade." This monotonous dirge attempts to convey to intelligent American citizenry that the Federal Government is "giving away" the natural resources of the nation.

The fact of the matter is that the real "Giveaway" is when the Federal Government embarks on a project that could be better undertaken by free enterprise. It gives away the hard-earned tax-money of the harassed taxpayer. In so doing, not only does Federal Government unnecessarily tap the Federal Treasury, but it sets up a project that will pay nothing in the way of taxes into that Treasury, casting aside a free enterprise company that would pay taxes.

So, when Government takes on a job that constitutionally should and could be done by a free enterprise company, it is a double-headed "Giveaway"—the taxpayers get hit in the pocketbook, both coming and going.

Between now and November 6, a combination of New Dealers, Fair Dealers, Screwy Dealers, Socialists, Parlor Pinks and starry-eyed intellectuals will be blasting away at the conservatives who believe, and rightfully so, that the way to "conserve" our natural resources is to keep government from exploiting them by turning their development over to investor-owned companies under strict government regulation. The evidence—all the facts prove that the "Left-Wingers" do not have a leg to stand on, but then, whenever did a Socialist pay any attention to facts?

Of course, all the foregoing refers to the battle that has been going on, and is still being waged between those who insist that government develop electric power and those who insist that free enterprise take on the job.

Unfortunately, there are adherents of both major political parties who favor government development over private. Fortunately, however, many more adherents of both major political parties hold to the belief that free enterprise can do the job better and more economically. On November 6, the latter have an opportunity to register their preference by voting for candidates pledged not to "Giveaway" any more of their money for government production of electric power—and it matters not whether those candidates wear the insignia of the donkey or the elephant.

On this subject of "Giveaways" I'm going to let the Beaumont Enterprise, an Independent Democratic daily, published at Beaumont, Texas, have the last word. In an editorial entitled "More Giveaway Propaganda" carried in its August 10, 1956 issue, it had this to say in part:

". . . . Who is giving away what? When a bipartisan Federal authority, FPC, carefully studies the merits of a proposed power development in Hell's Canyon and finally decides that there is no justification for the government to spend possibly half a billion dollars of American Taxpayers' money building a high dam in Hell's Canyon when the Idaho Power Company is willing and financially able to build smaller dams which will produce as much as the government dam without using one cent of taxpayers' money, that is a 'giveaway' according to the New Dealers, Socialists and their political allies who harp endlessly on what they call 'giveaway' programs.

"It is astonishing how such nonsense can be accepted as gospel truth by a good many Americans. .

"If the advocates of centralized government could once get control of the power industry in this country by scattering government dams and power-generating plants like TVA all over the nation they would be well on their way to nationalizing coal, iron, steel, transportation and every other important industry in the United States still in private hands.

"This, of course, is their ultimate objective. If the American people are not more vigilant in defense of their rights and liberties, founded largely upon the free enterprise system, they may find themselves in a political straightjacket before they realize that they themselves have GIVEN AWAY their national heritage as free men and women."

The Oakland Elementary Parent-Teacher association will hold its second meeting of the season at the school annex on Monday evening, November 5.

DON'T BE FOOLED!

The county receives $40,000 or more each year as revenue from the sale of beer, which indicates that total sales in the county must be about $800,000.

What an enormous bill for drink with absolutely nothing to show for it except the uncertain after effects of wrecks, death and untold human misery.

Does the sale of beer and whisky make a better county in which to live? Does it help the morals of our young people?

If we would have a liquor store it must be patronized to keep going. Do we want our sons or daughters to patronize them? Will it make better citizens out of them?

Don't be fooled!. . . Vote

NEW GOLDEN ESSO EXTRA!

AVAILABLE TODAY IN THIS AREA*

Esso
Esso EXTRA
GOLDEN ESSO EXTRA

NOT TWO GASOLINES—BUT THREE...WITH THE RIGHT TYPE FUEL FOR EVERY CAR

1. ESSO for the millions of motorists who want a fine gasoline at "regular" price . . . the most popular gasoline sold in the area served by Esso Dealers.

2. ESSO EXTRA Gasoline now enriched with Vitane®—designed for those who prefer the outstanding performance that only a premium gasoline delivers.

3. New GOLDEN ESSO EXTRA — an entirely new gasoline to power the growing number of high-compression cars which cannot deliver full performance with any gasoline available in this area today. More costly to make — does more for you.

Choose the fuel you need without paying a penny for quality you can't use.

Because thousands of cars demanded it...
Esso Research brings you the first gasoline specifically designed to make the most of today's new, higher-compression engines. It is the world's finest gasoline for any car... literally the power fuel that skipped the years.

Engine compression ratios have increased so rapidly in today's automobiles that up to now no fuel available in this area could get top power out of these higher-compression engines. Because of this need, Esso Research created new Golden Esso Extra four full years ahead of schedule. Scientifically designed and balanced to provide full power—top mileage — and long life for even the most advanced engine designs. So powerful that drivers who tried it in advance tests reported an immediate improvement in performance.

Of course, many cars will continue to give fine performance on Esso and Esso Extra. But we think most motorists will want to find out for themselves how much they gain in performance, acceleration, and power by switching to this new gasoline. We make this suggestion:

Try a full tank of Golden Esso Extra. Then decide whether the improved performance is worth the small extra cost to you. One of our three brilliant gasolines is bound to be exactly right for your car and your gasoline dollar, and Esso Standard believes that no motorist should pay for another's power needs. Only you can tell whether it's Esso, Esso Extra, or Golden Esso Extra for your car!

Drive in today. Now three brilliant gasolines to choose from—

No one gasoline can economically satisfy the widening power needs of today's cars.

To The Editor

I am using this method to express my very grateful and heartfelt thanks to all of the personnel of the Garrett County Memorial hospital.

I and my husband have both been in hospitals before in various places and were treated just as patients, but in this hospital patients are not only treated as patients but also like friends, with kindness and respect.

All doctors, nurses, aides, and the dieticians gave us kindly greetings. The orderlies were very kind and the cleaning women also showed kindness. Mr. McComas, the new superintendent, came in to visit.

I say, God Bless every one there. The Garrett County Memorial hospital is the finest I've ever been in. My husband is now home, thanks be to God.

YOUR FARM BUREAU

(National, State and County)

Asks For Standard Time

Maryland Farm Bureau's Resolution reads: "Daylight saving time is a misnomer to travelers, farmers, parents and others. To the traveler it is confusing time, to the farmer it is losing time and to the parents of youngsters it is trying time. Overall it is bad time and something should be done to correct this situation."

County Farm Bureau, by overwhelming majority, stated that Farm Bureau should work for standard time.

Garrett county voters have an opportunity to do something about this November 6.

A MINISTER'S OPINION OF THE RELATIONSHIP OF PROHIBITION TO THE CHRISTIAN RELIGION

Texarkana Gazette:

A news item appeared recently in your papers concerning a meeting of the Texarkana Ministerial Alliance held on November 17, stating "The Texarkana Ministerial Alliance voted unanimously Friday to endorse the movement to vote out beer in Bowie county and Texarkana, Texas, and went on record urging all ministers to work in behalf of the movement."

The news item, as quoted above, may give the impression to your readers that all the members of the Texarkana Ministerial Alliance are advocates of "prohibition" as a Christian principle or inherent in the Christian religion. I write this letter to correct any such impression. Unfortunately I was unable to attend this meeting because of absence from the city and therefore could not at that time speak against and record my dissent to this resolution. I would appreciate your publishing this letter to make my position as a member of the Texarkana Ministerial Alliance clear.

Many sincere Christians as well as non-Christians advocate "prohibition" as a means of dealing with alcoholic beverages. They have a right to do so as citizens of the state, and I would uphold their individual rights to advocate "prohibition" as a political measure, although I could not support such a measure myself.

The point that I would like to make is that "prohibition" as a means of dealing with alcoholic beverages can find no support in either the Bible or the Faith of the Church down through the centuries. Christian teaching on the use of alcoholic beverages is either that of temperance or of voluntary abstinence. Neither temperance nor voluntary abstinence can be taught or practiced where "prohibition" is enacted by a political unit of government.

It is my hope that Christian ministers and Christian lay folk may one day soon be able to unite in securing legislation for the better control and regulation of the manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages. There is much room for improvement in this regard based on sound Christian principles of economics and ethics.

Certainly all Christians can unite in advocating temperance and voluntary abstinence in the use of alcoholic beverages. We can also cooperate with the splendid scientific and social movements such as the Yale School for Alcohol Studies and Alcoholics Anonymous in dealing with the tragic disease of alcoholism.

By working along these lines we would achieve more for God and our fellowmen than we ever can in trying to revive a political experiment which has not only been tried and found wanting, but which actually has no sanction in the Christian religion.

Sincerely yours,
The Rev. Thomas H. Carson

Scott Henckel, Rfd. Addison, Pennsylvania, Plaintiff
Vs.
Elsie Henckel, Farmington, Pennsylvania, Defendant.
No. 4686 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree for divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the plaintiff for the defendant.

The bill states:

That on the 6th day of October, 1945, he was married to the defendant, Elsie Henckel, at Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, by a duly ordained minister; that he resided with the said defendant until on or about the 31st day of May, 1951, at which time the said Elsie Henckel deserted your orator while they were residing in Fayette County, Pennsylvania; that although the conduct of your orator towards his said wife has always been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said Elsie Henckel without just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted him, and has declared her intention to live with him no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for more than eighteen months, is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties are beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that no children were born of said marriage; that your orator is a resident of Garrett County, Maryland, and has resided in the State of Maryland more than two years prior to the filing of this bill of complaint, but the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and her last known address was Farmington, Pennsylvania.

It is thereupon this 19th day of October, 1956, ordered by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, that the plaintiff, by having a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 23rd day of November, 1956, give notice to the non-resident defendant warning her to be and appear in this Court, either in person or by solicitor, on or before the 8th day of December, 1956, to show cause, if any she has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

That the Defendants, Cecil D. Johnson and Virginia N. Johnson, his wife, are non-residents of the State of Maryland, residing at 1581 Tod Avenue, Warren, Ohio.

Don't Be Fooled !

Persons favoring legalized sale of liquor claim there would be a reduction in taxes if we vote for the dispensary bill and claim it would reduce the tax rate 33 cents on the dollar.

They claimed the same thing when they passed the beer bill back in 1935, but taxes have not been reduced one cent from this income, and the cost to the county is increased through prosecution of many cases caused by the use of alcohol. Look up the records and see for yourself.

These same persons claim that business would be helped if the dispensary law is passed, but in what way? If you spend $100 for liquor what do you have to show for your money? But if you spend a similar amount for the necessities of life, groceries, dry goods, house repairs, etc., you have something to show for your money. What really would help business in Garrett County is to have the thousands of dollars now spent for beer and liquor, spent for merchandise. Then you would see the difference in business.

The states are now spending thousands of dollars to take care of alcoholics, while people spend thousands of dollars in creating them.

The newspapers every day carry tragic news of the many wrecks and deaths as a result of drunken driving.

Don't be fooled! Any tax money received from the sale of alcoholic beverages in this county would be more than offset by the additional revenue needed to try to enforce the liquor laws. And that doesn't take into consideration the lesser amount that would be spent on food for the drinkers' families. Don't be fooled! All that glitters is not "Net." For every dollar of beer and liquor tax received the State of Massachusetts spent nearly $3 for known and measurable costs. It would be the same in Garrett County.

Good Judgment . . .

First of all the vote of confidence given President Eisenhower was one of the greatest we have ever witnessed for any person. Even in states where the Democrats showed by far the better organization, voters cut across party lines to reaffirm their confidence in the man who has led them satisfactorily during the past four years.

In our own particular county never has there been a greater display of interest and concern over the results of an election. In some precincts the voting was better than 85 percent and the picture over the entire county showed a vote in excess of 75 percent.

We believe the voters showed remarkable judgment in their diagnosis of the candidates and their ideals, and of the questions put before them by the proposed constitutional amendments and the two referendums.

Especially pleasing was the response of the people to the question of whether or not this county would have legal whisky. They responded almost two to one against the establishment of a dispensary program in this county. That record is one we can point to with pride, and with it we can reaffirm our belief that this county can go forward—without tax money from the sale of intoxicants.

We have a wonderful county. We have a wonderful United States of America. Once again we have exercised our most precious rights. May we never see the day when this would be denied us.

Butler polled 465,269 votes compared to 415,292 for George P. Mahoney, his Democratic opponent.

Butler ran well behind President Eisenhower in the Maryland voting but both winners increased their margins over their 1952 election.

Mr. Mahoney conceded defeat Tuesday night. Senator Butler received his concession at a Republican victory celebration at the Lord Baltimore hotel and said, "The renewed confidence in me and my record, expressed so eloquently at the polls by the good people of Maryland, gives me a deep sense of humility and gratification. My victory is all the more impressive because it was achieved with the help of so many independents and Democrats who put their nation above party."

It was Mahoney's fourth defeat for high elective office since he entered the field in 1950 with his aspiration for the governorship.

He remarked, "Better luck next time."

Mahoney A Substitute

Mahoney, a substitute for the ailing Millard E. Tydings, who was unseated in 1950 by Butler, had clung to a hope that his city margin would pick up late returns, but this did not occur and the traditional Democrat stronghold showed a comfortable margin for Eisenhower and Butler. ,

This had been called the year of vengeance for former Sen. Millard F. Tydings who was defeated in 1950 by Sen. Butler after having served for 24 consecutive years in the Senate. Last May Tydings won the Democratic nomination by the narrowest margin in the state's history but later he contacted a painful case of shingles and had to surrender the nomination to Mahoney.

Mahoney based much of his campaign on what he called Tydings' vindication for Butler's campaign tactics of 1950 which were labeled as "back street tactics" by a Senate subcommittee which investigated the Tydings-Butler campaign.

The winners were announced at the annual banquet and program last Thursday night at Southern High school cafeteria.

Hobart Bishoff Family Judged FFBL Winner

Award Presented At Annual Banquet; Program Has 100% Completion

Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Bishoff, of near Friendsville, were named the winners of the 1956 Farming for Better Living award among the seventy or more contestants this year. The award was announced at the annual dinner meeting held last Thursday evening at Southern High school cafeteria under the auspices of the F.F.B.L. council and a number of Garrett county business firms.

This was the ninth winner in the county, the program having been active here for that many years. Other winners have been Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hummel, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Crowe, Mr. and Mrs. Lenwood Bittinger, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert A. Friend, Mr. and Mrs. Guy S. Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Schlossnagle, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Baker, and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Wildesen.

Mr. and Mrs. Bishoff now become eligible for a regional prize along with a number of West Virginia county winners and will be presented $25 at the regional banquet at Morgantown next month.

Hamilton Is Speaker

Principal speaker at the dinner was Arthur B. Hamilton, agricultural economist with the Extension service, University of Maryland. Mr. Hamilton spoke on the ever changing conditions that were taking place in the world and pointed out to his listeners that it would be well for each one of them to consider what could be done in making changes in their methods of doing business that would show improvement.

As a result of the third year for one hundred percent completion of all enrollees, the Monongahela Power company will award $25 to the Extension service for work among the 4-H clubs of the county.

W. Dwight Stover, president of the FFBL council, presided and Walter W. Dawson served as toastmaster. A high school quartet composed of Keith Mersing, John Brown, Carol Savage and Jackie Calhoun, sang several selections, accompanied by Mrs. Russell Brown at the piano.

Mr. Hamilton paid a special tribute to John H. Carter, who has been county agricultural agent in Garrett for many years.

Mr. Stover also presented certificates of special merit to Elbert Riley, Miss Ethel Grove and Mr. Carter, for their work in furthering the campaign for the sale of U. S.

Voters Approved Seven Amendments

Maryland voters on Tuesday approved seven amendments to the state constitution. None of them, however, will have any particular bearing on the average citizen.

Although only about two-thirds of the total vote on the amendments has been reported, all appeared to have been approved by substantial majorities.

The amendments, briefly, are these:

1. General housecleaning of the 93-year-old constitution itself to eliminate obsolete matter without making any basic changes.
2. Pay Orphans' Court judges on a regular yearly salary basis rather than on a daily basis for time actually served.
3. Extend absentee voting privileges to disabled persons who cannot get to the polls.
4. Prohibit bills being introduced in the General Assembly during the last 10 days of 30-day sessions and the last 20 days of 90-day sessions without approval of two-thirds of the legislators.
5. Require a newly elected governor to submit the budget within 20 days after the General Assembly convenes, instead of 30 days after his inauguration. This is to permit earlier examination of the proposed budget by the legislature.
6. Require the governor to submit recess appointments to the General Assembly on the first day of its next regular session instead of within 30 days after the session begins.
7. Permit County Councils to sit for 45 days at a time instead of 30 days.

President Wins By Landslide

Carries 41 States With 457 Electoral Votes

President Eisenhower's overwhelming popularity carried him to an historic re-election victory on Tuesday but there was an unprecedented amount of vote-splitting to control Congress.

With 218 seats needed for control of the House of Representatives the Democrats had nailed down 226.

Mr. Eisenhower responded to the tremendous endorsement given him by the nation's voters with this quiet and solemn pledge:

"As long as I have any God-given talents and any strength within me, I and my associates will work for 168 million Americans here at home and for peace in the world."

The sixty-six-year-old Chief Executive carried 41 states with 457 electoral votes to seven states with 74 votes taken by his now twice-defeated opponent, Adlai E. Stevenson. The popular vote showed 32,453,623 for Eisenhower and 23,555,760 for Stevenson.

The final popular vote margin for the president, it was believed, would approach 10 million. He now has a plurality of 8,897,863 votes.

The nation-wide surge of split ballots brought defeat even to such handpicked or endorsed Eisenhower Senatorial candidates as James Duff in Pennsylvania and Arthur Langlie in Washington. There remained seven undecided races for the Senate. Democrats led in Arizona, Nevada, Oregon, Colorado, South Dakota and in one Kentucky race. Republicans held the edge in the other Kentucky contest.

The Democrats unseated Republicans in three states while losing in only two. Thus, if the current front-runners sew up their victories the Senate will be Democratic by a 51.45 margin.

Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver both congratulated Mr. Eisenhower and Vice-president Richard M. Nixon and pledged their support in "all that is good for America!"

The President's pattern of victory was truly nationwide. He cracked four states off the once solid South, swept such normally Democratic big cities as Jersey City and smashed Democratic campaign claims of farm belt "revolt" that would affect his own standing in the Midwest.

Ike's margin of victory was greater in both popular and electoral ballots than his landslide win in 1952 when he carried 39 states and swamped Stevenson by nearly seven million votes.

Modestly and earnestly Mr. Eisenhower pledged that his Administration would do nothing to "betray the trust" placed in him by a nation he has served as a soldier, an international military commander and a Chief Executive.

Find Old Newspapers

As workmen continued to tear down the Manhattan hotel building, Bernard Nally discovered some old newspapers underneath the boards of the first floor this week.

The papers were those of the Garrett County Herald, which was published in Oakland November 22, 1879. The ones found were listed as volume seven, indicating the newspaper had been in existence since 1872, five years prior to the founding of The Republican. Hiram P. Tasker was the editor and the Herald was being published at that time every Saturday morning. The price was $1.50 per year in advance.

Advertising was listed at $1.50 for an inch for the first insertion, with each continuance 50 cents. However one column in the newspaper for an entire year could be had for $80.00. The two outside pages carried only national news events and articles and presumably the local news was carried on the two inside pages. However, this particular paper had nothing whatever on the inside.

Receives Fine and Suspended Term For Manslaughter

Pvt. Carol Eston Broadwater Found Guilty On Charge Of Manslaughter

Pvt. Carol Eston Broadwater, 19-year-old Deer Park soldier, was fined $200 and given a suspended sentence of a year in the House of Correction last Thursday by Trial Magistrate Dwight Barrick, who found him guilty of manslaughter by automobile.

Pvt. Broadwater pleaded not guilty to the charge at a hearing last Monday before the Magistrate who deferred sentence until last Thursday. S. R. Pagenhardt, State's Attorney, prosecuted the case while William O. Treacy represented the defendant.

The soldier was the driver of the car in which Neva Louise Bowers, 16, also of Deer Park, drowned October 21 when it plunged into Deep Creek Lake after striking a girder of the Deep Creek bridge.

The case was heard Monday before Magistrate Barrick after

No Action Taken On Beer License

No action was taken on suspension or revocation of a beer license by the Board of License Commissioners this week because of what was termed an "unusual circumstance."

On October 29, Guy Hinebaugh surrendered his license to sell beer, to the clerk of the Circuit Court. At the meeting on Monday the Commissioners, upon advice of their attorney, took no action on the matter, since it was their contention there was no license which could be revoked.

The question was whether or not a beer license should be revoked in the case of an individual who pleaded guilty in the Circuit court to selling whisky and therefore came under the provisions of the beer law covering violations. Hinebaugh had pleaded guilty to a charge of selling whisky during the recent term of court.

Those having beer licenses and being convicted of selling whisky are liable to having their licenses to sell beer revoked for as much as two years.

A new application to sell beer at the Hinebaugh restaurant was made last week by James C. Hinebaugh, son of Guy Hinebaugh, who had surrendered his license on October 29. A hearing on this application is set for November 16.

There will be a hearing November 16 concerning whether or not the license issued to Paul Kemphfer for the American Legion would be revoked. The Legion also pleaded guilty to having whisky in its possession for the purpose of sale, at the September term of court.

A.A.U.W. To Meet

Members of the Garrett Branch, American Association of University Women, will continue their study of Africa at Monday night's meeting.

Mrs. C. W. Englander, in charge of the program, has arranged to show slides and present music records of South Africa. Two sets of slides will concern the geography of the area while the records will show types of African music.

The meeting will be held at the Englander home at 8 o'clock.

Supervisors Plan No Request for Bids For Voting Machines

After the Board of Supervisors of Elections at a meeting on October 5 decided to seek new bids for voting machines from the two voting machine companies, returnable before October 31, it was learned this week that no bids had been requested.

Following the meeting with the County Commissioners on October 5, the County Commissioners prepared letters to be sent to the Automatic Voting Machine Company and the Shoup Voting Machine corporation, and delivered them to William L. Gibson, president of the Board of Supervisors.

Mr. Gibson wrote to the County Commissioners on October 18 declaring that after conferring with Francis W. Sanders, member of the board, who was not present at the October 5 meeting, it was decided that any request for quotation of prices for 36 voting machines would "be a waste of time," since no agreement could be reached in time to acquire them for the general election.

The letter also informed the Commissioners that the board had decided to use paper ballots for the election, and that the Election board wanted to wait until the law was clarified or revised in regard to the purchase of voting machines at the next session of the legislature after which time the board would then request quotations.

An investigations was made into the matter this week when October 31 passed without any announcement of the receipt of bids.

Will Launch Seal Sale November 15th

The fiftieth anniversary of the first Christmas Seal will be celebrated November 15 when Maryland residents receive their 1956 Christmas Seals in the mail. On the seals will be the faces of a small boy and girl, each carrying the red double-barred cross, trademark of the National Tuberculosis association and its affiliates.

Hyde Sweeps District In Election Bid to Third Term

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, Republican incumbent, rolled up a winning margin in the five counties comprising Maryland's Sixth Congressional district in his bid for a third term in the House of Representatives.

Hyde's margin over his Democratic opponent, John R. Foley, was 13,409 votes. The actual count, although unofficial, showed Hyde received 97,687 votes to 84,278 for Foley.

The incumbent Congressman overcame an early Foley lead in their home county of Montgomery to win there by an unofficial count of 48,187 to 46,937. In Allegany county Hyde won 17,040 votes to 12,622 for Foley. In Washington county results from all 43 polling places gave Rep. Hyde 16,424 votes, a lead of nearly 3,000 over Foley who polled 13,446.

In Garrett county Hyde had 4,718 votes to Foley's 2,413. Hyde also had a lead in Frederick county as 47 of the polling places there reported 7,937 votes for him compared to 6,176 for Foley.

Foley ran with the full support of Western Maryland labor unions but ran 4,378 votes behind Hyde in Allegany county.

Unofficial Results

	Hyde	Foley
Allegany	17,040	12,622
Garrett	4,718	2,413
Frederick	11,318	8,860
Montgomery	48,187	46,937

Ervin Roth Trial Set For Nov. 26th

The trial of Ervin Roth, member of the Board of County Commissioners, who was indicted by the September grand jury on a charge of Perjury, will be held Monday, November 26, at Oakland, it was announced.

Chief Judge George Henderson, Associate Judge Kenneth McLaughlin, of Hagerstown, and probably Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris, Cumberland, will sit in the case. The trial will be a non-jury one. Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley has disqualified himself and will not be in the case.

Roth was indicted as a result of alleged perjury in connection with testimony concerning drilling operations at the Bishop stone quarry.

Mr. Roth specifically was charged by the Grand Jury with "unlawfully and falsely swearing he did not know that drilling was being done on overburden at Bishoff's quarry and that he was not notified that drilling was being done on overburden until all of the holes had been drilled."

600 Expected For Farm Bureau Meet

Around six hundred persons and guests are expected to assemble this evening in three churches in Grantsville for the annual banquet of the Garrett County Farm Bureau.

Following the dinner the entire group will assemble at the school assembly room for the business meeting.

Speakers will include William A. Cooksey, president of the Maryland Farm Bureau; Mrs. W. Atlee Armour, Jr., president of the Associated Women of Maryland; John H. Carter, county agricultural agent, and others.

G. Emerson Bishoff, president, said the business meeting would consist of election of officers and directors and other matters that members desire to bring before the group.

Voters Give Ike Big Majority

County Downs Dispensary And Daylight Saving Referendums

In one of the largest votes on record Garrett county voters gave whopping majorities to Eisenhower and the other Republican candidates, gave a decisive vote against having a dispensary system in the county, voted narrowly against daylight saving time and favored all constitutional amendments except the one concerning salaries of Orphans' Court judges, in Tuesday's balloting.

Over seventy-five percent of the voters went to the polls to give President Eisenhower and vice-president Nixon a total of 5,489 as opposed to 2,024 for Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver.

In a little less decisive manner the voters gave John Marshall Butler 4,593 compared to 2,676 for George P. Mahoney, his Democratic opponent for the United States Senate.

DeWitt Hyde, running for re-election for Congressman from the Sixth Congressional district, received 4,718 votes to 2,413 for John R. Foley.

Neil C. Fraley, unopposed for associate judge of the Fourth Judicial circuit, received 5,136 votes.

Dispensary Law Killed

The statute calling for a dispensary system in the county for the legal sale of liquor was soundly defeated by almost a two to one majority. The vote was 2,479 in favor of the dispensary law and 4,253 against its establishment in this county.

The regulation calling for daylight saving time from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in September also was defeated but by a much closer margin. Daylight saving time was favored by 3,150 voters with 3,312 registering their opposition.

For the constitutional amendments six out of the seven were favored by Garrett county voters. The one in regard to the legislature setting the salaries of the Orphans' Court judges was defeated 1,353 to 863. All others were favored including the County Council change 1,348 to 902, the one concerning new legislation 1,231 to 845, the one concerning recess appointments 1,155 to 810, the one concerning the governor's budget 1,151 to 819, the one concerning the elimination of obsolete material from the constitution 1,151 to 796, the one concerning absentee voting 1,818 to 663.

Garrett county was one of the last counties in the state to report returns since all other areas in the state have voting machines. Election officials worked steadily from the closing of the polls at 7 o'clock until all votes were counted and the final precinct reported about 2:30 o'clock.

This was in 14-1 where 437 votes were cast. Five hundred nine persons are registered in this precinct which showed that 85 percent of those registered cast their ballots. Oakland's five voting precincts had a voting percentage of 80.

The unofficial figures are complete with the exception of the totals for the amendments in Vindex, second precinct of district thirteen. The absentee ballots are yet to be counted. They will be added to the list this afternoon when the Board of Supervisors will make an official canvass of the entire vote of the county.

A study of the vote by precincts showed that only four of them had a majority for the dispensary law. These were the two Grantsville precincts, and the ones at Avilton and Johnson.

There was less difference in the vote for daylight saving time. Ten precincts favored it, fifteen opposed it and two precincts were even.

Vindex was the only precinct to cast a majority for Stevenson and Kefauver. Mahoney received majorities against Butler in Johnson, Kitzmiller and Vindex, while Foley had majorities over Hyde in Kitzmiller and Vindex.

"The Maryland Traffic Safety Commission says the 1,130,393 brave Americans who died as a result of wars served a very noble purpose. Those who died on our highways died needlessly without any glory. This only goes to prove that the automobile is more deadly than all the weapons of war if not properly handled."

The American Way

THE FOREIGN-AID ROAD TO BANKRUPTCY

(By John T. Flynn, noted author, lecturer and radio commentator)

Once upon a time our old Uncle Sam collected a couple of billion dollars from us in taxes every year and spent it to provide his citizens with certain services which he was authorized to perform under the Constitution. Save during our various wars, our thrifty old Uncle managed to stay close to paying his bills every year. It was not very difficult to do. The federal government was set up to defend us against foreign enemies and to perform a very few number of services as clearly defined by the Constitution.

But then Uncle began putting his hands in our pockets to take from us in taxes and borrowing fantastic sums to spend all over the world. How fantastic his operation has become can be seen from the following:

From the beginning of our government in 1789 up to 1919—a period of 130 years—the total cost of the federal government was 64 billion dollars. This included the cost of all our wars up to that time—the War of 1812, Civil War, Spanish-American War and World War I. But in the single year 1955 our government spent the same sum—64 billion dollars!

This republic was set up to defend the people of the United States. But our government has been pouring out billions to our so-called "friends" all over the globe. What do these countries do with our handouts? We gave a cool billion to Marshal Tito of Communist Yugoslavia, in return for which he recently made his peace with the Kremlin. We have given some 400 million to little Israel and over 500 million to Nehru, the overlord of India who despises us.

There was the Marshall Plan to aid the war-devastated countries in Europe. The War ended 11 years ago. But the Marshall Plan, under many different names, goes marching on. As a result, we are taxed to the hilt and have a national debt besides of over 270 billion dollars. But we give little Norway $300,000,000 which she used to reduce her national debt and we hand $100,000,000 to Denmark to pay her debts. We've given Great Britain over seven billion dollars. France—where the largest single party in the French Assembly is the Communist Party—has gotten over six billion.

We gave money to Portugal to build a six-lane highway to connect its capital with a famous gambling resort. We've provided dress suits for Grecian undertakers, and public baths for Egyptian camel drivers. We've bought iceboxes—believe it or not—for the Eskimos. We gave a billion dollars to a government in Indo-China. And what happened? It threw itself into the hands of the Reds. We build a college in Ethiopia, and paid for airplane rides for Arabs to visit their religious shrine at Mecca.

How long is this to continue? Our generous handout chiefs in Washington assure us we must keep this up for at least another ten years. The immensity of these transactions is such that it is difficult to grasp them. Here is a figure which may help. Since the end of World War II we have given away in foreign handouts 56 billion dollars. That is only eight billion dollars less than it cost to run the entire United States government for 130 years from 1789 to 1919, including four major wars. And a dispatch from Washington as I write informs us that the delivery of goods and money to our "friends" abroad has increased for the first time since the Korean War. Our government made loans and gifts to various countries last year of $5,100,000,000. This is almost as much as the total cost of government was before we set out to save the "free world"—including Russia.

Perhaps one of the strangest facts in this whole wild spending spree is this. When World War II ended our federal spending dropped from 98 billion to 33 billion. Of course when we got into the Korean War the costs went up again. But that war ended over three years ago. Yet here we are in 1954, 1955 and 1956 spending twice as much as we did in 1948.

Of course, all this squandering of our substance all over the world has provided a paradise for whatever bunch of politicians happen to have their hands in the Treasury. But for the rest of us, a continuation of this policy means national bankruptcy.

Is Your Name LEWIS?

Do you know that:

Lewis has been in widespread use as a personal name and surname. It signifies "famous victor" and is the equivalent of Louis which was perhaps the most popular of all personal names in France until the Revolution in the 18th century and was borne by no fewer than eighteen kings. Louis was introduced into England soon after the Norman Conquest in the 11th century, and from it there have come Lewis and other well known surnames such as Lewes, Lowes and Lewison. Lewis has been used extensively in Wales where it was employed originally as an anglicization of Llewellyn. It should be noted also that its German, Latin and Italian forms are respectively Ludwig, Ludovicus and Luigi.

Andrew Lewis (1720-1781) and Fielding Lewis (1725-1781) were brigadier generals of Virginia troops during the Revolutionary War. Another patriot was Richard Lewis (1749-1809), a sergeant in the Maryland troops.

The first census of the United States, taken in 1790, has forty-nine listings of individuals, bearing the name of Lewis, who were residents of Maryland and heads of families at that time.

A genealogy of the Lewis family in America from the middle of the seventeenth century to the year 1892 was published by the Courier Journal Job Printing Company of Louisville, Ky. It deals with the descendants of four Lewis brothers who left Wales in the seventeenth century. One of these descendants was the founder of Staunton, Va.; another was the aforementioned Brigadier General Andrew Lewis; and still another was brother-in-law of President George Washington.

Isaac Newton Lewis (1858-1931) was colonel, U. S. Army and the inventor of the Lewis machine gun and other military weapons and instruments.

H. Edgar Lewis (1882-1948) was president and chairman of the board of directors, Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, Pittsburgh.

William Lester Lewis is vice-president, International Business Machines Corporation, Endicott, N. Y.

"Schools for a Strong America" will be the theme as Southern High School extends an open house invitation to all parents and friends of the school during American Education Week which begins next Monday.

Among the activities highlighting this annual observance will be a special patriotic assembly program to be presented at 2:00 p. m. on Monday, November 12. The program will be presented by the Senior Chorus and members of the Dramatics club. The public is invited.

Following the program a social hour for all parents, friends and teachers will be held in the cafeteria.

Another feature of the week is the second annual college night program to be held on Tuesday evening. Representatives of twenty-four colleges and schools will be on hand to discuss and explain their curricula.

A third highlight will be the exhibit of outstanding photographs taken by high school students throughout the country. The exhibit is sponsored by the Eastman Kodak Company.

Parents are encouraged to attend school sometime during the week. Last year, 135 persons registered as guests at the school.

Kenneth Johns, principal, stated that he hoped the number of persons visiting the school would increase over last year's figure. He pointed out that he could think of no better way to show teachers appreciation of the school and what it is doing than to have parents turn out in mass during the week.

Parents visiting the school will have the privilege of having lunch there. Arrangements are also being made by the 12C core class to have a baby sitting program for parents who have small children and desire to visit school.

Adopt Budget And Name Three New Councilmen

Members of St. Mark's Lutheran church, at a congregational meeting last night, adopted a budget calling for $26,147 for the year 1957, which included a $10,000 item for the inauguration of a building fund for the future. The budget was twice as large as the one adopted last year.

Savings bonds.

Enrollees in the FFBL program were guests of the business men of the community for the dinner and each family was awarded a prize. This had been the practice for the past several years and this year the farm families "turned the tables" on the business men and brought a prize to each one who had helped with the program over the past several years. This included home baked goods, maple syrup, chickens, canned fruits, and other items.

Builds For Future

The story of the 1956 winner is a story of regular consistant building of a farm for the future. Mr. and Mrs. Bishoff have a small farm of 57 acres, but they have build up this farm through the years until it is a compact and profitable enterprise.

Mr. Bishoff said the FFBL program had been quite valuable in his farm improvement program. They joined as soon as it became available here nine years ago.

Mr. Bishoff also said the project book was like a compact guide where better farming practices are condensed and available for ready reference.

Soil improvement has been the greatest aim of Mr. and Mrs. Bishoff. When they moved to the farm 32 years ago the previous owner told them that the farm wouldn't support more than one cow. Now they have a herd of eight milk cows with an average production of nearly 8,500 pounds of milk per cow per year. The Bishoffs plan to increase their herd by about four head and continue their switch from Guernsey to purebred Holstein cattle. About every year they have produced all the hay necessary to winter their dairy herd.

For a number of years Mr. Bishoff was driver of a milk pick-up route, doing his farm work in his extra time. About 1950 his son, Claude, returned from the Glenn L. Martin company in Baltimore and settled down to farming. He took over the milk route and purchased a 33-acre farm near his parents. Claude and his wife raise broilers, 11,000 at a clip.

The Bishoffs are active in community affairs. Mr. Bishoff is on the planning committee of the Farm Bureau and a charter member in Garrett county. He is past chairman of the Artificial Breeders cooperative. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bishoff teach in the Methodist Sunday School and Mrs. Bishoff is secretary of the WSCS.

Twenty-three acres of woodland on the farm is being harvested and managed with sales of locust for posts. Mrs. Bishoff has a garden and plentiful supply of canned and frozen food.

How much does this "tax curtain" cost you?

A strange kind of tax favoritism separates a few million families and businesses from most Americans when it comes to paying taxes on electricity.

The people in this "privileged class" pay little or no taxes in their electric bills, while everybody else does (about 23 cents of each dollar spent for electricity). Because the few don't pay their fair share of taxes, you and other taxpayers are taxed millions more every year to make up the difference.

There's nothing different or special about the people behind this "tax curtain." They just happen to get electricity from government power plants, and government in the electric business pays little or no taxes.

This kind of tax favoritism is unfair—and unusual in America. That's why we believe it should be made widely known and given critical study.

MEMO TO ADVERTISERS

AUDITED PAID CIRCULATION ABC

There are standards for advertising, too!

What a fix we'd all be in without those standards of measurement for the goods you buy and sell. Imagine the confusion, waste and doubt in business transactions if we didn't have accepted standards of weights and measures—known values.

We believe it is just as necessary for us to tell you what you get for your advertising dollars, in terms of known circulation value, as it is for you to do business with your customers on the basis of recognized standards. That's why this newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

WHAT IS THE A.B.C.? The Bureau is a cooperative and nonprofit association of 3450 publishers, advertising agencies and advertisers in the United States and Canada. Organized in 1914, A.B.C. brought order out of advertising chaos by establishing a definition for paid circulation, rules and standards for measuring, auditing and reporting the circulations of newspapers and periodicals.

WHAT A.B.C. DOES FOR YOU. At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors comes to our office and makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. He has access to all of our books and records to obtain the FACTS that tell you what you get for your money when you advertise in this newspaper.

WHAT A.B.C. REPORTS TELL YOU. The circulation FACTS obtained by the A.B.C. auditor are condensed in easy to read A.B.C. reports which tell you: How much circulation we have; where the circulation goes; how it was sold and many other FACTS about the audience we provide for your sales messages. Make your advertising investments on the basis of this audited information. Ask for a copy of our A.B.C. report.

Enforcement Statistics For State Police Are Given

Enforcement statistics of the Maryland State Police over a four month period, May to August, inclusive, show that drivers of 19,236 passenger cars, 4,158 trucks and 62 busses were arrested for traffic violations. Also 248 arrests were made of operators of other vehicles.

What is a Teacher?

A teacher is a sculptor who molds your child's mind. A teacher is an architect who blueprints your child's career. A teacher is a pioneer who explores your child's character. A teacher is a diplomat who negotiates with the future.

A teacher is a specialist in Education, yet is a social worker, a statesman, an interpreter, a prophet, a builder, a leader. Today, we are proud to say "thank you" to those who are proud to teach.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON

President of Harding College

There are publications being distributed throughout America—to millions of people—seeking to undermine respect for the business and industrial leadership of the nation.

The Ben Fairless story, in Life Magazine, offers three great values to America: (1) It once again exposes the dishonesty of the propaganda against American capitalism; (2) It inspires every boy and girl in America to unlimited achievement; and (3) It creates respect and admiration for the industrial leadership of America on which our continued economic progress so greatly depends.

Ben Fairless was born 66 years ago in Pigeon Run, Ohio, "a town that had a dirt road, ash sidewalks and white frame houses occupied by perhaps 200 citizens." Most of the men were coal miners, as was Ben Fairless' dad.

"My mother," he writes, "was a truly great woman. She had almost no education but her instincts were always right. She believed that everybody should work, that everybody should be honest, that no one should expect something for nothing." Young Ben didn't mind work. Across the road lived "the first capitalist I ever knew"—Clark McClintock, a lumberman with a big house.

Ben, when he became of school age, worked in the summers for McClintock: "I mowed the lawn, took care of his horses and plowed the ground of a farm . . I was a hired man in overalls at a cash salary of $9 a month." In his first three years of high school he was the school janitor: "I got to the school building at 6 a. m., fired up the coal furnace and dusted the desks and chairs in the four classrooms. After school I swept the floors. I considered the job a great privilege even though the salary was only $65 a year (not per month—per year.)

"At the ripe old age of 17, with three years of high school behind me," writes Ben Fairless, "I became a teacher, with 17 pupils, on a salary of $48." He was supposed to pay the janitor out of his salary, so he did the janitor work himself. He taught three years, and in the summers made up his fourth year high school credits. By working summers and by borrowing $200 from neighbor McClintock (the capitalist), Ben completed a college course in engineering, and went to work on the railroad with a construction gang.

His first job in the steel industry was "transit man" on a construction job building a steel plant—at $75 a month. When the plant was built, the operations boss offered him a job. He took it. He worked hard, putting in long hours, every step of the way as he rose to the summit of American industrial leadership, board chairman of United States Steel Corporation. "I naturally think," says Ben Fairless, "that our way of life today is the greatest thing that ever happened. To me it means the ultimate in freedom: Freedom not only to live where a man chooses to live and to work in a field of his own choice, but also to have unlimited opportunity, so that a boy from the wrong side of the tracks can go just as far as a rich man's son."

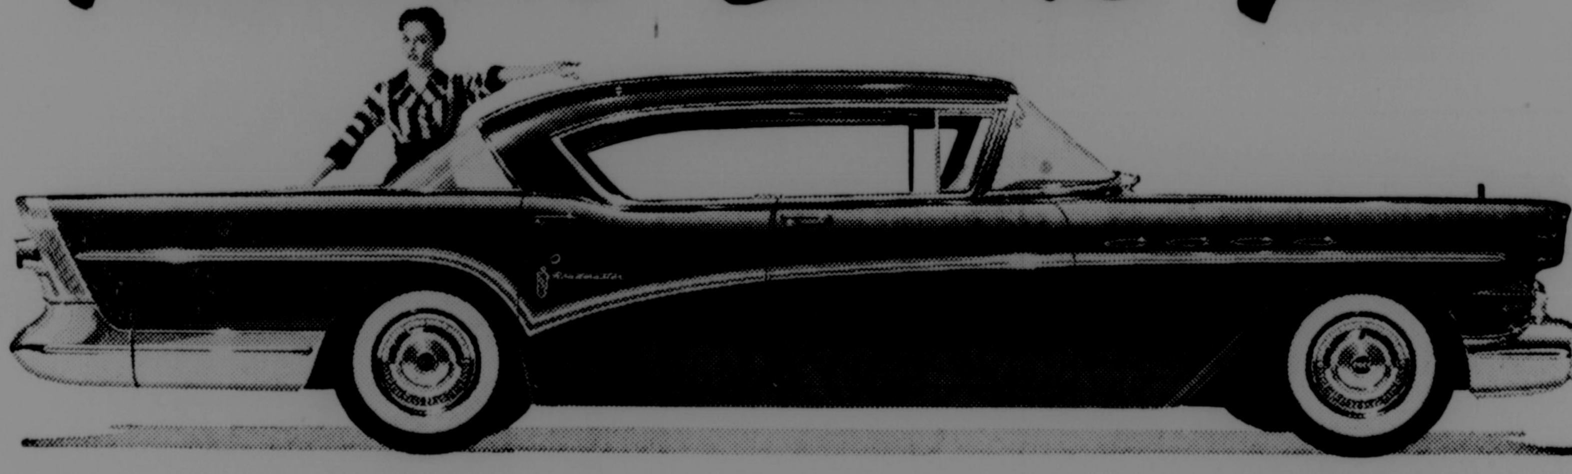
We Got it! We Got it!

Newest Buick Yet



You know all that talk you've been hearing about the 1957 new car models being really new?

Well, in the case of the 1957 Buicks it's true—gospel true.

We mean these 1957 Buicks are new in the precise and literal sense. We mean new from the ground up, and from gleaming grille to sassy taillights.

We mean new lowness, new styling, new bodies, new windshields, new controls, new safety-padded instrument panels, new safety steering wheels, new seating, new fabrics, new colors.

We mean new front end, new rear end, new frame, new braking, new steering, new handling, new riding, new roadability—a whole new chassis of greater solidity and safety.

We mean V8 engines new from the crankshaft up—engines that deliver an all-time high in horsepower and compression from their 364-cubic-inch displacement.

And we mean, most of all, an advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflow—so instant in the starting range—so utterly smooth and so totally full-range in "Drive"—that your need for "Low" is practically eliminated.*

So come take in these low-silhouette, these boldly beautiful, these instantly obedient Buicks for 1957.

Then you'll see why you can't blame us for being so fired up about it all—and how catching this excitement can be.

WILDLIFE USE: Provides food for 4 species of squirrels, fox, beaver. A few birds feed on the meat after hull has been cracked.

Treacy filed a motion for removal of the case from Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer, of Oakland.

State Trooper Robert Henline testified at the hearing that the vehicle would have had to be traveling at a "terrific" rate of speed at the time of the accident. Broadwater stated he did not know how fast he was traveling at the time, explaining that he had glanced down for his hat and when he looked up "the lake was in front of me." He said he attempted to swerve but was unable to turn onto the bridge.

The vehicle plunged into about 12 feet of water. The driver and two other girls, Caroline Long, 14, McHenry; and Linda Dunithan, 16, of near Oakland, were able to get out of the car and to the shore but were injured in the mishap.

Barrick also recommended that Broadwater's driving license be suspended until he becomes 25 years of age.

The complete text of Barrick's decision follows:

"After carefully studying and considering the evidence presented in this case, I feel certain that there was Gross Negligence on your part, which must be such that it amounted to wanton or reckless disregard for human life.

"I also feel certain that it was not your intention of taking the life of your girl friend, Neva Bowers, and possibly the lives of the other two girls and yourself.

"The fact remains however, that you were driving at a very excessive rate of speed, and certainly in a very reckless manner. These facts cannot be overlooked and the public in general is looking to those of us who have authority to take every step possible to correct this condition that exists on our highways.

"Taking all these things in consideration, I have no alternative other than to find you Guilty as charged.

"I therefore fine you $200.00 and costs and sentence you to one (1) year in the Maryland House of Correction. However, since you are a member of our Armed Service, I am suspending the year sentence in the House of Correction and at the same time I am recommending that your driving privileges be suspended until you are twenty-five years of age."

UNICEF Collections Reach $193.90 Total

Contributions to the United Nations Children's Fund, (UNICEF) over the Hallowe'en period in Oakland reached a total of $193.90, it was announced yesterday by the Youth committee of the Woman's Civic club.

The club received a donation of $10 from the Knights of Columbus, the Methodist Youth Fellowship collected $30.42 and other collections amounted to $153.48.

This is the first year for the UNICEF program in Oakland and those in charge said they were well pleased with the response and the cooperation they had received. The Mayor and Town Council set aside a special evening when the collection was made. The money will be used to fight diseases such as malaria and tuberculosis and provide adequate nutrition for growing children in the world who otherwise would be neglected.

The three persons given special recognition for having had the largest collections among the many children who participated were Michael W. Kahl, Harold C. Mosser and Kitty Wine.

GOOD COLLECTORS — Here are three champion collectors who brought in the greatest amount of contributions to the United Nations Children's Relief fund last Wednesday evening, October 31. The money was collected by Hallowe'eners who asked for pennies, nickels and dimes instead of the usual "trick or treat" demands by the youngsters of the neighborhood. The children collected about $193 in the first effort for the town of Oakland. Michael W. Kahl, right, won first prize in the collection contest, while Harold C. Mosser, left, was second. Kitty Wine, sitting, was third.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

I got to bed too late Tuesday night for anything to be going through my mind, but there's contentment in my soul. There have been times that I didn't get a winner on the whole ballot and I doubt if I'll ever do as well again in another election if I live to be a hundred.

Not that I want to sound smug for I feel far from it. First and foremost I feel grateful to live in a land where people can get spirited and divided and then united; where increasing numbers are voting and know why they're voting, where amendments are beginning to be for instead of always "agin."

I feel grateful that an election can leave me with a keener desire for higher type citizenship. I feel sure that President Eisenhower set that tone and Stevenson, who had the harder job of the two when he faced the nation Tuesday night, appeared bigger than at any time during the campaign. He seemed to be more himself.

Wonder what the Russians, who came here to observe our election, are thinking today? Stevenson's sportsmanship, Eisenhower's pledge to keep America strong in her virtues and to build for peace.

—o—

Little Observations

Couldn't help but shed an inward tear for the Stevenson son who was caught by TV as his father faced the people. He blinked hard and swallowed often to keep back disappointment which seemed so evident that was for his Dad and not himself.

—o—

How John and Barbara Eisenhower never step into the limelight.

How Mamie is completely at home in the lime-light. Never see her that I don't think of Ruth Brown—not only in looks but actions.

Somehow I always expect Mamie to be looking out for her husband's welfare, but instead he always looks out for her.

I like the little squeezes of the hands that pass between the two of them when they seem unaware the camera is on them.

—o—

Telephone calls at The Republican office were more concerned with the dispensary law. Folks who climbed the stairs of the office as returns were coming in were concerned mostly with daylight time. (I felt like a split personality on the subject. I like it in the morning, don't like it in the evening. How's that for confusion?)

—o—

It's a long hard day for citizens who engineer an election. As I went from one voting place to another checking on returns I noticed the folks with the greatest fatigue were the ones with the poorest light.

—o—

They Turned the Tables

One of the finest displays of spirit and harmony that I have seen in Garrett county was last week at the Farming for Better Living banquet. It has always been an outstanding exchange of good will and understanding but the farmers and their wives have been on the receiving end as gifts and the dinner have been donated by business people.

True to character, the rural people just couldn't take all the intake without any outgo. So they decided to turn the tables on their hosts and bring them gifts.

Tables loaded with "store" gifts at one end of the cafeteria were over-balanced by gifts at the other end of home made or home grown ones. 'Twas a table of bounty, really. Dressed chickens, cartons of eggs, boxes of vegetables, bags of potatoes, apples, collections of jelly, breads, rolls, sweet buns and cakes, maple syrup and on and on. Packages done with exhibit precision showing pride in workmanship and a love of giving.

Every non-farmer received a gift and the spirit was akin to Christmas. Like a little boy getting his favorite toy was Mr. A. D. Naylor with his quart of dried corn and truly old fashioned bread rolls. Still boy-like, he couldn't wait for meal time so he started chewing on the corn and telling folks around him that no one in the room could have been as lucky as he.

I felt just as lucky with the can of maple syrup I was clutching, and as it turned out each of us thought our gift was the best.

Church Plans Open House

The Methodist church of Grantsville will have "Open House" on Sunday, November 11, from 2 to 5 o'clock, sponsored by the men of the church.

At this time the "Mile of Dollar Bills Campaign" will be concluded and the amount received will be shown. Refreshments will be served.

In observance of Laymen's Sunday the men will have charge of the morning service at 11:15. Redford Albridge, of Frostburg, will be the speaker.

West Virginia Joins Republican Victory

West Virginia, which withstood the Eisenhower landslide of 1952, was swept along with the tide in Tuesday's election, to break a long Republican fast.

In addition to going for President Eisenhower by more than 66,000 over Adlai Stevenson, the Republicans elected a governor for the first time since 1928 and a senator for the first time since 1942. The GOP also cracked the solid Democratic delegation in Congress, capturing two of the six House seats.

Former Senator Chapman Revercomb, last Republican to win a top post in 1942, defeated Democratic Gov. William C. Marland by nearly 60,000 votes for the two-year senate term left vacant by the death of Sen. Harley M. Kilgore, Democrat.

Cecil H. Underwood, 34, defeated Rep. Robert H. Mollohan for governor by about the same margin of votes to become the first Republican elected to the statehouse since 1928.

Democrats outnumber Republicans on the registration books by more than 250,000.

Cold Weather Due

Cold weather is due to hit the area but thus far Garrett county has been experiencing very favorable autumn weather.

Cold or snow was predicted for election day, but there was not a cloud in the sky. The week's weather has been some varied but clear and cool for the most part.

A resume of the past week showed Friday clear and warm with Saturday cloudy. Sunday was clear. Monday turned foggy, clearing later for a frost early Tuesday morning. Tuesday was clear and cool. Some rain fell on Wednesday but the skies cleared by noon. Weather since that time has been some cooler and there were indications that the cold weather might be on its way.

November Is Cancer Education Month

The month of November has been designated as "Cancer Education Month," when the American Cancer society through its various state agencies will attempt to inform the public of the importance of knowing cancer's seven danger signals and the progress that has been made in cancer research during the past year.

Last year about 245,000 Americans died of cancer and records show this loss could have been reduced by one-half if persons had heeded the advice of the American Cancer society to have regular medical checkups and seek prompt medical attention when cancer symptoms appear.

The danger signals include unusual bleeding or discharge, a lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere, a sore that does not heal, persistent change in bowel or bladder habits, persistent hoarseness or cough, persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing, change in wart or mole.

Northern High Has Sixth Win

Huskies Defeat Fort Hill Jayvees of Cumberland 7-0 Friday Afternoon

Northern High School's Huskies concluded their season with a six-game winning streak and a record of 6-1-1 by defeating the Fort Hill Jayvees of Cumberland last Friday on the Cove gridiron. The final score was 7 to 0.

Coach Denver Mitchell's team drove 85 yards for the game's only score in the second period. Darwin Robeson's tenth touchdown of the campaign was chalked up on a four-yard run that climaxed the march. Dick Spear shared Robeson's pass for the extra point.

The Cumberland team failed to advance the ball within the Huskies' 15-yard stripe.

Northern defeated Confluence, Terra Alta, Southern, Berlin, Beall Jayvees and Fort Hill Jayvees after losing the season opener to Meyersdale and battling the Keyser Jayvees to a 7-7 deadlock.

Playing for Northern were Spear, Glass, Durst, Rexrode, Bill Miller, Close, Lawson, Robeson, Warren Miller, Mickey and Rush. Substitutions were W. Humberson, Frantz, Beitzel, Jenkins, Schroyer.

College Night Is Set For Nov. 13 at Southern High

The second annual College Night program will be held at Southern High school at 7:30 p. m., Tuesday, November 3.

Representatives from twenty-four colleges and schools will be present to outline their programs and answer questions pertaining to the respective schools.

Last year's program which proved successful, was held in the spring. However, following an evaluation by parents, students and college representatives, it was deemed advisable to hold the program in the fall so that students would have more time to plan for college.

The program which begins at 7:30 will allow guests to spend three 30 minute sessions with any three college representatives of their choice. Interested parents and friends are urged to attend.

"Now is the time to begin planning for college," Kenneth Johns, principal, said. "Parents of boys and girls in the Junior High School should also begin to look ahead to the day when their children will be entering college. This program offers a wonderful opportunity to all college preparatory students and their parents."

A social hour will be held in the cafeteria beginning at 9:30. Refreshments will be served.

The program was planned by Ernest Spoerlein, guidance counselor at the school. The colleges to be represented include Alderson Broaddus, Bridgewater, Davis and Elkins, Frostburg, Gettysburg, Potomac State, Johns Hopkins, Shenandoah, Shepherd, Towson, University of Maryland, Washington, Western Maryland, West Virginia University, West Virginia Wesleyan, Maryland Institute of Art, Catherman's Business School, Morgantown Business college, Mountain State college, West Virginia Business college, Fairmont General hospital, Memorial hospital, Morgantown Beauty School, Tri-State Beauty Academy.

Changes Approved in Fish and Game Laws

Two changes in the fish and game laws affecting Garrett county were approved by the Game and Inland Fish commission at a meeting on October 20.

One contains a change in the regulations pertaining to waters of Cherry Creek. The regulation making it a fly stream was rescinded, and changed the creek to a permanent trout stream with any type of lure and retaining all other restrictions.

The other amended regulations pertaining to boat licenses on Deep Creek Lake to make it mandatory that all licensed boats on Deep Creek Lake shall display license plates, issued with the purchase of each license, conspicuously at all times on the port and starboard bow.

Regulations are to become effective January 1, 1957.

It is a misdemeanor to violate any regulations adopted by the Commission and persons convicted shall be fined not less than $10 nor more than $50, or 30 days in jail, either or both. In addition he is liable to a fine of $5 for each and every fish illegally killed or found in possession.

Open seasons, size and creel limits for game and fresh water fish also were announced. The bass season is from June 1 to November 30; trout, all species, April 15 to September 15; pike or pickerel, June 1 to November 30; walleyes, April 1 to November 15; shad-white and hickory, March 1 to September 15; herring, March 1 to September 15. There is no closed season on catfish, fallfish, striped bass, perch, suckers, carp, crappie, eels, sunfish, gudgeon, or rock bass.

To Organize Sewing Class

An Adult Sewing class will be organized soon at Southern High School, it was announced today by Robert R. Martin, Administrative Assistant in charge of Adult Education.

Mrs. Elizabeth Randol who will teach the course indicated that the Bishoff method of teaching clothing construction will be used. "This is a quicker, easier method and gives much better results," she stated.

Details regarding the time and night on which the course is to be taught will be announced later. Persons interested in enrolling in such a course should call Southern High School, DE 4-2288.

Southern Ends Season With Win

Defeats Terra Alta 20 To 0 In Final Game Last Friday

Playing without the services of Bill Deckman, senior fullback, who was ill, Southern's Highlanders played a strong defensive game and scored a 20 to 0 victory over Terra Alta High school last Friday afternoon to close out the 1956 football schedule.

The Southern line held its rivals to a net gain of 95 yards rushing and 24 yards passing, and in the last half Terra Alta lost seven yards more than it gained. The Highlander forward wall kept the West Virginians out of its territory except for two times in the second half when the Highlanders gave up the ball on downs.

Don Mason played a stellar role in the victory, scoring all three touchdowns and making repeated short gains through the line and around the ends. Wayne Callis made the longest run of the day, one of 28 yards, while Lester Bittinger made several thrilling run backs of kicks.

Southern took the opening kickoff on its thirty-yard line and marched 70 yards for the initial touchdown. Three first downs took the ball to the 18. Three more plays by Bittinger and Terry Colaw put the ball on the 9. On the fourth down with one yard to go Don Mason found a hole through right tackle and went for the td. Mason passed to Don DeWitt for the extra point.

Southern threatened twice in the second quarter but each time ran out of steam and lost the ball on downs, after two runs of nine yards by Mason and a run of 28 yards by Wayne Callis. Later in the quarter another drive carried to the Terra Alta 22 where the Highlanders again lost the ball on downs.

Early in the third quarter Terra Alta gambled on fourth down on her 48-yard line and lost 12 yards on the play. Southern chalked up three first downs and Mason found a hole through center and made his second six-pointer. Mason's pass to Don DeWitt was short, making the score 13 to 6.

On the third play following the succeeding kickoff, tackle Bill Murphy broke through the line and fell on a Terra Alta fumble on the 18-yard line. On the third play Mason broke through and went nine yards for the touchdown but the play was nullified because of a penalty. On the next play on fourth down and 6 yards to go Mason ran around left end to make a first down on the 8. On the next play Mason went through center for the touchdown. Mason kicked the extra point for the final score of 20 to 0.

Terra Alta threatened twice in the final quarter. Terra Alta took the ball on the 42 and worked it to the Highlander 29 where Les Bittinger intercepted a pass to end the threat. In the closing minutes of the game Terra Alta again took the ball on downs on the Southern 21 but lost the ball after gaining only one yard in four plays.

Of Such is the Kingdom of God

Some people argue that the words of Christ imply that God's Kingdom belongs to children and not to adults. Indeed, there are some families whose worship habits suggest as much. The youngsters are bundled off to Sunday School; and the grown-ups stay home.

But Biblical scholars have long agreed that Christ's words point to the attitude, not the age, which is the mark of God's Kingdom.

The implicit faith, the humble acceptance, the eager yearning with which children approach Christ's teaching—these are the qualities which belong to God's Kingdom.

Perhaps we are foolishly infatuated with the notion that our children should follow in our footsteps. If we start them in the right direction, the direction of the Church, we may gain much more by following in theirs.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

This Is It

Lesson for November 11, 1956

THREE questions are asked over and over again by people who take life seriously but are still groping for the answers. First, What is Good? Is it altogether a matter of taste? Is there anything that is never good and anything that is always good, no matter what? Second, What does God want of us? What does it take to please him? Is there any simple ordinary way of knowing what God wants? Third, Why doesn't God speak to us as he used to do to the prophets of old? Why doesn't God, who knows all the answers, share his knowledge with us?

Dr. Foreman

Country Preacher

Long ago a country preacher had these questions thrown up at him. His name was Micah. He was not a preacher in the regular sense, for he had no church, and in fact he had no connection with the regular official religion of his country. But he did speak and preach,—so far as we know, only to his fellow-villagers; but what he said was remembered. We have extracts from his sermons in what we call the Book of Micah, among the minor (that is, shorter) prophets of the Old Testament. Maybe he never preached a full-length formal sermon. Maybe he just stood or sat around in the market-place, and talked to any who would listen. At any rate it is plain that he was asked much the same questions as those three just now mentioned. The country of Judah, in which Micah's small town of Moreshah was located, was either in a very prosperous condition or was running down,—depending on where you lived. In the capital city of Jerusalem everything seemed to be booming. But in the farmlands and in the little villages it was a different story. Even in the cities there were some who suspected the boom would not last. There was a kind of revival of interest in religion going on, but it was confused. People had an idea they ought to be better, but what was "good"? They felt sure they ought to obey God more carefully; but what did God want, really? Why didn't God come right out and tell people what they would have to do to "get right" with him?

This Is It

If the answers to such questions as these were written on gold plates in a strange language and kept on top of a seven-mile mountain guarded by seven wise archangels, the roads to that mountain would be jammed, and people would pay the archangels big money to translate the mystic words of wisdom. But a country preacher talking in the simple words anybody ten years old can understand—? Yes; the people of that village already had the answers only they didn't realize it.

Why doesn't God speak? He has already spoken. Why don't we have prophets? We do have prophets, right there in your Bible. Yes, but they are hard to understand! Well, Micah says, it's not so hard to understand. What does the Lord require of you but to do justice, and to love kindness, and to walk humbly with your God? Oh, somebody in the crowd might say,—old stuff! Yes, exactly. Amos the prophet spoke of Justice, and Hosea spoke of Love and Kindness, and Isaiah spoke of humility before God Most High. This is it, you don't need to write away to find out, this is it right here. What is Good, what God wants of us, God has already spoken. He does not change his mind.

Simple and Final

Looked at in one way, these three great requirements of God are not simple. Justice—how easy to say, how hard to make sure what is really the just and fair thing in every action! Kindness—yes, but who knows what is the kind thing to do every time? Isn't what is just in one case perhaps unjust in another? Yes, to be sure: No commandment of God is going to save us from having to think. This is not so simple as to be automatic. Nevertheless this is simple in the main. We can see the lines along which the good life must be built. We always know: if it is not just, if it is not kind, then it is out of line with God's will. And all this is final, too; again not in the sense of saving us any further thought. But final in the sense that this is God's word. We can't now or ever get beyond or above,—we can't graduate from,—justice and kindness and humble reverence before God.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission.

Under The Rug

If by any chance the Stevenson-Kefauver combination had won, there are two things of which we could be sure. First, there would be an absolute end of the polls—private, public, professional, amateur, big, little paid-for and gratuitous; second, we would have a union-labor-dominated government.

It seems difficult for anyone who looks at the admitted facts to deny these statements. For example, all the polls—and there have been literally scores—have shown the popular trend toward the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket. Without exception they forecast its election—some by a greater majority than in 1952, some by considerably less, but none cast any doubt about its success. Summing them all up, the "United States News and World Report" this week said that conceding Stevenson every doubtful state there was "no conceivable way" by which he could win. Now, recalling the complete flop the polls made in 1948 when Mr. Truman was elected, can anyone doubt that to repeat that performance would be fatal to the polls? It is hard to see how the polling business could survive. How could anyone take any stock in them again?

As to the inevitability of a labor-dominated government, should Mr. Stevenson have won, here are the facts. In the first place, Mr. Stevenson would stand no chance of being elected if it were not for the support of the AFL-CIO. This greatest of all labor organizations, claiming over 16,000,000 membership, indorsed the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket soon after its nomination, thus breaking all labor precedents and putting the whole Democratic party, but particularly Mr. Stevenson, under deep obligations. While it is true that in 1952 Mr. Stevenson had nearly all the labor bosses behind him, a great many union members voted for Eisenhower. In 1956 the expectation was that as many—perhaps more—would vote for him again.

The real difference between 1952 and 1956 is that the men who manage the political activities of the AFL-CIO have become much better politically educated than they were. For one thing, they know that to be really effective, they have got to spend a lot of money—on registration, on propaganda, on precinct workers, on radio, on television. To this end, they have collected from the rank and file, many of whom will vote for Eisenhower, admittedly more than $4,000,000, would would be spent in behalf of Messrs. Stevenson and Kefauver. One of the major hypocrisies of the Democratic managers is their constant insistence upon the relative riches of the Republicans as contrasted with the alleged poverty of the Democrats. Never do they so much as mention that $4,000,000 with which the AFL-CIO supplemented Democratic funds.

Another indication of improved technique of labor politicans is their radio and television programs. These are largely put on around 6:30 in the morning to catch the laboring man before he goes to work. They are quite the most venomous of anything on the air. How effective is just a guess—but observers say that they are so vicious as to defeat their own purpose. Another improvement includes their organization of baby-sitters, door-bell ringers, telephone volunteers and automobiles who help on election day to get the "labor vote" and the Stevenson vote to the polls. That is to say the labor bosses are working harder, spending more money and giving more practical assistance in the precincts than ever before. In brief, they are making a supreme effort. And, of course, the power behind all this well-trained and highly financed political force is the tough and ambitious Mr. Walter Reuther. Mr. Reuther is the real boss. He had the run of the White House under Roosevelt and Truman. He is probably more influential in the Democratic party than any other man. He is a personal as well as a political friend of Adlai Stevenson and should Mr. Stevenson have won certainly would be able to get anything he wanted—and he wants a lot.

For example, he could be Secretary of Labor, but that he wouldn't want. It isn't nearly important enough for him. However, under Stevenson, he could name the Secretary and still retain power to mold Administration policies and control Congress. There is no doubt he could do exactly that if he had White House backing. Nor is there any doubt that that is exactly what he would have if Mr. Stevenson were successful. On the basis of the the admitted indispensability of his support few could say he was not entitled to it. True, little has been said about these facts in this campaign. Candidates on both sides are anxious to get all the labor support they can. For obvious reasons they find discussion of the facts embarrassing. So the general disposition has been to sweep them "under the rug." But everybody knew they were there.

Special Recognition Slated For Teachers At Education Week

Special recognition is to be given to the teachers of Garrett county and of the entire United States during the observance of American Education Week, November 11 to 17, it was announced by Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools.

Each year since World War I the nation has set aside one week to be known as American Education Week during which time emphasis has been placed upon the value of education and the need all citizens have for a good education.

The observance developed after the lack of education among many of the young men of the country when they were called to arms in 1918.

Since that time growth has been made in the effort of the states and local communities to provide better education for the future citizens.

Mr. Hawkins pointed out that this recognition of the teachers this year is being done for the first time and he said he felt the recognition was long overdue. "The teaching profession has grown in stature over the years until now teachers need to be among the best trained people we can find. In spite of the teacher shortage denying fully certified teachers in many classrooms, education has forged ahead and has made impressive progress during the past decade."

He continued: "Teachers everywhere in all but a few instances, share a devotion to duty hard to surpass. They give of time and effort far beyond the line of duty."

He remarked that in spite of better salaries and job opportunities beckoning from many areas this county still had a high percentage of well trained, capable, loyal and dedicated teachers that deserved the cooperation and confidence of the parents and the children they teach.

P.-T.A. Membership Shows An Increase

Membership in Southern High School's P.-T.A. is showing an increase of 20 percent over that of last year. A total of 206 persons have joined to date. Last year's final figures showed a total membership of 208.

Delbert Gnegy, president, indicated that a minimum goal of 250 was being set for this year. The highest number of members belonging to Southern's P.-T.A. was five years ago when the school was first opened. At that time the organization had a membership of 244.

Mr. Gnegy indicated that the membership drive would close December 1. Parents who desire to join may do so by sending their membership dues of 50c per person to the school with their children.

"The membership fee is small as compared to the work accomplished by the association," he said. Mr. Gnegy's statement came after he and Kenneth Johns, principal of Southern, had attended the annual convention of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers held in Baltimore last week.

The next meeting of Southern's P.-T.A. will be Monday, November 19. The theme of the program will be "Parents View Southern." A group of parents have been invited to spend several days in the school. They will then present their opinions in the form of a panel discussion.

For all her groans about answering phones
By a single mention of a bedroom extension

THE AMERICAN WAY

Unpacking the Supreme Court

One thing grows more obvious than any other fact about what we call the American system. It is that some means must be found to deal with two grave disorders which affect it. One is the income tax. The other is the Supreme Court as at present manned. There is, of course, one great obstacle and that is the Supreme Court itself. It is now nearly 20 years since President Franklin D Roosevelt began the packing of the Court because the existing judges had held most of the curious measures adopted by his New Deal congress to be unconstitutional. The present Court was appointed by Roosevelt and his successors to ensure the validation of any other unconstitutional measures that might be passed.

In the last 20 years this Court has performed an incredible operation on our whole constitutional system. It is possible that at some future time a Congress once again in tune with the American system may launch a repeal of the Income Tax Amendment or at least limit severely the grab of the government's hand in our pockets. But the Supreme Court problem is far more difficult. The judges are appointed for life. There are nine of them. And it would take a long time to rid the Court of that many judges. There is no hope in the possible retirement of some of these judges. Others of the same type would be named. The first appointment to the Court by President Eisenhower—perhaps the worst of the lot—offers us little hope of change.

Throughout history the curse of civilized man has been BIG GOVERNMENT. Our forefathers aimed a historic blow at Big Government when in the Constitution they split the engine of government into a number of independent parts—the Executive, the Legislative and the Judicial. But that was not all. The federal government was endowed with very limited powers. The greater part of the powers of government was left with the states. Power was nowhere centered and consolidated in one place where it could not be restrained.

This great institution has been gravely altered, first by endowing the federal government with the unlimited power to tax and borrow; second, through the assumption by Congress and the Court of the power to legislate on matters once severely limited to the states. Public education in this country was for 165 years regarded as a function of the states. Recently the Supreme Court held that the states were without power to provide separate schools for different groups. The case in question involved the right of the states to provide separate schools for white and Negro children. There is not a word in the Constitution which deprives a sovereign American state of the power to operate its public school system on any theory it approves. This right had not been contested for 165 years. But the justices appointed in the packing operation have denied that right to the states. If the Court can do that, it can assume almost any other power.

This is not all. An American state is a sovereign republic. Pennsylvania adopted a law punishing sedition against its sovereign authority. A communist in Pennsylvania was convicted of plotting the violent overthrow of that state government. The Supreme Court overturned that decision, holding the states were powerless to defend their own sovereign powers.

The President promulgated an order extending the federal loyalty program to all government employees. But the Court held it could be applied only to persons in highly sensitive positions.

The Taft-Hartley Act requires a labor union to furnish an affidavit attesting its freedom from subversive elements. If it fails to do so it cannot engage in picketing. The Court held that it can.

New York City requires the dismissal of teachers in its schools who hide behind the Fifth Amendment when asked about their communist affiliations. The Court ruled the city had no right to do this.

Is there any remedy for this condition? Only one has been suggested. That is a constitutional amendment which will end the tenure of all the members of the existing Court and will declare that all decisions of that Court between 1937 and the date of the proposed amendment be declared without any authority as precedents in the decision of future cases.

The Court as packed by Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower has almost succeeded in tearing up the Constitution. The remedy proposed would be wholly in accordance with that Constitution.

Mr. Arnold said that everything was for the most part quiet and orderly. In one section of town several clotheslines were cut and in one instance a school teacher's automobile tires were cut, but other than these two instances, the children seemed to have conducted themselves in a law abiding manner.

Vs.

Elsie Henckel, Farmington, Pennsylvania, Defendant.

No. 4686 Equity, In the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree for divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the plaintiff for the defendant.

The bill states:

That on the 6th day of October, 1945, he was married to the defendant, Elsie Henckel, at Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, by a duly ordained minister; that he resided with the said defendant until on or about the 31st day of May, 1951, at which time the said Elsie Henckel deserted your orator while they were residing in Fayette County, Pennsylvania; that although the conduct of your orator towards his said wife has always been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said Elsie Henckel without just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted him, and has declared her intention to live with him no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for more than eighteen months, is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties are beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that no children were born of said marriage; that your orator is a resident of Garrett County, Maryland, and has resided in the State of Maryland more than two years prior to the filing of this bill of complaint, but the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and her last known address was Farmington, Pennsylvania.

It is thereupon this 19th day of October, 1956, ordered by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, that the plaintiff, by having a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 23rd day of November, 1956, give notice to the non-resident defendant warning her to be and appear in this Court, either in person or by solicitor, on or before the 8th day of December, 1956, to show cause, if any she has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

That they have determined it to be necessary and proper to acquire for the purposes referred to in said petition, and in connection with the construction and maintenance of the highway system of the State, certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Seventh Election District of Garrett County, consisting of 660 square feet, more or less, lying between the lines marked "Right of Way Line" as shown on Plat No. 16903, which is being taken in fee simple.

Sound Program . . .

When it comes to some down to earth, good, solid thinking, it's hard to beat the attitude of most of the members of the Garrett County Farm Bureau. This local group of farm people reflects the attitude of the organization throughout the nation and should give the ordinary citizen of this land of ours real satisfaction. As long as we have farm people thinking like they are, there is no need to worry too much about the direction our government will follow.

Just take a few of the expressions that came out of the annual meeting last Thursday. One person remarked that the greatest objective of the Farm Bureau was to "keep farmers free of handouts from any group. We need to remain free, independent and strong." What a lift to hear a policy like that amidst the numerous government subsidies, welfare handouts, and the hundreds of give-away programs.

Or take the results of voting on questions of national importance. The Farm Bureau members favored priority in the reduction of the national debt over any tax reductions for individuals by 91.5 percent. They favored increased agricultural research by 97.7 percent; they favored foreign trade by 95 percent; they voted for less government interference in roads by 78 percent.

They voted on other vital national questions such as the soil bank plan, a nationally permanent year-around standard time, a Brucellosis control program, which they favored with percentages never going below 80 percent.

They favored continuation of a study of water resources of Maryland by 96.5 percent and asked that the Farm Bureau work more actively with other farm organizations, schools, churches, service clubs and agricultural agencies in promoting the welfare of the county by a 94.8 percent margin.

We can't think of any other organization that shows more substantial thought to basic American principles. May they always continue in that direction!

Lad Is Killed In Car Accident

A five-year-old boy, who was riding in the rear seat of his father's car, was killed last Friday afternoon, November 9, in an unusual accident near Swanton.

The victim, David Leon Tichinell, route 1, Swanton, was pronounced dead on arrival at the Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland. Death was caused by internal injuries.

The lad was crushed between the door of his father's car and an embankment while the vehicle, driven by George Sheridan Tichinell, 49, was traveling north on the Rock Oak Coal company road about two and one-half miles south of Swanton.

Maryland State Police said the lad was riding in the right rear of the car, accidentally opened the rear door. The door struck the bank and he was pulled from the car and crushed. He was conscious for several minutes after the accident.

Corporal Sam Conrad investigated the accident which occurred about 1:30 p. m.

A son of George Sheridan Tichinell and Mrs. Juanita Belle Warnick Tichinell, he was born near Swanton, August 22, 1951.

Surviving besides his parents are seven brothers and sisters, Mrs. Wanda Paugh, Mrs. Elizabeth Paugh, Mrs. Genevieve Davis, Baltimore; Miriam, Darrell, George, Louise and Doris Tichinell, all at home. He attended Sunday school at Walnut Bottom Assembly of God church.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Walnut Bottom church with Rev. Harry Barton, pastor, officiating. Interment was in the nearby Turner cemetery.

Clothing Drive To Begin on Sunday

A used clothing drive, being conducted in the community for Lutheran World Relief, and sponsored by St. Mark's Luther League of Oakland, will begin Monday, November 18. It will continue through November 25.

Persons having usable warm clothing may bring it to the Lutheran church during that time or if transportation is needed it will be provided by calling DE 4-2212 or DE 4-2465.

The theme of the Thanksgiving drive is "You are your Brother's Keeper." It was pointed out that since World War II there are millions of refugees in the Far and Middle East who must rely mainly on the assistance given to them by agencies such as Lutheran World Relief.

Republican Women Plan Victory Celebration

The Republican Women's club of Garrett county will have a victory celebration in the fire hall in Oakland on Friday evening, November 16. All women are being invited to attend, regardless of whether or not they are members.

Service Commission Approves Boost in Gas Rates in Area

Natural gas rates will be increased again under an order approved unanimously last Friday by the Maryland Public Service commission. The order marked the third increase in gas rates in the area since 1952.

Albert L. Deen, executive secretary of the commission, said the PSC order requires the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas company to file a new schedule of rates which will boost its net income between $98,329 and $120,854 a year.

The company had asked to increase rates still further.

It was noted in the commission order that the rates proposed by the company appear to place the greatest impact on the minimum user of gas. The commission said the new schedule should lessen the impact on the small user. The company has ten days in which to notify the commission of the acceptance of the order.

The present rates went into effect in October, 1954. Hearings on the company's application for a rate increase ended July 12 when C and A proposed a compromise rate schedule which would shift the burden of the boost from those who use gas for cooking and heating water and cooking to those who heat homes with gas. A brief presenting the position of the opponents of the rate increase was submitted by Cumberland and Allegany county on September 1. They contended the stockholders, not the customers, should bear the loss on several items which figured in the C and A application.

Plans Bazaar November 17

Plans for conducting a bake sale and bazaar at the DeWitt and DeBerry store were made by the Loar Auxiliary of the Garrett County Memorial hospital at its meeting Thursday, November 8.

The bazaar will be held Saturday, November 17, beginning at 9:30 o'clock. Members are to have food or hand work at the store by that time.

The auxiliary acknowledged a donation of $28.25 from the Teen-Age club as the result of the Hallowe'en dance. The next meeting of the Auxiliary is set for the board room of the hospital on January 10.

Canvass Gives Hyde 15,740 Vote Lead

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde who won re-election to Congress from Western Maryland's 6th district a week ago defeated his Democratic opponent, John R. Foley, by 15,740 votes, the official canvass completed on Tuesday, showed.

The totals were: Hyde, 100,580; Foley, 84,840.

Hyde's margin in Garrett county was 2,300 votes. He carried Montgomery county, home county of both men, by 2,490 votes and won by more than 3,000 votes each in Allegany, Frederick and Washington counties.

Christmas Savings Checks This Year Will Reach $38,000

Christmas Savings club checks from the two Oakland banks will total more than $38,000 this year, an increase of over $3,500 over the previous year, it was announced this week. Both banks will mail out these savings checks December 1.

The money will be sent to more than 425 depositors of the First National Bank and the Garrett National Bank in Oakland.

Both banks are planning Christmas clubs for next year as soon as the checks for this year's accounts are mailed, or even earlier. First payments are due the first week in December and depositors may make as little as 25-cent payments each week. They may be taken for as large as $10 a week.

The increase here is shown in spite of a slight decrease throughout the nation but distribution throughout the nation will be over one billion dollars. While most of the money will go for Christmas presents it is also estimated that a percentage will go into savings accounts, insurance premiums and savings bonds. Many regular Christmas club members save for specific purposes, for winter vacations, to pay taxes, to meet insurance installments, to finance home modernization and for tuition for college students.

Absentee Ballots Total Eighty-Seven

Eighty-seven absentee ballots were cast by Garrett county residents in the recent general election. Over 50 of these were soldier absentee ballots.

The tabulation showed a heavy majority for the Republican candidates, a majority for all the amendments, a majority for daylight saving time and for the dispensary law.

"Parents View Southern" Is Theme For P.-T. A.

"Parents View Southern" will be the theme at the second Southern High School P.-T.A. meeting of the current school year when the group meets at 8 p. m., Monday, November 19.

Several parents who have been visiting Southern throughout the past week will present their findings in the form of a panel discussion. Mrs. Mary Martin will be the moderator.

Delbert Gnegy, president, urged that as many parents as possible be present. "Closer cooperation between the home and the school can do much to help our boys and girls develop the right kind of attitudes toward education," he said.

He also pointed out that though the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club had set aside the same night to sell fruit cakes, patrons who desire to purchase cakes would be able to do so at the P.-T.A. meeting.

Prior to the business meeting at 8 p. m., teachers will be in their homerooms one-half hour for parent conferences.

Mail Truck Burns

Fire destroyed a U. S. Mail truck carrying over 80 sacks of mail on Monday afternoon, November 5, near the Cheat River bridge, at the bottom of Caddell Mountain, near Kingwood, W. Va. The bulk of the mail, mostly parcel post, was intended for Morgantown and Fairmont.

The driver, Rolland G. Schoch, Oakland, sustained burns on the hands and was treated later at Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland.

The fire was discovered at 2 p. m. by the driver of a gasoline truck which was passing the mail truck. The mail truck driver stopped his vehicle and attempted to extinguish the blaze. The Kingwood Fire Department was called but it was too late to save much of the mail.

This mail truck meets the Washington-Cincinnati train at Terra Alta each day at 1:38 p. m. and picks up mail for Morgantown and Fairmont, as well as intermedite points along the route.

A Postoffice inspector took all scraps left from the fire and was working on identification. There was very little first class mail on the truck, it was reported.

To Collect Gifts For Mentally Ill

Mrs. Paul L. Naylor and Mrs. Robert Rudy, co-chairmen of the Christmas project for the mentally ill, have announced that in Garrett county the Ruth Enlow library, Oakland, will be the collection center for gifts.

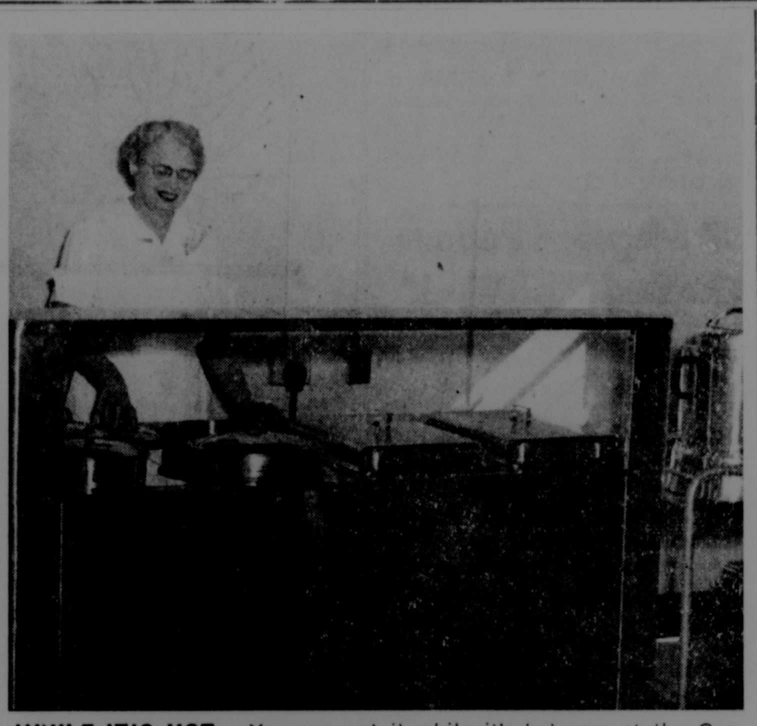
Among the organizations which have adopted the program are the Civic club and the Junior Woman's Civic club of Oakland. For the eighth consecutive year, the public is invited to share Christmas in this project.

Gifts should be unwrapped but with wrapping materials attached. A suggested list of gift items may be obtained at the collection center. Among the most needed articles for women are stationery, handkerchiefs, costume jewelry, arts and crafts sets and cosmetic items. Needed for men are cigarettes, pocket combs, stretch socks and slippers. Ward gifts such as TV sets, radios and sewing machines are in demand for year-round use.

Professional Women Meet

Kenneth Johns, principal of Southern High school, was the principal speaker at the regular meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club held last Thursday evening at the William-James hotel. Mr. Johns spoke on American Education Week. An open discussion followed his address. Twenty-six were present.

Mrs. Russell Brown, music instructor at Southern, presented some of her music pupils in a number of vocal selections and some tap dancing.



WHILE IT'S HOT—You can get it while it's hot now at the Garrett County Memorial hospital—the employes can, that is. An electrically heated cafeteria table was recently installed at the hospital which expedites the handling of the food and does it more efficiently. The table was purchased some months ago. It is used principally for the employes and persons who are staying with patients in their rooms who eat their meals there occasionally. Standing behind the table is Mrs. W. R. Ross, recently appointed hospital dietitian.

Held For Grand Jury

Alvie R. Martin, charged with the theft of chickens from the farm of Roy C. Lee, of near Mt. Lake Park, received a preliminary hearing last Friday, November 9, before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer and was held for action of the Grand Jury under $1,000 bond.

However, he has petitioned for an immediate trial and will be heard within the next few days.

Next Week's Issue To Be Published On Wednesday

Next week's issue of The Republican will be published and distributed Wednesday, November 21, in order that members of the staff may properly observe Thanksgiving Day next Thursday, November 22. The office will remain closed all day on Thanksgiving.

The publication will be one day earlier than usual also so that distribution will be made within the town of Oakland and sent to many other towns that same afternoon which will mean no change in the time that most of our subscribers receive their weekly digest of the local news.

Local correspondents and advertisers are urged to send in their material one day earlier than usual and all others who desire to have news items published are requested to do the same, in order in insure publication in the week's issue.

Christmas Activities Arranged By C. Of C.

The mercantile committee of the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce, headed by Irvin R. Rudy, Jr., announced its Christmas activities program last night.

Thirty or more merchants and business men of Oakland will cooperate in the event with special activities listed.

Plans have been completed for decorating the town immediately after the Thanksgiving holiday period. Additional decorations have been purchased for this year's display.

The annual treat for the children by "Santa Claus" will be conducted on Saturday, December 22, when all the children of the community up to 12 years of age will be given an orange, candy and other articles. Santa Claus also is scheduled to visit participating stores at various times during the Christmas season.

Over 6,000 circulars will be distributed in the area. The Christmas buying program will be conducted from December 1 through December 15, and the Chamber of Commerce has planned to offer 22 prizes totaling $400. Coupons will be offered in the participating stores and persons do not have to be present to obtain a prize when they are given away.

Evidence of Winter But Also of Autumn

There was some evidence of winter during the past week's weather, but also much evidence of autumn.

Some snow fell last Thursday night, and again on Saturday but only enough to barely cover the ground. Sunday turned clear and some warmer. Monday was clear and windy but moderate, turning colder evening and spitting some little snow. Tuesday was clear and cold, and the clear weather has continued the balance of the week with much moderation.

Government To Bear Expense Of Flood Control

Supplemental Plan For Little Youghiogheny Watershed Signed By Officials

A supplemental watershed work plan for the Little Youghiogheny river flood control project, wherein the federal government agrees to bear the entire cost of construction of six proposed dams, was signed last Friday at special meetings of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland and the County Commissioners.

The two sponsoring agencies must bear the expense of acquiring without cost to the Federal government any land or easements or rights of way necessary in connection with the works of improvement. An estimated figure not to exceed $16,400 was agreed upon for expenses incident to the acquiring of the needed easements.

The Mayor and Council and the County Commissioners previously had agreed to provide $40,000 for the project, each agency pledging half of that amount.

The original work plan, worked out last fall by special committees appointed by the Mayor and Town Council, called for the construction of six small flood control dams in the area. A survey of the Little Youghiogheny river watershed was conducted during the summer of 1955, and it was first suggested by the Soil Conservation service that eight dams on Wilson Run and the Little Youghiogheny river be constructed at an estimated cost of $334,000, plus an outlay of an additional $19,000 for channel improvement of the Little Youghiogheny.

In the final analysis the group eliminated two of the eight dams and decided to ask for a work plan which would include these dams at an estimated cost of $187,000 with the two sponsoring institutions agreeing to commit themselves for $40,000 over a five year period or longer.

The proposed sites included three dams on Wilson Run in the general vicinity of the Loomis property, the Cherry Glade run

Callis Reviews Football Record

Mason Callis, Southern High instructor, who kept the football statistics during the season just closed, has made a review of the activities and obtained opinions as to the ultimate value for those involved. Having to admit to himself that mathematically the season looked a failure, he declared "Let's look as the records."

Having heard that one could prove anything by statistics he determined to interview several of those most concerned to see what the season had meant to them.

When he asked a member of the team whether or not he was satisfied with the season he replied: "Well I was disappointed in some games and pleasantly surprised in others. I feel we should have won more, but last fall when I knew we had to replace seventeen lettermen I knew we would have to give our best in every game. We won one close and lost two others. You can't win 'em all. I'm a Yankee fan but I'll have to agree with the Bums in saying, 'wait till next year.'"

When Mr. Callis interviewed Kenneth Johns, principal of Southern he declared "I think we had a fine team. I liked the wholesome attitude of the boys not only on the gridiron but in the classrooms as well. While I am interested in the growth of every Southern student I am especially proud of the development of the team as the season progressed. We have only a few boys graduating and have capable replacements coming up from the 8th and 9th grades so the Highlander prospects in the future look promising."

Coach Richard Travis declared that even though he would have liked to have won more games he was satisfied with the team's progress. "This is the nicest group of boys I ever coached," he volunteered.

Carlton Hogue, head of the Physical Education department, said: "I think the season was a success. After mid-season we had a fine team."

Callis thinks the record for the last five games proves that he is right. Southern out-rushed its opponents 830 yards to 635 yards, was out-passed 246 to 248 yards for a total of 1,072 to 883 yards gained. The Highlanders also outscored their opponents 58 to 55. A more detailed look at the season statistics, shows the following:

Statistics

	S	Opp.
First Down Rushing	52	51
First Down Passing	19	20
First Down Penalties	10	6
Total First Downs	71	77
Yds. Gained Rushing	1222	1939
Yds. Gained Passing	415	412
Total Yds. Gained	1637	2351
Passes Attempted	97	64
Passes Completed	16	22
Passes Intercepted	10	12
Fumbles	18	23
Own Fumbles recovered	8	10
Punts	31—29.6	21—43.3

The record of the players showed that Mason carried the ball 99 times for a gain 347 yards, an average of 3.5 yards; Deckman carried 89 times, made 355 yards for an average of 4 yards. L. Bittinger carried 52 times for 122 yards, an average of 2.4. Callis carried 21 times for 86 yards, an average of 4.1. Colaw carried 16 times for 53 yards, an average of 3.3, while G. Bittinger carried 5 times for 18 yards, an average of 3.6 yards.

MARRIED

Bowser-Camp—Miss Mabel Eileen Camp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Camp, of Grantsville, became the bride of Reganold Amedee Bowser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Bowser, Accident, on Saturday, October 27, at 2:30 p. m., in the St. John's English Lutheran church at Cove.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. William E. Carlson, pastor. Mrs. Mary Bach, church organist, played a program of nuptial music preceding the ceremony and the traditional wedding marches.

Letter to the Editor

"We Have a Wonderful County"

This caption captured my eye and had my attention in its grip for, "time, double time and half time." It started me to reminiscing and taking into account other items of profound interest to me which took place by action of Garrett Countians. I thought of a bill that was to have been presented to the House of Delegates which, if it had passed, would have legalized lotteries and gambling of all sorts, but because of interested citizens and conforming representatives it was not presented. I do know that Garrett County citizens have much to endure because of West Virginia's and Preston County's legalization of liquors and its dispensary program. But the endurance of its stench is preferable to sharing in its crime, so far as Garrett County citizens are concerned. It is a wonderful county indeed which takes its citizens into account and promotes for good government and social decency. In my judgment it will stand aspirants to office in Garrett County in good hand to take this matter into account and qualify accordingly if they should hope to win. I am proud to own a little property in Garrett County and have a son and daughter living, and having their homes there. I am not too far from the time of retirement and should life hold out for me until that time and whatever time I have to live thereafter I should like to spend it in Garrett County, Maryland. I can think of no better concluding word than that of St. Paul in the First Thessalonians, Chapter Five, Verse Six (5;6): "Therefore let us not sleep, as do others, but let us watch and be sober."

Rev. Geo. W. Simpson
Grafton, W. Va.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

Walking through the big Boeing Aircraft Plant in Wichita a visitor comes upon mammoth machines, some of them being handled by one or two operators. There is a big press at work on the right of the aisle in one building. It is shaping the thick aluminum wing "skin" for a B-52. One man handles the electric switches on this machine. The machine cost Boeing several hundred thousand dollars. The employees operating such machines receive weekly pay checks that are high when measured by any standard of compensation.

Airline companies, like virtually all American industries, invest big money in their machine tools. The payoff rewards everybody. Production costs have been cut, and production time lowered. Productivity has been boosted. More value has been built into the product. Pay checks have increased.

When we compare the American system with other systems the tool story is the most striking example. When I lived in Kwei Hsien, Kwong Sai, South China, I burned kerosene that had been carried a hundred miles overland on the shoulders of coolies. It had been delivered by American ships to Pak Hoi, in five gallon tins. At Pak Hoi, a coolie would tie a five gallon tin to either end of a bamboo pole, get under the pole, and start trotting on the road to Kwei Hsien.

These coolies with their primitive bamboo-pole tool would trot about ten miles a day. It took one 10 days to make the hundred miles from the ship's dock in Pak Hoi to Kwein Hsien. How much were they paid? The wages when I was in China were the equivalent of 10 cents in our money. When a coolie had worked 10 days and earned a dollar, he had transported 10 gallons of kerosene a hundred miles. That meant 10 cents per gallon freight rate—a very high freight rate, but miserable wages.

To transport kerosene in this country, we put down a road bed, wooden ties, steel rails. We build a great locomotive, tank cars, loading facilities, terminal facilities. Then a man gets behind the throttle and drives across the rails, carrying a hundred tank cars, with hundreds of thousands of gallons of kerosene, and he's moving at an average speed of 50 miles an hour. To transport the kerosene a hundred miles takes two hours. And what wages do the American railroad workers receive in comparison to the Chinese coolie's? The American gets a minimum of $10 a day, an average of $15 a day.

The freight rate on the American railroad is less than a cent per gallon per hundred miles, instead of ten cents as in China. What's the difference? It is the tools. The coolie has a 10-cent tool investment and he makes 10 cents a day. The tool investment in America for each railroad employee is $20,000. That is the difference.

Premiur Bulganin of Russia congratulated President Eisenhower wishes for "strength and good health."

NEWS FROM THE Ruth Enlow Library

BY EDITH BROCK

The Civil War is the subject of an exhibit of books, maps and pamphlets in the front of the library. Several outstanding new books are included in this exhibit. "This Hallowed Ground," the story of the Union side of the Civil War, is the latest book by the distinguished historian, Bruce Catton. "The Civil War," a two-volume chronicle by Otto Eisenschiml, Ralph Newman and E. B. Long, tells the story of the war in the words of those who took part in it on both sides. "Battles and Leaders of the Civil War," edited by Ned Bradford, is a new one-volume edition of a famous history. Biographies of outstanding leaders include among others Burke Davis' "Gray Fox: Robert E. Lee and the Civil War" and Carl Sandburg's "Abraham Lincoln."

New novels of the Civil War period are also featured in this display. "Sing One Song" by Helen Topping Miller is a story of Kentucky in Civil War and Reconstruction days. In "Our Valiant Few" Van Wyck Mason again writes of the Confederate Navy and its desperate efforts to break the blockade that was bringing the South to its knees. James Street's "Captain Little Ax" is the story of a group of youngsters who ran away to join the Confederate Army. George Fielding Eliot's hero in "Caleb Pettengill, U.S.N.," is a young man who commands a vesesl in the Union Navy, while Bruce Lancaster writes of General Sheridan in "Roll Shenandoah." These novels and many others of past years such as MacKinlay Kantor's "Andersonville" and "Long Remember" give a vivid picture of Civil War days.

Mrs. C. A. Walworth of Charleston, W. Va., has given books in memory of her brothers, Marion Wilson Newman and Gus Elmer Newman. Books and magazine have been donated by Mrs. E. Z. Tower and Miss Irene Sharpe and by George Littman.

the new members. He expressed the opinion he thought they were wise in choosing Farm Bureau—"the largest, strongest and most respected farm organization in the world."

Mrs. Orval Glotfelty declared that one of the greatest objectives of Farm Bureau was to "keep farmers free of hand-outs from any group." "We need to remain free, independent and strong," she said. Mrs. Glotfelty introduced Miss Betty Bittinger, Garrett county farm queen of 1956. She also presented a gift to Mrs. Guy Stanton in appreciation of her "many years of service as secretary of the Associated Women."

Appreciation and gratitude were expressed to Mr. and Mrs. Merle A. Garletts for their services as secretary of the county's discussion groups.

John H. Carter, county agricultural agent, explained the objectives of the rural development committee in the county which has for its purpose the finding of practical ways of raising the level of income in the county. Garrett county is one of 54 counties in the United States which has a rural development program.

William A. Cooksey, president of the Maryland Farm Bureau, urged strong support for the rural development program and declared, "If farmers can hold on for a few more years, if they will economize and work hard, there is a better and far more prosperous future."

Mrs. August F. Neil, Friendsville, gave a humorous monologue.

The dinners, prior to the business session were served at three churches, the Methodist, Lutheran and Evangelical and Reformed, after which all gathered at the Grantsville school auditorium for the business session.

Members attending the business session were given a questionnaire to help guide the directors and delegates of the organization. All were answered favorably with percentages ranging from 78 to 100.

Concerning the farm bureau working more actively with other farm organizations, schools, churches, service clubs and agricultural agencies in promoting the welfare of the county, 94.8 percent; those favoring the season on raccoon being extended from September 1 to March 1, and an open season the year around for trapping these animals where they have proven destructive to crops or poultry, 92.4 percent; those favoring continuation of the study of the water resources by the special commission set up by Governor McKeldin, 96.5 percent.

Under a question of how the members felt on commending the National Farm Bureau for its efforts and accomplishments in regard to eight projects, the following favorable percentages were received: Soil bank plan, 80; flexible price supports, 87.8; increased foreign trade, 95; increased agricultural research, 97.7; nationally permanent year around standard time, 94.7; brucellosis control program, 100; less government interference in roads, 78; national debt reduction being given priority over tax reduction, 91.5.

These six dams would have a drainage area of 8,708 acres and upon completion would be calculated to prevent any further flood damage to Oakland to around 70 percent over a 100-year* period. In Oakland's last flood the total damage was estimated at around $70,000.

The supplemental work plan indicated that the original work plan had met the requirements of the Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention act and that the Soil Conservation Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture was now authorized to provide assistance to the sponsoring local organizations in the installation of works of improvement.

The sponsors are to acquire without cost to the Federal government such land, easements or rights of way as will be needed in connection with the work of improvement.

The sponsors are to provide assurance that landowners or water users have acquired the water rights pursuant to state law as may be needed in installation of operation of the works of improvement.

The sponsors are to pay all costs allocated for purposes other than flood prevention and agricultural phases of conservation.

The Soil Conservation service is to pay all engineering costs applicable for flood prevention, irrigation, drainage and other management, at an estimate cost of $64,555.

The sponsors are to administer contracts for structural measures, establish land treatment measures, while the soil conservation service is to provide technical assistance and installation service.

The estimated cost of the entire construction, which now will be borne by the Federal government, is $249,032 for construction of the retarding structures, and $17,724 for the stream channel improvement.

Schools To End National Fund Raising Drives

Exceptions Noted for Polio and Red Cross, School Board Rules

A discontinuance of the practice of raising funds for community, state and national campaigns through the schools, with the exception of two, was ordered by the Board of Education at a regular meeting on Tuesday.

The two exceptions were the annual polio campaign and the junior Red Cross program.

The board said the ruling was being made because of the circumstances involving pressure on children, much teacher time, and cited much complaint from parents. The ruling did not prevent schools cooperating in any appropriate way to what the board termed "worthwhile drives."

No Funds for Playgrounds

The board also informed a parent group from the Oakland Elementary school that it was not in a position to purchase playground equipment for any school at this time.

The group appeared before the board to discuss in detail provisions made for purchase of textbooks, library books, instructional materials, supplies and playground equipment. Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said all elementary schools were made a per pupil allotment of $4 for such needs and that much more than this amount had been spent on the elementary schools during the past two years to help bring them up to an acceptable standard. He also pointed out that a considerable portion of the Oakland Elementary school allotment had not been used but that the board was not in position to buy playground equipment.

Mr. Hawkins said the board felt it had needs for capital outlay funds far greater than playground equipment, as desirable as the latter might be, and that the board was making every effort to use available funds where need was greatest, such as improving classroom facilities, new furniture, better instructional equipment, etc.

Among other action the school board also:

Approved sale of George Rathbun's school bus to Joseph Welch;

Accepted resignation of Mrs. Mary P. Stowell, Northern High school instructor, as of December 1, and named Miss Phyllis Welch, a January graduate of West Virginia University, in her place;

Approved social security for school custodians, pending suitable arrangements for payment of employer's share of the cost;

Tabled a matter in regard to boiler insurance for county schools;

Made a ruling that no school could dismiss at an hour earlier than 3:15 p. m., but not to apply to cases of necessity or special circumstances;

Ruled that setting up bus shelters blown over by wind or upset from other causes was not one that would be cared for in future by maintenance staff of the school board. Mr. Hawkins said the board felt that shelters must be set up by people whose children use them and that sending two men and a truck across the county for this purpose, unless due to unusual circumstances, was an "unjustifiable use of school money."

Approved the superintendent's plan to use the front portion of the Annex building for school board offices after it ceases to be used for school purposes.

Superintendent Hawkins reported excellent progress was being made on the two new elementary school buildings now under construction.

Mr. Hawkins and the three instructional supervisors plan to attend a two-day curriculum meeting next Monday and Tuesday at Allentown, Pa. The annual meeting of county school board members also is set for December 10 in Baltimore.

The board promised to study a request from Bloomington P.-T. A. for the construction of cafeteria facilities for its school. A letter from Mrs. Kenneth Savage, Friendsville P.-T. A. secretary, expressed thanks for the improvements to the Friendsville building during the summer.

School board members were invited to attend the teacher banquet this evening, Health and Safety committee meeting Monday, November 26; Citizens for Better Schools committee meeting November 29; to go to Hagerstown to observe the TV program in the schools on November 28.

Is Hospital Patient

Mrs. Ida Bell Thomas, of Friendsville, is a patient in Garrett County Memorial hospital following an automobile wreck at McHenry on Monday. Mrs. Thomas is under observation.

She was a passenger in the car driven by Mrs. Robert Thomas, also of Friendsville, which struck a truck driven by George Chupak.

Trooper Robert Henline, of the Maryland State Police, who investigated, charged both of the parties with failing to drive on the right side of the road. No one else was injured.

New Here! New There! New Everywhere!
Newest Buick Yet
WE'VE introduced a lot of new Buicks to the local scene—but never before one as new as this.
Inside and outside, top to toe, end to end—this is the newest Buick yet.
And it's not just new for newness itself—but new in ways that make driving more comfortable, safer and more fun.
You'll see what we mean when you study these gorgeous new Buicks close up.
They're inches lower and stunningly styled from stem to stern—yet each is wondrously roomy inside.
They bring a wide-eyed new visibility of the road ahead with a rakish windshield that adds hundreds more square inches of glass area.
They're new in ride, with a new contour frame chassis that "nests" your going—giving new roadability with a lower center of gravity—yet road clearance is unchanged.
They're new in handling with a new Buick-developed ball-joint suspension that makes steering and cornering easier while it levelizes braking.
But above and beyond all else—these 1957 Buicks are brand new in performance:
—with a V8 engine that's new from the crankshaft up, to give you the highest power and compression in all Buick annals.
—with an advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflow* that brings you such instant response, such smoothness, such a full range of fluid motion in "Drive" that the need for "Low" is all but eliminated.
All this covers only the big advances in the 1957 Buick.
There are other wonderful new things—the new safety instrument panel—the new color-mate interiors—the new counterbalanced brake pedals—well over a hundred and fifty new features in all.
As your Buick dealer, we're ready to show you these newest Buicks yet—and how easy you'll find it to call one your own. Stop in and see us this week.
*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Athletic Director Named At Northern

Lilburn L. Brown, physical education teacher, head of the Physical Education department, and basketball coach for the past four years at Northern High school, has been appointed athletic director for the school year by P. J. Muha, principal. His appointment became effective November 1.

Mr. Brown will coordinate the total athletic program and recommend coaches for three sports: football, basketball and baseball, which are now offered to all boys in grades 9-12.

The task lying ahead is not new to Mr. Brown, said Mr. Muha. He has carried out many of the responsibilities during the past four years.

Mr. Brown served as Northern's first basketball coach in 1952 when the school opened its doors for the first time. His first team consisted of players from the three high schools—Friendsville, Accident and Grantsville.

This first team compiled a record of 15 wins and six losses—a record not equaled since that time.

The newly appointed athletic director was born in Glenville, W. Va., and attended the Glenville elementary and high schools. He was a varsity football and basketball player for four years. During his senior year, he made the Central West Virginia Conference football team.

Upon graduation from high school, Mr. Brown worked at several jobs. In 1944, he entered the Army and served with the 32nd Infantry Division in the Philippines and Japan.

After his hitch in the Army, he returned to Glenville and enrolled in Morris Harvey college, where he was active in athletic events. He received his B.S. degree in Health and Physical Education upon graduation, in three years.

Mr. Brown has been working on his Master's degree at West Virginia University, and plans to complete all requirements by next fall.

His hobbies and interests include sporting events, hunting and fishing.

He is married to the former Wilodene Barker, also of Glenville.

Mrs. Brown is, at present, a teacher in the Accident Elementary school.

Urges Early Mailing

Poastmaster Donald M. Browning this week urged the citizens of Oakland to mail early this Christmas season to facilitate the processing of the largest Christmas mailing in history.

To put off mailing Christmas cards and parcels until the last moment results in an extra burden being placed on the postal employees and on the postal facilities of the local office, Mr. Browning pointed out.

Every facility of the office will be pressed into maximum service so that again this year, as in the past, the place will be cleared, if possible, of all Christmas mail by Christmas.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

People Are Talking About . . .

The beautiful autumn. And almost with gloating they discuss the number of vegetables the garden is still giving. "My garden's better now than it was in the summer," said a neighbor. Then we counted the vegetables on our fingers—beets, carrots, kale, broccoli, brushels, cabbage, celery, lettuce, parsley and of all things! spring onions from the earlier ones missed in the digging. (We (Garrett) just never get over being unusual!)

The approach to the lake bridge on 219. Some say it's banked wrongly. Others that it's slippery; others that there'll be more accidents. It is now fenced and well marked.

The spot I've always approached with fear is the north side of the Glendale bridge.

The Red Run section of the lake. Many folks are travelling that road for the first time just out of curiosity and are surprised at the number of cottages in that section.

A Warm Spot

I have always had a warm spot in my heart for the people of Kitzmiller. I don't quite know what it is down there that gives them a distinct personality unless it's spirit.

I noticed it years ago on their playground. It showed up in their 4-H girls and again this week at the county P.-T.A. council meeting in the youngsters who sang, in the hostesses who served.

It always seems that their teachers are heart and soul with the people, but I imagine if the teachers were to be asked about it they would say, "we only have to give what the people give to us." Which is probably spirit.

Education Week

This has really been a week for parents in Garrett county as far as education is concerned. We've had Education week for years but this is the most "pepped up" I've been conscious of.

For me, the day from 9 to 3:30 was well spent. I learned much and also found out there's a lot more I need to learn on a junior high level.

For instance I would have made zero in the 9th grade science test. I was so ashamed of my ignorance of the planets, moon and stars that we took the supper hour for learning with our child as teacher.

Honestly, every parent should go to school for a day. We can't possibly know the climate of a classroom without being in it.

One of the things that surprised me most was the unconcern of the students when a visitor entered the room. It caused no more of a ripple than if a student council member had been bringing an announcement to the teacher.

There was absolutely nothing staged for visitors, which is what we parents want.

Text books and teaching seem to be with the times. For instance in an 8th grade arithmetic class the students were dealing with problems of "wise" spending and "foolish" spending. Along with learning to do figures they were being exposed to the philosophy of spending. The text book talked about take home pay, social security, etc.

In another class a teacher was giving out spelling words, making up her own definitions which were of the students' world. Occasionally a student, in spontaneous repartee, would make another sentence using the same word, giving a feeling of alertness and fun in learning. It reminded me of leaders' meeting under the apple tree at camp where there's more work done in an hour with the most bounce of any place I've ever seen.

A teacher said, "I wish you had been in my core class this morning. They were really wonderful." When I suggested I might come again, she replied, "One never knows the day when they'll all be on their toes."

I thought how much like home and life. There are days for clicking and days for not clicking.

To me the day at school was like life itself, each classroom as different as the pupils and teachers. Some of the rooms were quiet and studious, some restless and some noisy, but it was good noise. It was the noise of busy-ness like in the art class or home-ec or journalism.

It was the journalism class that surprised me the most. Why, it seemed like the real thing, noise of typewriters, scurrying and all, yet none of them had been on a newspaper or magazine staff. But there it was, and for an instant I was homesick for the "old days."

Eisenhower politely but firmly turned down a bid from Switzerland for a new summit conference between Western Powers and Russia.

ASC Elections Set For December 7th

The annual election of community committees of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee will be conducted in Garrett county on Friday, December 7, it was announced by H. Robert DeWitt, chairman of the ASC.

Three community committeemen and two alternates will be elected in each of the sixteen communities into which the county is divided. Ten or more candidates will be nominated for each community by an election board consisting of three farmers living in the community. These nominations are to be in the hands of the county ASC committee by November 20.

In the voting the person receiving the highest number of votes will be elected chairman, the second highest will be vice-chairman.

Mr. DeWitt said the election would be carried out largely by mail with ballots being mailed to the farmers sometime after November 20. Any farmer who does not receive a ballot by mail may secure one at the county ASC office in Oakland sometime after November 20.

The ASC office in Oakland is located on the second floor of the Oakland Hardware and Furniture company building, Third street.

Following the election a meeting will be held to elect a county committee for 1957. The chairman of each community committee will represent his community as a delegate at this meeting.

Community committeemen will assist the county committee in carrying out the agricultural conservation program, acreage allotment and marketing quota programs, the wool program, other price support programs and any others assigned to it by the Secretary of Agriculture or the Congress, it was stated.

The Senate lineup remains the same with GOP winning in Kentucky. It will be 49 Democrats and 47 Republicans.

Answer To Teacher Shortage Outlined By P.-T.A. Council

The answer to the teacher shortage by higher salaries, better working conditions for teachers, improved teacher colleges and guaranteed retirement benefits were outlined last week at the regular meeting of the Garrett County Council of Parents and Teachers last Thursday evening at Kitzmiller. About seventy-five persons from all sections of the county attended.

A new booklet explaining the answer in detail has just been released and a complete resume of it was given by a representative of the Maryland State Teachers' association. According to the booklet 3,800 new teachers are needed annually in Maryland while all the colleges in the state will graduate only 1,120 qualified teachers this year.

Last year nearly half the new teachers employed in Maryland were drawn from out of state but this source was said to be drying up because of recent increases in salaries of teachers in nearby states. Since 1948 Maryland has slipped from fourth to thirteenth place among the states in average teacher salaries.

A high rate of teacher turnover was cited as another problem facing Maryland Public Schools. Information from the records of the State Department of Education presented in the booklet indicates that 16.2 percent of all Maryland teachers left their positions last year. The rate of teacher turnover in Garrett county as listed in the booklet was only 12.1 percent, less than the average.

The booklet supports the recent proposal of the State Board of Education for an $800 increase in the state minimum salary scale for teachers as a step toward eliminating the teacher shortage.

Wed at Mt. Lake Park

Miss Sara Friend, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Friend, of Mt. Lake Park, became the bride of Marvin L. Thurston, son of Wesley F. Thurston and the late Mrs. Thurston, of Faber, Va., on Tuesday, October 27, at 8 p. m.

Rev. Randall Prince performed the candlelight ceremony at the Bethel Methodist church, Mt. Lake Park.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attired in a white ballerina length gown of lace and nylon tulle. Her veil of illusion was held by a tiara of lace outlined in pearls and crystal sequins. She carried a white Bible ornamented with a white orchid and satin streamers ending in a shower of sweetheart roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Carol Wilt, niece of the bride, wore a ballerina length gown of blue nylon net over taffeta with matching head band and carried a colonial bouquet of pink rose buds and carnations.

The bridesmaids, Miss Ann Friend, of Towson, niece of the bride, and Mrs. Elizabeth Bittinger, Westernport, wore identical gowns of crab apple fashioned like that of the maid of honor. They, too, wore matching head bands and carried colonial bouquets of yellow rose buds and carnations.

The flower girls, Misses Donna and Rita Shafer, nieces of the bride, wore pink nylon frocks and carried baskets of yellow button chrysanthemums and carnations.

Kenneth Liller, brother-in-law of the bride, served as best man and the ushers were William and Boyd Friend, brothers of the bride.

Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Elaine Koch, Oakland.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Friend wore a navy blue dress with matching accessories and a corsage of red rose buds.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. The bride's table was centered with a two-tiered wedding cake ornamented with a miniature bride and bridegroom under an arbor of lace and wedding rings.

Serving the cake and ice cream were Mrs. Robert Wilt and Mrs. Boyd Friend.

Following the reception the newlyweds left for Dunn Loring, Va., where they now reside.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Wesley F. Thurston, Faber, Va.; Mrs. W. D. Burton, Nancy Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Otho Burton and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Liller and family, Fairfax, Va.; James Thurston, of Falls Church, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Kauten and family, Lanham, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. William Friend and family, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Custer, Towson; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bittinger, Westernport; Mr. and Mrs. S. Fall Survey Shows Fewer Corn Borers

Fewer European corn borers have been found this fall in Maryland than were found in 1955 according to Wallace C. Harding, Jr., entomologist for the University of Maryland Extension Service.

A recent annual survey conducted by Harding showed the state average this fall to be 78 borers for each 100 stalks of corn. Last fall a similar survey showed 140 borers per 100 stalks. Borer populations were down in all but Carroll and Worcester counties this year.

Harding said the survey is made each year to determine the number of borers expected to overwinter in corn stalks throughout in the state. The results give entomologist and farmers an idea of what to expect the following growing season. The survey also helps to estimate losses of grain corn for the current season.

Ten fields are selected at random in each county for the survey, and 25 stalks in each field are examined for borers. From this information the entomologists determine the number of borers per 100 stalks. An infestation is considered heavy when a county averages one or more borers per stalk.

In the ten years the survey has been taken, 1947 proved to be the worst year. The state average then was 215 borers per 100 stalks. The lowest year was 1950 when the state average was 24. For the ten year period the state average has been slightly over 85.

One of the most important steps in controlling the European corn borer is the complete destruction of overwintering corn stalks. These stalks should be plowed under by April 15 in Southern Maryland and on the lower Eastern Shore, and by May 1 in the rest of the state.

Extension Bulletin No. 135, "European Corn Borer in Maryland," gives methods of controlling the borer. This 32-page publication also covers the history of the borer in Maryland, its economic importance to the state and other information. Copies are available free of charge from county agents' offices.

AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY
Dept. U, 450 Park Avenue
New York 22, N. Y.

It happens in offices, in factories, in barracks . . . on ships and trains and airplanes . . . in the quiet of churches, in the thunder of battle; we pause in the turmoil of time to read the Word of Eternity.

And the pages we read bring us close to those at home, or to those away from home.

For the Bible brings us to God, in Whom there are no distances, with Whom love encompasses all.

One of the great Christian enterprises of our time is the American Bible Society. Through the support of Christian churches and individuals it seeks to bring these divine pages before the eyes of men, women and children the world over.

Like the churches of our community it calls men to the Truth on which unity and freedom are founded.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Christian Persons

Lesson for November 18, 1956

WHICH is more important, what a person is or what he does? According to Jesus, what a person is, is the main thing. These two cannot be separated. On the one hand a person does what he does because he is the kind of person he is; on the other hand a person cannot be the kind of character Jesus describes, without doing. The ideal character, as Jesus draws it, is not to be grown in a hot-house nor in a cellar like mushrooms. An ideal person develops only in a world of persons. But let us see. Every one of what we call the eight "Beatitudes" or "Blessed's" needs very careful study. All one thin column can do is to call attention in a very general way to three facts about Christian persons as Jesus pictures them here. Perhaps no actual Christian every fully matches the picture, the ideal; but the more a Christian resembles this description, the more these three facts will be true about him.

Dr. Foreman

A Christian Is Happy

Again and again in reading the Bible we come to something that shows what nonsense it is to think of the Christian life, the God-pleasing life, as a sort of prison existence. God's requirements are not like chains, weights, handcuffs, barbed wire, electric fences. They are what makes life truly free and strong. When Jesus describes the ideal—God's ideal—character, in these Beatitudes, he begins every sentence with the word which though often translated "blessed" was the regular ordinary word for "happy." Some people get the whole business of what it means to be a Christian, sadly twisted. They think: What a Christian has to do and be is not pleasant; but he grits his teeth and goes through with his hard task bravely, knowing that God will one day reward him for his life of martyrdom. Not at all. According to Jesus, the ideal character is the one that finds real joy in becoming more and more like our Father in heaven. Your real athlete is the man who enjoys sports, not the man who goes out for athletics only so as to earn a "letter." Your real artist is the person who loves to paint or write, not the man who writes or paints only because he has to, to make money. Your real cook is the man or woman who enjoys cooking, not the one who feels like a martyr over a kitchen range. So your real Christian is the one who is happy being one.

Christian Life Flows Outward

A second fact about the Christian life is that it is not self-centered but flows outward. It is not like a swamp into which streams flow without ever finding an outlet; it is more like a mountain lake, fed by fresh springs and kept fresh because its water flow on in a sparkling river. A person cannot be truly good if he lives to himself and for himself. Consider how many of the Beatitudes could be true of a hermit living on an island apart from other people. Very few, if any. A selfish Christian is a contradiction in terms. "Love thy neighbor as thyself" is a commandment older than Christianity; but Christ himself approved it. "What do I get?" is not the Christian's first question, but "How may I help?" This does not mean that a good Christian is a kind of meddlesome Mattie, running around sticking his finger into other people's affairs. It does mean that in the countless human contacts which he has everyday, as well as in his whole life-plan, he will not think of the world of men as merely an orange which is his to squeeze.

Out of Line?

Now a man from Mars might think that Christians would be the most popular people in the world. Everybody would love them and want them around. As a matter of fact, we have to remember that Jesus himself was bitterly hated and finally crucified. In the Beatitudes themselves there is the prediction that "all manner of evil" things will be said of Christ's followers. The simple, ugly reason for this is that this is a world still mostly out of line with God, which in other words means out of line with Love. The true Christian will always seem somewhat out of line with this world. If all men speak well of you, there must be something wrong with you.

Red Is Dangerous Color for Hunters

Traditional hunting red is one of the most dangerous colors in apparel for hunters to wear because it is not quickly distinguished by either color-blind hunters or those with normal vision, according to a warning issued by the Western Maryland Optometric Association.

"Optometrists, in cooperation with the National Rifle Association, recently conducted extensive tests of a wide variety of colors and patterns worn by hunters in California under natural conditions," Dr. H. C. Ashby, of Oakland, vice-president of the Association, stated.

These tests revealed that yellow is by far the safest color. Orange is second best. Green and various plaids can also be detected and identified more quickly than reds and blues.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission

Lest We Forget

The sheer size of the Eisenhower victory leaves no room for alibis, excuses, explanations or extenuation. There is no place for accusations of corruption, fraud or mistakes in campaign tactics. No allegation as to the use of money, the failure of the people to vote, or the wickedness of the weather could be made. Literally there was nothing to do save accept the result with ostensibly good temper and wan smiles.

That is what Mr. Stevenson and his running mate, Senator Kefauver, did—or, at least tried to do. They assumed an attitude of "good sportsmanship," and when they finally reached the point of "conceding" each of them made a speech reeking with nobility and self-righteousness. No one particularly wants to rub the noses of these two crushingly beaten men in the dirt. Nevertheless, in view of the unctuous insistence upon the "good" fight which they made and the sanctity of their "cause" it seems proper to call attention to a few of the words in which they climaxed their campaign.

For example, there was Mr. Stevenson's dramatically staged declaration in his final campaign utterance in Boston to the effect that he was firmly convinced, if elected, the President would die before the end of his term. This, he said, meant we would have Richard M. Nixon in the White House, and from that idea he "recoiled." This was quite the most blunt and shocking reference to the President's health during the whole campaign. Had it come from his friend, Chairman Paul Butler, or from Mr. Kefauver, or from one of the coarser labor bosses close to him, it would have been generally regarded as in typically bad taste and extremely low-level politics though not surprising. But, coming from Mr. Stevenson himself, it genuinely disgusted a good many persons. For Mr. Stevenson is supposed to be a man of background and breeding—in brief, a gentleman. This remark was well calculated to nullify that idea. It seemed the sort of thing only a desperate candidate willing to do anything to gain votes would do. Certainly, it did Mr. Stevenson no good—quite the contrary.

One would think this something he would regret about the "good" fight he made—that and the unfounded charge that the Eisenhower Administration had appeased the late dictator of the Argentine, Peron, with a $100,000,000 loan, arranged through his brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, now head of the Johns Hopkins university. When the facts came out that this loan was made during the Truman Administration, that Dr. Eisenhower had not the remotest connection with it and that there had been no appeasement of Peron under the Eisenhower Administration — when these facts were brought out, did the good Adlai retract, correct or apologize? He did not. He just let the false charge lay and went on to tell the people how "feeble and uninformed" Mr. Eisenhower was.

However, inexcusable as these Stevenson remarks may be, they do not appear any more offensive than one of the charges of Mr. Stevenson's running mate, Senator Kefauver. Just before the campaign ended, Mr. Kefauver, in an attack on the Eisenhower foreign policy, asserted that Mr. Herbert Hoover, Jr., now Under Secretary of State, was "knee deep in Arabian oil" and therefore unfit to conduct the affairs of the State Department. Of this charge Mr. Herbert Hoover, Sr., the former President, when asked to comment, said, "It is an absolute lie."

Mr. Hover, Sr., perhaps, has been more lied about than any living public man in the United States. It cannot be recalled that in reply to any false statement he ever called the originator a liar. But, that is exactly what he did with Senator Kefauver, and the facts seem to justify him. The main fact is that Mr. Herbert Hoover, Jr., at considerable personal financial damage, had divested himself wholly of all his business interests here and abroad before he accepted the highly important post he very competently fills. In face of these facts and after being called an absolute liar by Mr. Hoover, Sr., has Senator Kefauver either produced facts to substantiate his assertion or has he corrected, retracted or apologized? He has not. He has not even resented being branded an "absolute liar" by as eminent, respected and responsible man as Mr. Herbert Hoover, Sr. His failure to react as any ordinary man would under such circumstances furnishes a yardstick with which to measure Mr. Kefauver as a politican and a man. Perhaps it isn't pleasant to recite these incidents. However, in view of the absurdly inaccurate portraits of these two rejected candidates which are being painted by their political and journalistic aides and advisers, it seems almost necessary in order to preserve a sense of proportion and avoid the role of a gullible boob.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our dear Dad, Frank X. DeWitt, who passed away November 18, 1955.

This day brings sad memories
Of a loved one gone to rest,
And those who think of him today
Are those who loved him best.

We think we see his smiling face,
Although one year has passed.
Still in our memory fresh is he,
And will be to the last.

He is gone but not forgotten,
Neither will his memory fade,
But our thoughts will ever linger
Round the Dad that has passed on.

Greatly missed by his son and daughters.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

In A Special Way

This week, in a special way, we look at and evaluate our public schools. This is in keeping with American Education Week, now being observed all over the land.

All of us are, or should be, vitally interested in our schools. As parents, we should show that interest in constructive and helpful ways. How much easier and better the work of our teachers can be when we co-operate with them, try to understand their problems and then working with them, try to solve them.

Our public schools represent one of the greatest combined efforts of all people in behalf of their children. They constitute one of our greatest national assets. Within their walls, our boys and girls are growing up to learn the great lessons of the past, to evaluate and look at events of the present, and to prepare themselves for the future. Somehow, I think the role of parents and teachers are so similar that there should be a feeling of mutual warmth, concern and understanding between them. Their goals are identical—to see that the boys and girls intrusted into their care grow into mature, responsible and creative adults, to bring to the society in which they live their best in terms of service and helpfulness to God and their fellow-man.

Our schools represent a vast expenditure of money, talent and other resources. You might ask yourself, how am I protecting that investment?

In the current issue of the Maryland Parent-Teacher magazine, there appears some questions that will make you give added thought to that query.

Here are the questions: You are to score 1 or 0 in the blank spaces, depending on whether or not your answer is "Yes" or "No." A total score of 10 means that you hold preferred stock in your children's future, and that you are protecting this great investment.

( ) I am acquainted with my children's teacher.

( ) I have visited our school this year.

( ) I know the major improvements made recently at our school.

( ) I know the most serious problems our school is facing.

( ) I know the condition of the building and equipment.

( ) I know how the school board functions.

( ) I belong to at least one community organization (besides P.-T.A.) that works for better schools.

( ) Total score.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

As we continue our series on prayer in general, and the Lord's Prayer in particular, this week I will consider the second petition of the Lord's Prayer, "Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth, as it is in heaven. . ."

As I have indicated before, the hardest thing about prayer is to actually believe in what you are praying. Throughout the churches of the world, this prayer is spoken more than any other, i. e. the Lord's Prayer. But from my vantage position, where I can observe better than the average person just how faithful people are to the cause of Christ's Kingdom here on earth, I sometimes wonder at the sincerity of the people who use this particular part of the Lord's Prayer, for though the Kingdom of God came in the Person of Christ without our asking for it, we have been given the challenge of Christ to carry that Kingdom along in this life. Too many people say the words of this prayer and then go about their business as if the Kingdom of God never existed, and certainly has no chance of ever coming to this world. There is no question about the will of God being done in Heaven, there is no question about the existence of His Kingdom there, but there is not enough done by the people who say they believe that His Kingdom can come, that His will can be done on earth, to accomplish this fact.

Perhaps people do not completely understand what they are saying when they pray the words of this part of the Lord's Prayer. I have heard many groups of people speak these words in unison at some meeting, public or church meeting, as if they were a bunch of parrots repeating some memorized little series of verses. On the contrary, when a person prays these words, he must be ready first of all to allow the Kingdom of God to come into his life, the will of God to be done in his life. When the person prays these words with no thought of what he is saying, he is performing the worst sort of hyprocrisy. The words themselves have no meaning apart from the willingness of the person who is praying them to do something positive to accomplish that for which they are praying. As one illustration of the fact that apparently people are not doing what they say they believe in praying these words, I indicate that right in my own congregation there are many regular church attenders who admit that they do not have any regular program of Bible reading and study. I have asked many of them how they expect to have the will of God done in their lives without knowing what that will is—and the clearest place in which we can find the Will of God for our lives is in His Word, in a consistent study of what He has to say in various situations. I am convinced that where people will take the trouble and the time to study God's Word, His Will will be done in their lives.

And then when we consider the second portion of this petition, the matter of hoping that the Kingdom of God will come on this earth, we pray that we want this to be accomplished, but then do not provide the men and the means to accomplish this fact. It takes upwards of $10,000 to establish a missionary, pay his transportation, his salary, his materials and supplies, Bibles, and other books and materials that he needs, in the pagan atmosphere of native Africa. Yet there is a tremendous shortage of men and money to accomplish anything. I often wonder how different the world would have been, if we had been willing to invest the time, money and effort to spread Christianity through China and Japan, that we did in fighting Japan in World War II, and Red China in the Korean War, in the fifty years that preceded these conflicts. The plain and simple fact is that God has given us free will to use His gifts the way we want to use them, and rather than using them to spread His Kingdom, as we pray in the Lord's Prayer, we are willing only to use them to further our own purposes, our own wealth, our own power and comfort. Whenever a man prays that God's Kingdom come on earth as it is in heaven, then is not interested in the establishment of missions throughout all the world, from his own back yard to the furthest corner of the earth, then his prayer is an hypocrisy.

Prayer, after all, is not just a one way street to making a man feel better himself; it is a vital channel through which God reveals His will for the World. So when you pray this petition, pray it with meaning, then use your life to accomplish that for which you pray.

I thank the people of the Sixth District of Maryland for their confidence in me and promise to do everything possible to justify that confidence.
Your Congressman
DeWitt S. Hyde

"950,000 Maryland citizens . . . 40 member hospitals
. . . and ME . . . that's who belongs to BLUE CROSS!"

Remember, sickness and accidents give no warning.
Plan now to join hospital-sponsored BLUE CROSS.

There must be a reason why so many thousands of Maryland citizens already have Blue Cross. In 1955, for example, Blue Cross added 62,000 subscribers—over 170 people every day. One fact that made up their minds was this:

"Blue Cross, the non-profit plan to pre-pay hospital expenses, offers broad, realistic protection at such a small monthly rate."

It's true: Blue Cross protection is difficult to match. Not only does it protect you, as a subscriber, from the worry of unexpected hospital bills, but it protects your family as well, on a family membership, and keeps you protected after age 65, even though you move, change jobs, or retire.

Key to Blue Cross: "Service Benefits"

The heart of Blue Cross is hospital care. Blue Cross's way of providing for the hospital care you may need is "service benefits." These are, to put it simply, agreements between Blue Cross and the member hospital to provide the hospital care you need. All of the hospital's regular services are included in this agreement.

The emphasis, you see, is on care—not cash. Blue Cross does not give you dollars to help pay your hospital bills. Instead Blue Cross, through its "service benefits" pays the hospital directly for the services covered in your membership. You don't have to file a claim, or wait for reimbursement. Dollar payments are often not enough to cover hospital bills. Blue Cross records show that Blue Cross "service benefits" do often cover a subscriber's hospital expenses in full.

Find out now about Blue Cross

If there is a Blue Cross group where you work ask your employer how you may join it. If there is no Blue Cross group where you work, and there are five or more people employed there, ask your employer about getting Blue Cross protection for you. You may get information about Blue Cross by calling the Blue Cross office listed in your telephone directory, or by writing for a free booklet to: BLUE CROSS, Dept. 1030, 200 West Baltimore St., Baltimore 1, Maryland.

Scott Henckel, Rfd. Addison, Pennsylvania, Plaintiff
Vs.
Elsie Henckel, Farmington, Pennsylvania, Defendant.

No. 4686 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree for divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the plaintiff for the defendant.

The bill states:

That on the 6th day of October, 1945, he was married to the defendant, Elsie Henckel, at Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, by a duly ordained minister; that he resided with the said defendant until on or about the 31st day of May, 1951, at which time the said Elsie Henckel deserted your orator while they were residing in Fayette County, Pennsylvania; that although the conduct of your orator towards his said wife has always been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said Elsie Henckel without just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted him, and has declared her intention to live with him no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for more than eighteen months, is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties are beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that no children were born of said marriage; that your orator is a resident of Garrett County, Maryland, and has resided in the State of Maryland more than two years prior to the filing of this bill of complaint, but the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and her last known address was Farmington, Pennsylvania.

It is thereupon this 19th day of October, 1956, ordered by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, that the plaintiff, by having a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 23rd day of November, 1956, give notice to the non-resident defendant warning her to be and appear in this Court, either in person or by solicitor, on or before the 8th day of December, 1956, to show cause, if any she has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Frostburg Man Killed In Crash

A Frostburg salesman, 35, was killed last Thursday evening, November 8, when his car smashed head-on into a truck on U.S. route 40, about 5½ miles west of Frostburg, in this county. Two occupants of the truck were injured.

Dead is William Joseph LaManna. Injured were Norvel Lee McKenzie, 38, driver of the truck, and Charles S. Garlitz, 42, both of near Frostburg. McKenzie was admitted to Miners hospital in Frostburg with a compound fracture of the right leg and a fractured left hand, lacerations of the face and forehead. Garlitz was treated for abrasions and lacerations of the face and was released.

LaManna, driving east alone toward Frostburg, died from hemorrhage due to a crushed chest and puncture of the chest wall, according to the deputy medical examiner of Allegany county. Apparently the steering column of the car was driven through the victim's body by the impact.

State Police Trooper Blair Buckel investigated. He said the truck driven by McKenzie attempted a left turn into Frog Hollow road. Vision at this point was partially blocked by an embankment. LaManna, driving toward the truck from the west, apparently came over a small knoll in the roadway and smashed into the truck as it was turning. The trooper said the mishap appeared to be due to failure to give the right of way by the truck driver.

LaManna was married and the father of one son.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday.

Believed Record Vote

It is believed that Election District number twelve, Bittinger, may have set the record for getting out the Republican vote in the recent election. There were 134 Republicans eligible to vote, and 125 came to cast their votes. Only nine did not come, and four of them had reasons beyond their control that prevented them from doing so. One was out of the state, one was in a hospital, one was too aged and ill, and another had to go to the doctor on that particular day.

Total voting percentage was 93 percent in that district.

Thanksgiving Prayer

(An original composition of Gloria McCullough, student of Northern High School, selected by Miss Kathryn Speicher, English instructor at the school.)

I'd like to stop and thank Thee, God,
For all that Thou hast done:
For sending me Thy spirit, and Thy wondrous, loving Son.

Who gave His life on Calvary
That I in turn might live,
And offer now myself to Thee,
'Tis all that I can give.

I thank Thee for the winter snow,
The spring and summer rain.
I thank Thee for the ocean deep,
The hills, the fields, the grain.

I'd like to stop and thank Thee now
For all the tender love,
The mercy and unbounded grace

In closing now, I'd like to ask
If Thou would walk with me,
And guide my path, that I might stay
Forever close to Thee. Amen

Mussard in Wreck Near Buckhannon

Richard Mussard, freshman student at West Virginia Wesleyan college, was one of four freshman students involved in a wreck near Buckhannon on Monday evening in which Jarle Sevaan, 18, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was killed. Mussard was hospitalized.

The 1956 Oldsmobile, owned by Mussard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harve Mussard, was a total wreck.

The four were enroute to Clarksburg, W. Va., where Mussard was receiving treatment from a physician for a skin irritation on his hands. Just who was driving the car has not been determined.

State Police said the car attempted to pass another automobile going in the same direction, met oncoming traffic, left the highway and hit an embankment.

Brucellosis Campaign Nearing Completion

Public Meeting On Legislation Proposed For Control Of The Disease

A public meeting for people interested in the control of Brucellosis (bangs disease) at the Northern High school vocational agriculture room on Tuesday, November 27, at 8 p. m., has been announced by John H. Carter, county agriculture agent.

He said the purpose of the meeting is for dairymen, livestock dealers and owners of auction markets to hear proposed legislation governing the sale of livestock and intra-state shipment of the same in Maryland.

Dr. F. D. Custer and Dr. Donald Glotfelty, of the Livestock Sanitary Service, will lead the discussion.

Since this legislation, if it became law, would affect livestock dealers, auction market dealers and cattle owners as well, Mr. Carter said he thought they should have an opportunity to hear about it before it is presented to the legislature for consideration.

Practically all cattle in this county have been tested for bangs disease, but should any person own a cow that has been missed they should contact Dr. Glotfelty or Dr. Custer, Oakland, or the County Agent's office, in the postoffice building, Oakland. The aim of the program is to test every animal in the county.

Three Injured In Series Of Wrecks

All Occur Saturday Evening On Various Highways

Three persons were injured in a series of automobile accidents on Saturday night, according to information given out by Corp. Sam Conrad, of the Maryland State police, who investigated.

James Glotfelty, of Oakland, sustained an eye injury and cuts and bruises as his car ran off the side of the Crellin-Oakland highway. He told Corporal Conrad that he had been crowded off the road, on a turn by another car and was unable to get back again. Accompanying Glotfelty were Benny Field and Jay Colaw, who were uninjured.

Glotfelty was cut by flying glass, a piece of glass lodging in his right eye. He was sent to a Cumberland physician in an effort to save the sight of his eye. Glotfelty was charged with reckless diving.

Paul Allen Liller was treated at the Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland for abrasions and lacerations received when he skidded one tenth of a mile and turned over on U. S. route 50 near Gormania. Corporal Conrad said the car was traveling at a high rate of speed. A youth with him was unhurt, but both were thrown from the car. Conrad said Liller was charged with reckless driving.

Fined For Drunk Driving

Two drivers also were apprehended Saturday night on charges of driving under the influence of liquor.

Ralph Casteel, Friendsville, was picked up after his car left the highway west of Friendsville, on route 42. He was charged not only with operating an automobile under the influence of liquor, but of operating in a reckless manner and operating without an operator's license.

James Russell Bow, of Indianapolis, Ind., was also arrested near Kitzmiller on Saturday night on two charges. The total eclipse, which would have been visible to residents of this section, started around 11 P. M., and was over at 4:35 A. M.

However the skies were gloomy and overcast and sleet and rain started to fall in the tri-state area about 5 P. M. The skies continued to be black and rain fell intermittently until about 2 o'clock when skies cleared for a time to enable people to get a glance at the phenomena. The sleet froze on trees and highways.

15 Students Slated For U. N. Journey

Fifteen students from Southern High school have been selected to make the annual United Nations trip to New York City which is sponsored by the American Association of University Women.

Accompanying the group will be Albert Ringer and Miss Bernice Idleman, both teachers at the high school. Mrs. George Hanst, a member of the local AAUW will also accompany the group.

The state-tax rate on real and personal property for 1957 will be 14.25 cents per $100 of assessable basis, according to notification received by the Garrett County Board of Commissioners.

The notice is sent each year about this time so that the county commissioners have sufficient time to fit the state tax figures into the county levy in January.

Official Vote For State Is Complete

The official canvass of votes in the November 6 elections showed President Eisenhower carried Maryland by 187,134 votes over Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson.

The canvass was completed Monday with official tabulation of Baltimore City voting which showed Eisenhower 178,244, Stevenson 140,603. The county canvassing completed earlier gave Eisenhower 381,493, Stevenson 232,000.

The final tabulations for Maryland therefore, were: Eisenhower 559,737, Stevenson 372,603.

The city canvass also showed Sen. John Marshall Butler defeated Democrat George P. Mahoney by 52,962. Statewide totals were Butler 473,067, Mahoney 420,105.

Congressman Hyde's official figures were listed last week and showed 100,580 votes for him in the sixth district as against 84,840 for Democrat John R. Foley.

The election was declared official on Tuesday when the Board of State Canvassers met in the Secretary of State's office at 2 p. m. to examine election returns and determine winners in all races.

President Eisenhower won't formally receive Maryland's nine electoral votes until December 17, however. That's the date on which the electoral college meets.

Tried For Murder In Preston County

Benton Alexander is on trial this week in the Preston County court for the murder of Steve Malish and Alexander's wife, Nora Alma.

Alexander is accused of shooting the pair to death when he awoke one evening at the Malish home where they had been staying, to find him in bed with his wife. The murder occurred at Turner Douglas, a small mining community near Crellin, just across the Garrett County line.

Vernon Friend, father-in-law of Alexander, testified Tuesday that Alexander in his presence had made the remark that "when I get one of them I'll get both of them." Friend also told about a quarrel of a year ago which led to a fight resulting in the defendant losing an eye.

Both the State and the defense expected to complete questioning all witnesses by Wednesday so that the case could go to the jury sometime Wednesday.

Seven of eight witnesses called testified that Alexander's wife and Malish were apparently having an affair.

Patricia Alexander Dillsworth, 16, of Mt. Lake Park, daughter of Benton Alexander, said that she had visited at Steve's house in April and that she had seen the three of them sleeping in one bed and that she slept on a cot in the next room.

The murders occurred June 16, following a drinking spree in some Oakland taverns.

o

Survey Cards To Determine Interest In County Fair

Farm residents of the county will receive survey cards in the near future calculated to determine the amount of interest that would be shown should the Garrett County agricultural fair be revived.

The cards are being prepared as the result of a meeting of the Garrett County Agricultural Fair board last Thursday evening in the Oakland fire hall. The survey cards will ask the farmers if they are interested in such a program, whether or not they would cooperate by exhibiting, what types of exhibits would be displayed, and other information designed to show what response could be expected.

Legion Beer Permit Suspended 4 Months

The American Legion post had its beer license suspended for a period of four months, beginning January 1, as a result of violating state liquor laws. The license is in the name of Paul Kemphfer, Jr., one of the Legion officers.

The action was taken by the Garrett County Board of Commissioners sitting as a board of license commissioners last week. The sale of liquor is prohibited in this county and the organization pleaded guilty to permitting the sale of whisky on the premises, at the September Term of Court. They were fined $500 and costs at the time.

H. D. Swartzentruber, president of the Board, in seconding the motion to suspend the license for a four-month period, said he wanted put in the record that in the event another violation occurred during the remainder of his administration the license would be revoked for a period of two years.

At the same meeting the Board granted the issuance of a license to sell beer to James C. Hinebaugh, at the Hinebaugh Restaurant in Oakland. It was also put in the record that "in view of the fact that the beer license in the name of Guy Hinebaugh was illegal to begin with and the pool room is a separate operation and there were no remonstrances against issuing said license." Hinebaugh voluntarily surrendered his beer license to Richard L. Davis, clerk of the Circuit Court, several weeks ago.

Guy Hinebaugh pleaded guilty to the charge of selling whisky in the Hinebaugh poolroom at the September Term of court and was also fined $500 and costs.

The motion to approve the issuance of the license was made by A. C. Brenneman and seconded by Swartzentruber.

Keyser, Moorefield and Petersburg dominated the first team selections, placing four, three and three players respectively on the first eleven. The other place was won by Romney School for the Deaf.

Bill Murphy, tackle and Bill Deckman, back, were considered in the voting but Southern failed to place a boy on either the first or second team.

County Woman Suicide Victim

Mrs. Blanche Matthews Dies Sunday After Firing Bullet Into Brain

A forty-six-year-old Accident woman died in University hospital in Baltimore about 9 o'clock Sunday morning, November 18, from a bullet wound above the right ear. Sheriff Paul W. Fisher said the wound was self-inflicted.

She was identified as Mrs. Blanche Matthews, wife fo J. W. Matthews, Accident Clover Farm dealer.

Sheriff Fisher related that the woman had shot herself at the home of her mother, Mrs. Milton Forsyth, in Friendsville, with a .32 calibre revolver, on Saturday morning, about 10:30 o'clock. Mrs. Forsyth told the sheriff her daughter had gone upstairs after a late breakfast and was there only a few minutes. She did not hear the shot but heard a thud in the room above as her body slumped to the floor.

Mrs. Matthews was known to have been in ill health and had threatened upon several occasions to shoot herself, Fisher said.

The woman was brought to the Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland in an unconscious condition. Later she was sent to Unisity hospital in Baltimore, arriving there about 8 a. m. Sunday. Death occurred about 9 o'clock.

Assisting Sheriff Fisher in the investigation was S. R. Pagenhardt, state's attorney.

Mrs. Matthews had been a school teacher in the county for several years prior to her marriage.

Surviving are her mother, Mrs. Milton Forsyth; her husband, J. L. Matthews; one daughter, Nancy Lee, aged 10; and a brother, M-Sgt. Carroll Forsyth, stationed with the armed forces at Ft. Knox, Ky.

Funeral services were conducted on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Christian church in Friendsville, Rev. Henry Knoell officiating. Interment was in the Blooming Rose cemetery.

Legislators Urge Potomac Clean-up

A Maryland legislative committee has urged the formation of an interstate group of lawmakers to help solve the problem of flood control and pollution in the Potomac River basin.

The group suggested that Maryland officials invite governors of West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Virginia and the District of Columbia commissioners to send legislators to a conference on the subject in Annapolis next January.

A report of the group said an overall conservation and use plan for the basin had been stymied by lack of coordination and congressional appropriations. It mentioned an Army Engineers plan proposed in 1946 to solve needs for flood control and hydroelectric power. Opposed by farming and recreational interests the plan was rejected and a review of it was ordered by the U. S. Senate Committee on Public Works.

It was pointed out, that many plans in the past had been made by different agencies on different levels. The group suggested an integration of all these plans to provide a master plan of development and use of the Potomac.

Everything's New including the View

in each '57 Buick–SPECIAL, CENTURY, SUPER, ROADMASTER

WE DON'T MEAN just new this or new that. We mean new everything.

We mean everything you can't see, as well as everything you can.

And even the "seeing" is new—for the new, wider, rakishly angled panoramic windshield with its 200 more square inches of glass area widens the forward view of all passengers.

Take other examples.

Its styling is new. Never before have you seen a Buick like this one—sleek and stunning, and low as a cat-crouch

Its engine is new. Never has any Buick boasted so big, so powerful, so obedient an engine as the purring V8 engine that gingers every '57 Buick.

Its performance is new—and right here we mean new like nothing else you ever experienced before.

For now, there's a new advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow so instant in action, so smooth and flexible throughout the entire "Drive" range—the need for "Low" is virtually eliminated.*

But there's even more to the newness of every '57 Buick.

There's a completely new chassis that gives the car the lowest center of gravity in Buick history—for a steadier, safer ride. And a new kind of ball-joint suspension for surer handling, safer cornering, and a wonderful new levelized braking.

There's a new safety instrument panel, new dip-center safety steering wheel—even an ingenious new Safety-Minder* that lets you know when you reach the miles-per-hour you've preset for yourself.

Of course, the only way to get the whole, new wonderful story is to take the wheel and let this big new car do its own talking.

And that's something we'll be most happy to arrange first chance you get. Come in today.

New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special. Safety-Minder standard on Roadmaster, optional other Series.*

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

This week we will interrupt our regular series on prayer to make a few comments about the holiday that comes up this week, Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving has joined the parade of other primarily religious holidays in becoming something which it was originally intended to be. Celebrations of thanksgiving have been a part of major cultures of the world for some three or perhaps four thousand years. The ancient Jews commemorated the events of the freedom from Egypt with a type of thanksgiving service, and then as part of their harvest ritual, they celebrated the "Feast of the Booths." In the early period of our country we find that the Pilgrims initiated the idea of Thanksgiving because they experienced an excellent harvest after a previous winter of near starvation. All of these celebrations of Thanksgiving were primarily religious in their character.

Contrast this with the celebration of Thanksgiving today—the time when we eat more than is good for us—sit in a lazy stupor—watch a football game on television—take a nap. Very rare is the family in which God plays a role in the celebration of Thanksgiving except for perhaps a brief mention of His Name during a haltingly spoken, or at best a mumblingly memorized, hastily spoken word of Grace at the beginning of the meal. Even this much is absent from many homes. We often hear about the "good old days" and I am not too sure that they were so good, but I do wish that families would return to the habits of some of the "Old Timers," where the Father, as head of the house, would take down the family Bible every day, and read aloud from it, discussing and explaining it to the children who perhaps did not understand. In this way, the home was a center for Christian growth. Today our high paced living does not seem to give time for this type of thing, and most children hear very little if anything about God in their homes. Thanksgiving would be a good day to start a change in the way of doing things in your home.

Thanksgiving is a time for acknowledgment that "The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof." It is a time to remember that without God's loving help we would not, better still, COULD NOT, be. We have not created ourselves, we cannot sustain ourselves alone, we need God. Thanksgiving is a time to realize that the world belongs to God and that He is a wonderful God, as the psalmist cries: "The Heavens declare the Glory of God, and the firmament showeth His handiwork." Anyone who has taken the trouble to look up at the night skies lately can certainly give evidence that God is pretty wonderful. But most of all I look at Thanksgiving as a time for rededication, as a time when I say again with the Psalmist: "O Lord, open Thou my lips and my mouth shall show forth Thy praise." For if the world does belong to God, and it is wonderful in its proportions, then the best way that I can answer the blessing of God is to rededicate my life to Him.

Words of Thanksgiving have little meaning apart from lives that are lived in consistency with the spoken words. A man can acknowledge the fact that God exists, but this is not all God requires. God does not require sacrifice or a "burnt offering," but a life which is dedicated to Him daily.

So why not celebrate Thanksgiving as a Christian holiday, and not just as a day when everybody is stuffed, not only the bird.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

The Five Grains of Corn

I suppose the reason I love Thanksgiving so much is because there are so many things for which to be grateful. The longer I live the more there seem to be.

How much we owe our forefathers for bringing about this abundant life on the new continent! It would be well for us to pause long enough to recall their struggles for survival. They were anxious that we not forget.

At Thanksgiving time in early New England it became the custom to place five grains of corn at each place. The settlers wanted their children to remember the sacrifices, suffering and hardship of the Pilgrims who during the first terrible winter were rationed five grains of corn each. Five grains of corn!

Wouldn't our gratitude shoot up like a thermometer on the equator if we were rationed to five grains of corn on which to feast on Thursday? It might do wonderful things for attitude.

Something like the woman who went to the psychiatrist after deciding not to commit suicide. She had everything a normal woman could wish for—good husband, fine children, plenty of this world's goods.

The doctor prescribed that she wear a blindfold for three hours each day, working the entire period with her hands. This was to continue for two weeks. In three days she called the doctor and said she was cured.

Boy Meets Girl

We hear a lot these days about "boy meets girl" but here's a new slant to the old saw. It's "boys beat girls" in the cooking contest at Southern.

As we went to P.-T. A. on Monday we noticed an exhibit case filled with "goodies" made from recipes of many lands.

There was brioche from France, nut bread from Norway, Ematur from Albania, Christmas stollen from Czechoslovakia, Grabie from Syria, and gingerbread from Ireland. (I always thought it was our dish.)

This cooking spree came about through Core 10 C's study of the United Nations. Mrs. Price, their teacher, had a U.N. cook book and I suppose food was the topic. Anyway the boys challenged the girls to a cooking contest. Besides those mentioned fancy dishes the girls made a fudge cake iced and decorated with an outline of the U. S.

The boys won by one point!

It's HIGH Time

This is the title of a pamphlet that I've been reading that has recently come to the high school library, published by Departments of NEA and National Congress of P.-T. A.

The subtitle is a guide for parents of high school students. It is excellent. I wish every parent could read it. That is, every parent who sometimes wonders if he is doing the wise thing for his child.

The pamphlet shows the students' side so plainly that one can't help heave a sigh of relief that "That's the way they are."

About the time I was beginning to feel rather comfortable that all is normal, if not all is well, I came to the chapter, "It's high time you understand yourself." There we were "typed" and I suppose every parent could get hooked on one of the ten types.

It caught me and somehow I wished I had on a coat with a big fur collar so I could literally bury my blushes.

The do's and don'ts for parents are good; the illustrations, excellent.

Mrs. Bittle, the librarian, says it's for parents as well as teachers and any child who had an inkling of its contents would be delighted to sign it out for Mom or Pop.

Thanksgiving

Dear Lord, we have so much to thank Thee for!
Spring's bright promise gloriously fulfilled
In plenteous harvests. Peace throughout our land,
And all the joys of life that help to gild
The passing days—home, work, love, laughter, friends.
But most of all we bless Thee, Lord, for these:
The right to walk in safety, speak our minds,
And, without fear, to worship as we please.
God keep us strong and show us how to share
These blessings with our brothers everywhere!

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON

President of Harding College

A strategy of the Communists, wherever their Fifth Column is at work, is to create dissension and disunity among different groups. If they can get people angry at someone or something, they have a more favorable climate for their subtle disruptive propaganda. Disunity blocks progress and saps a nation's strength. We know that in America they have agitated employees against employers, race against race, and various other groups against each other. In the Middle East the Communists agitated the Arabs against the Israeli, although just a few years ago they were on the other side, helping the Israeli to push the Arabs out of Palestine.

Recently we have seen efforts in America to agitate dissension between small business and big business. Regardless of who carries on this agitation, it is a form of class warfare characteristic of that originated and constantly whipped up by the Communists. Where big business in any field constitutes a monopoly or seeks to kill off competition the established laws of our government breaks it up. To anyone who takes the time to dig up the facts, the beneficial interrelationship of small and big business in America is indisputable.

While in Wilmington, Delaware, last month I visited the headquarters of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company, one of the nation's biggest enterprises. They had compiled some data on their own relationship with small companies. Du Pont buys materials from 30,000 companies; and nine-tenths, or 27,000 of these are small companies by any yardstick of measurement.

Du Pont has 75,000 customers; of these 67,000 are small companies who depend upon du Pont for materials or products which give them their livelihood. This is a pattern of interdependency which characterizes the American business system. It is stimulating to the creation and operation of little businesses as well as to the growth of those businesses whose nature dictates expansion.

Since the end of World War II, more than 1,200,000 new little companies have been established all with fewer than 100 employees. The total work force in American small business, in the same period, has increased 45 per cent. Today nearly 17 million people work in companies with fewer than 100 employees. Actually 98 per cent of all businesses—manufacturing, trade and service establishments—have less than 50 employees.

Our American business system—big and little companies working as an interrelated team—holds out great promise for an ever brighter future, if we effectively resist the forces which seek to tear it down.

Judge's Opinion Favors State Agency

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris has filed an opinion and order affirming a decision of the State Industrial Accident Commission in disallowing a claim of Charles F. Harvey, of Kitzmiller.

Harvey had filed his application with the commission claiming his right to receive compensation as a result of contracting silicosis.

The claim was filed against the McNitt Coal Company by which he had been employed as a coal miner and brakeman for about seven years prior to April 29, 1949. At that time he discontinued his service with the company because of lack of business.

Harvey worked for the Osgood Bus line from February 2, 1951 to January 16, 1952, working in a wet and damp place in an underground garage. He again worked from February 21, 1952 to May 29, 1952. The claimant was admitted to Golden clinic, Elkins, W. Va., February 28, 1953 and stayed until March 7. He testified that during this stay at the clinic he first was informed that he had silicosis. He filed his claim April 13, 1953.

The State Medical Board ruled that Harvey had no disability as a result of an occupational disease, as his last exposure to silicosis was in April, 1949. The State Industrial Accident commission affirmed the Medical Board on appeal and disallowed the claim.

Judge Harris observed in his opinion that all appeals in which occupational diseases are involved the state statute provides that the finding of fact by the State Industrial Accident commission shall be final and not subject to review or modification by the court.

The court may only inquire whether the commission had any basis in the evidence for its findings. Judge Harris writes that there is ample evidence upon which to substantiate the conclusions of the Medical Board and the State Industrial Accident commission in this case.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear wife, mother and grandmother, Annie Louise Bateman, who passed away two years ago today, November 26, 1954.

We have only a memory dear mother,
To cherish our whole life through,
But the sweetness will live forever
As we treasure the memory of you.

The beautiful things you did for us
Lives in our hearts each day,
And keeps you near and dear to us
Though you have gone away.

Deep in our heart lies a picture
Of our dear mother laid to rest;
In memory's frame we shall keep it,
Because she was one of the best.

She has gone upon a journey,
Guided by God's loving hand,
Down a road that's calm and peaceful,
To a distant brighter land.

No treasure on earth can replace you;
It's a sorrow too great to be told,
But to us who loved and lost you,
Your memory will never grow old.

Sadly missed by her husband,
Hugh Bateman, Children and Grandchildren.

Thanksgiving
1621 - 1956

Let the Pilgrims of America's infancy be shining examples to all of us here today. Their courage, their humility, their gratitude for the blessings of freedom and bountiful land are engraved upon the history of our country.

And the day they set aside for sincere Thanksgiving... May this day retain its true significance for all of us, always. May we all give thanks.

Air Force Program Getting Good Results

The new Air Force Reenlistment program for prior servicemen, which began last summer, is producing good results, according to T. Sgt. Joseph Talerico, U. S. Air Force recruiter for this area.

A new system for determining a man's rank has enabled the Air Force to enlist the services of experienced, skilled technicians.

It was stressed that prior servicemen who have already invested periods of time to the Armed Forces should investigate the Air Force's liberal benefits policy before selecting their permanent careers.

For more information about the Air Force's new accent upon skilled reenlistment program, contact Sgt. Talerico, who is located at the Post Office in Oakland every Wednesday from 11:00 A. M. to 1:00 P. M., or by writing to U. S. Air Force Recruiting Service, Morgantown, W. Va.

From GOD...to MAN

A field of wheat . . . a human soul!

Gifts from God—upon which man puts the imprint of his own labor, and faith, and wisdom.

The result; a loaf of bread . . . . a Christian.

Life is teamwork with God. Man receives what he cannot create, and fashions what he needs. But between resource and product are vital steps.

Between a field of wheat and a loaf of bread must be the mill and the oven.

Between the new-born soul and the mature Christian must be a Church and a religious home.

True thanksgiving is the sacred resolve to use what God has given to fashion what God desires.

HOLY BIBLE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Luke 15:11-32. Devotional Reading: Psalms 103:1-13.

Two Sons

Lesson for November 25, 1956

WHAT does the word "prodigal" mean? Ask some Sunday school class that, and you may be surprised at how many bad guesses you hear. Actually the name simply means "wasteful." Jesus never named his parables; and sometimes the names the church has given them fit, and sometimes not. The parable of the "prodigal son" might be better named "The Two Prodigal Sons" or "The Forgiving Father."

Dr. Foreman

Two Ways of Wasting

There are two ways of being prodigal or wasteful. One is to use up and destroy what might have been saved. If you let good farm machinery sit around in the rain till it rusts, you are wasting equipment. If you use expensive butter for a job a little bacon grease will do just as well, you are wasting the butter. If you are a general and order a useless assault in which thousands of men needlessly lose thir lives, you are wasting human life. All these wasteful acts, great and small, are done in the same way, essentially by throwing away or spoiling what might have been saved and use. Another way of wasting is just not to use what is there to use, something which if you do not use now you will never have the chance to use again. An example of this is water power. The river flows on its way, developing so many horsepower with every mile; if these are not used today, tomorrow the horsepower—today's horsepower—will be gone. You waste water power not by destroying it but by failing to use it.

The Younger Son

Now in Jesus' famous parable, the two sons were both wasters, but in opposite ways. Take the younger one: Give me . . . he said, and off he went. A young fortune was in his hands; but he threw it away, he was through with it, he was through, "period," in no time.

There was something else he wasted: his father's love and confidence. He virtually treated his father as if he were already dead. This younger son is, of course, the type of the reckless sinner who wastes his health, strength, character, perhaps money too, the sort of man who is called a "wastrel" or waster. The time, life, strength that such a man wastes cannot be brought back again. You could go down to Skid Row or to the nearest hospital for drug addicts and convert them every one; but you could never give them back the "years the locusts have eaten." God forgives such men, as the father in Jesus' story forgave the younger prodigal; but just as the father in that story could not recall from the four winds the wasted fortune and the wasted years, so not even God ever turns the clock or the calendar back.

The Older Son

But that older boy—he too was a waster. Only he wasted in the other way, not by destroying but by not using. There seems to be something deeply sad in the father's simple saying: "Son, you are always with me, and all that is mine is yours." This was true—and yet the son had made it untrue. "You are always with me"—so near, and yet so far away. None of the father's spirit had penetrated the boy's mind. He was physically at home yet spiritually a stranger. He too, in a different way, had lived like an orphan. Every day there was open to him a father's heart, a father's sympathy, a father's wealth; but he never took it. If for the younger boy there was waste-by-destruction, for the older there was waste-by-neglect. Did the father forgive this son too? The story does not say. The impression most people get is perhaps what Jesus intended to suggest: The father was ready to forgive each son; but the younger son was forgiven, because he had "come to himself," he had confessed his wrong. The older son was not (so far as the story takes us) forgiven, because he did not seem to be conscious of having done anything wrong. Of course he was the type of the Pharisees; but the Pharisees are not dead. In the church and out there are correct, respectable citizens who know nothing of God's love for their lost brothers, and so have never known the God they officially call "Father." God will forgive such a man too; but perhaps he seldom does, for such a man seldom thinks he needs it.

Scott Henckel, Rfd, Addison, Pennsylvania, Plaintiff
Vs.
Elsie Henckel, Farmington, Pennsylvania, Defendant.

No. 4686 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree for divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the plaintiff for the defendant.

The bill states:

That on the 6th day of October, 1945, he was married to the defendant, Elsie Henckel, at Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, by a duly ordained minister; that he resided with the said defendant until on or about the 31st day of May, 1951, at which time the said Elsie Henckel deserted your orator while they were residing in Fayette County, Pennsylvania; that although the conduct of your orator towards his said wife has always been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said Elsie Henckel without just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted him, and has declared her intention to live with him no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for more than eighteen months, is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties are beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that no children were born of said marriage; that your orator is a resident of Garrett County, Maryland, and has resided in the State of Maryland more than two years prior to the filing of this bill of complaint, but the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and her last known address was Farmington, Pennsylvania.

It is thereupon this 19th day of October, 1956, ordered by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, that the plaintiff, by having a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 23rd day of November, 1956, give notice to the non-resident defendant warning her to be and appear in this Court, either in person or by solicitor, on or before the 8th day of December, 1956, to show cause, if any she has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

School Pictures

Students returned to their homerooms on Monday afternoon to receive their school packets. The complete packet sold for $2.50, plus five cents tax. These pictures were taken by the Alston Studio of Weston, W. Va.

Yearbook pictures of the seniors were also received this week. These senior pictures were taken by the Delmar Studios.

Advanced Rating

Word has just been received that Southern's 1956 yearbook, The Highlander, won a second place rating in the twenty-seventh annual yearbook critique of the Columbia Press Association in New York, October 12.

Previous to this time The Highlander has always held a third place position. The 1956 yearbook staff was headed by Delores Vetter, who is now a freshman at Frostburg. The theme of the yearbook was, "We Are America." Miss Roberta M. Cogley was the adviser.

This rating indicates that Southern's yearbook is taking its place in competition with books from the large city areas.

Baked Goods

The 10C Core class has been working on the unit, "United Nations."

This past week-end members of the class and their teacher, Mrs. Bessie Price, made some baked goods following the United Nations Cook Book.

This week the lobby showcase has been a scenery of baked goods—cakes, cookies, sweet rolls, gingerbread, nut bread, and cranberry tarts. Each recipe came from a different nation.

On Monday morning the boys of the class challenged the girls to the effect that their United Nations cake was better than the girls' recipe from the United States. Kenneth Johns, Carl Everly, and Miss Young were the judges and agreed with the boys that they preferred the U. N. recipe.

The students working on this project were Margy James, Jean Paige, Nancy White, Jarlath DeWitt, Pat Leighton, Jean Beachy, Margaret King, Dottie Jordan, Lois Davis, Linda Jordan, Frances Davis, Sylvia Nazelrod, Donna Schmidt, Lester Bittinger, Ronald Dilgard, Wayne Callis, Lonnie Naylor, Jack Gnegy, and Robert Michael.

Uncommon Man . . .

Former President Hoover remarked the other day that in his opinion this country was in danger of developing a cult of the Common Man, which means a cult of mediocrity. "But there is at least one hopeful sign: I have never been able to find out just who this Common Man is. In fact, most Americans, especially women, will get mad and fight if you try calling them common."

He continued recently in an article in This Week magazine:

"This is hopeful because it shows that people are holding fast to an essential fact in American life. We believe in equal opportunity for all, but we know that this includes the opportunity to rise to leadership. In other words — to be common!

"Let us remember that the great human advances have not been brought about by mediocre men and women. They were brought about by distinctly uncommon people with vital sparks of leadership. Many great leaders were of humble origin but that alone was not their greatness.

" It is a curious fact that when you get sick you want an uncommon doctor; if your car breaks down you want an uncommonly good mechanic; when we get into war we want an uncommon admiral and uncommon general.

"I have never met a father and mother who did not want their children to grow up to be uncommon men and women. May it always be so. For the future of America rests not in mediocrity but in the constant renewal of leadership in every phase of our national life."

That is a philosophy that would be good for all of us.

Annual Deer Season To Open December 3

The annual deer hunting season will open Monday, December 3, and will continue until sundown Saturday evening, December 8. During this open period it will be lawful to kill bucks with two or more points to one antler. The small game season will be suspended during this time.

At least 3,000 hunters will be in the woods during the open season, judging from the number of persons who have made reservations in private homes, boarding houses and other places.

Thousands of acres of forest land are still open to the hunters in spite of the growing tendency of farmers and landowners to post their lands extensively against any hunting. Those who post their land are in general agreement that it is not the hunting to which they object but the apparent lack of consideration of the hunters for other people's property and the carelessness of so many of them.

Hunters will attempt to surpass the all-time record of 608 kills made during the 1955 season. In 1952 there were 592 bucks killed while in 1951 there were 566 killed. The limit is one buck per year per hunter.

It is lawful to hunt deer while there is snow on the ground but they may be killed only with a rifle that develops over 1,200 feet of muzzle or a shotgun loaded with a pumpkin ball or rifle slug. Cross bows, buck shot and dogs are prohibited.

There will be the usual five deer checking stations in this county where deer must be checked as soon as possible after being killed. It is unlawful to remove the head or hide or other parts except internal organs, or cut up the meat until the deer has been reported and weighed at one of the checking stations. Stations in this county will include the sheriff's office in Oakland; William Biddington's, in Grantsville; Matt Storey's Inn at Deep Creek Lake; Reckner's Store, Swanton; Murphy's Restaurant at Friendsville. Hunters making kills near the Allegany county line also may check their deer at the police station at Westernport or the state police barracks a LaVale.

Extra district wardens from other counties of the state will be assigned to Western Maryland during the six-day season.

Mercury Takes Dip

The mercury took a decided dip during two days of the past week, the thermometer dropped to nine below zero last Saturday morning, November 24, for the coldest weather of the current winter season. One below was recorded the following day.

The weather otherwise has been that of snow—not heavy snow, but enough to cover the ground. In 16 degree weather last Friday there was some snowing most of the day. Some snow continued to fall on Saturday and Sunday evening. Monday turned cloudy with some melting taking place. More snow fell on Tuesday with Wednesday becoming clear and cold, moderating toward evening. More snow was falling this morning with predictions for colder weather over the week-end.

Man Found Guilty Of Malish Murder

Benton W. Alexander, 42, was found guilty late last Wednesday of second degree murder in the June 16 killing of Steve Malish.

The Preston county jury deliberated for 3½ hours as the three-day trial ended.

Alexander has not yet been tried for the murder of his wife, Nora Alma, 34, for which he was also indicted last month.

Following the verdict of the jury the defense attorney immediately moved that Judge Melvin C. Snyder set aside the verdict. The judge delayed ruling on the motion and sentencing Alexander.

In West Virginia, second degree murder carries a penalty of from five to 18 years in the state penitentiary.

In his closing argument, Prosecuting Attorney James T. Dailey, Jr., pointed to revenge as the motive for the crime. During the trial testimony showed that Alexander had lost an eye a year previous in a fight with Malish.

Dailey claimed that Alexander had lain down on the cot and pretended to be asleep knowing that Malish and Mrs. Alexander would go to bed together. It was brought out in the trial that it was customary for the three of them to sleep together.

The State claimed that Alexander waited until they had gone to sleep and that he arose and got his gun and after loading it shot both of them. Malish once in each eye and the third shot between the eyes.

The defense claimed that Alexander shot when overcome by a rage of passion when he awoke and found the two in bed together.

The event occurred at Turner Douglas, a small mining town near Crellin, and just across the Maryland line. The testimony showed the shooting took place after the three had been on a drinking party in Oakland.

Welfare Expense in October, $24,483.93

Another slight decrease was noted in County Welfare expenditures for October with 677 persons receiving $24,483.93 through the Garrett County Welfare Board. Figures were released by Thomas J. S. Waxter, director of the State Department of Public Welfare. The total did not include costs of administration. Previous to this month there had been four decreases in four months.

The report showed the total number receiving assistance was twelve less than the number receiving assistance during September, and the total amount was $121.96 less than the total for the previous month.

Largest percentage of the total expenditure for October went to old age pension category where 217 persons received $9,020.89, an average of $41.57. There were four new applications here with four being added and three cancelled.

Three hundred twenty children in 106 families received $9,010.81, an average of $85.01 per family. Five new applications were received in this category with one case being added and eight cases being cancelled.

Five blind persons received $298.75. Ninety-four persons listed as permanently and totally disabled received $4,162.15, an average of $44.28. There was one new application here with one case being added and two cases being cancelled.

Eighteen persons listed under General Public assistance category received $739.11, an average of $41.06. There were six new applications with three cases being added. Twenty-three children were listed under foster home care and they received $1,252.22, an average of $54.44. There were five new applications here with five cases being added.

Throughout the state the expenditures for October amounted to $1,744,723, which compared with $1,727,919 for the previous month and $1,636,332 for October a year ago.

"Good Citizen" Named at Southern

Miss Barbara Lou Glotfelty has been named the "Good Citizen" of Southern High's graduating class of 1957 in the D.A.R. Good Citizen contest. The other two candidates for the award from the local high school were Doris Lawson and Mary Bachtel.

Students were selected on the following basis: dependability—which includes truthfulness, loyalty and punctuality; service—cooperation, courtesy and consideration of others; leadership— personality, self-control, ability to assume responsibility; patriotism—unselfish interest in family, school, community and nation.

The three girls selected by a faculty committee answered a questionnaire in ink in their own handwriting and submitted it to Ernest Spoerlein, guidance counselor, on November 19.

Barbara Lou will compete against other city and county winners throughout the state. "The Maryland Good Citizen" will be awarded a $100.00 United States Savings Bond, Series E, as a gift from the National D.A.R. Society. The winner of the contest will be announced at the State Conference in Baltimore in April, 1957.

Barbara Lou is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Glotfelty, of Oakland.

Workers Finish Ski Slope Construction

The construction of the ski slope on Marsh Hill is now complete, and all that is needed for successful operation is a sufficient quantity of snow, it was announced this week by Helmuth Heise, president of the Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council.

The Promotion Council has made an initial investment of about $4,000 on the project in the hope of expanding the recreational activities of the county to include more than just the summer season.

The warming shed has been completed, the motors are in operation, the tow is completed, and everything in readiness for a successful season.

The slope is located on property owned by Webster Brenneman, near the site of the Garrett County summer playhouse. The tow is located on the northeast slope of Marsh Hill which has a vertical rise of 400 feet with a total length of about 2,000 feet. The tow, however, is limited to 1,000 feet this year, Heise said, on account of limited funds. The drift width of the slope is some 500 feet which is calculated to give plenty of room for all types of ski-ers.

ASC Elections Are Set December 7th

The annual election of ASC community committeemen will be held on December 7, according to an announcement by H. Robert DeWitt, chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Three community committeemen and two alternates will be elected in each of the 16 communities in the county. Ten or more candidates have been nominated for each community by an Election Board consisting of three farmers living in the community. The names of the candidates have been listed on the ballots in alphabetical order. The person receiving the highest number of votes will be elected chairman, the second highest will be vice-chairman, etc.

The election will be carried out for the most part by mail. Ballots were mailed to farmers on November 26. Ballots must be returned to the ASC office by December 7 if delivered in person or must be postmarked by this date.

Over six thousand twenty-page circulars were being distributed this week to officially get the Christmas season promotion campaign by the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce underway in Oakland.

The Chamber of Commerce, headed by its mercantile committee under the chairmanship of Irvin R. Rudy, Jr., has arranged a number of activities this year.

The annual treat for the children by "Santa Claus" will be conducted on Saturday, December 22, when all children of the community up to 12 years of age will be given an orange, candy and other articles.

The Chamber of Commerce has offered $350 in prizes of gift certificates, with a first prize of a $75 gift certificate. There are also two $50 gift certificates, three $25 gift certificates, five $10 gift certificates and ten $5 gift certificates. Nothing has to be purchased in order to be eligible for the prizes. Mt. Top Riflemen Third in Nation

In an official bulletin just received from the National Rifle association, the score of 1597 out of a possible 1600 fired in September at Cumberland by the Mountain Top Rifle club's four man team, placed third in the nation in the National Summer League smallbore rifle championships. A low "x" count was all that kept the team from first place in Maryland, the score being tied with Greenbelt. The "x" count is used in breaking ties.

Members who made up the team were Merle McClintock, A. A. Harvey, Jr., Robert L. Cain and Donald E. Helbig. The club won the right to fire in the state and national championships by being the top club in the Western Maryland Rifle and Pistol league, and the four firing members were picked by their ability to maintain a high individual average score throughout the past summer season.

This is the second time in the past four summer seasons that the Mountain Top Rifle club has figured prominently in national competition. In 1953 a picked four-man team shot its way to first place in the nation. The only member to be on both the 1953 and 1956 teams is Merle McClintock. Each of the four members who shot on the team this year will receive a bronze medal from the National Rifle Association.

Roth Acquitted Of Perjury In Monday Trial

Ervin A. Roth, a member of the Board of County Commissioners, was acquitted of a perjury charge Monday following an all-day trial in the Garrett County Circuit Court at Oakland. The trial was heard before Chief Judge George Henderson, Cumberland; Associate Judge Kenneth McLaughlin, of Hagerstown; and Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris, Cumberland.

Judge McLaughlin, in announcing the verdict of "not guilty," asserted that the court felt the State had not proved beyond reasonable doubt that there was any willful intent to commit perjury. (lying under oath.)

Roth had been indicted by the September term grand jury on the perjury charge in connection with testimony given in relation to an investigation of County Commissioners doing business with themselves.

He was specifically charged with "unlawfully and falsely swearing he did not know that drilling was being done on overburden at Bishop's quarry and that he was not notified that drilling was being done on overburden until all of the holes had been drilled."

The defense attorneys claimed that the statements allegedly made by Roth had no direct bearing on the investigation then being conducted and that his remarks were not material to the case, and they brought out that in such an instance any such charges of perjury should be dismissed.

Tries To Establish Motive

State's Attorney, S. R. Pagenhardt, attempted to establish a motive as to why Roth would have made false statements before the grand jury, and at one time S. F. Hamill, Jr., who was assisting Pagenhardt, told the court that if Roth had admitted he knew what was going on he would have implicated himself in possible criminal proceedings.

Pagenhardt also had Mrs. Virginia Fizer, secretary for the Commissioners, testify to a statement she heard Roth make which was that "Hub and Brenneman will find that they cannot fight the political machine in this county and I can't afford to."

At another point H. D. Swartzentruber, president of the County Commissioners testified that he heard Roth make the remark, "If they (Swartzentruber and Brenneman) had gone along with the voting machines, this thing would not have happened. This referred to the injunction suit subsequently filed by Roth against the other two commissioners.

Both Swartzentruber and Brenneman testified that the board worked in harmony until after the voting machine controversy, and the lack of agreement on having an audit made of the books of J. Edward Helbig, former county treasurer.

Nothing but electricity will stretch a dime so far

Ever notice how far your money goes for electric service? If yours is the average home, electricity works for you around the clock for just a couple of dimes or so a day.

What's more, electricity is even cheaper now than it used to be. The average American family is getting about twice as much electricity for each dime today as it did a generation ago.

Can you say that about any other item in your family budget?

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

This week we return to the series on Prayer, after an interruption of a week, at which time we discussed the ideas basic to Thanksgiving. In continuing the series on Prayer, we would like to discuss the fourth petition of the Lord's Prayer: "Give us this day our daily bread . . ."

The idea of "daily bread" has reached large proportions in our time. The tremendous increase in the standard of living, brought on by the industrial development of our country has led people to more and more things that they regard as necessary to their daily existence. Very few, if any, will be satisfied with the simple necessities, bread and drink, to fulfill their lives each day. I would be the last to deny that this is a good thing, this raising of the standard of living, because I too like the "good things in life." Nor do I feel that God would have us exist on bread and water only, when the world He made for us is filled with so many good things to eat. But this is not the problem, whether or not we should prefer steak to hamburger. The problem is one of acknowledgment of the source of all good things.

Along with the advance of civilization, the increase of a life of abundance, there is a tendency to eliminate God from His proper place. It is as simple as this: The rich have a greater tendency to rely on their riches; the poor, often out of a feeling of hopelessness, rely more on a life with God. There is much talk about a religious revival in our country, but we wonder about the depths of its sincerity, for a true revival of the spirit depends first of all on humility, and one of the hardest things in life is for a rich man to be humble, to acknowledge God's part in his life. One only has to go to the statistics on giving compiled by the NCCCUSA to find this fact in hard cash principles: The Seventh Day Adventist Church in the year 1954 gave an average of $173.94 to their Church; the United Lutheran Church in the same year had an average of $50.25; a well known and recognized side factor in these figures is that most sectarian groups draw their members from the lower brackets of economic income, whereas the established Protestant denominations draw most of their members from the middle and upper brackets of economic income.

You may think that this has very little to do with the fourth petition of the Lord's Prayer, but I think that it has a very great deal to do with it. One of my reasons for believing this way is in Luther's explanation of this petition, "God indeed gives daily bread to all men, even to the wicked, without our prayer; but we pray in this petition that He would lead us to acknowledge our daily bread as His gift, and to receive it with thanksgiving." A very great part of the acknowledgement of God's gifts to us is the extent to which we give of ourselves in return for His blessings, for the work of His Kingdom. And no one will deny that our pocketbooks are a very vital part of ourselves.

I have said it many times, but I will say it again, prayer without a conscious commitment on the part of him who prays, is the worst form of hypocrisy. So when you pray this petition of the Lord's Prayer, ask yourself the question, "Am I doing anything to acknowledge the gifts of God?"

members of the September term grand jury; W. W. DeWitt, county roads engineer; Paul DeWitt, assistant county roads engineer, Mr. Swartzentruber and Mr. Brenneman; also Charles Carr, John J. Brenneman, and Joseph McCrobie.

Members of the grand jury testified about the statement Roth made before the grand jury. Mr. Carr testified that Roth had visited the quarry with him at the time 65 holes had been dug. Over 150 holes were dug altogether. Paul DeWitt exhibited vouchers approved by Roth in payment of work done on the overburden to prove that Roth did know that the overburden was being drilled.

Both Swartzentruber and Brenneman testified that agreement to drill the overburden had been made in the presence of Roth and that Roth had attended all meetings of the Roads board along with DeWitt, roads engineer. DeWitt also testified that Roth was acquainted with the work on the overburden being done at the quarry from the time it started until it was completed. The defense attorneys made no attempt to contradict the statements of the State's witnesses.

Could Not Recall Discussion

Roth could not recall any discussion on the drilling of overburden during these meetings with the other two commissioners, according to his testimony. Roth and Carl Frazee were the only witnesses for the defense.

Former Judge William C. Walsh, one of the three attorneys who represented Roth, brought out in his opening statements that Roth was poorly educated, having gone no further than the seventh grade in school.

Testimony was completed about 3:30 p. m. Monday and the decision was handed down by the judges shortly thereafter.

The defendant also was represented by Horace P. Whitworth, Sr., and Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., of Westernport.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

Under American capitalism the employees, the employers and the consuming public all have a stake in the uninterrupted production of every manufacturing plant. Wealth is produced by taking a raw material and adding to its value through processing and service. But the production must be a profit-making operation, or else the labor and energy expended will be a national waste.

John L. Lewis, the labor leader who for many years symbolized unrelenting strike-power in action, presided last month over a convention of his United Mine Workers Union. He observed that there had not been a strike in the industry in six years. He reported that the union had just reached an agreement, through negotiations with coal mine owners, on a new contract.

The most significant revelation in Mr. Lewis' attitude came when one of the UMW convention delegates, backed by a few other miners, objected to the new contract, arguing that the workday should be cut—without reducing wages. Mr. Lewis said the coal industry could not afford to take that step.

"The question of the six hour day is one of cost," he said. "I think if the convention wants it, it can get it in the next contract—with pay for six hours. When you reduce the day from eight to six hours without wage reduction it means a 25 per cent increase, at least, in production costs. The shorter day has been discussed with the operators in past years. They claim that they are getting only 6.5 hours of productive time now as a national average, because of travel time and paid lunch periods. The costs must be considered from the competitive angle. There is competition with oil, gas, and water power, and atomic energy in the future.

"These," said the labor leader with firmness, "are the facts of life we have to consider. If you want to stop eating so much and loaf more, we can get you the six hour day."

This is an attitude quite different to the one presented by Mr. Lewis just 10 years ago. It is an attitude accepting the fact that the workers welfare is tied up with the success of his industry, with production and productivity. The new attitude has undoubtedly been influenced by the fact that Mr. Lewis in recent years has become the head of a vast UMW business enterprise with many investments—and with many of the problems of the industrial executive. Among the enterprises watched over by Mr. Lewis are a newly organized trans-Atlantic shipping company, one of the largest banks in Washington (controlled by the UMW), a $4 million investment in public utilities, and so forth. His present attitude is perfectly sound—with regard both to employer and employee.

John Lewis also feels that bigness in American industry is not necessarily bad. "Great consolidations of modern capital are highly beneficial, and in the modern sense are more efficient—better for the men who work in the mines."

Mt. Top Gunners Win Fourth Straight

Mountain Top gunners continued an unbroken string of victories by defeating Hercules 1135 to 1119 in the Western Maryland League's fourth smallbore rifle match held Sunday afternoon at Oakland and Cumberland. Fort Hill whipped LaVale 1114 to 1070.

Bad wheather prevented Hercules from traveling to Oakland to meet Mountain Top in shoulder to shoulder competition but the match was completed with each team firing on its home range. At Oakland Bob Cain paced the Mt. Toppers with 293 points and set a high individual mark for the meet.

The series will continue next Sunday with all teams scheduled at Cumberland. The scores in the sitting, kneeling, standing positions include: R. L. Cain, 100, 97, 96, 293; A. A. Harvey, Jr., 100, 95, 91, 286; C. E. Miller, 97, 92, 91, 280; D. E. Helbig, 99, 87, 90, 276; team total, 1135.

Also firing were W. Ridder, M. McClintock and C. Calhoun.

Sidelight Given On Minister's Opinion

The minister's opinion of the relationship of prohibition to the Christian religion, as quoted in a half-page advertisement of the Garrett Citizens for Legal Control just prior to the election, apparently was used without that minister's consent in spite of the fact that the advertisement read, "Reprinted by permission," and signed by the Temperance and Tolerance Association of America.

Not that the letter had much effect on the voters, but it goes to show to what lengths certain people will go in an affort to persuade others to follow their will.

Rev. George Packard, chairman of the commission on publicity of the Episcopal church in Maryland, and a former rector of St. Mathew's Episcopal church in Oakland, was somewhat disturbed after he read the advertisement.

He declared he was sorry that such a thing had occurred. "I can only assume," he said, "that the man wrote a letter which was a personal opinion to which of course everyone is entitled, six years ago and it appeared in Letters to the Editor, which is an entirely different thing than in a paper as a half-page advertisement."

Rev. Packard wrote a letter to the rector from Texarkana, Texas, in which he declared "The Episcopal church in Oakland and in the Diocesan Missions in Garrett County have in recent years begun to make some headway in that section of Maryland. Your letter printed as an advertisement has done the Episcopal church in that particular place a great deal of harm. I am sorry that it was printed as an advertisement and also as the words of the Rector of St. James' Episcopal church of Texarkana, Texas. I am sure you do not know the situation in Garrett county and I am only sorry that your opinion was given that kind of publicity in an area where there is a different point of view from that of yours."

Rev. Carson replied to Rev. Packard as of November 19, in which he says: "I have searched my files carefully and find no record of having given permission to The Temperance and Tolerance Association of America to reprint this letter, nor do I recall having been asked to do so. I have written them to verify my records and my memory."

All of which indicates that the advertisement was placed solely on the responsibility of individuals in this county who had only one thing in mind—to change the attitude of voters, no matter how the facts are misrepresented.

For '57 Styled long and low —with lots of GO!

We'll admit it quite frankly.

"New" is a word that's used a lot. But seldom has it meant so much that's fresh and different and better-than-before—as here in the newest Buick yet

Take the new styling, because that's so obvious even at a glance. To get it so sweepingly low, the engineers started right from the bottom, with a brand-new type of chassis construction.

It's an ingenious "nested" chassis that reduced car height as much as 3.4 inches, giving new lowness and raciness to the styling —without reducing road clearance below or room inside.

It's a massive I-beam, X-frame chassis that's stronger and sturdier—and permits a new low center of gravity that gives this Buick far surer, far safer roadability.

That's the picture on style and beauty and rugged brawn in every '57 Buick.

But no such picture can give you the feel of this automobile's new instant go.

Only when you take the wheel can you appreciate the new era of motoring pleasure and ease and safety brought about by Buick's new power-pitch response.

It's instant response—response set off by the hair-trigger action of a new 364-cubic-inch V8 engine and the full-range flexibility of a new Variable Pitch Dynaflow.

It's response so eager, this Buick seems to anticipate your every command. Power flashes to the rear wheels so quickly and smoothly in "Drive," that the need for "Low" has virtually been eliminated. Even Dynaflow's famous switch of the pitch is seldom needed.

Come try it. Come see and feel the tremendous difference the newest Buick yet can make in your driving enjoyment.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

It's All in the Mind

Dale Carnegie, of "How to Win Friends and Influence People" fame, has set down a few rules for remembering people's names.

Realizing that I am the Cornelia Otis Skinner type who "can never remember a name but can always forget a face," I'd like to be able to take Mr. Carnegie seriously.

Remembering names had once been a great source of pride with me but brother, how I've slipped! At the moment I'm trying to recall the name of a one-year old niece! Quite a contrast to the day when I would know half the camp the first day.

At that time I would have agreed with everything Mr. Carnegie said. Look the person over, repeat the name and then form a mental picture; associate it with something or make it rhyme with something. "Like Mrs. Frank is a crank."

I'd be willing to bet that I would follow every rule he set down, and when I needed to recall the name, if my mind worked at all, it would flub.

He used this example: Imagine Mr. Ivory as having tusks instead of teeth. Ivory tusks. When you see him just think of ivory tusks and so the name Ivory. That's just where Mr. Carnegie is wrong. However I might reason, when I saw him again, I'd say, "Oh, hello Mr. Keyes." (piano keys, made of ivory).

Mrs. Frank may rhyme with crank but I'd call her Mrs. Meany.

Picture a forest, says DC as you are introduced to Mr. Forrest. He'd be Woods to me ere we met again!

Sometimes I think it would be much better to be blank than to try too much of this imagination business. Wouldn't Mr. Kahl rather not be remembered at all than to be called Mr. Cabbage.

Take Hinebaugh. To figure that one out I'd think of a hind quarter of a beef and the baugh sounding like the noise of the animal. Well, Hinebaugh would emerge from me as Mr. Bull, or if I were in an imaginative mood at the moment, he could be Mr. Oxley.

There's Baker — anyone would naturally associate that name with a man who baked bread. The next time I'd see him my brain would be all atwitter: Has something to do with cooking? I've got it! "How are you Mr. Frye?"

Mr. Carnegie was talking about new names, new faces, but he doesn't say one thing about old ones. It's when you know them in a P.-T.A. situation and pass them on the street and wonder where you've seen them that gets me.

I wish some modern brain would figure that one out. I don't care half as much about influencing people as I do about being labeled a snob.

While Mr. Carnegie's successor tries to help those of us with the minus mind I wish he'd do something for the person who is always saying, "Oh, don't you know me?" and then discover you once attended the same conference.

Is Bridge Dying?

There was once a time when a newcomer came to Oakland that she was almost forced to play bridge if sre craved any social outlet at all. There was the Monday night club, the Tuesday and so on. Then bridge clubs became so numerous that they couldn't be identified by their meeting night.

Finally other organizations became so numerous that Tuesday became bridge night for the majority.

Now it would seem that something else is coming along that's making bridge play second fiddle in the social scheme. That is the 'desire for learning.

Church circles have had a pickup in interest since study has become part of the program. Young adult groups with discussion programs are looked forward to with as much enthusiasm as earlier "coupies clubs."

This week there was another display of desire for learning when over fifty women, all ages, showed up at the sewing class to learn the Bishop way. Down the corridor another group was typing, still another doing crafts.

But we are still social creatures. We could stay home and learn it alone, but it's fun to work with people. The nicest thing about it is there'll be no committee meetings, no reports. Your only responsibility is to get yourself there. Which may be why it's shoving the bridge games, for it was an activity without responsibility which people with responsibility needed.

Driving Speed Test Viewed At N. H. S.

A driving speed test was demonstrated to all juniors and seniors of Northern High School on Monday, November 5 during the second and third periods, by Mr. Wenzel Morris.

A film, "The Case of Officer Hallibrand," was first shown to the students in the cafeteria and then all the students went outside and lined up on both sides of the driveway to watch the driving test.

Mr. Denver Mitchell and the members of the Driver Education Class planned the speed test.

Student Drivers

The two students who were selected to drive were Eva Schroyer and Roger Resh, seniors. Eva is in 12-1 and taking the academic course while Roger is in 12-2 and taking the general course.

Faculty Drivers

The two faculty drivers were Mrs. Elaine Falkenstine and Mr. P. J. Muha. Mrs. Falkenstine is a commercial teacher and Mr. Muha is principal.

Roger Resh, the first driver, stopped the car in 40 feet and 7 inches while it took Eva Schroyer 43 feet and 7 inches to bring the car to a stop, both going at 20 miles per hour.

Mrs. Falkenstine, going at 30 miles per hour, stopped in 80 feet and 4 inches. Mr. Muha, going at 40 miles per hour, stopped the car in 104 feet and 11 inches. Mr. Morris quotes, "Mr. Muha's record is the best record that has been made so far this year in all the eastern states where the speed test has been given."

Southern Dramatists Will Present Play

"Oh my darling Clementine" is the theme of the play being presented Friday night, November 30, at 8:00 p. m. by the Dramatics Club in the Southern High gymnasium.

This story portrays Helen Browning as Clementine Kelley, who is a boisterous tomboy who loves the football game better than the football players. Clementine and Hank Matthews, portrayed by Ted Raynovich, at first start out as football partners but as the play progresses, she decides that she'd like Hank to be a little more than a football partner.

Mary and Gerald Kelley, Clementine's patient parents, are played by Margaret Nethken and Fred Teets. Bertha, the maid, is played by Norma Alexander. Abe Carter, the handyman, is played by Bill Henline. Pete, a lady's man, is played by Ronald Dilgard. John Brown plays Tubby, who is forever sneezing with his hay fever. Cathy, who has just discovered boys and is giving Clementine a bit of competition, is played by Mary Spencer. Jane Ann, played by Jean Paige, is a little gossip who loves to carry tales. Ann McNed, a speech teacher, is portrayed by Cynthia Nace, while Sandra Evans plays Miss Prunella Pringle.

The setting is in the early fall and the events take place in the living room in Mayor Kelley's home in Hooterville.

The play is under the direction of Miss Bernice Idleman and Miss Roberta M. Cogley, Southern High instructors.

THE NEXT STEP
HOLY BIBLE

The speed of modern life tempts us to think of our goals and to forget the importance of a single step. But the men who scale the highest peaks concentrate on one step at a time.

There seem to be plenty of folks with noble aspirations who rarely go to Church. Some of them may reach their goals; but legion are the others whose "one false step" starts an avalanche of broken hopes.

The steady, sincere, every-Sunday church-goer usually has noble aspirations and a far better chance of achieving them! He has learned to study each step by faith and prayer . . . to test the ground on which he treads . . . to climb with others in a common quest of the summits of life.

Destiny depends on the next step!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: John 14.
Devotional Reading: 2 Corinthians 4: 7-15.

Heart at Peace

Lesson for December 2, 1956

EVERYBODY wants what Jesus Christ has to offer . . . At least, they think they want something by the same name, but they do not always know how to get it. Let a book come out with "Peace" in the title and it may easily become a best seller. Between a heart and mind at rest and a heart torn in two, restless, dissatisfied, in perpetual turmoil,—who would not choose the heart at peace? But the word Jesus used when he said to those anxious friends, "Let not your heart be troubled," —at least the word the Greek writer used in reporting Jesus—was much the same as a word the Stoics used, only what Jesus meant was something quite different.

Dr. Foreman

No Arctic Calm

The Stoics had a word "ataraxia" and in it they thought they had the key to happiness.—Or if not that, at least the key that would lock the door against unhappiness. What they meant by it was indifference, just not caring. Of course there is truth in that notion. It is only the sympathetic who can be bothered with other people's troubles. One way to insure yourself against sorrow in this world is simply never to allow yourself to love any one. One way not to worry about tomorrow is not to care what happens or whether anything happens. But this is not the kind of peace of heart which Jesus himself had, or wants his friends to have. The Arctic Ocean is perfectly calm; it is locked in everlasting ice. But the icy heart is not the Christian heart. A swamp is peaceful too; no waves break on its shores. And a human heart can be a swamp as well as an icy lake. But this again is not the heart at peace of which Christ spoke.

Does Faith Bring Peace?

So the heart at peace is not the cold, indifferent heart; it is not the sluggish dull self-centered heart. It is the peace of the flowing river, the peace of the great electric generator which though motionless itself, sends out power to city and countryside. But how to have this? Let not your heart be troubled, Jesus said: Believe . . . We hear a great deal about the power of faith. The pathway of faith is the pathway to peace. Yes; but does faith bring peace? It is easy to misunderstand this. Faith can bring a false and fatal peace, not the real thing. A hunter in the north woods can put faith in his compass, and not worry about being lost. But if his compass is wrong he may lose his life. A patient can trust a surgeon; but if the surgeon is incompetent, the patient's trust is fatal. Jesus himself used the expression, "Your faith has saved you." But faith will not save you if it is faith in the wrong thing or the wrong person. Somewhere in the United States there stood a fine bridge for many years, —at least it was perfectly built, out from one side of the river; but the other side had never been built. Faith that does not rest on something or some one worth believing in, is like that bridge; it's worse than no bridge at all, because in the dusk it may tempt people out to their deaths.

"Not What, But Whom"

"Believe," said Jesus. But there are some important words after that. Just believing is not enough. Moreover, believing something is still not what Jesus meant. Some people think that the way to a peaceful heart is to believe a catechism, a set of doctrines. That is not the main thing. "Believe in God," is the word. He who created all things, he in whom all things exist, holds me in his hand too. The Infinite God has room in his heart for me. Turning to him in faith is the highway to peace.—But why does Jesus say, "Believe also in me"? Is not belief in God enough? Or the other way around: Is it not enough to believe in Christ? The Christian experience of faith never can separate Christ and the heavenly Father. The best way to express it would be to say we believe in God in Christ. To believe in God as if Christ had never lived, is to believe in the dark and terrible Mystery, the awesome Avenger, whom the Gentiles feared. To believe in Christ as if God could be ignored, is to believe in Man, man at his best but still man. The way to peace is the way of faith in the God whose glory we see in the human face of Jesus of Nazareth.

Clementine

"Clementine" is a play about a girl who would rather play football than date boys. She can's see any sense in tackling a boy on the team in the day and then going out with him at night and swooning over him. But she finally realizes that boys are interesting in other ways than playing football. If you want to see how Clementine gets along on the team and in her private life come to Southern High Friday night at 8:00 and find out. The play will be presented in the gymnasium by the Dramatics Club.

Matinee performances were given today for the school. The Junior High saw the play Thursday afternoon and the Senior High in the afternoon. The proceeds will be divided between the Dramatics Club and the Journalism class. Adult tickets will be sold for 50 cents. Students may see the play for 35 cents. Matinees are 25 cents.

New Task-Force 57 Chevrolet Trucks!
They "flattened" Yukon mountains with the most modern truck V8's of all!

Rated G.V.W. of these payload-carrying heavyweights goes all the way up to 32,000 pounds!

New V8-powered '57 Chevrolet trucks, heavily loaded, made one of the world's toughest roads look easy! In a straight-through test run, they rolled over the famous ALCAN Highway to Alaska—in less than 45 hours (normally a 72-hour run). Here's proof-in-action of power that'll handle your toughest jobs—and keep coming back for more!

Whatever your job, there's an Alcan-proved Chevrolet Task-Force truck ready right now to save you time and money!

Six new Task-Force huskies made the run. And six ultra-modern Chevy engines proved their power and performance—with gas mileage up to 18.17 miles per gallon! Two of the engines were not stopped once, and they hummed along at peak efficiency the entire 1,520 miles!

Chevy's big V8's—including the new 283-cu.-in. Super Taskmaster—turned in top performance jobs. They hauled typical loads up and down towering grades and through washouts that sucked wheels into hub-deep mud. They roared on through miles of heavy dust that narrowed visibility to a few hundred feet. And in spite of the varying altitudes and temperatures, not a single truck was forced to drop out or turn back! Stop by and see them soon!

Alcan run supervised, certified by the AAA.

Farm Planning Group Meets

Farm Planning group No. 9 met recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Buckel, Bittinger, with ten attending. Robert Buckel was leader of the topic, "Let's tell the story of farming to our city friends."

Some points brought out in the discussion were that farmers and city people need each other, farming is like any other business, only more so, in terms of capital invested; farmers earn their income just as city people do; we have problems—our income is down.

Through Farm Bureau the farm people are making an effort to solve some of these problems. The group attempted to estimate how many dollars worth of farm products Garrett county sold this year and how much was purchased from city people and how much of an increase there is in the cost of labor and taxes; how much the better full-time farmers earned, how high their investments, all of these items on a county basis.

It was felt the farm people could tell the true farm story to the city people in everyday contacts. The group felt the discussion helped to obtain a more positive approach in explaining the farm situation to city people. All agreed on one point, that farmers should be proud they are farmers.

The December meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Buckel, Bittinger, at which time Christmas gifts will be exchanged.

VOLUME 80. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., DECEMBER 6, 1956. PER COPY, 8c NUMBER 41.

Big Business . . . .

Hunting and fishing are big business. We have a few statistics to show just how big, and how fortunate this area could be in having its share of the total over-all picture.

Thirty-three million Americans hunt and fish. Six billion dollars are spent annually on hunting and fishing in the United States, an amount fifty percent greater than drug store sales, an amount 136 percent greater than the sale of household appliances, including radios and television sets. The immensity of the sport is hard to believe, and yet it should not be too difficult when we see the influx of hunters to this county during every deer season.

The Maryland State Planning Commission has estimated that $106,000 is spent annually in Western Maryland alone. It is no exaggeration to say that there were 3,000 or more hunters in the woodlands of Garrett county this week. Most of them will spend $50, some of them a lot more than that, and some less.

Hunting lands provide valuable economic assistance to the people of this county, and we are fortunate in having so much state land available to hunters. Many times the woodland owners are justifiably disturbed about certain hunters. Many of these hunters apparently have no respect for the property of others. They will cut fences, leave gates open, shoot a farmer's cow by mistake and then never appear to pay for the damage. There have been times when the bullets of hunters have gone through a farm home. So in many ways it is no wonder that more and more people are posting their land.

And yet, if some system of education could be used, some hunter code of ethics, it seems that everybody would be better off. The hunters who seem to pay no attention to the rights of others surely are in the minority. Perhaps some method could be found to eliminate the irresponsible hunter.

But in spite of this one unpleasant phase, there is so much to be considered that is worthwhile. We could cultivate more of this business of hunting and fishing. It really is a boost to the income of the county and should be nurtured and taken care of.

Group Observes Instruction By TV

School Board Members, Staff And Principals Visit In Washington County

Thirteen members of the Garrett County School Board and staff spent a day last week visiting new schools and the experimental TV education program now going on in Washington county. The group was first received by William Donaldson, director of instruction for the county visited. After a short preview of a TV program, the visitors were taken through the telecasting studios where the TV teachers taught their lessons. This program is being financed by the Ford Foundation and the American Electronics corporation. It is planned for a five year period at a cost of several million dollars.

The program at present covers most of the Hagerstown schools but it is the aim of the Washington County Board of Education to carry the program to every school in the county as soon as adequate facilities can be installed. The Garrett county group saw lessons taught in geometry, music, and geography. The TV teachers (about ten in the county at present) spend all day preparing a 30-minute TV lesson and working to coordinate these lessons with those of the classroom teacher. It was the reaction of the visiting group that the program has tremendous possibilities, and would probably do more than anything else has done in the past to improve the general quality of classroom teaching, according to Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools.

The Garrett County group ate lunch at the new Pangborn Elementary school in Hagerstown, and then visited the new $3,000,000 high school in South Hagerstown. This building won the architectural award at the annual meeting of the AASA last year, and is rated as one of the finest to be found in the country. Enroute home the group stopped for a hurried tour through the new elementary school at Clear Spring. Mr. Hawkins said the trip proved to be a stimulating one.

William Brish is the superintendent of schools in Washington county and is personally directing the television programs.

Stove Explodes

Thomas W. Coe, Berwyn Heights, Md., a deer hunter, was admitted to Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland last evening suffering from burns sustained when a stove exploded.

The man suffered burns on the hands and face and is still hospitalized. The burns were not considered serious.

William Mahaffey was released from the hospital after being a patient there since Sunday when a gun blew up in his face. Portions of the gun barrel lodged in his nose and cheekbone. He was practicing with his rifle prior to the opening of deer season, when the mishap occurred.

Guilty Of Robbery, Juvenile Sentenced

A Kitzmiller juvenile, 16 years of age, was sentenced to one year in the House of Correction by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley, sitting as a juvenile judge, at a hearing last Thursday in the court room. The name of the person was not revealed.

The young man pleaded guilty to robbery of the Western Maryland railroad station at Blaine, W. Va., and the Kitzmiller school. The latter place was entered twice and a quantity of money taken from a soft drink machine.

Sheriff Paul Fisher made the arrest. Fisher also took him to the House of Correction last Friday.

The lad apprehended is the eldest of six children. After receiving his sentence the defendant informed the court that after he served his term he wished he could be placed in an institution so that there would be some one to care for him. "I don't want to go back home," he stated. Lieut Bernard Bealky and Sgt. Harold Davis, Western Maryland Railway police, who picked up the youthful offender, said the boy told him that "My mother tells me my father doesn't want me."

The boy already has served a year in the Maryland Training School for Boys for stealing two years ago and was sent to the West Virginia Reformatory for Boys at Pruntytown. He served a year and was released but had to stay an additional six months because no one from his home came to get him.

He confessed to breaking into the Blaine station by kicking out a window while a train was passing. He also entered the Kitzmiller school on November 22 and November 25. Only minor items were taken.

Held For Grand Jury

Charles Baker, of Gormania, also is being held in the county jail on a charge of forgery. At a hearing before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer recently he was held under $1,000 bond for action of the Grand Jury.

Sheriff Fisher said the man was also listed as absent without official leave from the Army, and would be held for the military police.

Auto Damaged

Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Hoffman and two children were shaken up but not injured last Saturday shortly after noon when the car in which they were traveling to Cumberland was struck by another automobile occupied by William R. Edwards and Guy Lee, Upperco.

The accident occurred at the foot of Cove hill, north of Accident, when the Edwards car skidded on the ice, crashed into a guard rail, and then careened against the Hoffman car.

Hoffman's automobile was damaged to the extent of $500 or more. Trooper Blair Buckel, Maryland State Police, who investigated, charged the occupants of the Edwards car with reckless driving and a hearing was set later before Trial Magistrate C. S. Zeller.

Development Of Industry Is Aim Of County Group

Informal Meetings Outline Plans—Another Meeting Set For Friday

The third of a series of informal meetings was held last Friday at Southern High school to discuss plans for industrial promotion in the county. An attempt was made to get county-wide representation, and thirty or more persons attended from several sections of the county, including representatives from municipal governments, farm organizations, two of the County Commissioners and others.

There was no question in the minds of any who attended last Friday's meeting that industry was needed for the county, and the object of the meeting and those preceding it was to find the best way to accomplish that goal.

It was generally agreed that the next step forward would necessitate the employment of a paid promotional director for the entire county, whose efforts would be toward selling the county to both industry and tourists.

It was pointed out that the county had much to offer to industry in the way of an excellent, stable, hard-working labor force, good transportation facilities and many natural resources, plus excellent recreational facilities to offer both management and employees of potential industries.

The matter of the annual budget was discussed and a total of $15,000 annually for a two-year minimum program was indicated. Half of this sum approximately would be used for salary for a director, with the balance for travel expenses, office and secretarial expense.

Proposals on ways of raising money also were discussed with the most favored being the organization of a non-profit development corporation with stock sold county-wide in order to raise at least a portion of the funds needed. This is to be discussed further at a meeting to be held at the high school in Oakland on Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

Letters have gone out to interested persons with the request that they attend Friday's meeting and be prepared to outline the thoughts and ideas of the organization or service club they represent, with the aim in view of determining the amount of stock that could be sold.

All discussion last Friday was along informal lines and projected strictly as an attempt to get the county-wide feeling in the matter.

The plan last Friday was outlined by Earl Zepp, one of the interested business men present. He remarked that the need for industry in Garrett county was urgent and this effort seemed to be the most concerted one made in recent years toward a way of attracting industry to the county.

It was the feeling last Friday that this effort could succeed and pay off handsomely for every citizen provided that county-wide interest could be aroused and county-wide support given.

Acknowledgement was made that much excellent work is already being done on a volunteer basis by organizations such as the Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council, the Rural Development committee and others but that members of these organizations were devoting about all the time they could spare to such efforts.

Salisbury Girl Dies In Auto Mishap

Mary Ryman, 17, of Salisbury, Pa., was fatally injured Monday evening in this county, about 100 yards south of the Mason-Dixon line, on U. S. route 219.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Jack Carlton Kemp, 21, also of Salisbury.

According to State Police Tfc. Blair Buckel, who investigated, they were traveling north in the car when the driver lost control, ran the vehicle off the right side of the highway and crashed into a tree. The girl, who was a passenger in the front seat died almost instantly from a broken neck. Trooper Buckel said the probable cause was excessive speed.

Kemp was admitted to Meyersdale Community hospital with a broken left leg and other injuries. The car was demolished.

Chicago's midway airport was the busiest airport in the country.

Charges Of Petty Larceny Are Filed

In an effort to break up a rash of petty larceny, two boys were picked up during the week.

One, a juvenile, was given a hearing before Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley sitting as juvenile judge, last Thursday afternoon, and he was placed under probation for two years. He had no previous record.

He was charged with theft of a quantity of shells from the R. and P. Store.

Also picked up on Wednesday morning by Deputy Sheriff James Frantz was Donald Paul Welch, 18, of near Oakland. He will be charged with petty larceny, according to S. R. Pagenhardt, state's attorney, and will have a hearing before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer within the next few days. This also involves a quantity of shells from the R. and P. Store.

Possible Changes In Existing Laws Are Given Airing

A number of suggestions for changes in the existing local laws as relate to Garrett county were suggested yesterday afternoon to the county's representatives at Annapolis.

Senator Clifford Friend called the meeting for yesterday afternoon in the Court House to give every person an opportunity to present his views in regard to needed changes in present laws, or in regard to new legislation.

Present yesterday afternoon were Senator Friend; and Delegates Harry C. Edwards, Kermit Glotfelty and Jesse J. Ashby, and twenty individuals.

Concerning the question of procuring voting machines Stanley Ashby, of Crellin, suggested that one specific board be empowered to complete the contract. At present the power to purchase is in the hands of the Board of Election Supervisors, but the purchase must be approved by the County Commissioners before it is legal.

In order to ascertain the sentiment among those present a vote was taken and 13 of 16 present at the time voted that the Legislators should favor the County Commissioners with the power to purchase.

C. H. Browning, Oakland, suggested a law to compel annual audit of all county offices. A similar vote taken among those present on this matter showed five favored a yearly audit, while eight wanted an audit every four years. Four failed to express a preference. The Legislators said they would investigate how it was being done in other counties.

Herbert Knepp, representing the Western Maryland Wildlife association, presented seventeen proposed changes in game and fish laws for the consideration of the 1957 session of the General Assembly. This included the following: increasing resident fishing

Local Fair Group Names Officers

Decision to attempt to organize a Garrett County Agriculture fair was made at a meeting of interested persons in the Oakland fire hall last Thursday night.

The motion to organize was made by Emroy Bolden, who stipulated that directors would be elected, who in turn would elect officers. The twelve members of the steering committee were named to constitute the board of directors.

H. G. Gortner was elected president; Ace Nethkin, vice-president; James J. Helbig, secretary; Emroy Bolden, treasurer, and Baity Ridder, fair manager.

The president appointed the following committees:

Date: William Wildesen, Emroy Bolden, John Carter.

Premium Catalog: Baity Ridder, James McHenry.

Location: Harland Bowman, Ace Nethkin, Walter DeBerry, Emroy Bolden.

Stock Subscription committee: Emroy Bolden and others to be selected.

Publicity: Mrs. George Hanst, Elwood Beckman, James Helbig.

The group agreed to meet again on Thursday, December 13, at 8 o'clock.

Discussion on the possibility of having a county agriculture fair has been held at various meetings for the past two months, and those on the steering committee were of the opinion that enough interest has been in evidence to warrant such an organization.

Details are yet to be worked out.

Yutzy To Discuss Customs Of Liberia At AAUW Meeting

An insight into life in Liberia, Africa, will be outlined Monday evening, December 10th when members of the Garrett Branch, American Association of University Women have their regular meeting to continue the study of that continent.

Principal speaker at that meeting will be J. Bill Yutzy, former Oakland boy, who spent two years in Liberia as a public health administrator with a United States operations mission. Mr. Yutzy was there as part of the health team which was just part of the total mission. There were about 50 Americans throughout the country with the mission, some in agriculture, some in education, some in public works and some in public health.

Mr. Yutzy has a number of slides showing what that section of Africa is like. Mr. Yutzy said there are really four Africas, North, South, East and West, and that there were more differences than there are similarities among them.

Mr. Yutzy also will bring with him from his home at Alexandria, Va., a number of Liberian carvings of ivory, ebony and cottonwood, and will have also some country cloth, drums and other items of interest.

Members of the Branch emphasized that the meeting would be open to the public and they were hoping for a large number of interested persons to attend. The meeting will be held in the Methodist church assembly room, and will start at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Yutzy is a son of Guy O. Yutzy, now of Baltimore, but the family formerly resided in Oakland. He is a nephew of Mrs. J. W. Glotfelty.

Two Hunters Lost But Both Are Found

Two hunters became lost on the first day of hunting season, one near the Meadow Mountain forest tower, and one in the Potomac State forest, but both were found during the night without being any the worse for the experience.

Bernard Jackson, 28, of Ardmore, Pa., became lost in the vicinity of the Meadow Mountain fire tower and when he realized he was lost and it was getting dark he proceeded to build a fire. He fired a couple of shots but they were not answered. He was found by Sheriff Paul W. Fisher and Deputy James Frantz, about 1 o'click a. m.

The other person lost was Bill Shaffer, aged 20. He was found Tuesday morning by Myrl Wilt, forest warden of Potomac State forest, and a group of searchers.

Adrenal Glands of Bucks Get Inspection Treatment

Garrett county's bucks that the hunters shoot are being given an unusual once-over this year by representatives of the department of research and education of the State Game and Inland Fish commission.

The once-over includes not only an impression of their teeth to determine by later study just how old the bucks were when they breathed their last, but will entail an inspection of their adrenal glands to see if the bucks in their lifetime were living under stress. Living under stress to either a young buck or an old buck means whether or not they are in a crowded area as far as deer population goes.

These research people are of the opinion that a buck that has been living under stress will have bigger adrenal glands than a buck that has been living the life of "Riley," under no stress.

Harold J. Elser, member of this research department, was in Oakland Monday and in Grantsville on Tuesday, making an inspection of all the bucks brought to the checking stations.

He said that a study which has been made at Johns Hopkins university over the past few years has shown that the adrenal glands of deer vary in size, according to the amount of stress. But thus far the outcome is mostly theory.

The researchers want to determine whether or not there is fact as well as theory, to this searching question.

Special Fund Sought For Hungary Relief

The Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross has been asked by the National Red Cross headquarters to provide $306 for a special fund for Hungarian relief.

The Red Cross is now moving supplies into Hungary and supervising distribution. As refugees poured into Austria by the thousands the Austrian government turned to the Red Cross to assume responsibility for the refugees. More than 83,000 already have crossed the border and others are added daily.

The local chapter was notified that the Red Cross must have additional funds to help meet the increasing need for food, medical supplies, clothing and other essentials. The organization is attempting to raise five million dollars throughout the nation.

President Eisenhower has urged all Americans to generously support the special Red Cross appeal.

The Red Cross aid will be separate from the escape program now being conducted by the Federal government. Both are active at Camp Kilmer, N. J., where the Red Cross is enlarging its program to help the Hungarian refugees as they enter this country.

Local Red Cross officials emphasized that this special fund was not a part of the regular drive, that would be conducted during the spring of the year. Anyone not being contacted and wishing to contribute to the Hungarian relief fund make checks payable to the American Red Cross and mail them to James Lemmert, treasurer, Oakland.

Mrs. Glotfelty said she hoped to have this special drive completed before the Christmas holidays. She has enlisted a number of persons to help in the campaign which include Thomas Cain, Oakland; Mrs. Britton Martin, Mt. Lake Park; Mrs. Ralph Calendrella, Kitzmiller; Miss Viola Broadwater, Grantsville; Mrs. Jay Bell, Crellin; Miss Jane Guard, Friendsville; Mrs. Owen Mattingly, Swanton; Mrs. Earle Glotfelty, McHenry; Mrs. Jonas Beachy, Bittinger; Mrs Clark Schlossnagle, Accident; Mrs. Pearl Pattison, Bloomington.

Plan Christmas Party

The Woodmen of the World will have their Christmas party on Thursday, December 13, at the Knights of Pythias hall in Oakland beginning at 7:45, it was announced.

State Manager Henry J. Shepherd, of Charleston, W. Va., and other sovereign camp officers will deliver talks.

Mrs. Ruth Brown and a group of high school students, will provide music for entertainment. Other music will be furnished by the Mountain Lions, a group including William Rees, Frank McDaniel, Mack Propst, Lewis Jones and Julius B. Littman.

All members of the W.O.W. and their wives are invited to attend.

Blaze Destroys Home

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bowser, at Asher Glade, near Friendsville, was completely destroyed by fire last Friday morning, November 30, about 6:45 o'clock.

The Friendsville and Markleysburg fire companies answered the alarm and saved the outbuildings near the house, but the entire contents of the inside of the home were destroyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowser have three children. At present the children are residing at the home of Mr. Bowser's brother, John Bowser, at Markleysburg, Pa.

Car And Garage Damaged By Fire

The 1950 Mercury automobile owned by Dempsey Fleming, and the garage at his home at Mt. Lake Park which housed it, were partially destroyed by fire last Thursday evening about 10 o'clock.

The Oakland firemen were called and succeeded in putting out the blaze but not before both the garage and car were badly damaged. Firemen estimated $500 damage to the building and $200 to its contents.

It was thought that the fire had started from faulty wiring. The blaze seemed to start from under the hood, firemen said.

Oakland firemen also answered a call from Bayard, W. Va., on Monday evening about 5:30 where it was thought a flue fire might get beyond control. However, the firemen were stopped at Gormania and sent back to Oakland, since the fire already had been extinguished.

'Hoboes' Routed Out of City Dump Home

Two self-styled "hoboes" who had set up what looked to be semi-permanent headquarters near the city dump at Oakland, were routed out of their comfort last week by city and state authorities and told to move on—or else.

City Police Chief Henry Arnold was notified of their location several days ago and he made an investigation in company with State Police Trooper Robert Henline.

The pair had boarded up an area beneath an old coal tipple, just above the city dump where they had been residing for a few days.

They told officers they came here during a snow storm and decided to "hole up." They had a fire built near the entrance to their shack and apparently were keeping warm. They were feeding on pick-ups from the city dump.

They identified themselves as Thomas Flynn and Orbie Bryant, with one of them giving Alabama as his address. A check of available police records was made but apparently neither man had been in any trouble or was wanted by authorities. So they were ordered to break up housekeeping and leave the area before sundown. After a thorough scrubbing at the county jail, the pair packed their belongings in a gunny sack and departed.

March Of Dimes Kick-Off Dinner Set For Monday

The kickoff dinner for the March of Dimes for 1957, will be held next Monday evening, December 10, at the William-James hotel in Oakland, at which time all the community workers will be called in to hear a resume of the campaign program and to receive necessary material.

Don Leitch, state director, will be present to outline the program. Ralph D. Swauger, chairman of the Garrett County chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said the 1957 campaign had a two-fold purpose—to guarantee the Salk vaccine to all, and to rehabilitate the more than 80,000 paralytic polio patients.

He pointed out that nationwide, 46 million dollars is needed to effect the aims.

Charles L. Briner, county campaign director, will also speak briefly. Mr. Briner recently attended a Washington regional meeting. A movie presenting reasons for the 1957 drive also will be shown.

The dinner will start at 6:30 p. m.

Deer Kill Hits 525 In 3 Days

Record Is On The Way To Be Broken Again This Year If Average Keeps Up

At least five hundred twenty-five deer have been killed in Garrett county during the first three days of the six-day open season, it was announced by game officials this morning.

The number was 87 above the total for the first three days of last year and there were indications that the final total would surpass the all-time record of 608 bucks killed, which occurred just last year.

Hunting weather has been mild for the first three days and rain began falling last night, with indications that the remainder of the week would turn some colder.

Most of the deer brought in were of moderate weight. Apparently the biggest rack of horns to show up until this morning was brought in by Claude Fike, of Accident, showing 11 points. This animal weighed 191 pounds which was also the heaviest. There were other 11-pointers but none that heavy. Yesterday, Bruce Reeder, Frederick, reported a 13-point, 101 pounder to head the list.

The number of women entering the picture continued to increase. This year Ruth Savage, Friendsville, got an 8-point, 154-pound buck, while other women successful in bringing down a buck included Annie Tichnell, Swanton, a 3-point 106 pounder; Elinor Browning, a 10-point 142 pounder; Janet Lee, Oakland, an 8-point, 155 pounder; Joanne Harvey, Swanton, a 3-point 94 pounder, and Elizabeth Bittinger, Swanton, a 5-point, 114 pounder.

Skeptical males declared it was just the husbands giving the women credit for the kill, but there is no foundation to such rumors.

Game wardens reported violations at a minimum. Several illegal kills have been reported, but spike bucks are legal kills this year.

The tabulation at the several stations showed the following figures for the first three days: Oak-

Salk Vaccine Now In Plentiful Supply

Enough Salk vaccine is now in the hands of the Garrett County Health department to provide 2,800 persons with the polio "shots" it was announced by Dr. Arthur Jones, county health officer.

The vaccine is provided under the Federal government program and Dr. Jones said any person up through 19 years of age is entitled to receive the treatment.

Government statistics show that incidence of paralytic polio is extremely low where individuals have had two or more immunizations.

Dr. Jones attended a meeting of health officers of the state recently and he said a report of Garrett county's record on immunizations for polio was not so good. Particularly the program above the sixth grade was lagging considerably.

The government program will end about July 1, 1957, and after that time the vaccine will be available only through private sources, he said. Because of the time limit on the government program he advised that persons should get the first two injections before the last of January, in order to come under the Federal program.

Deer Hunters Fined For Spotlighting

Three deer hunters from Baltimore, were fined a total of $600 on charges of spotlighting, when given a hearing yesterday morning before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer.

The three were listed as James F. Redding, John N. Krupnik and Lindy Reddings.

They pleaded guilty to the charge of spotlighting in the neighborhood of Herrington Manor, four miles west of Oakland.

Magistrate Bitzer fined each one $200 and costs, which were paid. The Baltimoreans were represented by S. F. Hamill, Jr. S. R. Pagenhardt, state's attorney, prosecuted the case. Pagenhardt said West Virginia authorities might also have preferred charges, as the men also had resident West Virginia hunting licenses in their possession, having obtained them from Clarksburg, W. Va.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

As we continue our series on the Lord's Prayer, we shall discuss this week one of the most difficult areas in the Christian Faith, the matter of forgiveness; the particular part of the Lord's Prayer we discuss is: "Forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us."

Forgiveness is first of all difficult in a personal way. It is difficult for people to admit that they need forgiveness for their sins, for they all too often forget the fact that they are sinful. They often think of sin as a part of somebody else's life, perhaps some person who has been reported in the newspaper as committing murder, but very rarely of their own. Again the problem of humility raises its ugly head—it just is not easy for somebody to admit that they are wrong—either to another man or to God. Therefore, prayer often deteriorates for the lack of the proper first point of prayer, humility before God in admitting your need of Him and His forgiving love.

But there is a far more serious problem involved in this petition, in the second part, which reads, "as we forgive those who trespass against us." This is the really hard part about forgiveness. How often I have observed the same attitude in people I have known that was the condemning feature of the man in Christ's "Parable of the Unforgiving Servant", recorded by Matthew in 18:23-35. If you have not read that section of the Holy Scriptures lately, do so right now, before you go any further with this article. How two-faced it is for a man to ask God to forgive his sins, and then turn right around and refuse to forgive the sins of another.

It seems to be a part of so many people's lives to forget the old maxim "There, but for the grace of God, go I". It is so much easier for a man to condemn another who has done him wrong, or has done wrong to society, than to preach to this man a gospel of forgiving love, redemptive power, and a new life in Christ. It is so much easier to tramp a man further down when he happens to fall into the gutter, than to try to help him find his way out of the gutter. So many more people seem to have the attitude of the Pharisee than the Publican, in Christ's "Parable of the Publican and the Pharisee at Prayer" Luke 18:9-14), as they enter into God's House for prayer. Consider, for instance, the case of the church member who came to Vespers one evening, and noticed that one of our members was sitting with a person who had an openly sinful past. Her comment, "Humph! It's too bad she can't find any one better than that to come to church with!" Or consider the other instance when I had preached a sermon on "The Whole Armor of God," part of which had to do with taking the "breastplate of righteousness." I made quite a point out of this, and openly emphasized that this definitely did not mean "self righteousness". One person, for whom this particular "shoe should have fit," remarked to me as she was leaving the church, "Pastor, that sermon should have been heard by those who weren't here." Perhaps this is not the exact quote, but I think you get the idea.

And so, though we do not like to admit it, we need God's forgiveness for our sins. But this forgiveness on the part of God is conditional upon our willingness to forgive the sins of others, and our willingness to recognize the fact that we are not perfect, but need Christ and His love, more and more, every day. It is in this spirit that we should go to God and pray, "And forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us."

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

It Does Not Quite Click

One suggestion since the election is that, currently with the inaugural of President Eisenhower for his second term, the Democrats should hold a "great victory" dinner and ball in Washington celebrating the retention of Democratic control in Congress. This brilliant idea, naturally, came from one of the "great liberal" Democratic senators. Given one guess as to whose fertile brain it originated in, nearly every Washington correspondent would put his finger on the Hon. Hubert Humphrey, the versatile and voluble Senator from Minnesota.

And they would be right. He is the man. Moreover, he seems to have thought it up all by himself. It is reported that Mr. Paul Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is favorably impressed by the Humphrey proposal. That is possible. Mr. Butler, who in the last campaign was the most violent and virulent of all the anti-Eisenhower name callers, would be favorably disposed toward any suggestion that might tend to strengthen his very thin chances of hanging on to his chairmanship. Also, his political judgment easily may be poor enough to persuade him that Senator Humphrey's idea might turn out to be a good one; that, as Mr. Humphrey himself says, it would make good party publicity.

—o—

Unfortunately, however, the reaction of other Democrats in and out of the Senate is anything but enthusiastic. Some of the more solid colleagues of the scintillating Minnesotan are disposed to look upon it, perhaps, as the silliest suggestion made in politics for years. So far from being "good publicity" for the Democratic party, it would, they contend, make their party a sort of national laughing stock. It must be admitted there seems something a little absurd in a party just emerging from a defeat of nearly 10,000,000 majority, celebrating a "victory" simultaneously with the inauguration of the candidates they so confidently expected to displace. It seems hardly possible to ignore the facts that these candidates carried all but seven of the 48 states in a landslide vote, solely because the Democrats control Congress by so small a margin that a single death in the Senate could take that control away from them. Yet, apparently that is what the Humphrey plan proposes.

—o—

Whom, its critics ask, do they expect to make the "inspiring speeches" essential to such an occasion? Surely, not Mr. Stevenson or Mr. Kefauver, each of whom in addition to being buried under that 10,000,000 majority, lost their own states—Illinois and Tennessee. And surely not Mr. Truman who predicted the result before the ticket was nominated. And again surely not Senator Lyndon Johnson, of Texas, whose state once more went for Mr. Eisenhower and who as the Senate Democratic leader, already has declared he expects to support the President's policies when they seem to be good. So do a number of other Democrats in both Senate and House, to whom that 10,000,000 majority in 41 states has a certain significance.

Another little matter that tends to make the Democratic "triumph" in retaining control of Congress under a Republican President less significant than it might have been, is the very clear split in the Democratic party between the Southerners who feel that the desegregation decision of the Supreme Court is unconstitutional and wicked and the Northern Democrats, including the labor bosses, who naturally regard it as an indorsement of Roosevelt and Truman policies. There, of course, is more to it than that. There is the obvious fact that the Democratic party comes out of the election divided by more things than the racial issue. For example, there is the question of in whose hands the Democratic leadership is really lodged. True, Mr. Stevenson and Senator Kefauver still are the "titular" party leaders. But there is a vast difference between the titular leadership and the actual leadership. After his second defeat it does seem clear that Mr. Stevenson's political future is all in the past. No party can renominate successfully and consecutively a twice beaten candidate.

—o—

Thus, the real problem of the Democrats seems not to hold a "victory" celebration, but to heal the great cleavages in the Democratic party itself, so as to again present a united front to the enemy. No one yet has offered a feasible idea as to how this is to be done. The Negro-farmer-organized labor combination at last has busted up. What the Democrats really need is another magnetic and outstanding personality. Both Mr. Stevenson and Senator Kefauver checked short on that—and there now seems none such on the Democratic horizon. Certainly there is none in sight to spark the great "victory" ball and dinner which Senator Humphrey is promoting. Perhaps, the good Senator should wait for another inspiration. This one just does not click.

THE BOUNDARY LINE DISPUTE

ARGUMENTS ARE BEGUN IN THE SUPREME COURT.

—Reprinted from Baltimore Sun of November 3, 1909.

Washington, November 3.(Special)—The Question of the boundary line between Maryland and West Virginia that has been in dispute almost since the colony of Maryland was founded by Lord Baltimore, and that was in the Supreme Court nearly three-quarters of a century ago, came up again today in the Supreme Court of the United States. The state of West Virginia was represented by Mr. George E. Price, of Charleston, who explained to the court that Attorney General Conley, of West Virginia, was detained by reason of the suit between West Virginia and Virginia over the settlement of the debt question. Maryland was represented by Attorney General Straus, Mr. Edward H. Sincell and by Mr. W. L. Rawls, of Baltimore, who was admitted to practice before the Supreme Court.

On huge stands hung maps of Maryland and West Virginia, showing the territory in dispute, the location of the historic Fairfax stone, which has now disappeared; the Potomac stone, which marks the point which Maryland claims is the starting point of the boundary line; the grants of land in the disputed territory that were issued to Virginia and by Maryland, the Michler line run by Lieutenant Michler under the commission of 1851, the alleged Deakins line of 1789 and a number of other points that are of importance in the issue.

Sincell's Interesting Argument.

This morning Mr. Sincell addressed the court on behalf of Maryland. For years Mr. Sincell has devoted his time to the study of the historical data involved. He addressed himself principally to the history of the case. His address was not only historically accurate, but he succeeded in presenting his case in a way so interesting and so unlike the usual legal statement of historic facts that he aroused the attention of the entire court. Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Holmes, Harlan and White interrupted him frequently by questions, each of which served in turn to give Mr. Sincell fresh opportunity to acquaint the court thoroughly with the history of the events that led to the placing of the Fairfax stone, and the subsequent course of events that made clear how Maryland from the earliest days of the first lord proprietor down to the action of the Maryland legislature in 1890 the act under which the present case is being tried, had protested against the boundary line that is now being claimed by West Virginia.

Mr. Price addressed the court for nearly three hours this afternoon. He presented the ancient claims that have been rehearsed again and again, insisting that the Fairfax stone marked the true boundary line, and that Maryland had acquiesced in that fact when in the Constitution of 1852 the Fairfax stone was referred to as the point from which the boundary line between Maryland and Virginia started. He dealt at length upon the value of the Deakins line, the line run by Francis Deakins under an act of the Maryland legislature in 1781, when it was decided to divide the free lands of Maryland west of Fort Cumberland among the soldiers of the Revolution.

Straus Scores a Point.

Mr. Price dwelt with such emphasis on the importance of the Deakins line that Mr. Straus was enabled to score a signal victory. He asked Mr. Price if he would state which of the many surveys that have been made would be claimed by West Virginia as the real line. Mr. Straus' question was immediately indorsed by several members of the court. Chief Justice Fuller and Justice White both asking Mr. Price repeatedly to point out on the map the line which he would claim as the boundary.

Mr. Price finally stated that the Deakins line was essentially the line which West Virginia would claim to be the true boundary line. This was a victory for Mr. Straus, because he will show in his argument tomorrow that Deakins never actually ran the line, and that, therefore, there is no Deakins line. Mr. Price sought to explain to the court that the Deakins line must be accepted with modifications, and then sought further to strengthen his case by claiming that Maryland had, in effect, acquiesced in the Deakins line both by granting land patents under that line and by the Constitution of 1852, when the Fairfax stone was named as the starting point of the boundary line between the two states. Here Mr. Justice Holmes suggested that the doctrine of laches, while holding between individuals, might perhaps under conditions not be applied to states.

There is an impression that the Supreme Court will issue an order directing a new survey under conditions which it will prescribe.

Final Result

Further information about the Fairfax stone was made available through the Parsons Advocate of July 19, which is the following:

The State of Maryland protested all of the Fairfax surveys, claimed the South Branch to be the main river, and that a line from the head waters of the South Branch to the Mason and Dixon Line was Maryland's western boundary. Since the head waters of the South Branch are in Highland county, Va., an approval of Maryland's claim would have cut the State of West Virginia in twain. Jefferson, Berkeley and Morgan counties would have remained in West Virginia but would have been cut off from the remainder of the state by a panhandle of Maryland which would have included all of Mineral County, the greater portion of Grant County, and huge portions of Hampshire, Hardy, Pendleton, Randolph and Tucker Counties.

The Supreme Court of the United States decided that the North Branch is the main stream of the Potomac and turned down Maryland's claim. A joint commission from the two states finally reached an agreement whereby Maryland's western boundary should terminate and the southern boundary begin at the point where the line from the Mason and Dixon line touches the Potomac River and this placed the site of the head waters about a mile north of the original site.

The western boundary of the Fairfax land grant was to begin at the Fairfax stone and run a southeastward course to the head waters of the Rappahannock river. At the close of the Revolutionary War all of Lord Fairfax's property was seized by the State of Virginia because he was a Tory and his vast estate was thrown open to settlers.

The State of Maryland erected a boundary marker where Maryland Highway No. 37 and U. S. Highway 219 intersect, three miles south of Red House.

The Fairfax Stone actually is not a stone at all. It is made of concrete. Souvenir hunters have broken off and carried away about a foot of the top and it now stands approximately eighteen inches square at its base and about three feet in height.

The present Fairfax Stone was erected in 1910. The original Fairfax Stone erected in October, 1746, was constructed of four pieces of sandstone built up to an apex, four and a half feet in height. The base stone was square and measured two and a half feet on each side. It was sunk to a level with the surface and three stones formed the pyramid, two of which were each two feet high, and the cap-stone six inches in height, all cut true and joined together. There was no date but on each side of the middle stone of the pyramid were cut the letters "FFX." This stone eventually was destroyed by actions of visitors who broke off pieces as souvenirs. In 1910 the Davis Coal and Coke company erected the present concrete marker which bears no resemblance whatever to the original stone and is not even placed on the original site but about a mile farther to the north.

The Fairfax Stone is now a corner marking for Tucker, Preston and Grant counties in West Virginia.

Historians declare there can be no doubt but that the South Branch is the main river but at the time of the original measuring of the flow of the two rivers the North Branch was the biggest due to heavy rainfall in the upper regions of the North Branch.

The story of the boundary line dispute was found among the papers of Mrs. Edward H. Sincell recently and was deteriorating so rapidly that she asked that a copy be made of it so it could be preserved indefinitely. The balance of the story is reprinted in the interest of local history.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

What will be the attitude of the United States government towards the Soviet Union now that its true nature has been displayed in all its naked brutality in tragic Hungary? You and I and the other 168 million citizens will decide that question by doing something or not doing something about it. Here are some questions we first must ask ourselves; Should our governmental leaders continue to clink highball glasses with the Communists at gay festivities? Should our foreign policy be one prostrating the U. S. before the Red Masters, pleading again for "co-existence?

Should Bulganin, Khrushchev and Malenkov be invited to America and be feted at official governmental functions, as they were in England recently (and as had reportedly been planned by our State Department)? If you think the answer to these three questions should be, No; then you had better write the President of the United States, the Acting Secretary of State, Mr. Hoover, and your representatives in Congress and tell them so.

Our governmental leaders are sensitive to the wishes of the people, but only if those wishes are expressed. The President, under our American political system, makes the foreign policy; and the State Department carries it out, but the Congress wields a powerful influence on it. If sufficient Americans do not express themselves we may drift for a while in our present official attitude of shock and injury and then slip back again into the "brotherly" acceptance of the Soviet Union and its Masters. This would be tragic to all the world.

There is, of course, no difference in the Communism displayed in Hungary and the Communism that has been in action in all the subject nations year in and year out. The Communists' crushing of the long suffering people of Hungary was spectacular because for a brief period a true account of their actions got to the outside world. Identical methods of crushing out resistance have been used in all the other countries now controlled by the Reds—and these actions have been well known to those responsible for our foreign policy.

Hungary, with all its terrible tragedy, could prove to be the turning point in Communism's relentless march toward world domination. If the political leaders and all the people of the free world now demonstrate the characteristics of morality in keeping with freedom, they can never again accept the leaders of Communism in the society of decent people. By condemning the Red monstrosity before the world, the boiling spirit of revolution throughout the whole Communist empire could be kept alive, and one day Communism would be crushed out. The voice of every American should be heard in the White House, in the State Department and in the Congress. Will you accept this responsibility?

Spray Alfalfa Soon Specialist Suggests

Alfalfa should be sprayed soon for chickweed and wild turnip, says Dr. Paul W. Santelmann, University of Maryland extension weed control specialist. These two annual winter weeds create a problem on Maryland farms each year during the fall and winter months. They start growing in September and continue to grow until they flower and die in the late spring or early summer.

Wild turnip has been found in greater quantities this year than in the past. Chickweed is increasing too, and Dr. Santelmann predicts "we will have another bad chickweed year."

Chickweed is bad because in many cases it reduces alfalfa stands by smothering the alfalfa and robbing it of important nutrients and water which are needed for good growth. Heavy matted chickweed also provides a place for disease organisms to live.

Chickweed can be controlled with Dinitro and CIPC after the alfalfa is dormant. However, CIPC kills grasses too, so must be used only on pure alfalfa stands. One application of one to two pounds per acre of CIPC will kill all the chickweed. Dinitro can be sprayed at the rate of a pound to a pound and a half per acre where the weed is not too heavy. Heavy infestations of chickweed will require two or three spray applications of Dinitro.

Wild turnip in seedling alfalfa cannot be controlled with complete safety yet, the weed specialist says. MCP has been used for some years with varying degrees of success and should be used only as an emergency measure. If the weed is going to kill the alfalfa anyway, he says farmers may as well try MCP in an effort to save the alfalfa. Recommended amounts of MCP are one-quarter to one-half pound per acre after the alfalfa is dormant. The spraying must also be done when the outdoor temperature is above 60 degrees. In using MCP, it is important to use a carefully calibrated sprayer because if more than one-half pound per acre is used the chances of alfalfa injury are greatly increased.

MCP is very much like 2, 4-D and similar precautions must be taken when using it. A new university Fact Sheet, (FS 129) will be available free of charge from county agent offices in about two weeks. The publication is "Control Winter Annual Weeds in Alfalfa." Fact Sheet 127, "Using 2, 4-D Correctly," is also available.

THE AMERICAN WAY

BIGNESS MAKES AMERICA

By Dr. Alfred P. Haake, noted economist, public relations consultant, author and lecturer.)

Faithful over a few things, he was made ruler over many things. That is the lesson from one of the greatest stories ever told. It is the story of growth from small beginnings to greater things, from humble stature to responsible leadership. It is the reward for stewardship accepted and discharged in good faith and service.

It is the core of what made and still makes America. It is typified in the legends of Horatio Alger. It reminds us of the poor Danish boy who came to America and lifted himself to the presidency of what he helped build into the greatest industrial corporation in the world.

They came to us by hundreds and thousands, seeking in America the opportunities denied them at home. Out of them arose business leaders, educators, scientists, political leaders, preachers, Judges and a host of successful men and women, thanks to the magic of jobs well done that lead from small beginnings to greater things.

The spirit of Horatio Alger, patron saint of the ambitious American youth, has his detractors, now as then, of course. Some of us like the benefits of service from bigness, even as we envy and would tear down the men who made it big for us. Let a man lift his head above the level of the commonplace and he becomes a target for brickbats from those who were unwilling to pay the price he paid in faith and work.

There are the pseudo champions for the underdog who would punish the successful by limiting them to the status or returns of the less efficient. What they really resent is their own smallness, which they hope to hide by reducing those who have grown out of their smallness.

Bigness becomes a sin in their eyes, a sin which they would correct in the same way that we might equalize a ball game by allowing the better team only two strikes per man while the weaker crowd get three. Or by having the umpire in a football game block off a tackle of one team in order to let the runner for the weaker team make his first down.

Let a pretty girl reveal real brains and work hard in using them, and there will be those who show their scorn of her, and their envy, by dubbing her as a "brain" and giving their dates to the more responsive mediocrities who value thrills above understanding of history and mathematics.

We have other teen-agers who ape their elders in denouncing great organizations which provide work for the millions, production and services that raised America to the status of the most powerful nation in the world and fed a world after two great world wars—and then flock to worship a sullen sultry boy whose physical antics thrill them with the passions of the vicarious.

We even have lawmakers who gaze sternly at the success and bigness of a producer whose intelligent research, hard work and faithful service have won the patronage of customers who seek the most for their money, and then, in the words of the World-Herald of Omaha, fail to interfere with the operations of the "hoodlums who have wormed their way into a much bigger enterprise, labor's pension and welfare funds."

Instead of badgering and defaming the great men and corporations who have built and are building America, it would be better if we restored the spirit of Horatio Alger, renewed our acquaintance with the great parable of the talents; and tried to keep the game fair instead of manipulating it to punish the successful.

We need not fear the bigness that grew from small beginnings and developed under rigorous competition. That is the bigness that makes America, and holds the door open to anyone who, being faithful in a few things, qualifies himself through faith and work for bigger and better things.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

An Evaluation of American Women

We hear much today of how people in other lands feel about us here in the United States. Sometimes the things we read disturb us, and make us wonder why we have become the unpopular folks we are pictured to be.

Recently, I read an article by a French woman, which gives an insight in the difference of our thinking in this country and in Europe, especially as it effects women.

She relates that she had been born in France, educated in Switzerland, and had spent some time living in England, after her marriage to an American. She is soon to realize her greatest ambition, that of becoming a full-fledged American citizen.

Going back to her life in Europe, she relates that she had always heard American women criticized abroad for many things, among them being our superficiality, our weakness, our softness, our inability to cope with trouble and tragedy. She had come to believe those things until she met many American women, and reached some conclusions of her own of the reasons for those criticisms. She believes that European women so often feel they are losing their place as a symbol of all that is womanly. Still tied to a great extent by iron traditions and weighed down by tired concepts of femininity, they see their American sisters enjoying a new freedom in the home, with men, with work and in play. In her opinion, they look with envy at our freedom, and she goes on to say that we should recognize this and forgive them when we see this jealousy in European women.

She had always been told that American women were superficial, unused to hardship, unable to handle themselves, either emotionally or practically when real tragedy strikes.

She says, "I have found nothing further from the truth about them. I know one whose husband was paralyzed and who took over his business; another whose only child, a lovely little boy, was killed, and who now devotes her leisure hours to boys' club work; still another who lost her sight and whose courage is a constant source of inspiration and help to those around her".

She is glad to see our American women having fun, and she believes that because of their insistence on fun, on the simple joys of existence they are essentially deeper than European women and better able to cope with tragedy when it does strike. She tells of her learning how to play tennis, to bowl, to take part in all kinds of sports and how it added to her own dimensions of living.

This next one she lists is the most amazing one of all. Have we not all heard, even here in our own land of our materialistic outlook, how everything we hold dear has a price tag of dollars and cents on it? She heard the same thing in Europe, how the women of our land are just that way. Yet, she says, in her opinion that is not true.

She believes because the American woman has things in great plenty, she has been able to afford to look beyond them to the more important things. She gives these examples: She values more her relationship with her husband than she does his job and his paycheck; she cares far more whether her children are healthy and happy than whether they have as many toys as the children next door.

In France the father is dominant in the family; the woman tends to be in the background. In America, she has taken up our thinking, and goes on fishing trips with her husband and sons, plays tennis with them. She says she is not the fragile doll her mother was, neither is she a drudge in the kitchen, but has become in every sense an American mother, and glories in it.

She concludes her article in this way: American women have given me a new dimension in my life, a new individuality, a chance to live up to the real potentialities I have felt within me. And my gratitude to them shall be boundless forever.

How nice to hear us spoken of in such a friendly manner.

It's a Whiz at Everything a car should do

It turns out that the 1957 Buick is far more than just a brand-new automobile.

It turns out that this new '57 Buick is winning the raves with a new kind of going and a new kind of stopping—a new kind of handling and a new kind of road sureness—a new kind of safety and a new kind of comfort.

We'll be specific.

When you press the pedal of a new '57 Buick, the response is literally instant . . .

Because the high-torque power of a new 364-cubic-inch V8 engine is delivered in the split of a second through a new full-range Variable Pitch Dynaflow that's immediate in its oil-smooth action.*

When you brake to a stop, you and the car stay on a level plane . . .

Because an ingenious new ball-joint suspension in every '57 Buick virtually ends the down-in-front dip that cars have on sudden stops.

When you take a turn or swing into an "S" curve, you still hug the road like a streamliner on rails—

Because under you is a massive wide-frame new chassis that "nests" the whole car inches closer to the road with the lowest center of gravity in Buick history—yet with no change in road clearance.

And when you sit in the deep comfort of those soft wide seats, you can drive with the pleasant ease of a clear conscience, without watching the speedometer . .

Because only in Buick today can you have an ingenious new Safety-Minder that acts as a warning sentinel for the miles-per-hour you preset for yourself*

There are many other new things that make this gorgeous Buick a car of limitless wonders —from the bigger and more rakish windshield that makes seeing more relieving, to the extra roominess that's so surprising in this beauty with the sports-car lowness.

But there's nothing like a firsthand sampling to know how modern the newest thing on wheels really is. Come in today for your meeting with the newest Buick yet.

Solution To Teacher Shortage Outlined

A solution to the teacher shortage in Maryland was offered in a talk presented Tuesday night at Friendsville by Milson Raver, executive secretary of the Maryland State Teachers association.

The meeting was sponsored by the State Teachers association and the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers for about 50 persons in the county who met in the Friendsville school cafeteria for dinner. Among those attending were the members of the state legislature, the three County Commissioners, business men, presidents of parent-teacher groups and others.

Mr. Raver explained in detail the five-year program for Maryland Public schools which was launched over two years ago and used a pamphlet as the basis of his remarks.

The mounting problem of the teacher shortage, he said, has been caused primarily by swollen school enrollments and the low salary schedule that prevails throughout the state.

The five-year program proposes a two-fold answer to the problem, Mr. Raver declared. "First, we must complete the building program outlined by the State Board of Education for the teacher colleges and second, we must provide the new salary schedules for teachers, to attract a sufficient number of young people to enter the teaching profession."

He said it was apparent that it would now take a beginning salary of more than $4,000 to provide enough qualified teachers.

The State Board of Education has recommended an increase of $800 in teacher salaries, establishing a new state minimum of $3,600 to $5,400, with the maximum to be reached over a ten-year period.

The total cost of the program over a two-year period would take $22 million dollars. Raver pointed out that Maryland was one of the wealthy states of the nation, ranking twelfth in per capita income and that citizens in 40 states paid a larger part of their income for state and local taxes than people in Maryland.

He said that we could afford to end the teacher shortage if the program was explained satisfactorily to the people and if they make their wants known to the legislators and Governor McKeldin.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, also spoke to the group on the need for adequate physical facilities, a sound and sensible education program, and competent teachers in the classrooms. He summed up what improvements had been made among the elementary schools in the past two years and what further improvements were to be made.

John Wolf, president of the County Council of Parents and Teachers, was in charge of the program. Carl Everly introduced Mr. Raver. Mrs. Frederick Thayer led some group singing.

NEWS FROM THE Ruth Enlow Library

BY EDITH BROCK

A book in memory of Julius W. Walter has been given by Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Proudfoot.

Other donations of books have been received from Rev. Frank Johnson and from Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stanton. William Ott has donated a number of magazines.

A Thanksgiving scene made by Mrs. Thayer's fourth grade has been on exhibit in the young people's room.

Those who enjoy reading the dramatic story of archaeological discovery will be interested in "The Bible As History" by Werner Keller. Beginning with an account of excavations at Ur and ending with the discovery of the Dead Sea scrolls, Dr. Keller proceeds through the Bible, describing discoveries that confirm or illuminate Biblical narratives. A recent book on the Dead Sea scrolls which provides a complete translation of the scrolls so far as they have been published, together with a descriptive introduction, is "The Dead Sea Scriptures," by Theodore Gaster. New books on other phases of archaeology include Leonard Cottrell's "The Mountains of Pharaoh," the exciting drama of pyramid exploration, and Mary Chubb's "Nefertiti Lived Here," an entertaining narrative of young archaeologists in Egypt. C. W. Ceram, author of the popular "Gods, Graves and Scholars" has told the story of the discovery of an ancient empire almost unknown before 1946 in "The Secret of the Hittites." Digging up the history of past civilizations is revealed in all of these books as an exciting adventure, which is by no means finished.

Gets Big Rabbit

Two weeks ago John Smith, of Mt. Lake Park, reported that while hunting near the Holy Cross camp along Deep Creek Lake, he bagged a snow-shoe hare. It weighed approximately eight pounds.

In March, 1952, the Game and Inland Fish Commission released 18 snow-shoe rabbits in this county, being shipped here from the Adirondacks in New York. Nothing was ever heard of them until Mr. Smith's announcement.

The hare that was caught was probably released at Mt. Nebo where seven others were freed four and one-half years ago. If so the rabbit would have traveled over four miles.

Snow-shoe rabbits turn white in winter, but this one still had black-tipped ears, black tail and was partly black on the back.

Sun Article Gives Skiing A Boost

Garrett county's skiing season received a valuable boost in the Baltimore Sun of Monday, December 3, with an account of the official opening and three pictures of activities on the opening day.

The story and pictures were obtained by Ernest R. Furgurson, a Sun staff correspondent, who came to Oakland early Saturday in anticipation of the event.

The event was described by Ferguson as follows:

"A lone black dot zig-zagged down the 55 percent slope of 3,800 foot Marsh Hill at McHenry and the 1956-57 skiing season was open in Maryland. The dot was Howard Naylor, of Oakland. He had been pulled uphill by the only ski tow operating in the State to a wind-swept pinnacle west of route 219. The ridge overlooks the big red barn where the Garrett County Playhouse operates during the summer and Marsh Run Cove, the northern neck of Deep Creek Lake.

"The westernmost county of Maryland, already established as a summer recreation area, is bidding to fill the same role during the snowy months . . . Five inches covered most of the area with drifts topping three feet. But skiing is not the only cold-weather sport. Deer hunters trooped into the county for a week-long season and a gradually thickening coat of ice on Deep Creek Lake, Herrington Manor lake, Mountain Lake and Youghiogheny reservoir will offer skating. Enough hotels, motels and cabins are open now to take care of nearly 400 visitors.

"Helmuth M. Heise, who set up the Deep Creek slopes at McHenry, said that business men were working with the Baltimore and Ohio railroad to set up a week-end package rate to Oakland and the ski area from the Baltimore-Washington area. Such a package would be a flat-fee proposition, covering train fare, rooms, meals and local transportation.

"The 2,000-foot slope here, made less frightening to those out of physical condition by a rope tow operating over 1,200 of its steepest feet, is by no means the only skiing in the county. Any obstruction-free grade with a good covering of snow serves the purpose.

"One other once-popular slope is that at New Germany state forest, about five miles south of Grantsville. Elmer H. Uphole, superintendent of the forest, said that conditions there were improving with the off and on snowfall. The Western Maryland Ski club, based at Cumberland, will furnish a ski patrol, safety detail and basic instruction here. Skiing gear will be available for renting later in the season at the slope's warming shack, where food and hot drinks will be dished out."

Actually the number of skiers increased on Sunday morning but by afternoon the thawing weather had well-nigh ruined any further skiing for the time being. No charge was made for the initial try-outs on the ski tow over the week-end, but regular charges will be made during the ensuing weeks. A tentative schedule includes $1.50 per day, 50 cents for children under 12, $10 for a season ticket for one person, or $15 for a family.

Civic Club Has Dinner For Husbands, Friends

Approximately forty members of the Oakland Civic club, their husbands and friends, attended the dinner given last Sunday evening at the William-James hotel.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Neil Fraley, vice-president and program chairman. Speaker was William A. Gunter, of Cumberland, who was presented by Walter W. Dawson. Invocation was given by Mrs. W. W. Grant and Mrs. Grover C. Stemple led the pledge to the flag.

Mr. Gunter recalled he had been a guest of the club in 1929 and recalled many other events in his life since that time. He justified such gatherings by quoting Judge Calvin Chestnut who said, "The man I don't like is the man I don't know."

Charles Briner, soloist, dedicated "Allegany Moon" to Mr. Gunter, since he had spent his honeymoon in Grantsville, and dedicated "I Love You Truly" to Associate Judge and Mrs. Neil Fraley who were observing their 39th wedding anniversary. He concluded with "My Prayer." His accompanist was Miss Lillian Wall, Southern High school instructor. The group joined in singing Christmas songs before adjournment.

Sponsor Rat Eradication Program Around Bittinger

The Bittinger Boys' 4-H club is sponsoring a rat eradication program in the Bittinger area. Some club member will contact each home owner between the Jonas Beachy farm on the South and the Melvin Stanton farm on the north. Any person beyond these limits who would like to participate in the program may contact a member of the club or the local leader, Elbert Buckel.

To be effective the club is planning 100% participation. It is estimated that rats do 40 million dollars in damage to Maryland residents yearly. The starting date for poisoning will probably be December 15. Those participating will be notified of the date when plans have been completed.

WHEN I GROW UP . . .

Magical words these, "when I grow up"—full of promise, replete with confidence. What youngster hasn't uttered them?

This lad is no different. He looks into the future that will be his when he grows up, and the world is his oyster, intact with pearls.

This month he wants to be a flier. Next month he'll want to be an engineer, spanning bridges across great rivers and wide chasms. The month after that he'll see himself as a surgeon, scalpel poised between skilled fingers. And the month after that—who knows?

For youth is ever changing, ever restless. That's why it is so important that youth's naturally impulsive nature be held fast by an anchor that is good, firm and permanent. They need a faith that will sustain them whether they become doctors, fliers, or engineers. The Church provides this faith, this anchor.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Is Your Name Wolf or Wolfe?

WOLF and WOLFE have been in widespread use as surnames for many centuries. They admit of at least two derivations. According to some authorities on nomenclature, they signify "son of Ulf," the latter being a personal name that was popular in ancient and mediaeval times in Great Britain and the Scandinavian countries. It is said also that WOLF and WOLFE owe their usage as surnames to the fact that many centuries ago, when the vast majority of the people were illiterate, it was the custom for innkeepers, businessmen and the like to identify their establishments by means of a readily distinguishable sign. Such a sign might show an animal or a bird. Thus, "John atte Wolf" signified "John at the sign of the wolf." In time, "atte" was dropped and the name became John Wolf which, in many instances, was transformed to John Wolfe.

Michael Wolf (1754-1825) and George Wendell Wolfe (1740-1826) were captains of Pennsylvania troops during the Revolutionary War.

The first census of the United States, taken in 1790, has twenty-four listings of individuals bearing the names of Wolf or Wolfe, who were residents of Maryland and heads of families at that time.

G. W. Wolf, an attorney, was admitted to the Garrett County Bar in 1873.

W. S. Wolf was elected constable of District No. 7, Garrett County, in 1880.

Harry K. Wolfe, (1858-1918) was professor of philosophy at the University of Nebraska.

Alfred Edward Wolf, of Cleveland is financial vice-president and a member of the board of directors, Standard Oil Company of Ohio.

J. Theodore Wolfe is executive vice-president and a member of the board of directors, Baltimore Gas and Electric Company.

Frederick A. Wolf is professor of botany at Duke University, Durham, N. C.

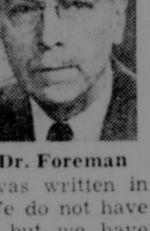
In All Things, God

Lesson for December 9, 1956

THERE is far too much in the famous eighth chapter of Romans to think about in the small space of one column. So one sentence from it will be quite enough food for thought: "We know that in everything God works for good with those who love him." (Rom. 8:28.) Readers familiar with the old King James translation (made in 1611) will notice that the new translation is different. The old version read: "We know that all things work together for good to them that love God." . . . Which translation is right? The letter to the Romans was written in Greek, of course. We do not have the original letter, but we have discovered some Greek copies of it in manuscripts much earlier than any that were known back in 1611. The oldest and best of these have exactly what the Revised Standard Version accurately translates: Not things but God is the subject of the sentence—it is God who works for good in everything, it is not things that work for good.



Dr. Foreman

"In Everything, God . . ."

Christians who take the Bible seriously do not believe in a far-away God. It is quite true, as the Psalm writer said, there is no getting away from God. The wildest dream of the most fanciful space-fiction writer might come true, but on the last lost planet God would still be there. God is in all space and in all time, too. However old the universe may be, God is older still. But the God revealed in the Bible is not one who set the universe going as a man winds a watch and then lets it run. God is in all things, and all things are in God. This is not so hard to believe. What does call for a rugged faith is the Bible belief that God is in things we find painful and bad, not in good things alone. If we do not believe this, then we are always haunted by the fear—What if the evil in the world is too much for God? What if eventually he is overwhelmed by a universe he cannot control? What if God's intentions are better than his abilities? Have no fear, God's Word assures us. God is not on vacation, he is at work in everything, small and great, in pain and in delight.

"God Works for Good"

The Bible writers never say that all things are good. Some things are good. Some things are bad, some things are just the opposite of what they ought to be. This raises a most difficult problem, the problem of evil. No one knows the answer to it; but the Bible never takes the short-cut of denying that evil exists. What the Bible does say is that even in evil things God is at work for good. Joseph, son of Jacob, as a boy was sold into Egypt as a slave by his criminal brothers. That was not a good thing. Years later, however, the man Joseph said to his brothers, "You meant it for evil, but God meant it for good." If it had not been for that wicked act (and some others besides) the family of Jacob would have perished of starvation. History is full of illustrations of the ways in which God brings good out of evil. Tyranny and cruelty are not good things; yet if George III had been a more enlightened and just king, the American colonists might never have thought of achieving freedom. The "World Wars" were terrible things; but they did rid the world of some tyrannies. Many events in our personal lives which were frustrating or tragic, have been seen in later years to have been part of God's wise plan. After all, what kind of God would our God be, if he could not bring good out of evil?

"With Those Who Love Him"

The new and better translation of this great sentence from St. Paul brings out another point which Paul's Greek suggests: God is at work with those who love him. He works for them, to be sure, but that is not the main point here. God's work is never a substitute for the work of those who love him. Loving God is no excuse for not serving him. Loving God is not mere sentiment, a sort of warm glow, a happy feeling about the "man upstairs." Love of God, like love of neighbor, is a serious thing. It calls for devotion, hard work, even sacrifice. To go back to the story of Joseph, God brought good out of evil; but suppose Joseph himself had been lazy, selfish and careless? God's work calls for many partners — not sidewalk superintendents, not slaves, but partners in the everlasting Love.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission.

"Hit By A Truck"

Possibly there have been in the past less fruitful political conferences than that held early this week in Washington by members of the Democratic National Committee summoned by Chairman Paul Butler to lay down a policy and program for the party's future and prepare for "victory" in 1958 and 1959.

—o—

But if there has been one less fruitful it cannot now be recalled. At any rate, there was one political realist at the conference in the person of Colonel "Jake" Arvey, Democratic boss of Illinois and the man who in 1952 and also in 1956 was more responsible for the nomination of Mr. Adlai Stevenson than any other. Colonel Arvey is national committeeman for Illinois and a very practical politican, indeed. After listening to a number of speeches about the "great victory" of the Democrats in retaining control of Congress by a margin of one vote in the Senate and of the desirability of celebrating this "victory" with a "victory" dinner and ball simultaneously with the second inauguration of President Eisenhower, Colonel Arvey very dryly said at the close of the conference, "It is all very well to talk about this 'great victory' and the idea of a celebration but it seems to me we were hit by a truck."

—o—

No one has replied to that realistic observation. The reason, of course, is that there is no adequate reply. That 10,000,000 popular Eisenhower majority very greatly outweighs that single vote in the Senate and the 20-odd votes against him in the House, whenever Mr. Eisenhower chooses to invoke it in behalf of either domestic or foreign policies which are clearly in the national interest. One example, is the farm policy advocated by Secretary of Agriculture Benson and strongly indorsed by the President. This policy a short time ago was denounced by Senator Kefauver, now one of the titular leaders of his party, as "disastrous" and "dishonest." Immediately, following the Kefauver denunciation the National Grange, oldest, most respected and most influential of all farm organizations, indorsed the Eisenhower-Benson farm plans and policies. Considering this, not many have real doubt that the coming Congress will go along with the Eisenhower Administration's farm program.

The truth is that, despite a Democratic majority in both Senate and House, the more astute observers of the congressional scene believe that Mr. Eisenhower will have considerably more success in getting his program through in the new Congress than he did in the last one. For this conviction there are several reasons. One, of course, is that no part of his program is partisan. Another is that, according to those who know him best, the President intends to use his power, popularity and prestige much more forcefully in behalf of Administration measures than he did in his first term. A third is that he knows much better now than he did in his first term how to do these things. Four years of experience with Congress has taught him a great deal. And while, of course, he cannot succeed himself as President, no President with the kind of popular majority which he piled up on November 6 will be devoid of political influence whenever he chooses to invoke it—that is unless he becomes silly. Of that there certainly is no sign.

A fourth and final reason supporting this belief is the condition of the Democratic party. As the laconic Colonel "Jake" so truthfully says, it was "hit by a truck." Also, it was, as used to be said, knocked "higher than Kilroy's kite." It seems at this time utterly leaderless. Two days ago one of the prominent Stevenson columnists predicted that in a few days Mr. Stevenson would declare himself unavailable as a future candidate, determined to go back to the practice of law and the joys of private life. In his effort to do this, few, indeed, want to restrain him—quite the contrary. The general feeling among party people is that neither Adlai or Estes has "what it takes" for the high offices to which they aspire. In the last election the American people gave unmistakable evidence that was their feeling, too.

One result of the conference was the passage of several pious resolutions calling upon Democrats "to act" and authorizing Mr. Butler to appoint a "special committee." The actual result was to reveal more clearly the wide split in the party. The real leaders who did not attend the conference and were not invited to were Senator Lyndon Johnson, Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, both of Texas, and Mr. Truman. It is claimed that these powerful party politicans will "go along." But no one thinks they will "go along" with the garrulous Senator Humphrey, of Minnesota; the left-wing Senator Paul Douglas, of Illinois; the radical Walter Reuther, of CIO, or Mr. Butler, the very unpopular chairman who is struggling to hold on to his job—and its salary. In brief, there exists no real leadership in the party.

To Present "Nativity Story"

The Eighth grades of Northern High school, under direction of Miss F. Beachy, Miss Mary L. Aultman and Lawrence K. Meyers, will present "The Nativity Story," on Wednesday, December 19, at 8 p. m., at the school.

Hunting Policy

We all know that Garrett county is one of the leading deer hunting sections in the State of Maryland. The school made provisions for those desiring to hunt deer. Monday, December 3, showed that 313 had gone deer hunting or at least were not at school. On Tuesday 205 were absent. It looks as though quite a few families were eating deer meat.

One day of absence to hunt deer was accepted as an excusable absence provided the student brought a written excuse from parent or guardian.

Two days of absence was excusable if the student had not missed more than two days of school this year and had satisfactory marks on his report card for the first marking period.

A student planning to be absent had to consult his teacher on work to be done to receive credit for the class work he missed.

Students with more than two absences were permitted to make up work or receive credit for any of the days missed.

These students will have the opportunity to visit the United Nations building in New York. If possible they will sit in on a session of the General Assembly, which should be very interesting. These students may be seen getting off the bus at Grantsville at about 4:00 on Tuesday morning heading for home, or to school if they think they can take it.

The first basketball game of the season will be played with Terra Alta on Friday, December 7, at Terra Alta. Let's all try to come to the game and help our team to win.

Farmers to Get More Money For Hogs, Beef in 1957

Maryland farmers will probably receive higher prices for milk, hogs, beef and tobacco next year according to the 1957 agricultural outlook report released Monday by the University of Maryland Department of Agricultural Economics.

At the same time, farmers will probably receive less for eggs, broilers, turkeys, soybeans and vegetables, the report showed. The outlook for corn in 1957 is very uncertain because corn prices may be influenced by support prices or the acreage reserve program of the Soil Bank Act.

Farm income in Maryland during 1957 is expected to be about the same as this year. In 1955, Maryland farm income reached a new low of $19 million dollars. This was 43 percent below 1954 and 60 percent below 1949. The economists expect the 1956 figure to be slightly above the 19 million.

Both domestic and foreign demand for agricultural goods is expected to continue strong. Increased exports have been aided by a stronger foreign demand and by government export programs which in 1955-56 accounted for over 40 percent of the total agricultural exports. Higher incomes and increased employment will lead to increased food expenditures by U. S. consumers.

Farming costs in 1957 are almost certain to increase, the report said. Equipment, labor and fuel will be higher as will be taxes, interest and land. Feed prices might average slightly higher in the first half of the year.

It is expected there will be fewer milk cows in 1957 but more milk, the report continued. However, the economists do not expect 1956 milk production to exceed the 1955 record production year of 1.49 billion pounds. If this happens, it will be the first time in 10 years that Maryland milk production will not have exceeded the previous mservicethemtancreasedo

There will be about seven percent more eggs in 1957 and prices will take a slight tumble. This production increase is five percent above the national average increase of only two percent.

Total broiler output for the next year will probably exceed 1956 output. Prices in 1957 are likely to rise above November, 1956, level of 17 to 18 cents a pound, but will average slightly below the 20 to 21 cents received in the spring and summer of 1956.

If more turkeys are produced, as the report indicated will happen, prices will remain low.

One Solitary Life . . .

No one knows who wrote the following article, but is is particularly appropriate to reprint the words at this time. They have been published before, but they do not grow old. It is impossible to measure the impact this one man—this solitary life—this man called Jesus—had on the world. We quote:

Here is a young man who was born in an obscure village, the child of a peasant woman. He grew up in another village. He worked in a carpenter shop until he was thirty, and then for three years he was an itinerant preacher. He never wrote a book. He never held an office. He never owned a home, he never had a family. He never went to a college. He never put his foot inside a big city. He never traveled 200 miles from the place where he was born. He never did one of the things that usually accompany greatness. He had no credentials but himself.

While he was still a young man the tide of public opinion turned against him. His friends ran away. He was turned over to his enemies. He went through the mockery of a trial. He was nailed to a cross between two thieves. While he was dying his executioners gambled for the only piece of property he had on earth, and that was his coat. When he was dead, he was laid in a borrowed grave through the pity of a friend.

Nineteen centuries have come and gone and today he is the central figure of the human race and the leader of the column of progress. I am within the mark when I say that all the armies that ever marched, and all the navies that ever sailed, and all the parliaments that ever sat, and all the kings that ever reigned, put together, have not affected the life of a man upon this earth as has that . . . ONE SOLITARY LIFE!

Emphasize Need In Coming Drive For Polio Funds

Emphasizing that the people of this nation must not leave the job only half finished, the forty or more persons who will assist in the coming March of Dimes drive were told at the kick-off dinner Monday night that this is a very crucial year for the campaign.

Donald Leitch, state director, traced the activities of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis since its organization in 1938. He pointed out that where the Salk vaccine is being used that paralytic polio was being practically wiped out, but he stressed the fact that people are not taking advantage of the vaccine and that as a result a tremendous educational campaign will have to be waged.

He also noted that $4 out of every $5 spent from receipts of previous drives was being used for aid to patients already suffering from the disease and that this work may have to continue for several years.

Ralph Swauger, county chairman, listed the four aims of this year's drive—to help the stricken, to protect the unprotected, to finish the job of research and to relieve the professional shortage of physicians. The slogan for this year is "Remember Me," stressing rehabilitation. It was estimated that 16,000 cases of polio occurred in 1956.

In order to stress the vaccine program, Dr. Arthur Jones, county health officer, gave the first immunization treatment to a number of teen-agers from both Northern and Southern High schools, and to one of the instructors. It was announced last week that enough Salk vaccine was in the Health department hands to provide 2,800 persons with shots, and that any person through 19 years of age was

More Contributions

Twenty-two additional contributors were listed this week among the merchants, business men and individuals who are making it possible for the Chamber of Commerce to have the annual Christmas treat.

Charles L. Briner, secretary to the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce, said that the organization now had $600 toward the treat and that the expenses probably would run about $700.

The treat will be distributed Saturday afternoon, December 22, to all children of the community up to 12 years of age. Each child will get a popcorn ball, an orange, candy canes, candy Santa Claus and other candy.

Contributors in addition to those listed last week include:

The Oakland Rotary Club, Order of Eastern Star, American Legion, Dr. Harold C. Ashby, Dr. J. H. Flaherty, Lewis Jones, Arthur Naylor, Ace Radio and Electric, Fred E. Beachy Lumber Co., Garrett Building supply, Gonder's Insurance Agency, Stuart F. Hamill, Sr. Joseph Hinebaugh and Son, Kiser Nursing Home, Leighton Bros. Garage, Mabel's Beauty Salon, Oakland Electric and Radio, Vetter Bros., H. Weber and Sons, Kight's Insurance, C. and P. Telephone operators, Mrs. Phillip Whittaker.

St. Peter's School To Give Annual Christmas Program

The children of St. Peter's school will present their annual Christmas program Thursday evening, December 20, in the school hall, at 8 o'clock.

The kindergarten and grades one and two will present Santa's letter's. A tableau, "The Gift of Christmas," will be presented by grades three to eight. There will be no meeting of the Home and School organization this month, it was stated.

NEVER EVEN FELT IT—That was the reaction of Carol Dauphin, student of Northern High school, who received her first "shot" of the Salk polio vaccine at the March of Dimes kick-off dinner on Monday night at the William-James hotel, from Dr. Arthur Jones, county health officer. Several teen-age students of both Northern and Southern High schools and a faculty member of Northern, Mrs. Elaine Falkenstine, received their first injection of the vaccine Monday night in an effort to draw special attention to the program. Dr. Jones pointed out that plenty of vaccine was now available to every person through the age of nineteen years, but that teen-agers were apparently uninterested in the offer. March of Dimes officials point out also that where the Salk vaccine has been administered there is a very low incidence of paralytic polio, but that people just are not taking advantage of the shots. A second "shot" must be taken in about a month and a third "shot" after six months, for complete immunization. The federal program which provides the vaccine to health units will end next July.

Alexander Is Given 5-To-18-Year Term

Benton Wesley Alexander, aged 42, convicted of second degree murder in the Preston County Circuit Court on November 21 in the rifle slaying of a fellow worker, was sentenced to a term of five to eighteen years in the state penitentiary.

Alexander wasn't in the court room at the time so Judge Melvin Snyder called for him so the matter could be disposed of. A motion to set aside the verdict was overruled. Another indictment is pending against the defendant.

Alexander was found guilty in the June 16 killing of Steve Malish, at Turner Douglas, a small mining town near Crellin, and just across the state line. The shooting took place after they and Alexander's wife had been on a drinking party in Oakland.

Alexander has not yet been tried for the murder of his wife, Nora Alma, 34, for which he was also indicted. The double murder was committed at the same time.

Gets Additional Sentence

Yesterday Alexander pleaded guilty to second degree murder in the killing of his wife in the Preston County court and was sentenced to an additional 5 to 18 years in the State penitentiary.

Judge Melvin C. Snyder specified that the sentence should run concurrently with the 5-18 year term for the killing of Malish.

The group had been meeting at Southern High school to discuss industrial promotion and the best possible method of organizing.

The formation of a board of directors consisting of 13 members was authorized which would set up the policies to be followed and arrange for the selection of a promotional director for the entire county whose efforts would be directed toward selling the county to both industry and tourists.

The board would include a representative from the Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council, the Rural Development group, the Garrett County Farm Bureau, the County Commissioners and one each from the following towns: Oakland, Grantsville, Accident, Friendsville, Kitzmiller, Deer Park, Mt. Lake Park, Loch Lynn Heights and Crellin. The group attending Friday night's meeting agreed that the directors from all areas mentioned were to be named regardless of the amount of stock that might be sold in any given area.

An annual budget of approximately $15,000 for a two-year minimum program was agreed upon.

The group agreed that a campaign to sell stock in a non-profit development corporation, was the most favored proposal on ways of raising the necessary budget. This would give every person in the county an opportunity to participate by purchasing shares for as little as $5. Contributions from organized service clubs and other organizations and possibly some donations from incorporated towns were also calculated to swell the total amount sought.

Full county-wide support for the project is being sought in order that the group would have a favorable story to present to the County Commissioners in seeking financial assistance for a portion of the budget. The group will meet with the commissioners on Tuesday afternoon, December 18, at 2 o'clock. In the meantime the organizations and towns mentioned are expected to name their representatives to the board of directors and the sale of stock instituted.

Two Queens

Two March of Dimes queens were selected last week by the commercial departments of the two high schools, to serve during the 1957 campaign to raise funds to fight infantile paralysis. They are Carole Durst, Northern High school, left, and Mary Bernard, Southern High school, right. Their queenly duties consist of looking pretty. The commercial departments were given the privilege of selecting these queens because they are so cooperative when the Garrett County Chapter of the March of Dimes asks them to address 4,500 campaign letters to prospective contributors.

Red Cross Special Appeal For Funds Has Little Response

The appeal for funds issued last week by the American Red Cross for a special fund for Hungarian relief, has not brought much response thus far. Treasurer James Lemmert said that he had received $20 but added that none of the special solicitors in the various communities had made any report.

An effort is being made to raise $306 for this program. It was reported this week the American Red Cross had expanded its role in Hungarian refugee care in Austria by agreeing to operate a second camp at the request of the League of Red Cross societies. Two planes carrying $12,292 worth of food and clothing left New York for Vienna, December 5.

TV and radio were giving support to the Red Cross campaign but the Red Cross announced if it was to meet its responsibility it was imperative that the significance of the operation be stressed.

Local Red Cross officials emphasized this special fund was not a part of the regular drive that would be conducted during the spring of the year. Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty, roll call chairman, last week named a number of persons who would assist her in the campaign.

Southern High Plans Christmas Concert

Southern High school will present its annual Christmas concert at 8:00 p. m. Wednesday, December 19, in the high school gymnasium.

Under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Brown, the Senior chorus will present a two-part program. Portions of the Nutcracker Suite, as arranged by Fred Waring, will be sung. Dance numbers to be performed during the part of the program have been arranged by Miss Sharon Young, and Miss Betty Kildow, physical education instructors at Southern and Barbara Lu Glotfelty, a senior student.

A candlelight processional will open the second part of the program. Such favorites as "Praise Ye the Lord," the "Hallelujah Chorus" and numerous Christmas carols will be sung.

Miss Barbara Colabrese, junior high chorus director, will be the accompanist.

This program will take the place of the regularly scheduled P.-T. A. meeting for the month of December.

A small admission of 25 cents will be charged. The public is invited.

National Guard Inspected

The Federal I.G. inspection of the local National Guard unit was completed last week and although the official rating will not be known for about a month, it was common knowledge that the local armory was considered one of the cleanest in the state.

The inspection covered every phase of training, equipment, etc., and was in charge of Major Paul B. Lord, of the Inspector General's office, located at Fort George G. Meade.

Board of Education Favors Improvement of Teacher Salaries

Members of the Board of Education, at a regular meeting on Tuesday, were unanimous in their concern for a better teacher salary scale for the county. Members of the Board are Ross W. Speicher, Accident; Dr. Ralph Calandrella, Kitzmiller; and Maurice Brookhart, Oakland.

Board members said they felt that raising the State minimum scale was the only way for substantial help for county teachers. They said that Garrett county teacher salaries are the lowest in the state and that the gap between what is paid local teachers and what they can get elsewhere widens each year.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said the board was concerned about the possibility of losing many competent teachers to higher paying counties unless something can be done to help equalize the salary scales. He said the Board wanted to provide the best teachers available for every classroom and would urge local representatives in the state legislature to support a sound salary improvement schedule for teachers.

Discuss Budget

In discussing the annual budget to be submitted to the County Commissioners this week, the board pointed out that it called for a few new items including money for social security for all school custodians, a well for the Bittinger school, some new furniture for Swan Meadow and Crellin schools, but that the requests compared favorably with those made last year and would show no increase over requests made for 1956.

Among other action taken the Southern To Open Home Season Friday

Coach Carl Schoonover will unveil an entirely new team to Southern High school basketball fans on Friday evening, December 14, when the Bruce Bulldogs come to Oakland to help inaugurate Southern's 1956-1957 home basketball season.

With no regulars left from last season, the coach has molded his team around Tom Bittinger, Garey Bittinger, Colaw, Stemple, Shiffey, Martin and Kelley, with a number of others in reserve.

Last season Bruce took both games, winning at home 74-60 and edging the Highlanders in a thriller, here, 71-69.

In its regular season last year the Highlanders played .500 ball, winning 10 out of 20 in the regular season and one out of two in the state tournament play.

The J. V. teams will play in the preliminary game beginning at 7:00 o'clock.

Tom Bittinger and Garey Bittinger paced Southern with 16 and 15 points, while Morris was high for the losers with 15. Southern led 14 to 12 at the quarter but trailed 26 to 20 at the half. The score was all tied up at 36 each at the end of the third period. Southern being aided by 10 points by Gary Bittinger.

Tax Forms Available

C. I. Fox, District Director of Internal Revenue for the Baltimore District, which comprises Maryland and the District of Columbia, announced that Federal income tax forms for the preparation of 1956 returns are now available in reasonable quantities to accountants, attorneys, and other professional personnel who need advance copies.

Individual taxpayers on record will receive their forms and instruction booklets through the mails on the same schedule as last year, during late December or early January, Mr. Fox said.

Continuing, Fox said, it is the policy of Internal Revenue Service to supply without charge needed quantities of income tax forms to taxpayers and to make bulk shipments to banks and post offices, other Government Agencies and institutions, where forms are required for direct use or for distribution, to taxpayers as a public service. The date of release for such requests will be December 26.

There are very few changes in the form other than minor revisions for clarity and simplification. The instruction booklet which accompanies it has been changed, however, to provide a line-by-line series of explanations, keyed to the arrangement of the form and its sequence of entries.

The Internal Revenue Service will sponsor the printing of 185 million copies of Form 1040 and 61 million of Form 1040A, the simplified punch-card for incomes of less than $5,000.

Backs Attack On Traffic Accidents

H. D. Swartzentruber, president of the County Commissioners, issued a proclamation this week in an effort to "back the attack on traffic accidents." He had been asked to make the proclamation by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin, who also asked him to name a Garrett County Citizens' Committee on Traffic Safety, and having for its motto "Back the Attack on Traffic Accidents."

Swartzentruber named Henry Arnold, Oakland, chairman; C. W. Englander, Irvin R. Rudy, Jr., Oakland; Dwight A. Barrick, Kitzmiller; Charles C. Nathan, Grantsville; James Lininger, Friendsville; and John J. Brenneman, Accident.

The proclamation points out that for the past several years traffic accidents have increased at an alarming rate, that despite repeated warnings from the National Safety council, the Maryland Traffic Safety commission and similar agencies the death rate continues to rise, and states that President Eisenhower, Governor McKeldin, public officials and other leaders in business are marshalling public support for backing the attack on traffic accidents.

Mr. Swartzentruber said every person must do everything possible to win the fight for perhaps our own life and the life of someone we love.

He proclaimed the month of December as "Back the Attack on Traffic Accidents" month, and urged every person driving automotive equipment to take time to be safe and to safeguard the lives of others. He also urged pedestrians to exercise extreme caution while crossing streets or highways.

He asked that people keep in mind "Don't save a minute and lose your life." He also urged everyone to cooperate with the program.

What's it Got that Everyone's After?

We figured folks would go for the '57 Buick—and big.

But we sure didn't figure this—the most rousing reception we've ever seen in all our years of selling new Buicks.

We're getting more enthusiastic talk—along with the signed orders—than ever before. And, neighbor, if you want to know why—listen:

This '57 Buick has that sleek low-sweep styling that today's moderns want—and it's here in extra-long measure, in the lowest Buick yet.

It has the room they want—for Buick's new wide-frame chassis permits a sports-car silhouette with more interior roominess than even last year's spacious Buicks.

It has newness everywhere, and newness that's wanted . . .

A smart new panoramic windshield. The surety of a new "nested" ride. A brilliant new handling and levelized braking that come of an ingenious new ball-joint suspension. It even has a new Safety-Minder* that watches your miles-per-hour for you.

But even more important, this rakish sweep of automobile has a new kind of instant response—and that's the biggest reason for the soaring popularity of the newest Buick yet.

For here is performance—smooth as spun silk—unleashed by a totally new V8 engine 364 cubic inches big, and with the highest compression, torque and horsepower in Buick annals.

And here, to deliver that might, is the power-pitch action of an advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflow.* A Dynaflow of such instantaneous obedience, such smooth and versatile control in "Drive"—the need for "Low" is virtually ended.

In all truth, you've never bossed a car so keenly alive, so smooth in motion, so solid in feel. It's ahead of its time, ahead of the industry—even ahead of your great expectations.

Come check up on all this. Come drive this shoulder-high sweetheart—today.

New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special. Safety-Minder standard on Roadmaster, optional other Series.*

Voted to sell the Mt. Lake Park school at public auction next spring;

Approved recommendation of superintendent to purchase 20 cocoa door mats for use in various schools;

Approved purchase of an electric floor scrubbing machine for Friendsville school, to be purchased from Acorn Associates, low bidder, at $287;

Authorized superintendent to publish second edition of "Our Garrett County Schools," to be distributed to school families and others, distribution date tentatively set for February 1;

Approved letter to paint dealers in preparation of paint bids for paint needed in summer maintenance program, and letter to school supply houses for bids on equipment and furniture for the two new elementary schools;

Approved Sheridan Shoemaker to drive for Herbert Ritchie, Rev. Randall Prince to drive for Joseph Welch; subject to qualifying health examination and ability of bus drivers to handle school children satisfactorily;

Approved appointment of Dr. James Feaster to replace Dr. Thomas Lusby as medical examiner for bus drivers in southern part of the county, effective January 1. Mr. Hawkins said Dr. Lusby was moving his practice elsewhere;

Approved an increase of $10 per month to all full-time school custodians who have held their present position six months or more.

No further action was taken on the matter of liability insurance resulting from boiler explosions. This matter was tabled at the last meeting.

The Board agreed to accept the recommendation of its attorney, A. T. Matthews, to settle the Sunnyside school title dispute without further litigation. Mr. Hawkins said the plaintiff's attorney offered not to appeal the decision of the lower court in favor of the school board to the Court of Appeals for the sum of $100. He said the board felt it could save money by accepting the plaintiff's offer rather than pay the attorney's fees to handle the appeal. The Sunnyside school property was purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eisinger, of Washington, D. C.

The superintendent reported that all new classroom furniture purchased for August 15 delivery had been received, that the furniture was of good quality and had been bought at an excellent price.

The board is scheduled to meet again Tuesday, January 8.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Partners In Morality

By Maurice R. Franks

(Editor's Note: Maurice R. Franks is President of the National Labor-Management Foundation and Editor of its official publication, Partners.)

In my last article, I pointed out that when the Golden Rule entered into labor-management relations, America really began to make progress in a material way. It fell to the lot of an automobile manufacturer to pioneer that trail.

The whole process depended upon just such emancipation as Henry Ford, for one, so swiftly brought about when, overnight, he voluntarily upped the minimum wage in his auto factory from $1.50 to $5.00 per day. By doing so, he made it possible to sell cars to his own people, his own workers. To sell the cheap cars he was geared to mass production, he couldn't reasonably look to a handful of millionaires; he needed a vast new middle class, created by emancipating industry's impoverished slaves. He couldn't emancipate them all but he could emancipate his own. And he did. And the gimmick worked. And Henry set a ball to rolling, and it was a very big ball.

Whether consciously or inadvertently, Henry Ford made contact with the Golden Rule and pushed the button. The result was a dazzling light that filtered into all corners of industry. The masters of American production were both inspired and cornered into the necessity of considering the other fellow before themselves. And soon they discovered how richly rewarding the other fellow could be—if only as a customer.

Out of the experience of many, a new code of economics was developed. A code that was dynamic because it was loaded with incentives. A code that was richly rewarding to everyone and therefore could spin all the wheels of progress.

That code was a deeply moral one, if only because it was geared to the greater and greater good of always a greater number of people. It was moral because the self-interest of one depended upon the self-interest of others. It was moral because its effect was emancipation, mutual consideration and the sharing of what we produce. It was moral because it served to enhance the dignity of man and took us out of an industrial jungle and created a great new partnership of industrial effort. It was moral because its effect was to cancel the harsh feudalism that had grown up with our factory system and because it led the way to a fuller realization of freedom as the God-fearing forefathers of our nation conceived and construed it. It was moral because it was in all ways consistent with the basic ethics of Christianity.

Now I do not say that this second great phase of the industrial revolution was ordered by a spontaneous moral awakening. I say only that the combination of circumstances responsible for it had a final moral effect, which was there to be recognized by those who could or would, and that the moral character of it became its ruling factor and supplied the energizing force of an amazing new era of material progress.

In a word, the Golden Rule works whether we believe it or not. It will work whether it is knowingly or unknowingly applied. And it will work in reverse whenever and by whomever its sacred edict is arrogantly or carelessly perverted.

And it is this last fact which should deeply concern us all today—as all of us grow heavy with the muchness our material progress has conferred upon us.

Aware of how the Golden Rule works, both forward and backward as we ourselves direct its current, we must make sure that our human and industrial relations continue to be based on emancipation, not enslavement—upon cultivating, not curbing human dignity.

This means that our unions, which pricked the consciences of laggard employers in the age of industrial feudalism, shall not now seek to impose a new feudalism of their own through imposing the shackles of compulsory unionism on the working people of this nation.

It also means that our employers, as they continue to pyramid their power, shall not sell their workers into union slavery, either by unkind collusion or through clutching at expediency.

The unions and the employers have no moral right to build either rival or allied hierarchies against the interest of their people. If separately or together they yield to immorality, they will but turn backward the wheels of progress.

For the welfare of all of us—including themselves—they must be and forever remain Partners In Morality.

Washingtonians Fined; Gave False Information

Three Washingtonians, including two brothers, were fined in Garrett county last week on charges resulting from their possession of Maryland hunting licenses.

The group was charged with obtaining licenses through false information and also with possessing improper licenses.

Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer assessed each man, Frank F. and William A. Short, and Charles Bryan, $50 on each charge.

A West Virginia hunter was shown some leniency when brought before Magistrate Bitzer. The man, R. B. Friend, of Parkersburg, W. Va., was charged with hunting in Maryland with a West Virginia license. Game wardens said Friend had wandered about four miles across the state line into Garrett county when apprehended. He was fined $50 on the charge with Bitzer suspending half of the fine after informing Friend he would give him the benefit of the doubt.

A Baltimore man, Joseph Rolfe, was fined $200 by the magistrate on a charge of illegal possession of a deer, while Robert S. Noble, of Wadsworth, O., was fined $100 on a similar count.

entitled to receive the treatment. This is a program of the federal government but it will end about July 1, 1957, and after that time the vaccine will be available only through private sources. Dr. Jones advised that persons should get the first two injections before the last of January in order to come under the Federal program. The first two shots are administered about a month apart, while the third one is given after six months.

Charles L. Briner, campaign director, expressed the belief that the local workers would do a good job this year and provide contributions comparable or greater than last year. Over $5,100 was collected in the drive last January.

Pins for past year's service were presented to Mrs. Charlotte Bernard, Bloomington; Mary Harvey, Swanton; George Littman, Oakland; Mrs. E. C. Clatterbuck, Deer Park; Mrs. Kathleen Layman, Johnson's. Mrs. Clatterbuck's pin was for 17 years of service while others ranged down to five. Mr. Littman has been treasurer for the organization for ten years and has now relinquished his duties to Glenroot Dilley. Dilley gave the treasurer's report which showed a balance of $1,900.

Announcement was made of the selection of Carroll Durst, Northern High school, and Mary Bernard, Southern High school, as March of Dimes queens.

Announcement was also made of the appearance here of Jeannette Mulvey, regional medical and social counselor, on January 3 and 4 when she would address students of Northern and Southern High schools and a meeting of the Junior Woman's Civic club, stressing rehabilitation.

Briner said two women of the county would be named to attend a tea party for polio, to be given January 8, by Mrs. Theodore McKeldin, wife of the governor of Maryland. They in turn will return to the county to give a tea to ten women, the ten women also spreading the activity by giving teas for ten other women. The idea is to raise dollars for polio.

Coin containers are to be used similar to those of last year and there will be a mother's march, the same as last year, sometime during the month. Briner said 3,500 cards were being sent to citizens of the county seeking contributions for the polio fund.

A film on polio concluded the program which was held at the William-James hotel in Oakland. Workers received their campaign literature at the close of the meeting.

Council Approves Bicycle Ordinance

Approval of a bicycle ordinance was given at the regular meeting of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland on Monday evening. The ordinance will take effect next April 1.

The regulations call for an inspection of all bicycles and a permit to be issued when the vehicle is found to be in good mechanical condition. Owners must have a license tag in order to operate. Owners will not be permitted to carry any other person upon the handle bars or frame, a light will be necessary at night, hands must be kept on the handle bars at all times and no fancy riding tricks will be allowed.

The ordinance was presented by Henry Arnold, chief of police, with approval of a number of bicycle owners. Arnold said one of the reasons for the ordinance is an attempt to stop the theft of bicycles within the town. He said they can be more easily identified if they do or do not have license tags.

The Mayor and Council also received a copy of a zoning ordinance of the city of Rockville, which they requested a few weeks ago. Members of the council have been discussing the possibility of a zoning ordinance for the town of Oakland. There was no action taken at Monday's meeting. The secretary of the Maryland Municipal league, who furnished the copy of the Rockville ordinance, suggested that if the Oakland council was seriously interested that they obtain a professional planner because of the large amount of work involved in preparation of the ordinance.

Among other action the council also granted permits to Graham Weeks, Alder street, and Howard Ringer, Third street, to erect two signs; agreed to run water and sewerage lines to the corporation line along the old Deer Park road; ordered a letter written to home owners west of town on the Swallow Falls road, stating that the town did not feel obligated to replace a water line there since the original line was sufficient for the purpose for which it was laid. Originally it was for one family, but now several families have hooked onto the line which is a one inch line partially and a ¾ inch line for the balance.

To Provide Coasting

The Mayor and Council passed a motion agreeing to block off Fourth street, from Green to Crook, on Saturdays and Sundays at such times as were suitable for coasting. Coasting hours during those days would be 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Receipts for November totaled $4,857.05 including $2,510.64 from gasoline tax and $623.15 from parking meters. Expenditures amounted to $7,339.42 including $775 for police and $2,166.98 for street supplies. The clerk-collector reported a balance in the treasury of $11,002.99. Sunday movie tax amounted to $74.85.

Combination Mail Service Is Now Available

The use of the new economical "combination mail" service for mailing a personal letter or message inside a parcel was announced by Acting Postmaster General Maurice H. Stans.

Explaining that many people are unaware that a violation of postal regulations is involved if first class letters are enclosed within a parcel without the payment of additional postage, Mr. Stans noted that a combination mail service provides a method of mailing such letters within parcels. In combination mail the postal patron is permitted to combine one class of mail with another class.

When mail of one class is enclosed within another the patron merely has to indicate on the outside that an enclosure is made. In such case he will pay the parcel post postage plus the cost for the enclosure.

He said he was calling special attention to the matter now for the convenience and guidance of postal patrons in their Christmas mailings.

Series of Articles To Depict School Educational Studies

TUMBLERS—Southern High girls engaged in tumbling as one of their physical education studies.

In an effort to acquaint the public with the educational departments in Southern High, a monthly article featuring these departments will be presented. The first article in this series will deal with the Physical Education program.

Many students benefit by the physical education and health program at Southern, which is provided in a modern, well equipped gymnasium building.

Teaching girls' physical education at Southern this year are Miss Betty Kildow and Miss Sharron Young.

Classes are based on seasonal activities. This year the girls have already participated in kick ball, volley ball, and ball handling skills. Ball handling skills include running, passing the ball, and correct movement. Further studies pertain to social dancing, folk dancing, stunts and tumbling, soccer, basketball and soft ball. The ninth grade will also have a course in archery.

Each class is divided into squads. Each squad has a leader who is responsible for checking attendance, seeing that each girl is properly dressed, and leading the class in calisthenics.

Since there are no senior high school girls participating in physical education or health classes, the program extends from the seventh to ninth grade only.

The seventh grade health program includes three major subjects.

1. Personal Hygiene. This is a study concerned with cleanliness, care of clothing and shoes, sleep and rest, care of eyes and ears, dental health, and choice and use of health products.

2. Nutrition. In this unit it is determined how the body uses food, how to select a balanced diet, and what the signs of malnutrition are.

3. Structure and Functions of the Human Body. This subject is based on the study of cells, tissues and the body systems.

The eighth grade health program takes into account:

1. First Aid and Safety. The major aim of this unit is to develop proper habits and attitudes toward accidents and their prevention.

2. Physiology and Exercise. This unit makes clear why there is no substitute for exercise in the stimulation of normal growth.

3. Community Health and Sanitation. This unit offers such objectives as: How our food supply is protected, what is a safe water supply, and how to obtain sanitation in the home and school.

The ninth grade health program has two main subjects:

1. Mental and Social Health. This course aids in answering such problems as: What a healthy personality is and how to improve personal appearance.

2. Cause and prevention of Diseases. Serious problems may be solved as a result of this unit. The unit includes a study of communicable diseases and immunization.

Physical education is one of the favorite subjects of most boys at Southern. Proof of this fact is that of 574 boys in the school, 452 have physical education as a part of their study program.

These classes are taught by Carl Schoonover, Carlton Hogue and Richard Travis, in the gymnasium, or the athletic fields and in regular classrooms.

In physical education for boys the school year is broken into three sections: Fall, winter and spring. In the fall such sports as football, volley ball, and kickball are taught. The winter finds boys participating in basketball, wrestling, rope climbing, tumbling, high bar work, and calisthenics. In the spring most classes are held outdoors. Then softball will be the main subject on the program.

The junior high boys have one period a week in which they have a health class. The junior high health program includes the study of personal health, daily needs, the right use of one's body, posture, cleanliness and communicable diseases.

There are daily needs that everyone must meet. These are proper food, plenty of water, sufficient sleep and rest, exercise, and cleanliness habits.

A person's appearance, dress, voice, and self-confidence are all affected by the way he uses his body.

Good posture leads to a more pleasing appearance.

All of these sub-headings deal with the subjects the boys study.

The physical education and health program at Southern seeks to better every boy and girl mentally and physically. It is a very important phase of the total educational program of the high school.

FAVORITE SUBJECT—Physical education is a favorite subject for most boys at Southern. Here a group is engaging in some setting up exercises or calisthenics.

GONE IS THE ERA OF INDECISION

Not too many years ago, a doctor had to rely almost entirely on his own judgment in diagnosing an illness—then prescribe from the few available drugs and medicines.

Today, doctors rely upon modern scientific laboratory tests which pinpoint the nature of an illness. A wealth of new drug discoveries are available to bring quicker recovery.

Thus, modern medical and pharmaceutical sciences are helping physicians perfect their practice of medicine.

Preston Family Is Regional Winner In FFBL Program

The Joseph F. Montgomery family, Masontown, Route 1, Preston County dairyman, was declared the regional champion in a five-county area last Friday at a noon luncheon in the Hotel Morgan, Morgantown, at the regional round-up of region 2 of the Farming for Better Living program. Honored guests of the sponsor, the agricultural committee of the Morgatnown Chamber of Commerce, were the five county winners in this year's Farming for Better Living program from Monongalia, Preston, Taylor and Marion Counties in West Virginia and Garrett County, Maryland; the past year's county winners; the county council members; and specialists from the Extension Service and the College of Agriculture of the West Virginia University.

County winners honored were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Straight, Route 1, Morgantown, Monongalia; Mr. and Mrs. B. Dale Sisler, Route 2, Terra Alta, Preston; Mr. and Mrs. John F. Holt, Route 1, Fairmont, Marion; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Garrett, Route 1, Flemington, Taylor; Mr. and Mrs. E. Hobart Bishoff, Friendsville, Garrett County. Each family received a certificate and $25.00 check awarded by the Monongahela Power Company.

The Garrett County Farming for Better Living Council, for the third consecutive year, was awarded a certificate and $25.00 for its 4-H club fund for having 100% completion of every one of the 72 members who enrolled in the 1956 Farming for Better Living program.

Brooks Cottle, editor, the Morgantown Post, and a director of the Morgantown Chamber of Commerce, presided over the luncheon. County awards were presented by L. Bush Swisher, Farming for Better Living project director for Region 2; the 100% award was given by Ellis Vest, division manager, Monongahela Power Company; and William L. Northern, Extension dairyman, presented awards made by the West Virginia Artificial Breeders' Cooperative. Robert C. Bane, general manager of the Sterling Processing Corporation's new poultry processing plant at Oakland, announced the new regional champions and presented them with a certificate and a $50.00 savings bond.

A continuous program of farm improvement has brought Regional Championship honors in Region 2 to the Joseph F. Montgomery family. Joe Montgomery brought his family to the 244 acre Preston County farm in 1945.

They bought this farm in December of 1945 and at that time had only 17 head of stock, including cows, calves, and one old mare. They had no machinery. They have since paid for the farm and have built a new 40 cow barn, milk house, silo, and have done considerable remodeling on the home. They renewed the wiring and plumbing throughout and replaced the old furnace with a new forced air furnace.

They have built two large ponds, stocked one with fish, and have also built a large reservoir and piped water to the house, barn, milk house and chicken houses.

They bought their first registered cows this fall although the two older boys each have a registered Holstein cow as one of their F. F. A. projects.

In the plans now are the remodeling of the home lawn and the building of a wood fence, even more soil improvement, an additional farm pond, a new machinery shed, mechanical barn gutter cleaners and the building of a registered dairy herd.

Production on Montgomery's dairy herd has been steadily climbing.

All family members are active in community, church, school, 4-H and F. F. A. activities.

MARRIED

Johnson-McKenzie—The marriage of Miss Rita McKenzie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McKenzie, route 4, Cumberland, to Wayne R. Johnson, of Oakland, son of Mrs. Emma Johnson and the late William A. Johnson, took place November 21. The double ring ceremony was solemnized at St. Ambrose Catholic church with Rev. Carol Warner, O. F. M., Cap., officiating.

The altar was decorated with white chrysanthemums and mums and lighted candles. Mrs. Virginia Lloyd played a program of nuptial music and accompanied Miss Anne Dixon, who sang "On This Day" and "Ave Maria."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a princess style ballerina-length gown of Chantilly lace over satin fashioned with fitted bodice, V neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Her shoulder length veil of French illusion was attached to a halo of seed pearls. She wore lace mitts and carried a cascade bouquet of white rosebuds centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Joanne Harris, matron of honor, was attired in a ballerina-length dress of blue velveteen. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink carnations. Miss Lucy Kriechbaum and Mrs. James Juliano, bridesmaids, were attired in ballerina-length dresses of red velveteen. They wore matching headbands of velvet with net, and carried cascade bouquets of white carnations and mums, trimmed in red.

The bride's mother was attired in a navy blue dress trimmed with pink, black accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother was unable to attend, because of illness.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. White chrysanthemums were used for decorations. The three-tiered wedding cake was ornamented with a miniature bride and bridegroom figurine.

The couple left for a motor trip to Pittsburgh. For traveling the bride wore a blue wool, three-piece suit with black accessories and a white orchid corsage.

ONE OF THE FAITHFUL ?

Joe and I were passing the record shop the Saturday before Christmas. An amplifier was blaring, "O Come, All Ye Faithful."

"That leaves me out," said Joe, cynically. "I'm not one of the faithful, so I'm not supposed to come."

Now, I'm a Christian; and I can't let a remark like that go unanswered.

"Ever stop to think, Joe, that the faithful are not only the folks who have been faithful, but also the folks who are going to become faithful . . . like you, Joe?"

To make a long story short, Joe went with me to Church the next day. And we both heard the Pastor say that the purpose of Christmas is to reveal God's love to a world that does not understand . . .

Nowadays, when I see Joe singing in the choir, I remember the record shop and Adeste Fideles—God's call to worship for the faithful of yesterday, today and TOMORROW!

Adeste Fideles
O come all ye faithful, joyful and tri-um-phant, O come ye, O come ye to

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

We Grow By Giving

A great writer has said that in his opinion, we are seeing the beginning of a less ruthless age, and for the growth of this condition, we should all lend our own creative energies.

He cites as examples our large-scale expressions of tenderness, as in such institutions as CARE, Save-the - Children Federation, Foster Parents' Plan for War Children and many others.

Especially at this season of the year, do we see this expression of good will and tenderness displayed. Organized groups of many kinds in churches, lodges and clubs are giving gifts and sharing of their good things in life with those who may otherwise be forgotten. They are remembering the sick, the aged, those in prison, and the neglected. The Salvation Army lass with her bell is a familiar sight on city streets. She is one of the many asking us to help make possible a more joyous holiday for someone in need. Have we not all felt better by a generous gift to so worthy a cause?

There are indications that today we are growing as individuals and as a nation in our willingness to help each other, not only at Christmas time, but all the time. There are many examples: Businessmen come together to help paroled prisoners get a new start; young people spontaneously turn to forms of recreation where they can laugh and learn together, as in folk dancing, instead of sitting in the same crowd as mutual strangers; where older people are helped to find their way into new useful and self-respecting relationships to their world.

In industry, we are seeing human relations programs and in-service training programs set up to foster understanding of the many problems of both labor and management. These show a caring for people and are giving them a chance to grow.

Men and women, working together, are now enjoying shared knowledge and companionship on a broader front than ever before. It has brought into being new understandings, new outlooks.

Our very form of government, as distinguished from all brands of totalitarianism, is based on its willingness to take all of us as incomplete human beings, but capable of growth.

From the beginning of our history, we have been a learning people. Our health has lain in the fact that we have thought in terms of expanding opportunities, education, experimentation, and exchange of ideas; in brief, in giving ourselves a chance to grow and giving one another the same chance. Tenderness toward others is needed, whether we are helping an adolescent with his many problems, or trying to make democracy a convincing force in the world.

Surely all of us would hope and pray that we are indeed seeing the beginning of a less ruthless age. Each of us has some gifts to help bring this to pass. And, in the giving, we will find new means of growth for ourselves.

Way of Love

Lesson for December 16, 1956

THERE are many ways of living in this world. There is the way of ruthless pride, with the motto: "The world is my orange and I intend to squeeze it." There is the way of the fool, who never thinks beyond today and is always surprised to discover that what he sowed came up and what he didn't plant did not come up. There is the way of the lazy man who can't be bothered, and who always takes the easiest way no matter what. There is even the way of hate, the way of bitterness and suspicion, going always downhill among dead trees without leaf or fruit. Everybody knows that these are none of them Christian ways. Even those who are not Christians know that the way of Christ is the way of love.

Dr. Foreman

Other Ways of Love

But what is the Christian way of love? There are more ways than one to use the word "love." There are ways of love, so called, which are not the Christian way. For instance, there is something called love, which consists really of fondness for things or people that are lovable. For example, a young woman stands at an altar and promises to take a man "for better for worse, for richer for poorer, in sickness and in health." But she does not really hear the vow she makes. And if the man turns out to be poorer or worse than she thought, she looks up a divorce lawyer. The way of Christian love does not demand lovableness first; on the contrary, Christian love can make an unlovely and unloving person lovable. Some love is all for one's own benefit; "I love you" can mean no more than "I want you for my exclusive use." Christian love "does not insist on its own way." It does not ask, "What can you do for me?" but "What may I do for you?"

Blessing the Universe

Another way of love, sometimes mistaken for the Christian way, is no better than sheer sloppy sentimentality. Sometimes it consists in a vague feeling that everything is very nice in a very happy world. A minister once preached on the text, "Ye that love the Lord, hate evil." After the sermon a lady told him she didn't like that sermon at all. She had been brought up to believe that love was always right and hate always wrong. Love is always right, yes; but that does not mean we can feel free to love what is evil. If we love the good, we shall not love what destroys good. Sometimes this substitute for Christian love takes the form of a general feeling of good will toward the world in general. A well-known American wrote shortly before his death, "I bless the universe." Now it is certainly better to bless the universe than to curse it. But blessing the universe seems a curious sort of thing to do. Are you really blessing all of it, sir? Cholera and polio, stars and atoms and typhoons and germs, criminal and judge, saints and sinners, miracles and murderers? We have to be careful that we don't love the universe in such a way that whatever happens seems exactly right!

The Christian Way

The Christian way of love is not totally different from these other ways; but it is vitally different. It is inspired by God in the first place and it mirrors his love. It goes beyond the lovable, it is more than an exchange of love. It even goes out to one's enemies. American history gives us two striking illustrations of the actual power of love, in two men on opposite sides of the American civil war. The two enemies, as they once were, are now honored more perhaps than any other two in that tragic conflict: Lincoln and Lee. Each was a man who could do nothing else but stand by his convictions and fight even when other men were ready to give up. Their love was not the child of indifference, selfishness or cowardice. But it was Lincoln who coined the phrase, "charity toward all and malice toward none," — and he meant every word of it. It was Lee who later as president of a college refused to let any one in his presence speak evil of his former enemies. It is not the men who are the best haters, but those who show what Christian love is, who have greatest power over the hearts of mankind.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

This week we will conclude our series on prayer in general, during which time we have been examining also the various petitions of the Lord's Prayer. The final series of phrases with which we deal will be: "And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. for Thine is the Kingdom, the Power, and the Glory, forever and ever, Amen."

No doubt this first phrase has troubled thinking men down through the ages. "Lead us not into temptation" is obscure in meaning in the Greek original, and in the familiar translation which we have, a source of bafflement and confusion. Does God seduce men??? It is clear that the word in the Greek original, as well as the English word "temptation" at the time the King James Version was written meant not evil enticement, but testing. Dr. C. C. Torrey claims that the Greek phrase is a somewhat stilted rendering of the original Aramaic (the language that Christ spoke) idiom, and suggests as our equivalent today, "Grant that we fail not in the time of testing." In this way, the phrase would be a confession of our weakness, and a plea to be saved, not from the battles of life, but through them and in them. For the Christian knows that temptations will not simply be removed from his life. They are part of his being, the nature of his selfish attitudes, and the selfishness of the men who surround him. How easy for a man to fall prey to the sins of another, how easy it is to allow yourself to act out of spite to one who has mistreated you—how easy to return evil for evil, to follow the old law, "an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth . . ." But this Christ would have us avoid like the plague. And so we pray for God's strength in our hearts at these various "times of testing."

It is in the same line of thought that the next phrase follows, "But deliver us from evil." However the matter of determining just what kind of evil that we ask God to lead us from, there are many sides to the question. The easiest idea that comes to our mind is that in which other people and other things play the major role. How easy to "pass the buck" when it comes to looking for the source of evil. Do you remember the story of the "Fall of Adam?" God asked Adam how this had happened—Adam blamed Eve. God asked Eve how this happened—Eve blamed the serpent. And so it goes. We are always ready and willing to place the blame on some other person for the sins that befall us. Granted that there are evil influences outside of ourselves, and in many cases they present very real problems. But the greatest problem we have is ourself. Ourself—that part of our being that wants desperately to be noticed, considered, satisfied — ourself — that which makes it so hard to utter the prayer, "THY will be done," and not "MY will be done." And so we might render this phrase of the Lord's Prayer, "But deliver us from our sinful selves . . . ," realizing that only God can give us the strength and the power to overcome evil with Good in ourselves, and realizing that the sins of a man are actually his own fault.

"For Thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever and ever, Amen" is a section of the Lord's Prayer not included in the biblical accounts of Christ's words on prayer, but was added at a later date by some author to round out the liturgical quality of the prayer, with a sort of doxology. The source for the wording of this phrase may well be I Chronicles 29:11. Though it is not actually Christ's Words, it is certainly in keeping with the theme of the prayer, which more than anything else is an admittance of humility. It is good to begin and end all prayer, and for that matter make the middle conform as well, with the idea in mind that The world belongs to God, I have value only insofar as I recognize the fact that I am a creature of God, and sinner that I am, I need God's help to live the only life that matters, the life of His child.

Black Bear Killed On Big Savage Mt.

A black bear was killed one day last week near Cranberry Swamp on Big Savage Mountain, in this county, about three and one-half miles from Frostburg. The carcass was retrieved by District Game Warden Theodore Thoerig, of Mt. Savage.

Bear are not legal game in Maryland and very few have been sighted in this state in recent years. George Smith, of Mt. Savage, was deer hunting when he saw the black bear's body and he contacted Thoerig. It was a 270-pound animal.

There were rumors about two years ago of a mother bear and two cubs being in the vicinity of the Engle Slaughter house, just off U. S. Route 40 and Cranberry Swamp. He believes now that the bear he found was one of those two cubs.

The bear was skinned and the pelt preserved. Thoerig said it was shiny and black and beautiful.

Not Very Helpful

Probably one of the most unnecessary political statements of our time was that volunteered last Tuesday by Mr. Adlai E. Stevenson in New York when he declared: "I will not run for the presidency again." For one thing, no one, in or out of the Democratic party, had any other thought. Nominated twice and beaten very much worse the second time than the first, quite obviously he is out. To renominate such a candidate for the third successive time would be against all party political precedent. Even were it possible it would be politically absurd.

The really significant part of the Stevenson statement consisted of two points almost completely ignored by those who have commented upon it—No. 1, his insistence upon the necessity for his party to "take the initiative" and adopt the role of "strong, searching constructive opposition"; No. 2, his acceptance of membership on the new Democratic Advisory Committee, devised by Chairman Paul Butler and enthusiastically sponsored by Senators Hubert H. Humphrey, of Minnesota; Senator Paul Douglas, of Illinois, and others—but, notably not as yet by Senator Lyndon Johnson and Speaker Sam Rayburn, of Texas, who are respectively the designated Democratic leaders in Senate and House.

These two—Johnson and Rayburn—one the official Democratic Senate leader and the other, the highly respected Speaker of the House—are easily the two most popular and powerful Democrats in the country. They will have far more to do with Democratic policy in the coming session of Congress than Mr. Stevenson and all his left wing friends such as Senators Humphrey and Douglas, including also Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and her two sons, James and Franklin, Jr. It is also true that with Mr. Stevenson and his "strong, searching, constructive" opposition is included Mr. Walter Reuther and the other labor bosses who followed him in the recent campaign and, along with Adlai and Estes, suffered a second and more devastating defeat than before—a defeat which, for a time at least, has ended their dream of another pliant President in the White House who would follow the labor-union line no matter where it led. Incidentally, the rank and file of organized labor showed by its votes in 1952 and, more emphatically, in 1956 that that was not its idea at all.

Summing up, it does seem that besides conveying the not too startling news that he is no longer an "available" presidential candidate, Mr. Stevenson's declaration has had neither an exhilirating nor a harmonizing effect upon his now widely split party. The so-called "Solid South" which for so many years has been indispensable to Democratic success, in the last two campaigns has been neither solid nor reliable—quite the reverse. In 1952 the Republicans carried four seemingly unshakable Democratic states—Texas, Florida, Tennessee and Virginia. In 1956, it surprisingly added to these, Louisiana—to say nothing of the border states of Kentucky and West Virginia. Considering these things it is not surprising that the Messrs. Johnson and Rayburn are impressed by that nearly 10,000,000 Eisenhower majority and can see no political nourishment in "strong, searching, constructive" opposition to the President from "start to finish."

In their view this is not the way to rebuild the Democratic party in the South or anywhere else. In their view the better Democratic strategy is to "take it easy," support Mr. Eisenhower on measures clearly in the national interests and wait for a real opportunity effectively to oppose. But, that, of course, is not the way the Reuthers, the Humphreys, the Douglases, the Roosevelts and the A.D.A. want to travel. It will be interesting to see whether Mr. Stevenson yields further to the pressure now being put on him by the labor bosses. Some of his friends think that after more mature consideration he may cut loose from the so-called "liberal" wing and adapt himself to the realities. But, perhaps, that is too much to expect of a candidate who so often and so cravenly has yielded to the same sort of pressure to which he is now subject.

Gwen Warnick Is Stock Car Racer

Since leaving Garrett county a few years ago, where she was an elementary school teacher, Mrs. Gwendolyn Warnick, now of Albuquerque, N. M., has become very much interested in driving stock cars in competition, along with her daughter.

An article in the Sandia Lab News from Albuquerque gives the full story of the Warnick family.

"Two stock car race drivers should be enough for one family but the Warnicks also branch off into soap box racing and motorcycles.

"Surprisingly enough the hopped up car competitors are Mrs. Gwen Warnick and her daughter, Mrs. Anita Ransom. Both enter the 'powder puff' events each year at Albuquerque. This year Gwen drove the car owned by Al Demaree.

"Although the exterior of stock cars is often a great contrast from sleek, low, late modern automobiles, under the hood and on the dashboard it's a different story. Some of the racers reach a speed of 90 mph in second gear. For safety reasons the glass is taken out of the windshield, windows and headlights.

"Gwen says it is quite a thrill to drive one of the 'hot' little cars and the power brakes and steering in her car make it particularly easy to handle.

"The Warnick sons, Michael, 12, and Forrest, 14, started out building their own soap box racers and entering them in contests. Now they own a motorcycle. They let Anita ride it while they care for her baby, but with their mother it is a different story.

"As the boys explain it, 'She leans and wiggles too much.' So Gwen is more or less grounded. But Gwen points out, 'I know more about sparkplugs than cooking,' which means she may be handy to have around should there be a mechanical breakdown.

"During the past four years at Sandia, Mrs. Warnick also found time to attend classes at University of New Mexico. She is a charter member of the Albuquerque branch of the Ground Observer Corps, which still occupies at least one evening a week."

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

The World Is Warm—Mostly

I feel aglow—like the Christmas tree at Rockefeller Center, or perhaps more accurately, like the skyline of New York as it looked to us at dusk from the 24th floor of the Secretariat building, United Nations, when that great jagged outline of marble and stone became a reflection of lighted window silhouetted in a burnished gold sunset.

That picture will be the jewel on the gown I did not buy because of the trip, and it will be beautiful as long as I am given the power of memory. Longer I hope than the life of synthetic brocade.

The view however was just the exclamation point at the end of a forceful sentence. Thirty of Garrett county's sons and daughters visiting the United Nations is the forceful sentence I am writing about. A sentence yet to be written for little do we know how great the impact will be on their thinking.

This I do know—they were better prepared for what they saw than I for they took a bit of the "wealth of the Indies" with them by studying the United Nations, seeing movies at school and being up on current events.

None of us was prepared, however, for the "feel" of the United Nations as far as world outlook. Five minutes in the public lobby of this magnificent modern structure made one feel that he was indeed in the lobby of the world and for the first time in my life I felt like a foreigner.

The center is world in outlook, world in atmosphere, a sophisticated Parisian looking like Helena Rubenstein may write your pass while a man from Pakistan collects your ticket and a gorgeous blonde from Sweden punches the button of the elevator.

Modak, a slender girl from India was our guide, a little lady of great charm and insight, dressed as American as you or I, under her silk sari. She also wore eye makeup and my mind jumped to the vain things of life for I caught myself wondering how she would select the color of her lipstick. Her skin being black, of course.

What she was saying at the moment was that it was so much easier for an impartial person to settle a quarrel or argument; that a person or committee or council can be more fair when they have nothing at stake.

Modak told us the hows and the whys of the United Nations (she seemed to love the place like we love Garrett county). While doing this we recognized that this little girl from India had far more education and culture, and in her words "I understand the public" than any of us, yet she was just as human.

She flashed an expression of true appreciation when someone said, "How beautiful" as she ended her talk on how she had interpreted the great mural of man's struggle for peace.

Then too, she was delightfully flattered when asked to pose for snapshots and could hardly believe so many wanted her picture.

How insignificant, you may be thinking, to be writing of such when the General Assembly was in session—when an amendment to the resolution to exclude Hungary from the U.N. was being presented at that very moment. Sometimes it is these little human things that open up the avenues of communication and understanding.

It was an important day at the U.N. Even the aides commented on the crowd. For that reason only teachers could attend the General Assembly session, which made us pretty sick that our students couldn't see with the naked eye what the world would be reading in the next morning papers.

Sick that they couldn't see Hammarskjold, Lodge and the president of the assembly who is the great grandson of the King in this week's movie, "The King and I."

They were in the Security Council chamber at the same time probably doing the same thing I was—that is—flicking buttons that connected the ear phones so they could hear the speeches in French, Spanish, Russian and Chinese.

They were a keen bunch—our students from Southern and Northern. Left to their own devices they always turned up with something interesting. A few of them spotted the Dutchman Nicholas who answered the questions worth $20,000 on television this Tuesday night. They had a few words with him and he posed while Jane Duling got his picture.

Needless to say, this week I would like to write more.

The industrial boom was seen as rising in 1957.

MARRIED

Grose-Bowman—Mr. and Mrs. Nevin Broadwater, of Grantsville, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Jane Bowman, to E. Eugene Grose, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar E. Grose, of Frostburg.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized in the Grantsville Lutheran church on November 24, with Rev. George E. Bowersox and Rev. C. Edward Noel officiating.

The altar was decorated with palms, gladioli and chrysanthemums and lighted with white tapers in branched candelabra.

Mrs. Harold Miller, organist, played a program of nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Robert Bittle, Cumberland, who sang "At Dawning," "The Lord is My Shepherd," "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her stepfather, was attired in a waltz-length gown of Chantilly lace, embroidered with scallops accenting the Batteau neckline, and long sleeves, pointed over the hands. The shirred lace skirt was draped over a bouffant skirt of double ruffled nylon tulle. Her veil of imported illusion was matched to a small crown of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible showered with a cascade bouquet of white roses with streamers tied with violets. She wore a necklace of pearls, a gift of her grandmother, with small pearl earrings.

The bride's attendants, Mrs. Donald Cassler, Pittsburgh, matron of honor, and Mrs. Howard Bowman, Salisbury, Pa., sister-in-law of the bride, bridesmaid, wore ballerina-length gowns of American Beauty satin, the deep V necklines accented with streamers of petal pink to the hemline.

Sandra Lee Grose, sister of the bridegroom, junior bridesmaid, wore a petal pink embossed satin with American Beauty bows and streamers. They all wore wedding-ring hats of red velvet finished with pink tulle veils, scattered with sequins. They carried cascades of pink carnations.

Joseph Tome, Cumberland, was best man. Donald Sine, Morgantown, W. Va., and Donald Blank, Frostburg, were ushers.

Mrs. Broadwater, mother of the bride, wore sapphire blue with blush pink accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Grose wore avacado green with white accessories and a corsage of white rosebuds.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Livengood's guest home in Grantsville. The bride's table was centered with a tiered wedding cake and arrangements of flowers and tall white tapers.

Miss Jeanne Lohr, Miss Peggy Baker, Mrs. Joseph Tome, Mrs. Paul Schultz, Mrs. David Broadwater and Miss Zona Arnold assisted in serving and presided at the punch bowls.

The couple left for Washington, the bride wearing a berry red costume with white accessories and a corsage of white flowers.

The bride was graduated from Northern High school and is a recent graduate of the Memorial hospital school of nursing in Cumberland. The bridegroom is a graduate of Beall High school, Frostburg, 1949, and served four years in the Navy. He is employed by the Bethlehem Steel corporation at Sparrows Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Grose are at home at 2609 Yorkway, Baltimore.

Northern Hi News

By ROSALEE SISLER

Who Shot A Buck?

Quite a few students were lucky enough to "catch" a deer. In fact, 13 students were lucky. Among these was one girl. She was Ruth Savage, 12-3, who got a bigger deer than any of the boys. Those who "shot a buck" were: James Savage, Raymond Savage, Ernest Savage, Ruth Savage, Hobart Sisler, Eddie Rush, Darrell Beitzel, Dean Durst, Sam Hare, Marvin Beachy, Gary Frantz and Ernest Smith.

Citizenship Tests

Three Northern seniors took citizenship tests last week. These students were chosen by the senior class P. O. D. teachers. Taking the tests were Eva Schroyer, Louise Coddington and Zane Beachy. The winner will be announced in the near future.

U. N. Trip

The student delegation making the U.N. trip to New York returned early Tuesday morning. Everyone reported an enjoyable trip. It was noted that two seniors, Ruth and Carolyn Savage, managed to make it to school Tuesday. John Kolb and Junior Kahl came for afternoon classes.

Basketball

The Northern Huskies lost their first game of the season to the Berlin Mountaineers at Berlin. The score was 38-42, an exciting game. Their second game was played Tuesday night at Northern with Meyersdale.

Christmas Dinner

Northern's cafeteria staff served the students their Christmas dinner on Thursday. The menu consisted of: Turkey and dressing, gravy, mashed potatoes, buttered corn, relish tray, apple sauce-nut cupcake, candy, bread, butter, and a half pint of milk. This lunch, which cost the cafeteria 75c to prepare, was purchased by the students for 25c. The usual lunch period of 25 minutes was extended for 45 minutes. There were Christmas decorations and background music.

Assembly

The Senior Class presented a "Know Your Seniors" assembly program to the senior high school students on Wednesday morning in the gym. The master of ceremonies, Atlee Snyder, was in charge. Bill Goehringer, 12-2, gave a talk on our American freedoms and Gloria McCullough sang "White Christmas."

Forest Plans Are Advanced By Western Maryland Railroad

The Western Maryland Railroad has turned forester.

This year the railroad inaugurated a program of tree planting that involves 100,000 acres and 20 years for completion.

The story of the Western Maryland getting into the reforestation business began 75 years ago when in February, 1881, the West Virginia Central and Pittsburgh Railway was organized with Henry Gassaway Davis, one-time West Virginia U. S. Senator, as its president.

Vice president of the road was Stephen B. Elkins, a son-in-law of Davis and secretary of war in President Benjamin Harrison's cabinet.

The railroad acquired 100,000 acres of coal and timberland, much of which is in Tucker county in the vicinity of Davis. In 1886 a lumber mill was erected in Davis which became the center of lumbering operations for about 35 years. At the end of this time, nothing was left but slashing and this was put to a more barren waste by fires. Other parts of this land were scarred by strip mining.

The timber taken from this mountainous section during the 35 years it was worked amounted to 1,162,147,719 board feet, about equal to all the timber cut in Maryland during the last ten years.

Work Begun In 1953

In 1905 this land was transferred from the West Virginia Central to the Western Maryland railway, along with all other physical properties. The area for years has resembled a rocky, scrubby wasteland, and such was the situation in 1952 when the railroad employed a forester, John Adams, and adopted the slogan, "Progress Can Be Grown." Adams moved to Oakland and makes this his headquarters.

A program of reforestation was launched for these 100,000 denuded acres. Actual work began in the spring of 1953. Since then over 400,000 seedlings have been planted on 600 acres.

Company plantings on idle lands consist principally of red pine, but Scotch pine, white pine, Norway spruce and European larch are also used.

The company has a sled-type tree planter designed to negotiate rough terrain. Some plantings are done by hand. Survival is reported to be about 85 percent. Hand plantings of black locust seedlings and red oak seeds have been made on strip mine spoil banks on an experimental basis. These have not had the success as have plantings on the barren forest land. In some instances survival has been less than 50 percent.

The forester figures that in seven years from the time of planting the acres planted in pine and spruce seedlings will yield revenue through thinning for Christmas trees. In 25 years stands will be thinned again for wood pulp. By then the remaining pole size trees will be on the way to becoming saw timber, the ultimate crop.

Control Of Water

Not all of the 100,000 acres is denuded. Included in the property are several thousand acres of young fast growing timber. Reforestation by machine and hand planting is being resorted to only where natural reforestation does not appear to be likely.

In important byproduct of reforestation is watershed control. The trees hold the water and reduce erosion and floods. Even more important to the economy of the area is the employment provided by the tree planting program and eventually in the revising of the lumbering which through bad forest management, came to an end about 30 years ago.

Christmas, 1956 . . .

AS WE honor the Nativity this Christmas, let us all give more thought to the spiritual meaning of this great day—remembering that through Christ, God revealed to us the lasting truths of Christian faith. ★ Again let us dedicate our lives to the service of our Heavenly Father. As we pray, let us give thanks to Him for our priceless heritage to worship and live as free people. ★ Let us remember to pray for those who bear the burden of tyranny, and for those who are ill and depressed, that they may soon be blessed with lighter hearts. ★ Let us pray for His guidance of our chosen leaders, that they may work wisely and unceasingly for amity among nations. ★ Let us, with thankful hearts, spread the age-old message of the Christmas angel, "Glory to God in the Highest, and on Earth Peace to Men of Good Will."—International Paper Company.

Christmas Greetings

At last the tinkling of the Linotypes is stilled, the rumbling press is silent. The pages of type lie dead upon the stones, and we turn our thoughts to wishing you the happiest holiday season ever.

For the moment, what we have accomplished is done; what remains for us to do must wait for the observance of the glorious occasion of Christ's birth.

We thank you for your good will of the past year and look forward to a continuance of our pleasant relationships during the years to come.

They were a part of a group of three hundred Maryland students, who, under sponsorship of the A.A.U.W., annually tour the U.N. The trip from Baltimore to New York and return was financed by the Business and Professional Women's club, Oakland Civic club, Oakland Junior Civic club, Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club, Oakland Rotary club, Southern High school P.-T.A., American Association of University Women, Loyal Order of Moose, and the Knights of Pythias. Expenses to and from Baltimore were paid by the students.

The group of chaperones, Miss Bernice Idleman, Mrs. Polly Hanst and Albert R. Ringer, left Grantsville early Sunday morning, December 9, by bus and arrived in Baltimore Sunday afternoon. Boys were housed at the Y.M.C.A., and the girls at a nearby rooming house. They saw the movie "Giant" in the evening. Early Monday morning a special train carried the group to New York, and viewed the Manhattan skyline while crossing the Hudson river. Points of interest were pointed out as the bus drove through Manhattan.

Upon arrival at the U.N. headquarters the group was escorted to the public lobby of the General Assembly building where they were assigned to an Indian guide, Miss Modak, who conducted an hour's tour of the building and various meeting chambers. Souvenirs and refreshments were available in the basement. Tickets were

Mail Volume Hits Highest Peak Here

Volume of outgoing mail at the Oakland postoffice hit the highest peak of all time on Tuesday, according to Donald M. Browning, postmaster.

The highest peak last year was 13,150 cancellations on December 18. Monday the counter showed 17,034 cancellations for a new high, and the very next day this total was surpassed with a figure of 19,628, over 2,500 greater than the day before and over 6,000 greater than the highest figure for last year.

The volume of the incoming mail is particularly heavy and there was also a large amount of parcel post. No count had been made on incoming mail or on parcel post, but Mr. Browning said he was sure that the total was much heavier than at any previous time.

Five additional persons are employed in the postoffice for the Christmas season. They are Arthur Lawton, Jr., window clerk; J. Maffett, dispatch clerk; Wilmer Graves, Herbert Turney and George Coddington, carriers.

Industrial Group Seeks Assistance From County

Commissioners Reluctant To Commit County Money To Project

A group of business men interested in the county-wide industrial development corporation appeared before the County Commissioners Tuesday afternoon to seek financial assistance to carry out their program.

An annual budget of approximately $15,000, over at least a two-year period, was agreed upon at a meeting two weeks ago, and the group on Tuesday asked the Commissioners to agree to provide half of this amount annually, holding it in reserve until the group proved its worth by raising the other half by a sale of corporation stock.

The sale of stock was also expected to point out to the County Commissioners that the organization had county-wide support, which the business men pointed out should justify any appropriation the Commissioners might make.

Approximately half of the projected budget was to be used to hire a promotional director for the entire county whose efforts would be directed toward selling the county to industry and tourists and thus increase employment in the area.

Another Plan Projected

Another plan also was projected at the meeting which suggested that people give the Sterling Processing company a little time to get into operation and fill their labor needs; see what allied industries may develop in the county as a result; at the same time have a small working committee from towns and communities organize for a concerted county effort along with the above named groups.

It was pointed out that the Commissioners already have a fund of $2,000 or $3,000 set up for special travel or entertaining expenses of prospective industrialists, similar to one used this past year.

It was also stated that an industrial brochure that has been prepared in cooperation with the County Commissioners, would be available for specific interested industrialists. It already has been given out to several prospects.

The Commissioners went on record as favoring highly any contemplated industrial development, but that until it was demonstrated by the group that its support was on a county-wide basis, and until something definite and concrete could be produced as to the amount that the group could raise on its own initiative, the members felt they could not commit themselves to providing county funds. They assured the group they would take the matter under advisement and would make a thorough study of the projected plan.

Some twenty or more business men were present at Tuesday's session, representing a number of towns and organizations of the county. All signified their agreement with the principles of the corporation and promised to aid in raising money by the sale of stock. The group had already agreed at a previous meeting that a campaign to sell stock in a non-profit development corporation was the most favored proposal on ways of raising the necessary budget, which would give every person in the county an opportunity to participate by purchasing shares for as little as $5.

The formation of a board of directors also was agreed upon at a previous meeting, containing 13 members and including representatives from incorporated towns of the county, and also from the Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council, the Rural Development group, the Garrett County Farm Bureau, the County Commissioners.

W. W. DeWitt Given Leave of Absence

W. W. DeWitt, of Hoyes, county roads engineer for a number of years, was granted a six months leave of absence from his duties on account of his health.

A letter requesting the leave was received by the Board of County Commissioners on Tuesday and the board acted on the matter favorably.

The Board named Paul DeWitt, assistant county roads engineer, to be road supervisor in his absence, and until further notice.

Iraq Builds for the Millions

During the next five years, Iraq will spend more than one billion dollars on a bold and imaginative development program embracing every facet of the nation's economy—irrigation and agriculture, industry, communications, housing, health, education and training, culture, recreation and holiday resorts.

Various projects in all these fields have already achieved notable progress over the past few years, but the new five-year plan emphasizes an integrated approach to the problems of the nation. The plan is financed by 70 per cent of the total oil revenues (estimated at 200 million dollars a year) and the development budget will increase to well beyond the billion-dollar mark as oil revenues grow.

The lion's share of the funds will go towards expanding the vast irrigation program which will take fifty years to complete in its entirety. But even if all construction work stopped at the end of the current period, authorities estimate that Iraq would receive a ten-fold return on its investment through the increased productivity of the land and the control of floods.

In the field of industrialization, the five-year plan calls for nation-wide electrification to provide adequate power for industrial, domestic and municipal uses. Other projects—some completed, some now under construction—include textiles, a bitumen refinery, cement plants and a sugar refinery.

To raise the nation's health standards, the Development Board has set aside large sums for medical instruction, expansion of the existing facilities, construction of a new medical college and several large hospitals. The Board is also planning the construction of low-cost housing in all parts of the country.

In education and recreation, the five-year plan provides for considerable expansion in primary and secondary school buildings, with emphasis on industrial schools and workshops. Throughout the country, recreation grounds and swimming pools will be built and Northern Iraq will be developed to encourage tourism.

An outstanding feature of the five-year plan is the balance struck between long-range projects, such as irrigation, whose benefits will not be felt immediately; and short-term projects such as housing which will quickly contribute to the welfare of the people. And when all these projects are carried to completion, Iraq will not only enjoy an unprecedented standard of living but will be able to support in comfort two or three times her present population of five million persons.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

God's Plan vs. Man's Disorder

On every side we can see evidences of the disorder of man. There is waste and corruption in every government. Petty larceny is no longer noted in the newspaper headlines because of the larger crimes being committed every day in every part of the world. Automobiles have turned into our biggest enemy of life—for each day brings the total of traffic death higher. Divorce rates reached a new high (or should I say marriage vows reached a new low) during this year as more and more people chose to break the sacred bonds they made in marriage. It is a pretty sad commentary on the creature made by God, "a little lower than the angels."

On the other side of the picture, however, there is a wonderful story. It is the story of the plan that God has for man, and more and more people came into His Kingdom this past year. This new story of man's possibilities starts in very humble circumstances— a stable in a small village, where a man and a woman stopped after a bone weary trip to pay necessary taxes. Here was a child born Whose destiny was to change radically the course of the world, for He came to help man solve the problems of his disorder. Though we sometimes lose sight of the fact in the midst of a tremendous commercial hubbub, it is His Birth that we celebrate throughout the world on December 25.

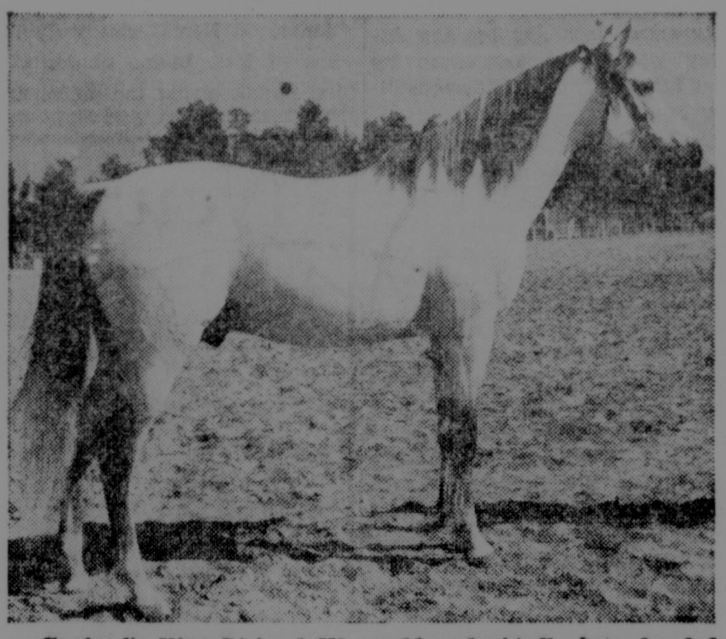
As I said before, the start of this plan was in very humble circumstances, and God's plan for man is to use this humility as an example for man to follow. There is little talk of humility throughout the world. Men are more interested in pointing with pride to their accomplishments than admitting in humility that they have not done well enough with the gifts of God. If they would but follow the example given by God—His Son, the King of creation—born in the most humble of circumstances; there is no room for self-pride in the new plan of God for man.

But the reason for this humility is even more important. It is Love. Not that junk and trash that you can read in some cheap pulp magazine—but true God-like love—one person's complete unselfish interest in the needs of another. This was God's reason for sending His Son, that we might have a new life through Him, that He might serve us better because of Christ, that He might be able to do more for us because of Christ. God in form so that he might be able to understand and better remedy the human problems.

And so we celebrate Christmas, the beginning of God's new plan for man. There are many who simply scratch Christ out of their celebration of Christmas as they do in abbreviating the festival itself, with the lazy X mas. There are many who are too unconcerned to take the trouble to actively participate in the Kingdom on Earth that Christ established—the church.

As long as there are many of these people, man's disorder will continue. Why don't you take the opportunity that this festival of Christmas presents to renew your acquaintance with God's plan for the world in the church of your choice. If you have never known Him—take this opportunity to become acquainted—you are missing the most important area of your life, even missing life itself without Him. In other words—stop adding to man's disorder, and get in on God's plan—you will be a better person and the world will be a better place in which to live because of it.

"My Kingdom For A Horse!"



England's King Richard III would undoubtedly have handed over his entire kingdom for one of the magnificent Arabian horses bred on the Inshass Farm in Egypt.

For on this farm, run by the Egyptian Government, are horses whose ancestors are certified in a long line stretching back at least eight generations. And even a king could not persuade the Egyptian Government to part with some of its famous sires, including Antar Ben Himdan, who is considered priceless.

The farm, which produces horses for the army, police and private horsemen, is operated along highly modern lines with expert trainers to supervise the breeding and development of thoroughbred Arabian steeds. Each year specially selected horses are exported to Europe to compete on continental race tracks, and the farm has a museum to house the trophies won by its distinguished animal alumni in national as well as international horse shows.

then furnished for studnts to sit in on an Economic and Social Council meeting and the chaperones on the General Assembly meeting. In the latter, the Indian delegate, Krishna Menon, was speaking on the Hungarian issue, thus creating such a demand for tickets that the students were not allowed to attend. The group returned via coach and ferry to the train in Jersey City where a box supper was served. From here they continued to Baltimore, Grantsville, and Oakland, arriving home about 5:30 Tuesday morning.

A speakers' bureau has been formed from this group of touring students. Any local organization desiring a lecture about the United Nations and this trip may have one by contacting Kenneth Johns, principal of Southern High school.

Students from Southern included Harlan Carlson, Walter DeBerry, Audrey Friend, Henry Lee, Fred Teets, Wayne Callis, Kathryn Hauser, Barbara Lu Glotfelty, Brenda DeBerry, Patricia Leighton, Jane Duling, Carol Savage, Doris Lawson, Brenda Davis, William Henline.

McKenzie, Carolyn Savage, Louise Coddington, Helen Brenneman, Ruth Savage, June Leydig, Leona Frazee, Maxine McKenzie. Chaperones were Paul Muha, principal; Ralph H. Beachley, vice-principal; and Mrs. Richard Coddington.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

Who owns American big business? The Communist and Socialist agitators would reply "Wall Street, or a few rich capitalists!" The home-grown political demagogue would say: "The selfish vested interests, the privileged few." The well-intentioned do-gooder would say: "The fortunate wealthy people." What would you say? The answer is vitally important because in the world we live in, a combination of forces seeks to drastically change the American economic and political structure—with our individual freedom at stake.

Here's the answer: American big business is owned by 8,630,000 men and women, most of them with incomes of less than $7,500 a year and living in the small towns of America. When all business in America is counted—big, medium-sized and little—there are nearly 18,000,000 owners.

A recent study of the question "Who owns American Business" showed that approximately one out of every 12 adults in America owns an interest in some corporation whose stocks are listed in Wall Street, and that about one out of every five or six employed persons in America have a financial interest in some company.

Here are some of the details:

For the first time (in 1956) women outnumber men as shareholders in corporations—by a margin of 51.6 per cent to 48.4.

Approximately 12 per cent of the share owners have incomes under $3,000 per year. Twenty-six per cent have incomes from $3,000 to $5,000; and 26 per cent have incomes from $5,000 to $7,500.

America's typical shareholder is 48 years old, three years younger than his counterpart just four years ago. But, among the people who became shareowners for the first time during the last four years, the average age is 35. The typical shareowner is a high school graduate and lives in a community of about 25,000.

We can add to this wide-spread corporation ownership under American capitalism these facts: The farms of America are owned by 25,000,000 people; the houses of America, worth $230 billion, are owned by approximately 100 million people; our 50 million automobiles are owned by nearly 40 million families. In fact the whole wealth of America is distributed out among the whole adult population.

The broad distribution of America's material production has come about because of America's unique economic and governmental system. It is correct to say that what we have in America is "People's Capitalism."

Truck Is Ditched; One Man Is Injured

A passenger in a truck was injured last Thursday afternoon when he leaped from the car as the vehicle went out of control while descending Backbone Mountain on State Route 135 near Bloomington, and hit an embankment.

George Henry Miller, of Westminster, sustained chest injuries. Property damage was estimated at $2,000 by authorities.

The driver of the 2½-ton truck was Jerald Lindberg Horning, 29, of Uniontown, Carroll county, who escaped injury. He remained in the cab to steer the runaway truck about 150 yards before ditching it. Faulty brakes were blamed.

Owned by the Carroll Advertising company of Westminster, the truck was loaded with lumber and paint supplies. The rear wheels were torn from the chassis by the impact.

The two men, who had been in Allegany and Garrett counties erecting road signs for the company were heading for a point between McCoole and Westernport when the accident occurred.

Mt. Top Riflemen Lose to Hercules

Hercules firepower blunted Mountain Top's rifle team 1114 to 1109 in Sunday's Western Maryland League rifle match held at Cumberland and Oakland. Fort Hill won over LaVale on the same program.

The win tied Hercules with Mountain Top for first place. Firing his first match of the season, George Porter paced the Oaklanders with 280 markers. The teams shot over their home ranges.

Norm White's 289 headed the Fort Hill list as LaVale was beaten 1117 to 1060. Smallbore contests were fired at 50 feet with telescopic sights and constituted match No. 7 of the winter schedule.

Scores of Mt. Top firing from the three positions included: G. L. Porter, 100, 89, 91, 280; C. E. Miller, 100, 85, 92, 277; A. A. Harvey, Jr., 100, 91, 86, 277; R. L. Cain, 100, 87, 88, 279; team total, 1109. Also firing were D. Helbig, C. Calhoun, E. Michael and W. Ridder.

Workers across the nation will get a billion dollar annual pay-boost next year under terms of already negotiated labor contracts.

Men earned an average of $4,200 throughout 1955; the women's average was $2,700.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our Mother, Mrs. Montgomery Wilson, who died June 10th, six months ago.

When the Evening Shades are falling
And we're sitting all alone,
In our hearts there comes a longing,
If you only could come home.
Off and on our thoughts do wonder
To your grave so far away,
Where we laid you dearest mother
Just six months ago today.
And enfolded in arms of everlasting
Her troubles and pains are all past
And through the gates of God's upper city
Through eternity she has entered at last.

Loving Children,
William Wilson,
John Wilson,
Bessie Cuppett,

Slide Covers Track, B. & O. Train Wrecks

Baltimore and Ohio railroad trains were delayed up to four hours on Saturday when a landslide occurred on the Monongah division early that morning about 15 miles east of Parkersburg. The slide caused a three-unit diesel locomotive to overturn and forty-two cars of a fast freight to wreck.

Some of the derailed cars carried liquid butane gas, alcohol and oil. The slide was in a narrow gorge and the engineer did not see it because of a slight curve in the tracks at that point. He and the fireman were slightly injured.

After the diesel smashed into the slide it continued on for one-eighth of a mile before overturning. Some of the derailed freight cars rolled into a creek.

Trains which normally use the route from St. Louis to Washington and New York, were re-routed by way of Parkersburg to Brooklyn Junction, New Martinsville and Clarksburg, and thence on eastward to Keyser and Cumberland.

Personalize Your Greeting Cards

You can personalize the greetings you send to special friends by making your own cards. Handmade Christmas cards are fun to make, send and receive and truly reflect the personality of the sender.

One simple way to make cards is to trace a design that reflects your family personality or a symbol of the season on a block of linoleum. Cut away all but the part you want to print, dip this part into colored ink, and stamp it on a folded piece of good quality paper. Then hand-letter your holiday message on the inside.

Other cards can be made by painting, or by cutting pictures and designs from last year's cards and putting them together in new designs to make fresh, personalized greetings.

Snow Is Probable

Forecasters are predicting possible snow over the Christmas holiday period, but it was anything but that today with rain falling and the temperature in the 40's.

There has been a variety of weather for the week. Last Friday cold rain in the area turned to ice and covered trees and telephone lines, and made highways hazardous.

The extensive amount of rainfall in the area showed its effects with the rise of all the streams but they remained within their banks. Nearly one and one-half inches of rain fell in a 24-hour period.

Sunday was moderate, clearing at night with a heavy frost experienced Monday morning. Monday was mild and windy, colder on Tuesday while Wednesday was clear and moderating.

Eisenhower and Dulles hailed what they called "renewed evidence of vigor and unity" in the Atlantic Alliance.

The Hungarian tragedy has knocked Communist strength in Western Europe to a new low.

Rockwood Hi Edges Northern 60 to 49

Rockwood High school overcame a three-point first period deficit and went on to defeat Northern High school of the Cove on Friday on the Northern court. The final score was 60 to 49.

Bill Lamp found the range for 24 points to lead Rockwood's attack. Gary Hetrick and Darwin Robeson were tops for the losers with 13 and 10 markers.

Northern led 14 to 11 at the quarter but was trailing 26-22 at the half. Playing for Northern were W. Humberson with 7 points, C. Humberson with 2; Robeson, 10; Hetrick, 13; Mickey, 3; McKenzie, 1; Glass, 5; and Schroyer, 8.

Forester Thayer Featured In Sunday Sun Article

Tom Thayer, as caretaker for 2,500,000 Christmas trees, was pictured in a feature article in The Sunday Sun, Baltimore, on December 16. The article was prepared by Ray O'Rourke.

The story tells of the founding of the Garrett County Christmas Tree Growers association, and its growth since October, 1955, when the formal organization took place. It has since expanded into the Maryland Christmas Tree Growers association with William W. Nace, as president; and Dr. A. E. Mance, vice-president.

Thayer revealed there were 32 members of the state association and declared that "Oakland is the logical spot for headquarters," explaining that this county lies in the great Northern Forest of the United States, where, at altitudes exceeding 2,000 feet, soil and climate conditions are ideal for Christmas trees.

The article dwells on Mr. Thayer's fitness for the job by heredity, environment and education as a woodland nursemaid of pine and spruce plantations. He was pointed out as a direct descendant of Meshach Browning, Garrett county's famous pioneer, who in his book, "Forty Four Years of the Life of a Hunter," relates that he killed "1,800 to 2,000 deer, 300 to 400 bears, about 50 panthers and catamounts, with scores of wolves and wildcats."

One farmer summed up what Tom Thayer was doing. "We're pretty touchy about state controls in Garrett county. When the State started giving free tree seedlings away and telling us we could thin out and sell Christmas trees to get an early return on our time and labor, we were a little bit suspicious. Then Tom Thayer came along. He's a state man but he was born and raised here. Another thing, Tom didn't try to get us to do something he wouldn't do himself. He's serious about building up the Christmas tree and timber business. He even got an old farm and started building it into timberland himself."

So Mr. Thayer is pictured not only as a forester but also as a salesman, diplomat and public relations man.

Maryland is the only state giving free seedlings for reforestation purposes. Under this program the trees are planted 1,000 to the acre and not more than half of them may be thinned out for Christmas trees.

Most members of the association plant under this plan but there are a few, who must buy their seedlings from private nurseries, planting for the Christmas market exclusively. In the latter case the trees can be set closer together, yielding 1,750 to the acre.

Since joining the forestry department in the county in January, 1952, Mr. Thayer has succeeded in getting 500,000 trees a year planted on private land. It takes from six to eight years for an evergreen to grow to Christmas tree size. This year not more than 1,000 Christmas trees will be cut from private lands but in two years the number will be nearer to 50,000 and in three years there will be no less than 200,000 trees finding their way into the Christmas market, while millions of others will stand and grow into giant timber.

If present prices hold, trees that now bring $1 and $1.25 on the stump, will in three years, add more than $200,000 to the county's annual income. Association members sell all their trees on the stump at present, with the buyers doing the cutting. Most of the trees are shipped to Pennsylvania. Future plans of the organization call for a clearing house, tree auctions and large scale cutting, shipping and marketing operations.

THE STORY OF CHRISTMAS
Day of Days

Boy—I can hardly wait!

I've got my stocking hung by the chimney with plenty of care, and Christmas morning it'll be bursting full of all sorts of good things. There'll be a candy cane sticking out of the top . . . there always is . . . and a walnut stuffed way down in the tip of the toe.

And then . . . the tree! I don't think there's a prettier sight on earth than a Christmas tree. And all those presents underneath it, wrapped up in bright colors and tied with ribbons.

Then Mom and Dad and my sister Ellen and I will get dressed, and we'll go to Church. That's one of the best parts of Christmas. For Mom and Dad always say that Christmas is the celebration of Christ's birthday. I love the music in our Church at Christmas—"Hark the Herald Angels Sing," and all the other carols. When I hear them, I feel all filled up with joy, and I know why our minister says that Christmas is the happiest day of the whole year.

Boy—I can hardly wait! And I just hope that your Christmas is going to be as merry as ours!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

When God Came

Lesson for December 23, 1956

ONCE upon a time, so runs a modern legend, there came a rumor to the ears of all the angels that God himself was going to visit a district in his dominions known as the Earth. Some of the angels had never before heard of the place, but others had been on errands thither, and in its affairs. So there was much talk and many opinions, for it is with angels as with men, that not being possessed of infinite wisdom, they do not all see eye to eye.

Dr. Foreman

Why Should God Come to Earth?

"The earth is too small," said one angel. "I have seen the place and it could be lost in a corner of heaven. Why should the Almighty trouble himself about the place?"

"It is more than small," said another angel. "It is wicked."

"What is 'wicked' "? said an angel who had never seen sin.

"It is hard to explain," said the wiser angel. "You will not believe me, but there are beings on that place called Earth who do not our Lord's will. They do not even wish to do it. Some there are who doubt even that he exists. And some hate him and call him stupid and cruel."

"I do not believe it," said the young angel."

"It is true none the less," said the older one.

"Then the Lord will descend in flame and destroy that evil place," said the young angel. "Amen," said many others together.

"It has come to my ears," said one who had not spoken, "that this visit is not in wrath but in mercy. God is going to win back to himself those who have rebelled."

"But how shall he do this?" came the chorus. "He has tried before, these many times," said one who remembered. He has sent messages by us his angels, he has spoken by poets and preachers and heroes and saints. He has shown men what is good, and if men will not believe Moses and the prophets, would they listen to the voice of the very God?"

How Shall the Most High Come to Man?

"And if he came in his infinite glory, how would they endure the sight?" asked another. "Angels veil their faces before him; how shall sinful man look upon the face of God and live?"

"I have heard," said one, "that he is to go as a man. I do not know how this can be, but this I have heard."

"What manner of man?" said some. "And how will he come?" asked others. One spoke: "Surely he will be born in a king's palace. Men find it not easy to believe, at best. If God appears in lower than the highest human place, there will be none to believe it is He. If they cannot bow to him as a man they will never kneel to him as God."

"Nay," said another angel, "men are oppressed by their kings. If he comes from a royal place they will take him for another tyrant. What men respect is wisdom. He must be born to learning, he must be acquainted with all the books wise men have written, he must be a son of the schools, a philosopher."

"Not so," said others. "Scholars are tedious to most people. Human beings are like children. If God is to have their eye and ear he must win them by amazement. Let him drop from a golden cloud at dawn, let him work almighty miracles, let him turn stones into bread and sand into silver. Let him be richest of men, dispensing wealth to all. Then they may believe."

The Word Became Flesh

But God, who had not sought counsel of his angels, took his own strange way. He came not in a golden cloud but in darkness with only a star for light. He came not to palace or university but to a woman untaught, unknown; not to a home of wealth but to a couple so poor they could not pay for a room in a village. He summoned no crowds to witness his coming. If certain poor shepherds heard of it, and if a few wise men from a far land came to see, it was not the mother who told the news. There are many doors into human life, and some of them are deep in shadows. And what the angels did not know, the Lord on High knew: that men who live in a darkened world would never be saved by a God who feared to walk in shadowed ways.

Gifts That Sparkle Add to Holiday Joy

Attractive gifts under a Christmas tree add as much sparkle to the holidays as decorations on the tree.

Plastic foam has unlimited use on packages. A boot three inches high, cut from one-inch-thick plastic foam makes a nice decoration for children's packages.

Brush the boot with shellac and sprinkle red glitter on the wet shellac. Then glue a collar 2 inches thick by 1½ inches high on the boot.

You can make a wagon from a rectangular box by cutting wagon wheels and a tongue from ¾-inch plastic foam. Edge the wheels and tongue with pipe cleaners and glue them to the package.

For a three-dimensional look, cut a picture from an old Christmas card. Make paper strips ½-inch by 2 inches and pleat them. Attach the picture to the package by gluing one end of the strip to the picture and the other end to the package.

St. Peter's Loses

St. Peter's school of Oakland was defeated 71 to 44 by SS Peter and Paul, of Cumberland in the opening game of the Catholic Youth Basketball league Sunday at Cumberland.

"Ace" Gonder caged 16 points for Oakland with DiSimone getting 13, and Michael an even dozen. Adams was non-scoring as was Leahy, Miller and Turney.

Students Present Kitzmiller Program

December 14 a group of students from Southern presented a special program at the Kitzmiller Community School.

Mr. Bernard High, principal of the school, opened the program by introducing Mr. Kenneth Johns, principal of Southern. Mr. Johns made a few remarks and then introduced Fred Teets, Southern's Student Council President, who was master of ceremonies.

A talk was given Dave Gonder on "What Southern Means to Me." This talk was followed by an accordion solo by Ted Raynovich. A selection was played by the Trumpet Trio which consisted of John Brown, Bill Burgwald and Harvey Winters.

Glenn Lane made a talk about "The Industrial Arts Program at Southern." Following this Barbara Glotfelty and Bobbie Sanders danced to the tune of "Let It Snow."

The Physical Education and Athletic Program was explained by Don Mason.

Following this some novelty numbers were presented by the quartette which consisted of John Brown, Jackie Calhoun, Carole Savage and Keith Mersing.

Barbara Rice talked about the Home Economics Program at Southern. Then the Girls' Trio sang some musical selections. The trio consisted of Carole Savage, Kathryn Filsinger, and Patty DeWitt. A snow flake routine to "Susy Snowflake" was danced by Barbara Glotfelty with Jackie Calhoun singing.

The program was then closed with the audience joining in singing Southern's "Fight Song."

Christmas: Our Great Holiday Began As Strictly Religious Festival

Although records indicate that the Christmas festival was spoken of in the fourth century as a custom of long standing, the exact age of the holiday is not known.

Christmas actually began as a strictly religious observance and was officially recognized in the fourth century as Christ's Mass, or the Mass of Christ. And it is quite significant to note that until this time it had been the custom of the church to celebrate the anniversaries of deaths, rather than births, so Christ's birthday was appropriately the first to be made an occasion for feasting.

It was many years after the first observance of Christ's Mass before gift-giving became a part of the festival season. The church finally condoned the practice, in remembrance of the Three Kings who had traveled far to present their gifts to the new-born Christ.

In other centuries, too, the feast of Christmas was to be the subject of controversy. In England, during the Reformation, many believed the undue jollity of Christmas day to be sacrilegious. The English Parliament, on December 24, 1652, ordered that "no observance shall be held of the five and twentieth day of December, commonly called Christmas day; nor any solemnity used or exercised in churches upon that day in respect thereof."

Naturally, the edict proved to be very unpopular with the masses of the people, but it had its effect and it was many years before Christmas was once again regarded as a holiday.

And England was not alone. The Puritans of Mass. bay colony had a law that imposed fines for observance of Christmas and Gov. Bradford once issued a statement publicly ridiculing certain young men who declined to work on Dec. 25, "ye day called Christmas."

Christmas Rose

The beautiful Christmas rose has played its part in the many legends associated with our Christmas observance.

An early story tells of the young shepherd girl who wept as she watched the Wise Men on their way to the Christ Child with rich gifts when she had nothing to offer as a present. An angel appeared and asked the reason for her distress. And suddenly the ground was carpeted with shining white flowers. The shepherdess gathered some of the blossoms and took them as her gift to the Christ Child. When she presented her gift, the Infant smiled, and as his fingers touched the white flowers, the petals became tinged with pink.

It is also believed that the Christmas rose helped popularize the custom of gift giving at Christmas time. In the days of knighthood it was custom to hang kissing rings in the great halls. The rings were decorated with mistletoe and beneath them the young knights and ladies would meet, each bringing Christmas roses to their secret love.

TOYS FOR ADULTS
MODEL KIT
MODEL KIT

Most experts expect a booming adult toy market to make this a record year for manufacturers and sellers of toys and games. For several years, toy makers have been catering to the hobbyist and the "over 65" age group and now they find themselves with a toy market that is brisk at both ends of the age group.

Today's adult who works, and the elder who has retired, have plenty of leisure time on their hands and each year hundreds take up such hobbies as miniature shipbuilding, model railroading, or the less strenuous word or card games.

Some of the grown-up items on the market for the last year's top toy selling Christmas season included a $10 scale model kit of the liner S.S. United States, "HO" gauge electric trains, model power boats, pool tables, shuffleboard sets, and an endless list of word games.

Biggest volume item in the adult toy field are the word games and the increased popularity has been so marked that within the past year two manufacturers doubled their plant capacity for producing games.

The toy makers have no intention of forgetting the nearly 50 million youngsters under 14 who are their principal market, but they are cultivating the "over 65" group—and their reasoning is simply that the older age group has more money to spend and is more interested in finding ways to occupy time.

Some manufacturers of "do-it-yourself" tools and gadgets are cashing in on the adult toy market by putting models of their products on the toy counters. Among items in this category last Christmas were a "mobile" loudspeaker, an intercom set, and a hand drill. Plenty of these were sold to grown-ups who put them to practical use.

Christmas Customs From Many Peoples

The observance of Christmas in the United States, is a combination of customs which have come to us from Germany, England, Italy, Turkey, and many other countries, customs which have been combined into a beautiful and varied observance.

Christmas customs, combined with a proper appreciation of the spiritual nature of the observance, gives the real meaning of Christmas and the universal message it holds for all mankind, "Peace on earth; good will to men!"

Proper Tree Cuttings Help Forests Grow

Cutting an evergreen for a Christmas tree is not a harmful practice, so don't feel guilty about it. Even the trees that are sold in market places were "harvested" as a crop to give living room to regular plantings.

Christmas trees are grown on poorer forest soils and wet bog areas where evergreens grow far too slowly to produce a lumber or pulpwood crop — thus Christmas trees are the only profitable harvest that can come off that land.

Some trees do come from top lumber areas, but these are "thinnings." In growing trees as a crop it is often necessary to thin out the smaller trees so others will have room to live and grow.

Thus it is that the "thinnings" serve a number of uses: they bring Christmas joy into the home; provide income for the forester; and serve as "life insurance" for upcoming timber crops.

PROOF ENOUGH . . . Skeptical oldsters who would spread the word there is no Santa should have a chat with this Chicago youngster who fairly beams as he asks old Saint Nick about the things that will be under his tree come Christmas morning.

Most Children Want Simpler Type of Gifts

An early report from Santa reassures the fact that our younger generation isn't too much fazed by this electronic world in which we live today.

Although some precocious youngsters ask for the outlandish in toys when they write to Santa, the majority still request the old standbys—such things as red wagons, tricycles, balls and gloves for the boys and dolls and such for the girls.

It is indeed reassuring in this modern age to know that children still find security and happiness in the simpler things of life, the things that pleased us most when we were children ourselves.

Save Time in Making Holiday Plum Pudding

Plum pudding—rich in tradition and dried fruits but lacking plums —is perhaps one of the oldest and most famous of Christmas dishes.

Most plum puddings require four to six hours of steaming, but this time can be cut to about one-third by steaming the dough in a pressure sauce pan. When this method is used, pressure is omitted during the first 30 minutes (because the dough is rising) then 15 pounds of pressure and steam are applied for one-third of the time given in the recipe.

WHITE HOUSE TREES

President Theodore Roosevelt, an ardent conservationist, once disapproved of Christmas trees and for several years forbade any being brought into the White House.

But one year his sons, Archie and Quentin, smuggled one in and set it up in Archie's room. After the discovery, Gifford Pinchot, a great forester and conservationist, soothed T. R. by explaining that supervised and careful harvesting of Christmas trees — as thinnings — was good for the forests.

Ever since, the White House has had an indoor tree.

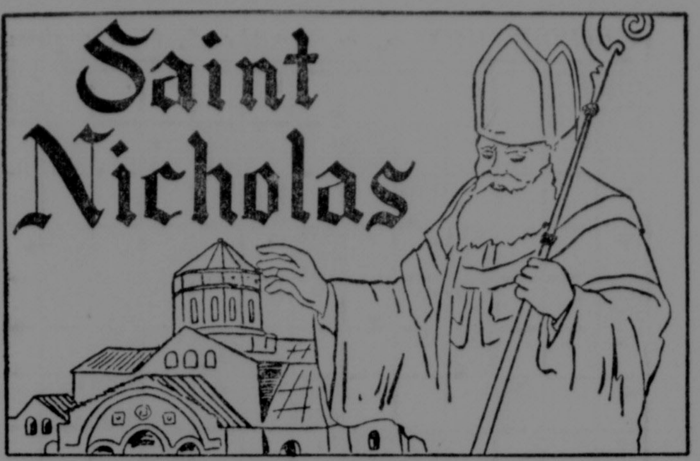
Saint Nicholas



The original Santa Claus was St. Nicholas who was born in the ancient port city of Patara, in Southern Turkey, on the Mediterranean coast, during the 3rd century. St. Nicholas was for many years Bishop of Demre (ancient Myra) and it was at Myra that he died in 342. He is buried in Demre in a church which bears his name, the Church of St. Nicholas.

Renown for his many kind deeds, and especially for his loving generosity towards children, the good bishop has become a legendary figure in the folklore of many nations. To accommodate the many travelers who visit the Church of St. Nicholas in the blue mountains of Demre, the Turkish government recently completed a new road. Just last year the government honored him by issuing a special stamp in his name.

Biblical tradition is very rich in the ancient land of Turkey. In the city of Antioch, where the followers of Christ first called themselves Christians, the site where St. Peter led the first Mass can still be seen. Many other saints, including the Apostles Paul, John, James, Luke and Barnaby were born in this region. Mary, Mother of Christ, retired after the Crucifixion to the city of Ephesus, where her abode has been excavated and opened to the public by the Turkish government.

Holiday Spirit Dies Too Quickly

With all the excitement and hustle that precedes Christmas, it often happens that the day after Christmas is an anti-climax. It shouldn't be, although many new toys will already be broken, a few are certain to be disappointed because they didn't get what they really wanted from Santa—and, of course, there are bills that must be paid.

Yet, it isn't quite right to put Christmas so far behind us when December 26th arrives. There are many things that can and should be done to keep the Christmas spirit alive. This is the time for everyone in the family to write thank-you notes. Writing at once to acknowledge a gift serves two purposes. The giver appreciates such prompt thoughtfulness and it's always much easier to write a thank-you note promptly than to keep putting it off.

The day after Christmas is also a good time to start taking memos that will help make the next celebration of the holiday a greater event. And, before discarding those Christmas cards and letters, be sure that your address book is up to date.

Take a look around you at some of the gifts your friends received—and you may get some idea that will help you do a better shopping job for upcoming birthdays, anniversaries, and for the next Christmas, which on December 26th, is less than a year away.

Christmas Caroling Is Custom Which Began Centuries Ago

Christmas caroling, so much a part of our present-day observance of Christmas, is said to have begun about the 16th century.

The first real Christmas carol is attributed to St. Francis of Assisi, who made a model of the Bethlehem manger to help him tell his people the Christmas story.

Christmas carols were then supposedly taken from Italy to England by the traveling clergy. The idea of caroling fitted into the English conception of Christmas as a combination of religious celebration and a day of good will, so it flourished in that country.

Little bands and groups of singers which sprang up in the towns and villages were called "Waits." A natural explanation of the name seems to be that it refers to watching and waiting, for Christmas Eve is called the Vigil of Christmas.

As early as December 21, which is the day dedicated to St. Thomas, mummers and carolers would begin going from door to door, announcing the great feast at hand. It was natural for householders to offer hospitality to these troubadors, and gradually in many places the custom of giving and receiving presents of various kinds was established.

Christmas Hazards

Each year we read or hear of a family that has had their holiday season marred by a Christmas tragedy.

Little careless acts—that seem so unimportant at the time—are the cause of death or some accident which mars the spirit of joy that should accompany the holiday.

Tragedies—especially at Christmas — are needless, so take a moment to think about the dangers that may be present in your home.

Christmas trees cause many fires, so choose your tree wisely. Don't buy a larger tree than your family needs, and be sure it isn't dried out.

The many and varied assortment of lights now being used to decorate Christmas trees can, if not properly handled, cause an electrical fire.

Be sure you use only electric lighting sets that have been properly approved.

Christmas time has a lot of "do it yourself" tasks about the house. Watch out for frayed wires, loose connections and broken sockets on Christmas tree lights.

Don't plug too many cords into one outlet.

If you leave the house, be sure all tree lights are turned off.

United In Marriage Sunday

Miss Arveta Marie Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Bell, Oakland, was married Sunday to Donald Lee Savage, CS3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Savage, Deep Creek Village. The double ring ceremony was performed Sunday afternoon in St. Paul's Methodist church by the pastor, Dr. W. S. Patterson.

The vows were exchanged before an altar decorated with lighted candles, evergreen and bouquets of white lilies. Mrs. Jay Bell sang "Always," "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love," accompanied by Mrs. Merritt Feather, who also played traditional wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina-length gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta, fashioned with a scalloped neck line, long, pointed sleeves, long torso bodice and a full ruffled skirt. Her fingertip veil fell from a crown of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid with satin and lace streamers tied with rosebuds.

Miss Mary Jane Browning, College Park, was maid of honor. Miss Amy Anderson, Morgantown, W. Va., and Miss Barbara Lewis, Terra Alta, W. Va., were bridesmaids. They wore identical dresses of red crystalette, with scooped necklines, three quarter length sleeves with cummerbunds and full skirts, which were ballerina length. Their headbands were of red velvet, and they carried bouquets of red and white variegated carnations. Each wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bride.

Linda Kay Bell, sister of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore an outfit matching that of the bridesmaids.

Truman Herrington, CS3, acted as best man and Clayton McGavin, CS3 and Michael Patterson, CS2, were ushers. All are in the Naval service stationed at Yorktown, Va.

The bride's mother wore a light blue wool suit with black accessories, and a pink rosebud corsage. The groom's mother chose a light brown wool suit with dark brown accessories and a yellow rosebud corsage.

A reception was held in the church social room following the ceremony. The table was decorated with red roses and poinsettias. The wedding cake, three tiered and topped with a miniature bridal couple, was served by Miss Jean Ward. Mrs. Jane Johnson presided at the punch bowl. Both are sisters of the bridegroom.

The bride is a graduate of Southern High school, class of 1956, and is attending Morgantown Business college. The bridegroom is a graduate of Northern High school, class of 1953, and is now serving with the U. S. Navy at Yorktown.

The couple left for a wedding trip through Southern states.

Eighteen Classrooms Get New Furniture

Eighteen elementary school classrooms in the county have been completely equipped with new desks and chairs during the past two years, according to records in the office of the Board of Education.

Thirteen of these rooms were provided for during the present school year. The furniture replaced old furniture that was obsolete and in many cases unfit for use.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said the best of the old furniture was being repaired, sanded and painted in attractive colors. He said it was the aim of the school board to have new or reconditioned furniture in every classroom within another two-year period.

The new furniture has been placed as follows: Kitzmiller, two rooms; Accident, two rooms; Loch Lynn, two rooms; Bloomington, one room; Red House, two rooms; Swanton, one room; Friendsville, three rooms; Center street, Oakland, four rooms; Deer Park, one room.

AMERICAN CAROLS

Three of our loveliest Christmas carols were written by Americans. In 1849, Edmund H. Sears composed "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear" and in 1859 Dr. John Henry Hopkins Jr., composed "We Three Kings of Orient Are." "O Little Town of Bethlehem" was written in 1868 by Phillips Brooks.

Southern High Is Taken By Valley

Southern lost an exciting basketball game to Valley High Tuesday night at Oakland by a score of 63 to 58.

The game which was tied eleven times in the first half, was close all the way. Valley enjoyed an eight point lead in the third quarter which was the widest margin separating the teams at any point. Valley took a two-point lead 12 to 10 at the end of the first quarter and held an advantage of 31 to 28 at the end of the half. Tom Bittinger tied the game at 32 all early in the last half but Valley pulled away to lead 48 to 42 at the end of the third period. Southern rallied in the fourth quarter to pull within one point at 50-51 on a goal by Shiffey with less than four minutes to go, but timely baskets by Johnson enabled Valley to build up a five point lead which held to the final whistle.

Earl Kight with eight field goals and one foul, was high scorer for Southern with 17 points. Bob Shiffey with five field goals and 5 of 6 fouls had 15. Shaffer had 4, Roth 12, and Tom Bittinger had 10. Green and Johnson, with 16 and 15 points, were high for Valley. Cook had 7, Young 14, Lauder 9 and Dye 2. Southern outscored their rivals 25 to 24 from the field and scored 8 of 13 fouls compared to 15 of 24 for Valley.

In the preliminary game Southern Jayvees defeated the Valley High Jayvees.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission.

Bogged Down!

As the session of Congress approaches there is a growing concern among politicians as to the degree of success the re-elected President will have in a body so closely divided between his party and the opposition. There are, as is so often fatuously said, two "schools of thought." One school thinks he will have no success whatever; that every attempt to enact legislation carrying out promises made in the campaign will fail and that he will establish a record for unprecedented presidential fultility.

The other school is firmly convinced that, nothwithstanding the fact that the Democrats will control House and Senate, the Eisenhower program will be enacted more completely than in the last session. They base this conviction upon three seemingly sound ideas: No. 1, that the Eisenhower program will not be a partisan one. Personally, he is not much of a partisan himself. Rather he wants to be regarded as President of all the people and it must be admitted that his nearly ten million majority is a reason for so feeling.

* * *

No. 2, that, barred by law from running for a third term he will be able to use his presidential weight in support of Administration measures far more effectively than in his first term, when he was largely inexperienced in politics and knew little of political ways. No. 3, the utter sincerity and honesty of the man almost inevitably makes an appeal to all save the most blinded partisans. He easily may make mistakes, but only the most incurably bitter believe him capable of a mean or dishonest act. Extremely few will ever believe him inspired by an unworthy motive.

Certainly, the great majority of the American people do not, and will not, so believe. This fact gives him a special and personal strength which no President for nearly a quarter of a century has had. Under such circumstances it is not too easy for an opposition member of Congress either to assail the President personally or to oppose his program for obviously partisan reasons. This has recently been made clear by what has happened to the widely advertised Democratic Advisory Committee, invented and sponsored by the exceedingly unpopular Democratic national chairman, Mr. Paul Butler, and the exceedingly garrulous Senator Humphrey, of Minnesota, who is unfavorably regarded by a considerable number of his Democratic colleagues in the senate.

In a statement last week Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn declined Mr. Butler's invitation to become a member on the ground that Democratic policy between elections was usually made in the House, and when his party disagreed on policy he would rather choose his own advisers. Senator Lyndon Johnson, majority leader of the Senate, says he is in complete accord with the Speaker. Quite a number of other Democratic members of the House and Senate have likewise declined to accept membership. A body blow was struck the Butler-Humphrey proposal on Wednesday when Senators Byrd and Robertson, along with ex-Governor Battle of Virginia, denounced the committee as "unwise and unworkable." The prediction is now being made that despite wide publicity, the committee will never meet.

Some do not hesitate to say they regard as a piece of impertinence this effort of the Messrs. Butler and Humphrey to grasp control of party policy through an unwarranted agency, which is saturated with publicity seekers and which would ultimately be controlled by a few aggressive labor bosses and the Americans for Democratic Action, none of whom find favor in the South. It is stated that of the twenty "leaders" invited, only six have accepted.

Taking these things into account and considering also the feeble party appeal of the Messrs. Butler and Humphrey, it does not seem likely the Democratic party will unite along their lines. In brief, it appears this advisory committee stands a pretty good chance of bogging down—and that the party leadership its sponsors have assumed is too ephemeral to be taken seriously. All it has so far done is to prove that the better-grade Democrats in Congress will not oppose everything Mr. Eisenhower favors just because he favors it. Early this week one of AFL-CIO news commentators, after talking with Senator Humphrey about the Democratic situation, and his new committee, pleasantly referred over the radio to the Senator as a presidential possibility in 1960. There is, indeed, slight risk of offending Senator Humphrey by such references, but certainly it is a queer way to unite a split party. Also, it seems to leave the Messrs. Stevenson and Kefauver, who promptly joined the committee, and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who promptly indorsed it, as looking rather silly—though not quite as silly as the Messrs. Butler and Humphrey.

Mail Route Extended

The extension of a mail route from the Deer Park postoffice, was announced this week by DeWitt S. Hyde, Congressman. The extension became effective December 1.

One and one-tenth miles of route has been extended on Deer Park route 2, on the Dodge church road, being extended to the J. W. Foster farm. Seven householders and about twelve persons are being benefited by the change, it was pointed out.

How Santa Claus, Ind., Got a Famous Name

Except for a lucky break, the town might have had another name and thus would not have enjoyed the annual fame that it enjoys with each Yuletide season.

Originally the name Santa Fe was chosen, but officials in Washington suggested another name be chosen, since there already was a Santa Fe in New Mexico.

So it was that on Christmas Eve, in 1882, citizens of the nameless town gathered to select another name. Suggestions were tossed about for some time, until Santa Claus, making his yearly visits in the neighborhood strode in to get warm. He was attired in proper costume and his arrival seemed to put one name in every mind.

And so the town was named Santa Claus.

EARLY FESTIVALS

Prior to the fourth century, the Christians observed only Epiphany (the commemoration of the Baptism) and Easter with festivals and religious rights; the physical birth of Christ not being widely recognized. In such countries as Spain and Armenia, the month prior to Epiphany was a time of fasting and repentance.

New Farm Account Book Available From County Agents

Keeping track of the farm business never was simple, but farmers may find it a little easier in 1957 if they use the new farm account book of the University of Maryland Extension Service.

This new farm record book is being distributed at cost by county agents and the University's Department of Agricultural Economics and Marketing.

Farm management specialists at the University say the account book was designed to do three jobs:

1. Provide a simplified month-by-month record of the farm business.

2. Give the farmer complete information for use in reporting farm income taxes.

3. Provide information for filing social security report.

The book is set up so the farmer can draw up his year-end summary of income and expenses on a form similar to the farm income tax form. The same is true for the new social security and self-employment tax information required of most farmers. It's then a simple matter to transfer these figures to the tax forms when filing, the farm management specialists say.

Copies of the farm account book can be obtained from county agents or the Department of Agricultural Economics and Marketing, University of Maryland, College Park, Md. The cost is 25 cents. No stamps will be accepted.

Church Women Meet

Members of the Women of the Church of Zion Lutheran at Jennings met in the home of Mrs. Kermit Bittinger last Wednesday evening for their Christmas gathering and worship program. Mrs. Donald Hetrick, president, was in charge. Fifteen members and three visitors attended.

Mrs. Elwood Glotfelty led the study, "The Woman with a Little Son." Others participating with scripture readings and stories were Mrs. James Glotfelty, Mrs. Ray Billmeyer, Mrs. Stewart Stahl, Mrs. Susie Yommer, Mrs. Donald Hetrick, Mrs. Ernest Handwerk, Mrs. Joseph Resh, Mrs. Kermit Bittinger, Miss Myrtle Custer. Christmas carols were sung.

Secret sisters were revealed and names were selected for the new year. The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Clyde Smith with Miss Leota Baker leader. After the program refreshments were served in Christmas fashion by the hostess.

Repeat Performance

The PP boys are at it again. PP stands for public power—you know, the fellows who insist on all of the taxpayers paying a part of their electric light bills. This time they are carrying on their blocking tactics on the Snake River between Idaho and Oregon—sort of a repeat performance of the Hells Canyon skullduggery that delayed for so long a time the start of building dams there. You'll remember that the job was finally awarded to the Idaho Power company.

But the PP boys don't know when they're licked. Too bad their intelligence doesn't match their misdirected perseverance. On September 7, 1955, the Pacific Northwest Power company applied to the Federal Power Commission for a license to build two major dams and power plants on the Snake River between Idaho and Oregon. The total cost of the project, estimated at $213 million, was to be assumed entirely by private capital advanced by the four local electric utilities which organized the Pacific Northwest Power Company: Washington Water Power, Pacific Power and Light, Montana Power and Portland General Electric.

As with Idaho Power in the earlier case, Pacific Northwest Power was eager to start construction promptly—by March, 1956—in order to meet the threat of a critical power shortage by 1960. And like Idaho Power, PNP ran into long months of delay instituted by an organization known as the National Hells Canyon Association. The result is that hearings on the license application are still in progress before the Federal Power Commission, more than eight months after PNP had hoped to break ground for electric installations that the Pacific Northwest needs so desperately.

Now you may be asking, just what is this National Hells Canyon Association—just whom does it represent, that it has the temerity to keep power expansion out of the Northwest indefinitely?

Well, as nearly as I can discover, it is financed in large degree by labor unions—they have supplied more than half the money to finance National Hells Canyon Association—it has all the earmarks of being just another front for labor unions to use some of the money, (that in large part they forcefully mulct from their members), to inject the Federal Government further into the power business—where it has no business to be, morally, legally or constitutionally.

According to S. Dean Arnold, City Attorney of Clarkston, Washington, seventeen persons attended a "national" meeting of NHCA held last March, just 23 turned out for its "Tri-State Convention" (Idaho, Oregon and Washington) on April 20. A three-state "potluck" dinner and planning meeting in February drew a throng (?) of 36.

The National Hells Canyon Association has been aptly described as: "The little organization with the big title, the bigger noise, and the king-sized expense account."

Harking back to Mr. Arnold. In testifying before the Federal Power Commission, he offered that body some personal conclusions regarding the NHCA. Said he:

"I have taken particular note of the lack of strength of the intervenors who have made it necessary for the Commission to go to the trouble and expense of holding these hearings and thereby delaying needed power development in this area . . . The (National Hells Canyon) Association's intervention, however meritorious from a constitutional standpoint, is a trespass upon the time of the Federal Power Commission and an unwarranted delay to the utility companies, which, except for intervention, would now have under construction two much needed dams and power facilities in this area."

Well said, Mr. Arnold! I can almost hear the applause of the taxpayers of the 45 states (including even Tennessee, the home of the famous "yardstick TVA) that won't get any of this electricity to be developed for Idaho, Oregon and Washington. They have no burning desire to pay a part of the electric bills of the citizens of those three Pacific States. And the levelheaded, fair-minded citizens of those self-same three states, don't want any such bounty from the other forty-five.

Syrian Women Voters Important Force In Democracy

Thirty years ago, shortly after American women won their long fight for equal rights, a young Syrian girl named Adla Beyhum startled her country's conservative male citizens by demanding similar rights for the women of Syria.

In a letter addressed to the editor of the Beirut magazine AL-FATA AL-ARABI, this determined young lady declared that she could see no reason why Syrian women should not participate in public life while maintaining their status as housewives and mothers.

"Emancipation does not mean that a woman will neglect her family," Syria's Susan B. Anthony said. "Our movement aims at restoring the traditional prestige of the Arab woman, adopting only those changes necessary for modern times."

These words, uttered by the daughter of a noble family, struck like a thunderbolt at conservative thinking of the times. However, Adla Beyhum's voice struck a responsive chord in women from Damascus, Aleppo, Hama, Homs and other Syrian cities. Soon men, too, were persuaded by the logic of her arguments and the status of Syrian women underwent a drastic change. Today these women not only enjoy the right to vote, but they are equal partners in business, industry, education, the professions and other fields.

In addition to Mrs. Beyhum, now president of the Feminist Union in Syria, the country boasts of such outstanding feminine leaders as Asma Khouri, president of the Feminist First Aid Society; Souad Mardam, president of the Awakening Syrian Woman Society; Naziha Hourania and Wisal Bakdash.

These women, like their American counterparts in the League of Women Voters, are energetically urging their fellow-countrywomen to take a greater share in political affairs by teaching Syrian women about their rights and responsibilities in a democratically developing nation.

CHRISTMAS CANDLES

Just as vari-colored Christmas tree lights add to the Christmas spirit in practically every American home, so does flickering candlelight add to the enjoyment of holiday decorations.

This year's candles take on a glitter and sparkle to go with their glow. Tall or short, fat or slim, all candles lend themselves to jeweling. And here, as with other Christmas decorations its the "doing" that increases the fun and deepens the joy.

Popular on Christmas shopping lists this year are trim-a-candle kits which "do-it-yourself" fans can use to transform plain-Janes of candleland into tapers of striking loveliness which may be used for home decorations or gifts.

The kits' contents include glitter, spangles of infinite shapes and colors, pearls, sequins, stars and hollow beads.

Nazareth: After Centuries, The Chosen City Is Growing Modern

The advent of modern conveniences is gradually making a vast change in the homeplace of Jesus. Nazareth, scene of many miracles, has witnessed a new one—water, in plentiful supply.

Since long before the time of Christ, Nazarene women had to carry water in earthen jugs. Now, such sources as the famed "Fountain of Our Lady Mary" will be needed only as shrines recalling the city's historic past.

The water for the most predominantly Arab city in Israel is piped in from a Jewish farm settlement in the Valley of Esdraelon. The 12-inch pipe carries it to a summit overlooking Nazareth where a junction with municipal pipelines allows distribution throughout the city.

Nazareth, the chosen city and one of Christendoms holiest places, was once so insignificant that the term "Nazarene" was applied to Jesus Christ in derision. And, long before the birth of Christ, the city was the target of a variety of invaders.

In the Christian era alone, Nazareth has been conquered many times. The city was wrecked by Saladin in the Christian-Moslem wars of the Middle Ages. In the same period the Christian population was massacred by Bibars, the Egyptian sultan and general. Some of the historic churches have been razed and rebuilt as many as three times.

Less than five miles away was the once thriving city of Sepphoris where the Romans put down a desperate revolt of the Jews led by Judas the Galilean when Jesus was a boy. Herod Antipas, son of Herod the Great, rebuilt Sepphoris, and there is speculation that the young Carpenter may have aided in the reconstruction.

Junior High Girls Are Inducted Into F.B.L.A. Club

Sixteen girls were initiated and inducted into the F. B. L. A. Club on November 24, at Northern High school.

The club appointed a committee to decide on the initiation. They decided that each girl should wear their clothes inside out and backward, one sock, two different shoes, their hair tied in two little pigtails with binder twine, and a headband which read F. B. L. A. When an inductee met any F. B. L. A. member, she curtsied and gave her name and quoted, "I am a gum chewing girl like a cud chewing cow." The initiation lasted three days.

Students Doze In Assembly

Mr. J. Allen Sheterom, hypnotist, and his wife, were featured in an assembly program held in the Southern High Gymnasium on Tuesday afternoon, December 11.

This magician had a variety of tricks with which he amazed and stunned the audience, but the highlight of the afternoon was his power to hypnotize. There were about nine students who were actually hypnotized. Later it was stated that about one out of five persons can be hypnotized.

Those hypnotized were Dick Nace, Lois Swartzentruber, Dick Castilow, Lonnie Rodeheaver, Lester Bittinger, Kay Weeks, Kenneth Troy, Steve Malone, and Nancy Bittinger.

Some of the things he had his subjects do were to chase an imaginary dog around the gym floor, to fish from an imaginary pond in the middle of the gym floor (he was having very good luck) and to have a boy imagine that he saw something very sad in front of him. The latter caused a well known senior boy to break down and cry.

Mr. Sheterom has performed all over the United States and Canada. He has been a magician for 35 years.

Other than being a magician, Mr. Sheterom also owns a printing plant.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheterom were appropriately dressed for the occasion with Mr. Sheterom in a tux- Sheterom in a pink chiffon gown. edo with a white bow tie, and Mrs.

Health to You

In the days of the Saxons, "washail" was a popular greeting meaning "health to you." It later became a Yuletide drinking toast, and cups of hot wassail were given to visiting Christmas carolers.

Here is the recipe for a cherry bowl which will help extend a hearty welcome to your Christmas guests.

CHRISTMAS WASSAIL

2 quarts sweet cider
6 whole cloves
1 three-inch stick of cinnamon
6 whole allspice
½ cup light brown sugar
juice of 6 oranges
(16 to 20 punch cups)

Simmer the cider, spices and sugar for 15 minutes. Let stand for 12 hours. Then add orange juice. Strain, reheat and serve.

Serve wassail hot from a large bowl and green cherries, orange slices or small baked apples floating in it. Place the bowl on a holly-trimmed tray.

WHERE TIME STARTS

The starting point of time is the admiralty's date line, which curves east and west of the 180th meredian in such a way that it lies always in the ocean.

First to welcome each New Year are the residents of the Chatham Islands, New Zealand, just east of the line.

From its starting point, the New Year moves westerly at the speed of 1,000 miles per hour.

Water Is Key to Safe Fresh Indoor Tree

Water is the key to keeping a Christmas tree fresh after it has been brought indoors.

Every indoor tree should be anchored in a container that holds five or six inches of water. The butt of the tree first should be cut on a slant an inch above the end of the trunk.

Water should be added to the container every day to replace that taken up by the trees or lost by evaporation. Ample water makes a tree less inflammable and gives it better color.

Any Christmas greenery will stay fresher if sprinkled with water.

Nematodes Put $12 Million Bite On State's Crops

Nematodes are reducing Maryland crop yields an estimated 12 to 15 percent. Research workers at the University of Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station place the cost of this damage at about $12 million a year.

Plant parasitic nematodes are small round worms, invisible to the naked eye, except under laboratory conditions.

Nematologists in the University's Botany Department have taken soil and root samples from over 1,000 fields. No field was found to be free of plant-parasitic nematodes. More than 35 different types of nematodes were found, many of them unknown to Maryland prior to this survey.

Farmers often fail to recognize damage caused by nematodes, since they feed on plant roots in most cases, and thus are unseen.

But the etxent of crop losses caused by these underground parasites make them a major problem to farmers, say the researchers.

There are two main control measures farmers can take: rotations, based on resistant crops, and chemical control.

The researchers are conducting experiments to develop effective crop rotations. They do this by subjecting various crops and varieties to nematode attack. When resistant varieties are found, the crops can be used to reduce severity of nematode injury. In some cases, however, the scientists have found that so many crops are susceptible to attack by some types of nematodes, that no rotation can be suggested at this time.

Investigations are also being conducted to test new chemicals for nematode control.

DICKEN'S FAMOUS STORY

Charles Dicken's famous Christmas Carol was not the most popular of his Christmas stories during his lifetime, nor was it the one he hoped to be remembered by.

Dr. Ada Nisbet, who did extensive research for a book on the famous English author, states that the most popular of Dickens' Christmas stories in his day was "The Cricket on the Hearth," a poignant story of a father who tries to shield his blind daughter from the realities of life.

"It outsold Dickens' familiar tale of Scrooge and Tiny Tim by two to one," says Dr. Nisbet, an associate professor of English on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California. "Two weeks after its appearance in 1845 dramatic versions of 'The Cricket' were playing at 12 different theatres in London alone."

Dickens' own favorite of his many Christmas stories, and the one he hoped would give him lasting fame, was "The Chimes." As he was writing it, he enthusiastically wrote a friend that it "would knock 'The Carol' out of the field."

But the public did not take to "The Chimes," probably because it was filled with uncomfortable topical satire. "The Christmas Carol" survived and became increasingly popular, Dr. Nisbet believes, because it is cheerful and "Christmasy," with a social doctrine shapeless enough to be acceptable to all.

Christmas Tree, Though Beautiful, Potential Killer

Your Christmas tree is a beautiful and necessary Christmas decoration. It's also a potential killer. Decorative as it may be, your holiday tree is filled with pitch and resin—among the most combustible substances known.

Here are some suggestions that will eliminate the dangers of a tree fire in your home this holiday season:

Choose a small tree. It's less dangerous than a big one. Don't set it up until a few days before Christmas. Until then, keep it outdoors. Place it in the coolest part of the house, well away from fireplaces and radiators. And don't let it block an exit.

Stand it in water, or use a live tree planted in a tub. Never use cottton or paper for the decorations on or around the tree. Do not put electric trains under the tree. Use only electric lights, never candles, and see that wires are not frayed. Be sure that wiring sets for lights show they have been tested for safety. Provide a switch some distance from the tree for turning tree lights on and off. Don't plug or unplug them beneath the tree. Throw away all gift wrappings as soon as the presents have been opened. Don't let them pile up near the tree.

Don't leave the lights burning when no one is home. If needles near the lights turn brown, move the lights. When needles start to fall, take the tree down and discard it.

For happy holidays, see that children get at least their usual amount of sleep.

St. Francis Gave Much to Christmas

Some 400 years before Saint Nicholas, Bishop of Myra, performed the many acts of generosity and kindness which made his life a great legend and gave him the "Santa Claus" character we know today, another Saint—St. Francis of Assisi made other contributions to our celebration of Christmas.

St. Francis lived in the small Italian village of Garcia. In the year 1200 A.D., St. Francis arranged the first manger scene in a cave near the monastery where he lived. The scene was typical of that at Bethlehem. There was a manger filled with hay, an ox and an ass. St. Francis and his followers celebrated mass at the cave and sang hymns in honor of the Christ Child.

Himself a lover of music, St. Francis believed that the early chants (written in Latin) were too theological to be popular. He felt that Christmas music should be religious, yet should be more in keeping with the festivity spirit. He is generally credited with being the influence behind the more modern Christmas carols, which spread from Italy to France, from there to Germany; then to England and elsewhere.

Deep Creek Church To Present Program

Sunday evening the Sunday School of the Deep Creek Baptist church will present the Christmas program under direction of Mrs. Lillian Miller, assisted by George G. Edgar, superintendent and the staff of the school.

An arrangement of the scholars will be presented in recitations, dialogues, pantomime, vocal music, congregational singing, and a play entitled "The Faithful Pioneer."

Among the cast of characters of the play are the following: Dr. and Mrs. Alvin P. Friend, Mrs. Shirley Ritchie Evans, JoAnn Glass, Mary Lou Vetter, Anna Mae Miller, Karen Sue Edgar, Mosie Miller, Eleanor Vetter, Loretta Edgar, Patty and Billy Shuttleworth.

Others participating on the program will be the pastor, Rev. Paul Parker; Delores Vetter, Kay Bowman, Sandra Brant, David Glass, Edward Tower, Karen Friend, Paula Lohr, Mary Jane Peck, Doris Brant, Betty Glass, Dorothy Peck, Shirley and Elaine Edgar. Decorations and scenery were arranged by a committee headed by Miss Ethel Grove and composed of Mrs. Peggy Miller, Mrs. Anna Miller, and other volunteers. Miss Irene Thayer prepared the costumes and George Edgar placed the tree.

The services will begin at 7:45 o'clock with Mrs. Pauline E. Parker at the piano. Treats and exchange of gifts will follow the play.

Bruce High Winner Over Southern High

Bruce High floormen of Westernport invaded Oakland last Friday night and handed the Southern Highlanders their second straight defeat. The final score was 63 to 48.

The visitors were never behind after breaking a 13-13 tie in the second quarter. Don Wilkinson pumped in 12 field goals and three fouls for a total of 27 to lead the Bruce scorers.

For Southern Kight got 13 points and Ken Shaffer had 11. The Highlanders made a game of it during the first half but the Bulldogs gradually widened the gap in the third period. Southern rallied in the final quarter, outscoring Bruce 18 to 12 but were unable overscore the big lead.

Southern had an off night in shooting, making 16 field goals in 50 attempts for an average of .320. 30 at the end of the third period.

Colaw scored 5 for Southern, Shiffey 6, Tom Bittinger 5, Friend 5, Stemple 2 and Kelley 1. Southern scored 16 field goals and 16 of 28 foul attempts while Bruce scored 25 field goals and 11 out of 19 foul attempts.

Bruce led 13 to 11 at the quarter, 29 to 20 at the half and 51 to 30 at the end of the third period.

On Friday, December 28, Southern will play the Alumni in a game postponed from December 5.

Bruce Jayvees won the preliminary 37-26.

U. S. reached goal of shipping at least 500,000 barrels of oil a day to Western Europe.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

No Room in the Inn

Once upon a time a man and woman went to the city to pay their taxes. They did not wire for reservations. Neither did they send a letter in advance. They travelled on faith, knowing that they could put up with the same accommodations as others.

Or perhaps they had no plans to stay in an inn, likely having little money after taxes. They might have thought it would be nice sleeping under the stars, knowing full well the closeness of God on a starry night. These two no doubt needed to feel this closeness for both knew by now that He was using them to fulfill the prophecy.

Anyway they just had to travel on faith and when the hour had come there was no room in the Inn.

And to this day, almost 2,000 years later there is still no room in the Inn. We know that He came and lived among men, being the greatest teacher of them all, showing the perfect love of mankind, died for us, and before people's eyes ascended into Heaven. We know this, each and every one of us Christians.

As we prepare for His birthday, I wonder how He must feel as he watches the crowds rushing to and fro with strained expressions, squeezing or stretching each dollar bill, for surely when we go commercial there is no room in the Inn.

When Christmas carols, written by people because of their great love for the Christ Child are played constantly in the streets, causing one to become deaf to them as the ticking of a clock, then there's no room in the Inn.

When we set out to satisfy every whim of our children, providing enough of this world's goods to last a year; enough to tire the child who has the packages to open, there still is no place in the Inn.

When clean curtains and waxed floors become uppermost in our minds, the "no vacancy" sign goes on.

When women do not have time to pack "white gifts" for an exchange, there again it means there's no place in the Inn.

I could go on and on, not talking about anyone but myself, for how many times this busy week has it occurred to me that we're filling our rooms with more spectacular guests than the nice babe.

—o—

But There Was a Manger

Thank all the powers that be—there was a manger—and before this glorious celebration is over all of us who have one spark of the Light of the World within us, will have experienced the real joy of Christmas. It may come through carolling as we watch the faces of our aged and invalids light up as we sing; it may come when we see youth joyously at work making candles for give-aways, or as we listen to Ruth Browns' Glee Club.

There will be clean straw in the manger as a little neighbor sits in our kitchen nibbling cookies and talking more of giving than getting; or as the faces of children light up as they sing "Away in a Manger."

The real joy of Christmas may come as the sewing machine hums, for it is the making of things that increases the flow of love through our hearts. It will come when husband and wife and children work together in preparation when that wonderful sense of family unity envelops them. Each family has its own method, whether it is decorating the tree, making cards, bringing in Christmas greens or wrapping caramels.

It will come on Christmas Eve, when the bustle is over, and the blaring street music gives way to the organ playing softly in a candlelit church. We know then that Christmas without the Christ child would be no Christmas at all.

God chose that His child be born in an environment of simplicity and that's where we find him today.

My greatest wish for us all is that we have enough simplicity in our lives that there will be room for Him.

A joyous Christmas to you all!

Poinsettia Plant Can Be Kept for Next Christmas

The poinsettia, long a most popular Christmas plant, is one of a group of plants known as short day plants because it will bloom only in the season of the year with the shortest day length periods, preferably 10 hours or less. That is why it is always in bloom during the Christmas season and not during the summer.

The so-called blooms are really leafy bracts which color up a brilliant red. The true flowers are the small insignificant yellowish cups found in the center of the whorl of red bracts.

Poinsettias require regular watering—every day if necessary—but not excessive watering. They should be placed where they will get a maximum amount of daylight and sunshine. Day temperatures should be about 70-72 degrees and night temperatures should never be allowed to drop below 60 degrees.

Your poinsettia need not be discarded after the holiday season is over. To keep your plant until next year, place it in the basement or some other dry place, where there is no danger of it freezing. Water it very little, if at all, allowing the soil to dry up. Next May bring the plant out, cut the stem back about two-thirds, wash the old soil off the roots and re-pot in new soil. Softwood cuttings taken in July and rooted will give you good Christmas blooms.

Evergreens Mourning Symbols for Finns

Evergreens are never used as decorations in the homes and churches of Finland because the Finns regard them as symbols of mourning.

At Christmas most homes where there are children suspend a "heaven" from the living room ceiling. Such "heavens" consist of a cord framework covered with straw and different colors of paper ribbon, etc., and decorated with paper stars and silhouettes cut in various designs. The effect, when reflecting the firelight and the candles' glow, is mysterious and fascinating.

Candles are used profusely in the churches; the altars are banked and the windows are filled with them, so that before dawn on Christmas morning the churches beckon approaching worshippers like brilliant lanterns.

GOOD TIDINGS . . .

"She brought forth her first-born son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

"And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will to men."

Luke 2:7-14

To Clean Schools During Vacation

All schools of the county will close at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon for the Christmas holidays, and will reopen Wednesday, January 2, at 9 a. m.

During the past week many of the schools have presented their annual Christmas programs to the public and those with cafeterias have served special Christmas dinners. In some schools Christmas parties were held.

During the vacation period the school custodians plan to scrub and wax the asphalt tile floors in all buildings. Electric floor scrubbing machines have been purchased and placed in each school for this purpose.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, explained that all tile floors are scrubbed and waxed at least three times annually, and that toilets and cafeterias are scheduled for scrubbing and waxing twice weekly. He said school custodians take pride in the way their buildings are kept and that there has been great improvement in recent years not only in repair of buildings but in their custodial care as well.

Improvements At Swanton

Mr. Hawkins said the maintenance department of the school board was improving the basement room of the Swanton school at present. The room is used for assemblies, P.-T.A. meetings, indoor play area and for school suppers.

The room is to be treated to general ceiling repairs, a coat of paint, improvements to the platform stage and an asphalt tile floor. He said that next summer asphalt tile floors would be placed in both classrooms to complete the renovation and improvement program for the school. New furniture is on order for the primary grades.

Santa, As We Know Him Today, Created By Two Famous Men

Santa Claus, as we know him today—jolly smile, round, red cheeks and chunky figure—is the creation of two famous men.

The first was Clement Clark Moore, author of "A Visit to St. Nicholas," better known to us as, "'Twas the Night Before Christmas." Moore actually described Santa and gave him the famous reindeer and sleigh.

The second man, who put the actual likeness of Santa on paper to illustrate Moore's poem, was Thomas Nast, a great cartoonist.

Nast drew the familiar, fat, merry old fellow with red cheeks and white beard, dressed in red, wearing a cap and boots, carrying a pack of toys and smoking a short pipe.

The artist then gave Santa a spy-glass so that during the year he might pick out the good children from the bad, and also a big book in which to write their names and keep records.

This conception of Santa Claus first appeared in 1863. Since that time the pictured Santa has been the same, although the spy-glass and pipe seem to have been dropped by the way.

HAPPY

TO ALL

New Resolve . . . . .

(An excerpt from a letter to faculty members by the president of Steubenville College.)

Life is stretching ahead of these new college students. A life of promise. The world is waiting for them with high hopes. Maybe the world doesn't know it yet. Maybe it will never admit it. But it desperately needs the kind of people we are going to make them to be.

Teach them and guide them—but gently, as only you can do. They have to live in the world and they'll need faith and love and courage...and a sense of values. They need to know that all men are not just, not all are true.

But at the same time they should learn that for every scoundrel there is a hero, for every crooked politician a dedicated leader; for every enemy, a friend. It takes time, of course, but teach them that a nickel earned is worth more than a dollar found. Teach them to learn to lose, and to enjoy winning. Steer them away from envy, if you can, and teach them the secret of quiet laughter.

Let them learn to stand up and fight for what is right—their own rights or others', on principle; teach them the wonder of books, good books, but also give them a chance to ponder the eternal mystery of the birds in the sky, bees in the sun, and flowers on a green hill. Teach them that it is far more honorable to fail than to cheat; teach them that the knowledge they gain is more important than the grade they get; teach them to have faith in their own ideas, even if everyone tells them they are wrong, for one of the important freedoms is the freedom to be different; teach them to be gentle with gentle people and tough with tough people; teach them that not all knowledge will be theirs when they finish a four-year curriculum, and inspire them to learn a little about other studies and more about their own, than the minimum taught.

Don't shelter them from skeptics and unbelievers; teach them how to detect their errors; teach them to respect work and workers and to never stop honoring their fathers and

Firemen Called Twice

Oakland firemen were called twice during the holiday week. One call came on Sunday morning, December 23, at 10:30 o'clock, as the result of a fire at the home of Leon White, of near Deer Park. The Deer Park firemen, also called to the scene were engaged in fighting the blaze when the Oakland department arrived, and the local firemen assisted the Deer Park firemen in subduing the flames.

Fire apparently had started in the ceiling of the kitchen and caused damage of several hundred dollars before being brought under control.

The second call came from the home of Norris K. Welch, near the Beckman crossing between Mt. Lake Park and Oakland, as the result of a flue fire. The blaze was practically out when the firemen arrived and there was only slight damage. The call was reported about 8:20 a. m.

Winter Arrived Despite The Spring

Winter arrived in this area on Friday, December 21, in spite of the spring-like weather. Mild weather was the rule over virtually the entire nation.

Winter officially arrived at 4 p. m., EST.

Air currents prevailing over the United States the previous few days had prevented the intrusion of cold air from Canada. The result was that temperatures were above normal Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Oakland Postoffice Cancellations Hit High Of 134,593

The Oakland postoffice cancellations during the Christmas period from December 10 to December 24, inclusive, hit a new high of 134,593, it was announced this week by Donald M. Browning, postmaster. This is an increase of more than 14,000 over the previous high which was set last year.

The high day was on Tuesday, December 18, when there were 19,628 cancellations. This is also an all-time high. The records also showed that 78,500 two-cent stamps and 38,000 three-cent stamps had been sold during that period. This showed an increase in the sale of three-centers but a decrease in the sale of two-centers. However, Mr. Browning said that many people purchased their two-cent stamps prior to December 10.

Parcel post was particularly heavy this year with 3,022 sacks of packages being received and 1,956 sacks being sent out. Records were kept by Mrs. Savilla Turney, mail messenger. The high day was December 18 for incoming bags when 329 were received. The highest outgoing day was on the 17th when 237 bags were taken to the trains.

Locally the mail was taken care of promptly. Browning had high praise for the job the patrons did in putting cord around their Christmas cards prior to depositing them in the special bags placed near the mail slots. This saved many hours of labor in dispatching mail, he stated.

Stamp sales, postage, etc., for the entire year will probably show a slight increase over 1955, Browning estimated.

Dr. H. H. Leighton Will Practice Here

Dr. Herbert H. Leighton, now a captain in the army medical corps, will come to Oakland to establish a practice here, effective about February 15, it was announced this week.

Dr. Leighton is making arrangements to purchase the office of Dr. Thomas Lusby, Oak street, and will assume a good portion of Dr. Lusby's practice. The latter is planning to move to Cumberland to be associated there with Dr. Fuller Whitworth. All the office records of Dr. Lusby's patients will remain with Dr. Leighton.

Dr. Leighton received his medical degree from the University of Maryland in 1953. He interned at the University hospital in Baltimore for a year and also spent eight additional months in the same hospital as assistant resident physician in obstetrics and gynecology prior to entering the service.

After a training period in Texas, Capt. Leighton has been stationed at Fort Eustis, Va. He expects to receive his honorable discharge from the service prior to the middle of February. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Leighton, of Oakland.

Dr. Lusby has been a practicing physician in Oakland for approximately ten years.

Charge of Assault Brings Denial By Constable Moon

Difficulties with county law officials ended temporarily last Friday for Mrs. D. Edward Offutt, but additional rumblings may continue from time to time.

The latest tussle with the law concerned the attaching of Mrs. Offutt's Cadillac automobile several days ago for an unpaid bill. The attachment was served by Constable Mark H. Moon.

A few days later Mrs. Offutt charged Mr. Moon with assault upon her while she was in the office of Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer. Mr. Moon denies the charge. She exhibited several scratches on her right leg to a number of persons which she alleges were inflicted by Mr. Moon. Mr. Moon claims if there were any scratches on her leg they were self inflicted.

A hearing was scheduled before Trial Magistrate Dwight Barrick in Magistrate Bitzer's office last Friday morning, but when Mrs. Offutt allegedly questioned State's Attorney S. R. Pagenhardt's good faith in prosecuting the case, Pagenhardt prayed a jury trial, which will take it to the March Term of Circuit Court.

The history of the trouble goes back two years or more. At that time a judgment was entered against Mrs. Offutt for a bill allegedly owing Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Perando for labor at Monte Vista. Trial Magistrate Bitzer rendered a decision in favor of the Perandos and Mrs. Offutt entered an appeal in the case. When the case was scheduled for trial in the Circuit court, Mrs. Offut failed to put in her appearance and after four such failures Mr. Pagenhardt filed a motion to dismiss the appeal, which was granted. With the case back in the magistrate's office, the magistrate proceeded to attempt to collect the bill and ordered Mrs. Offutt's automobile attached.

Following the activities of last Friday Mrs. Offutt produced a check in the amount of $50.77, enough to pay the Perando bill and secure the release of the attachment on her automobile.

Also in the mill of the magistrate's docket is another bill against Mrs. Offutt for $200 for work alleged to have been done for Mrs. Offutt by Mrs. Clayton Kitzmiller, and for which she never received any pay. At a hearing before Mr. Bitzer, he also found this bill to be a legitimate one and ordered Mrs. Offutt to pay, but Mrs. Offutt has taken an appeal on this case. This supposedly will be heard at the March term of the Circuit Court.

Alumni-Southern Game To Be Played On Friday Evening

A large array of former high school stars will be on hand Friday evening, December 28, at 8 o'clock when the Southern High school varsity meets the alumni in what promises to be one of the best basketball games of the season.

The varsity has shown improvement in recent games, losing to Valley High in the final four minutes in a close game a week ago.

The alumni are presenting a strong aggregation with all of last year's team being available with the exception of "Joker" Knotts. John Ruff, Bill Sanders and Charles Durbin are over six feet tall and are expected to make their share of baskets. Fred and Toby Colaw, Paul Brohawn and Fred Stemple will round out a well balanced team. Capable replacements include George Lee, John and George Hanst, Dan Garrett and others.

Starting for the alumni will be Don Williams, Jerry Moyer, Virgil Steyer, Jr., "Moose" Tasker and Charles Warren, 1950 class "A" county champions. This was the first team coached by Kyle Wilson at Southern. Moyer and Warren were co-captains. The alumni were hoping that Wilson would return to coach them, but if this is not possible Henry McComas, a former well known player, now superintendent of the Garrett County Memorial hospital, will direct the old grads.

Fred Thayer and Charles Grubb, former team managers, will manage the alumni while Harland Kelly and Paul Dixon will referee the game.

The Union High team will play the F. F. A. in a preliminary game beginning at 7 o'clock.

On Wednesday, January 3, at 1 p. m., Southern will be host to Beall High school of Frostburg. Beall at present boasts a 4-0 record but Southern players were hoping to reverse a 64-50 decision gained by Beall in a game at Frostburg early in the season.

The next home game at night will be held on Tuesday, January 8 with Thomas High school.

Trucker Critically Hurt in Road Crash

A Grantsville truck driver was critically injured, and six members of an Accident family escaped serious injury yesterday in highway accidents.

In critical condition at Meyersdale hospital is Jon Edward Rosenberger, 19, of Grantsville, driver of truck for Turner's Dairy, Frostburg.

Maryland State police said James Short, 17, was in "good" condition in the same hospital with injuries sustained when the truck in which the two were traveling near Friendsville went out of control and crashed into a concrete abutment.

Rosenberger suffered fractured ribs, internal injuries and a laceration of his forehead and scalp. Short suffered a fractured nose and a fractured right foot.

The accident occurred about four miles east of Friendsville on State route 42 at 7:30 a. m. A patch of ice was blamed.

The two men were taken to the hospital in the ambulance of the Friendsville Volunteer Fire company. Tfc. Blair J. Buckel is investigating.

In the other accident Walter Harmon, of Accident, was driving the family automobile along route 40 about nine miles west of Frostburg.

When he lost control of the car, according to Tfc. Buckel, it swerved to the right, ran up over an embankment, struck and took out a utility pole, and upset on its top on the highway. Police said Mr. Harmon was taken to his family physician at Friendsville for treatment of cuts and bruises about his face and hands. His wife and four children were scratched up somewhat. The accident occurred about 3:30 p. m.

White Christmas Is Reality at Last

A white Christmas became a reality—but only at the last minute—and in some places it was only white by the skin of its teeth.

About one and one-half inches of snow fell on the county early Tuesday, with additional snow falling on Wednesday.

For a time it looked like a white Christmas was far, far away. A resume of the weather showed Friday as rainy and warm with additional rain at night. Saturday was partly clear and warm. It began to rain again on Sunday and on Sunday night there was a thunder storm, indicating colder weather. More rain fell Monday with the temperature lower, and Tuesday finally brought the snow.

A light sleet was falling this morning.

Gets $2,500 Fund From State Agency

The Garrett County-Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council, Inc., has received word from Governor Theodore McKeldin that the Board of Public Works has appropriated $2,500 to be used by the promotion council for aiding the skiing program in the county this year.

Helmuth Heise, president of the group, said he made a formal request for that sum of money before the Board of Public Works.

Last Thursday Governor McKeldin called Mr. Heise and advised him that the Board had appropriated that amount of money for the use of the council.

Enters Appeal In "Lettuce" Trial

The Atlantic and Pacific Tea company, through its attorneys, has filed an appeal from judgment in a case tried October 4 and 5 in the Garrett County Circuit Court, in which Steve Adams of Frostburg was awarded a $5,000 verdict in a damage suit.

Attorneys filed the necessary papers in the Circuit Court here last Saturday.

Adams was one of 11 members of his family who contended they became ill November 29, 1953 after eating some lettuce which had been purchased two days earlier from the A and P store in Frostburg.

Mrs. Mary Adams, his wife, also brought suit against the store but when the case was first heard in Allegany county May 5, 1955, it ended with a hung jury. Subsequently the Mary Adams case was moved to Washington county and a jury in that court in July returned a verdict in favor of the store.

The Steve Adams suit, also filed in Allegany county circuit court, was subsequently moved to Garrett county for trial.

Woman's Club In Fund Raising Drive

Final plans have been made by members of the Junior Woman's Civic club for a fund raising campaign. The money raised is to be used for community projects.

The drive will begin on Monday, January 7, and will be known as the "Bag of Bulbs" campaign. Members of the club will solicit the purchase of these bags of electric bulbs. There are to be 10 bulbs of various sizes in each bag and they will sell for $2.00.

According to Mrs. Kenneth Lawton, president, the drive will cover Mt. Lake Park, Rosedale and Crellin, in addition to Oakland.

The committee in charge include Mrs. Harold Trickett, Mrs. Wendell Turney and Mrs. James Helbig.

The next regular meeting of the club will be held on Thursday evening, January 3, at the Fire Hall.

2,380 Kiddies Get Christmas Treat

The Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce provided Christmas treats to 2,380 children of the community, twelve years of age and under, it was announced this week. This is a slight increase over the number who were given treats last year.

Money for the treat was provided by business places, organizations and individuals of the area. Over $700 was raised for the treat. Additional contributions were received during the past week from R. and P. store, Garrett Coal corporation, Wakely's Hardware, Ward's Restaurant and Bill's Barn. Other contributors were mentioned in columns during the past two weeks.

There were a few extra treats that were not distributed and these were taken later to the Evans, Cuppett and Weeks Nursing Homes.

Job Applications Being Taken For Processing Plant

Must Be Filed With Employment Office In Oakland

Applications for positions in the new Sterling Poultry Processing plant, soon to be in operation just west of Oakland, are now being received at the office of the Maryland State Employment agency on Alder street, it was announced this week by Robert Bane, manager of poultry plant operations of the company. Mr. Bane has been in Oakland for the past six weeks.

The processing plant may be in operation by the middle of January, it was stated, and when the concern is in full swing as many as 80 to 100 persons are expected to be employed. Annual payroll may run as high as $160,000. Employes will be about sixty percent female and forty percent male.

The processing plant has been in the course of construction for the past four months or more, at a point just west of Oakland, along the Little Youghiogheny river, and across the railroad tracks from the tanks of the Standard Oil company. It was erected on land provided to the new area enterprise by John and Carl McIntire, of Washington, formerly of Oakland.

The plant is modern in design, built of concrete, steel and brick and is 100 by 200 feet in size. Along with processing facilities it means an investment of more than $300,000 to the Oakland area.

Governor's Wife To Hold Coffee Party For March of Dimes

One of the gold plated coffee pots, donated by a national manufacturer for Governors' wives who will sponsor coffee parties for the benefit of the 1957 March of Dimes, has been presented to Mrs. Theodore R. McKeldin by former U. S. Senator George L. Radcliffe.

Mr. Radcliffe, who heads the 1957 campaign in Maryland, said that the coffee pot symbolizes the coffee party to be held by Mrs. McKeldin at the Governor's mansion in Annapolis on January 8.

Such parties will be held throughout the nation to give women interested in the March of Dimes an opportunity to meet and to discuss the programs of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the need for the March of Dimes to go over the top this year.

Of the 161 women representing different areas of Maryland, who have been invited to the party in Annapolis, Mrs. Wilbur Close, Oakland; Mrs. Dan Hershberger, Grantsville; Mrs. Ralph Swauger, Friendsville; and Miss Elaine Falkenstine, Northern High school instructor, will represent Garrett county.

At the January 8 party Mrs. McKeldin will ask each of her guests to return home and invite ten acquaintances to a similar party at which each person invited will be asked to contribute to the 1957 March of Dimes and to arrange further parties for the same purpose.

THE GLEAM FROM BEYOND THE CLOUDS

There may be folks who dream of a new year with no clouds over the horizon. But life has taught most of us that there is never a day free of uncertainty.

Some like to rejoice in the calm of today and give no thought to the clouds of tomorrow. Theirs is a contentment without strength, a happiness empty of hope.

But stronger souls see both the calm and the clouds. And they look beyond the clouds to the Light whose rays bathe the horizon.

These are the souls who face the new year with faith in their God. They know the days will not be without shadow. The ripples may sometimes become angry breakers. But they follow the gleam across another year . . . the Gleam from beyond the clouds.

The Church is for those who would look ahead . . . ever toward the Light.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

All Things New

Lesson for December 30, 1956

ON THE verge of New Year's Eve, our thoughts go forward to the New Year. But what will be new about it? We shall mostly have to "make do" with what we have, rather than find much that is brand-new. We shall be the same people. Sleeping between Dec. 31 and Jan. 1 is not going to change us a great deal. We shall live in the same house, have the same neighbors, the same problems, temptations, brains, bodies, bank account (if any), tax bills, diseases and prospects. What we can have that is new, is a new attitude to some of these things. But that is another story. What we have to think about here is another of the great chapters of the Bible, the one in which come the thrilling words, "Behold, I make all things new." What will life be like in that "new heaven and new earth" which is described here in shining pictures in the very last chapter of the Bible?

Dr. Foreman

Death Behind Us

In that life wherein all things are made new, not by clumsy man but by the power of God, what will be especially new—if you like, shockingly new, so new we shall not perhaps easily become used to it? First we can see a complete contrast with this present life, in that death will be always in the past, never in the future. The one thing that is certain about life on earth is that we shall all die. Death is the one certain prediction that can be made about every one who reads these lines. (Or, if Christ should come in your lifetime, you would undergo a radical change, just as radical as death itself, in any case.) But in that world where all is made new, death is behind every one, not in front; a memory, not a hope or a fear. The one experience which unites all men in this world is one which they have not yet had. But in that world of the redeemed, the experience of death is one they all shall have had. We cannot even imagine this, just how it will be. But think how much activity in this world is devoted to one object alone—to stave off death. All that will vanish with death itself.

Evil No More

Another absolutely and unimaginably new thing will be the complete riddance of all forms of evil, especially suffering and sin. (Ignorance and ugliness too no doubt will be done away with, but they do not weigh upon us here quite so painfully as the other two). No matter what your idea may be about sin and suffering, what they are and where they came from, you have to admit that human life is woven of these threads. At this very moment every reader's life would be radically different if he himself had never signed, and as for our neighbors' sins, and the sins of our ancestors, the world we have inherited is a world fashioned and controlled by sinners. It is only by the mercy of God that it is not worse than it is. Try to think what life would be if there were no form of evil affecting it whatever. You can't really think it; but that goes to show what an amazingly new state of things the "new heavens and earth" must be.

At Home With God

Most wonderful, and least imaginable, of all the new features of that life to come, is the presence of God. It is true, God is everywhere. But it is also true that God is in some places and situations and occasions more than others. What is said in Revelation about God's coming to dwell with men leads us to think of God's presence in the truly New World as being far more direct and less veiled than for us at our present stage of existence.

Indeed, as God is real to us in prayer far more (as a rule) than when we are feeding the hogs or getting a haircut, so the presence of God in the all-new World may be as far beyond our highest awareness of him here, as the prayer is more spiritual than the haircut or the hogs. All we know is that in this world we seldom do feel quite at ease in God's presence, and may even be seldom certain that he is near. But "over yonder," we shall be at home with God as we never been in this life. Foretastes of the New Life we may enjoy here: in freedom from fear of death, in a life growing more purified by the Spirit, in the "practice of the Presence of God"; but the fullness of glory we cannot imagine, only trust God that these things shall be.

Someone Doesn't Feel Too Kindly Toward Us

We have come to the conclusion that someone doesn't feel too kindly toward us. And we had to pay four cents to find out about it.

Our advertising department sent out several hundred invitations to subscribers to order The Republican as a gift subscription. The returns have been quite gratifying. We have received about 75 new subscriptions and a number of renewals.

Subscribers were asked to merely fill in a convenient form, enclose check, money order or currency, designate where the newspaper was to be sent and return it in the business reply envelope. Four cents postage was to be paid by The Republican.

But among the hundred orders and re-orders came this choice note from a good friend (???) from Akron, Ohio. "We don't even want your lousy paper for free. You call it a paper."

We are glad the other ninety-nine don't seem to feel that way.

mothers; teach them to listen to all, and to weigh what they hear and judge it for truth; and to be strong enough not to blindly follow the crowd.

They should learn to put up a good front, laugh when they are sad, but not to be ashamed to cry. They should know they can be glorious in failure, and miserable in success.

Cynics should not bother them, nor flatterers delude them, and they shouldn't put a price tag on heart and soul when they bargain for their brains and brawn. Don't coddle them; they can be strengthened by fire. Let them learn the courage of patience. And they should never forget the providence of God, that virtue is its own reward, industry and honesty is not "old hat" and that they get their talents from God.

Teach them that the unchanging standards of morality are not mere copy-book maxims, but yardsticks to use in life-after-college, when they must judge whatever happens to them according to its effect upon their souls—upon the reason God made them—to be happy with Him forever in heaven.

No time offers greater opportunity for reflective decision of these ideals of living as expressed here than the start of a new year.

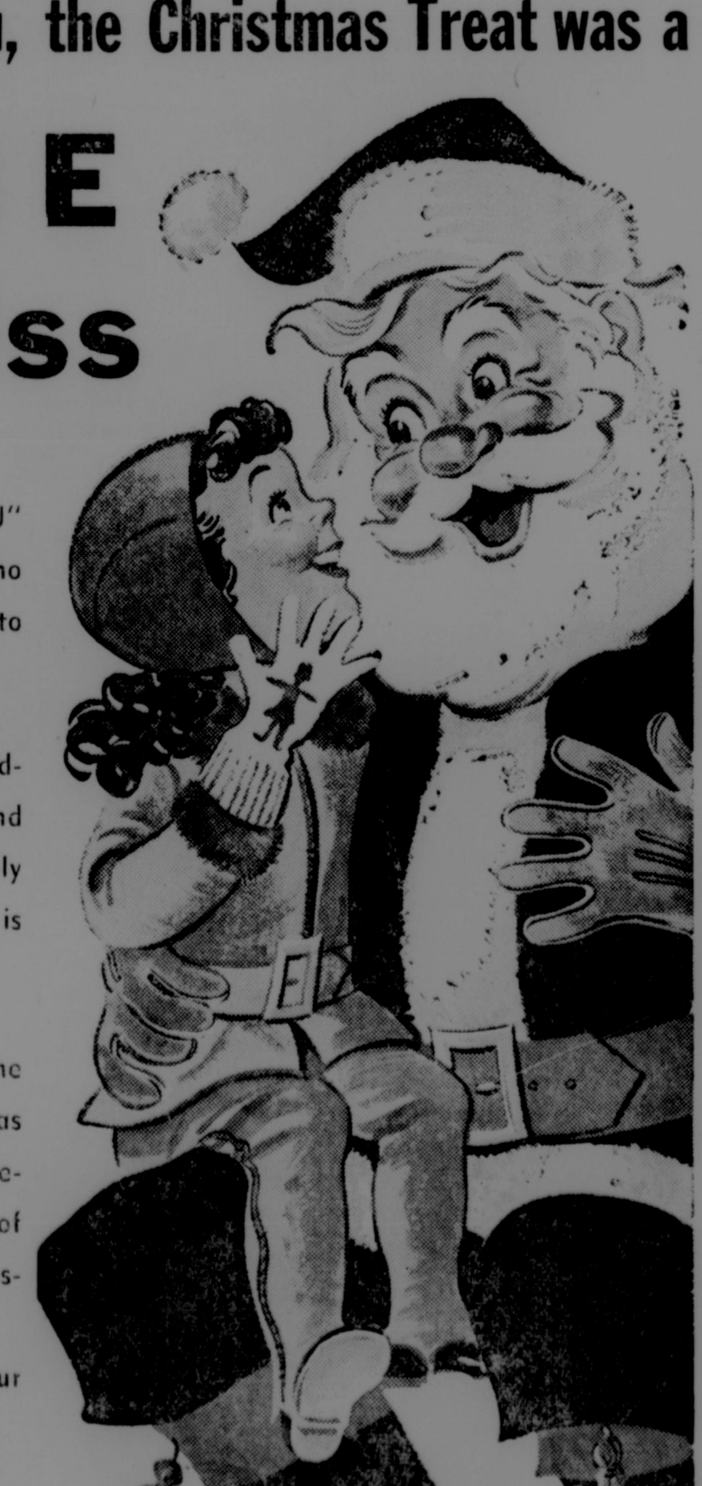
Because of you, the Christmas Treat was a HUGE Success



A great big "THANK YOU" is certainly in order for all who contributed so generously to the annual Christmas Treat.

Because of you, 2,300 kiddies shared an excitement and happiness that happens only when a true spirit of giving is behind it.

To each little face, the prospect of receiving a gift was a thrill . . . the gift itself, a delight . . . and the presence of Ol' Santa to some was a curiosity, to others a satisfaction.

They went away happy. Your generosity had made it so.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

In the Year of Our Lord, 1957

The old year passes, and once again, we greet a new one filled with promise and a chance for a new beginning.

Have you stopped to think about the many and varied promises the New Year holds? I am convinced that the year, 1957 will be for each of us just about what we choose to make it. For some, it will be a continuation of a pattern of frustration, disappointments and defeat. For others, it will be a challenge, a year to try something new, to venture forth into new thinking, new activities and learning of new skills. For all of us, the struggle will surely go on to pay our bills, make a living, and set aside something for our future needs.

I am glad for this new year, for I believe it holds a promise of better things to come, if we only have eyes to see them and the faith to believe in them.

This can be a wonderful year to be alive. On every hand there are many and varied opportunities to improve ourselves if we care to do so. We can venture into new fields of thought by reading, by study and by meditation. None of us need to stay in either a mental or a spiritual rut.

I am glad that in our beloved land, in this year 1957, we are seeing a day and age in which equal opportunities are becoming possible, whether we live on a farm or in a large city. In a land, where a boy or girl can receive an education, if they really want one. In a land, where in spite of the headlines, we are coming to see that the Negro and other minorities in our midst must come up with us in this forward march. I am glad that my land, holding fast its own freedom, is helping others to come into freedom's light. I am glad we are a sharing people, being willing to share with those less fortunate than ourselves. I would hope that we would keep ourselves strong, with the strength born both of courage and humility, and that our love of peace and good-will will help lead others into those paths also.

As individuals, we decide what shall be written on this white page we call the new year. Phillips Brooks has said, "Sad is the day for any man when he becomes absolutely satisfied with the life he is living, the thoughts that he is thinking, and the deeds that he is doing; when there ceases to be forever beating at the doors of his soul a desire to do something larger, which he feels and knows he was meant and intended to do."

A good thought for a brand new year. May the year ahead be for you who read this one of happiness and blessedness and growth.

Two of Mrs. Fike's children, the Rev. Everette Beckman and Wade Beckman and families were not present.

AN ORDINANCE of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, Maryland, covering the Operation and Use of Bicycles upon the public streets of the Town of Oakland.

BE IT ORDAINED by the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, that Bicycles will be permitted upon the public streets of the Town of Oakland only upon the following terms, and subject to the following regulations:

1. Every operator of a Bicycle residing within the corporate limits of the Town of Oakland shall be required to submit his or her machine, on or before the first day of April in each and every year, for inspection as to brakes, lights, signaling device, tires, wheels, frame, handlebars, and such other inspection as may be required.

This inspection shall be made under the supervision of the Police Department, and if said examination is satisfactory, the operator shall be given a permit card certifying that said bicycle has been satisfactorily inspected. Said card shall bear an identifying number, which shall be kept within the possession of the owner of said tag number to be shown if necessary when operating the bicycle.

All of the permit cards shall expire on the last day of March of each year, after which time all bicycles are subject to the annual examination and issuance of new permit cards. No person shall operate any bicycle on the streets of the Town of Oakland without having first obtained such permit card.

2. A license tag, bearing the same number as the permit card, shall be attached to each bicycle and shall remain thereon constantly. A fee of fifty cents (50c.), shall be charged for each license as issued.

3. Every operator of a Bicycle upon the public streets of the Town of Oakland shall be governed by the following rules and regulations:

a. The operator of a bicycle shall not carry any other person upon the handlebar, frame, or other part of said bicycle, or shall any person so ride upon any such vehicle.

b. Every bicycle operated in the night time shall be equipped with a lamp on the front exhibiting a white light visible from a distance of at least three hundred feet to the front, and with a lamp on the rear exhibiting a red light visible for a distance of at least three hundred feet to the rear, except that a red reflector may be used in place of rear lamp.

c. No person shall ride a bicycle on the public streets of the Town of Oakland without having his or her hands on the handlebars.

d. No person shall, while operating a bicycle, practice any form of tricks or fancy riding whatsoever.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

Stars That Shine in the Night

This has been a wonderful season in many ways. These are the things that stand out as having added to the spirit of this joyous festivity.

The way Jack Jones read the script of "Why the Chimes Rang," and the grace and reverence of the acolyte in the same pagenat as he moved back and forth lighting the candies.

—o—

The Christmas card of Clint and Jean Englander's four daughters depicting the first Christmas. 'Twas the cherub in profile that gave me the inner glow.

—o—

Dick and Pick Helbig's picture window that gives the feeling of fairyland.

—o—

The lovely candlelight service at the Methodist church. Many times have I seen that church skillfully decorated but this night was the loveliest of all. The Christmas message was there in song, but the man in the background, the one we rarely see spoke out through his fingers the clearest message of all. I only know music through feel, and that night I felt I was hearing a great artist as Julius Littman played the organ.

—o—

The complete unity of spirit in the congregation as they sang Silent Night at the close of the Lutheran midnight service gave one the feeling of being in tune with the universe.

—o—

How's That for Selfishiness?

Aunt Tay (Mrs. B. H. Sincell), feeling a little low on Christmas because there was more being done for her than she was doing, was lamenting her inability to do for others.

"Why Aunt Tay!" I scolded, "Your life has been full of doing for others!

"Oh yes," she replied, "but that was such selfish doing—I just did it because I loved them!"

—o—

Childish Wisdom

This little squib came from Miss Marion Leary. Her grandnephew, 3, had come into his negative stage, saying no to anything and everything.

Jessica, his five-year-old sister, remarked, "He's quite a no-ing child, isn't he?"

—o—

Debra Lawton, Ann's and Ken's first grader, fell down on the job as one in charge of special duties.

Her teacher said at the close of the day, "Debra, you haven't done your duties for the day."

"You'll just have to excuse me, Miss Mitchell, I'm not myself today. I had to get up at the crack of dawn."

—o—

"I guess you son isn't old enough to realize much about Christmas," I remarked to Betty Lou Hinebaugh Behne.

"Well, he knows enough to want a tractor with let down pedals, but he doesn't realize what a sacrifice it is for his parents to get it for him."

GORTNER

The Emanuel Millers, Atlee and Dan Hershberger and families are visiting home folks in Ohio this week.

Bishop L. M. Beachy and daughter, Mrs. Eli Beachy left Monday for Stuart's Draft, Va., for a visit.

On Friday evening Albert Sisk took a group of fifteen on a hay ride, to sing carols at the homes of Joe Cook, Will Sanders, Hubert Martin, Noah Slabach and Joe Uphole, at Mt. Lake Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Lichty and son, Ralph, Ross and Mary Lichty and Mrs. Fannie Stutzman attended Christmas programs in Oakland churches on Sunday and Monday evening. A number from here went to Underwood on Tuesday night.

Mrs. Noah Schrock and Mr. and Mrs. Joni Miller have been taking turns staying with little Dorothy Miller, who remains a patient in the Garrett County Memorial hospital due to severe burns. Her improvement is retarded.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Yoder and others from Meyersdale were among visitors at Simon Swartzentruber's on Christmas.

Ellis Harsh and family, of Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. John Schlosnagle and sons, of Mt. Lake, spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Schlosnagle.

Mr. and Mrs. Noah Schrock entertained to Christmas dinner, John Burkholder, of Flintstone; Mary Ann Yoder, Norman and Ernest Schrock and their families; Joni Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sisk.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ackerman and children, of Medina, O., were guests of her mother, Mrs. June Shreve.

Miss Mary Ann Yoder spent Sunday night with Miss Sarah Beachy.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Snyder were visiting her home folks in Virginia, over the week-end.

—o—
